ANNUAL REPORTS.

Chicago Burlington & Quincy.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

In advance of the annual report a brief abstract has been published in Boston, from which the following is made up.

| Aggregate of capital stock on Dec. 31, 1883 (of which $2,290,000 is still in the company's treasury) | $71,941,246 |
| Total funded debt Dec. 31, 1883 | 77,408,490 |
| Total construction in 1883 | 2,757,407 |
| Total equipment added in 1883 | 575,597 |

The general condition of the entire road and equipment has been fully maintained during the year.

The actual length of road in operation December 31, 1883, was 3,322·5 miles, against 3,228·9 miles on December 31, 1882. In addition to this mileage the company controls and practically owns the Hannibal & St. Joseph Railroad, consisting of 292·35 miles, and other roads mentioned in the summary of property on page 10 of full report. These roads continue to be operated by the corporations owning them, and neither the earnings, expenses, statements of rolling stock, nor other figures relative to them, are included in this report; they have, during the year 1883, earned about $1,000,000 surplus, after paying their own operating expenses and interest on their outstanding liabilities not owned by the Chicago Burlington & Quincy, which surplus has been partly used in making improvements on the properties and adding to their rolling stock. The acquisition of the Hannibal & St. Joseph Railroad was believed to be the best solution of the Southwestern question, and it places us in a strong position at Kansas City, the great and growing commercial centre of that region.

The average number of miles operated by the Chicago Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company in 1883 was 3,255 miles, against 3,100 miles in 1882. The gross earnings per mile of road operated were $8,022 68 in 1883, against $6,953 15 in 1882 and $7,504 06 in 1881. The net earnings per mile in 1883 were $3,875 75, against $3,311 88 in 1882 and $3,582 54 in 1881. The percentage of operating expenses to gross earnings in 1883 was 51·7, including taxes, against 52·4 in 1882 and 52·3 in 1881; excluding taxes, the percentage in 1883 was 48·9, against 49·5 in 1882 and 49·9 in 1881. The increase in earnings in 1883 over the previous year is due, in part, to the increase of 155 miles in the average amount of road operated during the year. It will be remembered that the Denver extension was opened May 29, 1882; so that we had the benefit of it for only seven months of that year. But a more important cause of increase is to be found in the growth of business on many miles of road acquired in 1880, 1881 and 1882. We carried into Chicago, in 1883, thirty million bushels of corn, against fifteen millions the year before, and twenty-six millions in 1881 and forty millions in 1880. The corn crop in Illinois, Iowa and Missouri in 1883 has not turned out well. The yield is estimated to have been a little larger than in 1882, but the quality of a considerable portion of it, owing to a late spring and an early and wet autumn, is inferior, rendering it more or less unfit for transportation. West of the Missouri River the quality averages better, and the yield in 1883 was larger than in any previous year. The average rate of freight earnings per ton per mile during the year was 1·2 cents, being a little less than in 1882. In the year 1872, the average rate was about 2 cents, and the average cost per ton per mile 1·3 cents. The wages of labor in 1883 were somewhat higher than in 1882, but the cost of most of the materials used was rather less. Land sales during the year show about the same prices as the year before, with a less quantity of land sold, as was to be expected.

The earnings and net income for two years have been as follows;

Colorado Coal & Iron Company.

The annual report of the President, Mr. William J. Palmer, is dated March 15, 1884. It states that "during the year 1883 the business interests of Colorado have maintained a fair degree of prosperity, though here, as elsewhere in the country, prices for all kinds of manufactured products have been much lower, and all classes of business have been more quiet. The mining and smelting interests have, however, increased, notwithstanding the very low price at which lead has sold. The bullion output of the State for the year 1883 was $26,306,000, as against $25,750,000 for the year 1882, showing a slight gain." * * The total output of coal for the year 1883 was 599,117 tons, against 512,363 tons in 1882, an increase of 17 per cent. The shipments of coke for the year were 126,170 tons, against 90,255 tons in 1882, an increase of 40 per cent.

"The product of the steel works for the year was 20,262 gross tons of steel ingots, and 16,518 gross tons of steel rails. The puddle mill was kept in operation throughout the year, but was not run to its full capacity. The product of muck bar was 3,025 gross tons. The nail works produced 62,967½ kegs of nails and the spike mill 7,581 kegs of railroad track spikes. The blast furnace was in operation during the year up to Dec. 19th, when it was 'blown out' for repairs During the year it produced 24,718 net tons of pig iron, of which 253 net tons was spiegel. The Denver rolling mill was operated most of the year, and produced 4,568 net tons of merchant bar, mine rails, splice bars, &c. The sales of real estate during the year amounted to $38,145. The iron mines at Hot Springs and Calumet were operated during the year, and a total of 39,272 net tons of iron ore was shipped during the year." * *

"The gross earnings below include sales made by one department to another, as, for instance, coal sold by the coal mines to the coke ovens, coal and coke sold to the iron and steel works, iron ore sold by the iron mines to the blast furnace. This method necessarily makes the gross earnings and expenses appear large." * * "This explanation is made to show why the net earnings bear so small a proportion to the gross operations of the company." * * *

"At the close of the year the company had on hand manufactured stocks and raw materials amounting to $461,074. This amount represents good salable material carried in the ordinary course of business, and was verified by inventories taken at the close of the year. It also possessed in securities $449,000, par value, which at present market values are worth about $346,000. It is without floating debt; its 10-year bonds have been paid off; its new machinery and furnaces are of the most excellent character and in the best condition." * * * "It will be seen from the statement of earnings and expenses that the manufacturing departments were not profitable during the past year. This was owing to the low prices for manufactured products which have prevailed, to the high price of labor, and to the comparatively small amount of our products that our markets, as yet, are ready to take." * * * "While the times are not encouraging to those engaged in iron and steel manufacturing, yet our position is one which many manufacturers envy, and we have only to hold on while making a moderate net profit during a season of depression, in the faith that better prices and more active demand are certain to come in due season; and if our works can be kept in operation, our organization of skilled officers and men retained, our position every year will become stronger, and we shall be ready to secure those large profits which the history of properties similar to ours shows is sure to reward alertness and prudence during periods of temporary depression like the present." * * * "The litigation involving our title to certain coal lands in Southern Colorado is now pending in the United States Supreme Court, where the final result is expected to be favorable.

Detroit Lansing & Northern.

The report of the General Manager states that "the permanent way of your road has been further improved by the thorough ballasting of forty-seven miles of track, and the renewal of a large number of wooden bridges and culverts with substantial structures of iron and stone." * * "The actual quantity of steel purchased and laid during the year was 3,207 tons, renewing 36 miles of track. Of this amount 1,669 tons were charged out in 1883 and 1,548 tons were carried over to 1884. The total amount charged to repairs of road-bed and track during the year was $195,711." * *

"A branch 6 60-100 miles long, from Rodney on Stanton Branch to Chippewa Lake, was built during the year, costing $35,843." * *

"On the 10th of May last the road known as the Chicago Saginaw & Canada was sold under foreclosure of mortgage securing its bonds, and was purchased in the interest of this company, a new company being organized under the name of the Saginaw & Western Railroad Company; and on the 1st of July this company leased, for a term of thirty years, this property, extending from St. Louis, Mich. (where it connects with the Saginaw Valley & St. Louis), to Lakeview, Mich., a point about ten miles east from Howard City, the northern terminus of our main line, and crossing our Stanton Branch at Edmore. The terms of the lease being the guarantee by this company of 6 per cent annual interest on the bonds and a 7 per cent annual dividend on the stock of the Saginaw & Western Company, the maximum limit of bonds to be $15,000 per mile."

Panama Railroad Company.

The annual report of the General Superintendent states that the number of tons transported in 1883 amounted to 215,725; in 1882, 194,550—an increase in 1883 of 21,175 tons.

"This increase in tonnage is mainly due to the work done for the Interoceanic Canal Co., and also to the large increase in the number of laborers employed by that company in their various works; all of which has added to our traffic an importance which was formerly unknown. But if the increase is remarkable in the transportation of freight, it is no less so in the transportation of passengers. We carried in 1883 in the neighborhood of 303,979 passengers, against 127,616 carried in 1882. Although the tonnage of the railroad during 1882 was quite satisfactory, we must not lose sight of the fact that the exports from South American countries have diminished during the year 1883. The war between Chili, Peru and Bolivia and the civil war in Ecuador have all contributed to diminish our figures, as compared with former years.

"Coffee, sugar and ivory nuts only show an increase, although small, but you will observe that the export of ores, which formerly was insignificant, has in the past year assumed considerable importance.

"The outlay on the line of the road, including bridges and culverts, in 1883 amounted to $154,723 37, or $3,257 per mile. These expenses have considerably increased, even considering the increased traffic; but I regret to be obliged to state that the track at the end of the year was in a pitiable state, and it will be at the cost of great sacrifice that we shall be able to put it in good condition. We shall be obliged to put in at least 35,000 new ties, and the rails at the stations of both Aspinwall and Panama will have to be almost entirely renewed." * *

"The regular steamship service to the Isthmus and the quantity of merchandise brought by them is about the same as in 1882, notwithstanding the unfortunate circumstances existing in some of the countries of South and Central America.

"The Interoceanic Canal Co. continues to import vast quantities of material, and their Wharf No. 5, and accommodations at Fox River, are insufficient for their service. * *

"The local traffic is developing with marvellous activity, being for the month of January and February of this year 22,186 tons, and the number of the passengers carried during the same months was 83,000."

The report gives no general balance sheet, but the other statistics have been compiled for the CHRONICLE as follows:

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Alleghany Valley.—Notice is given to holders of Alleghany Valley Railroad Company income bonds that the cash fund applicable to the payment of the interest due April 1, 1884, on the income bonds, being insufficient to pay the whole of such interest, will be distributed pro rata, allowing $7 00 on each $35 coupon, and the deficit paid in bonds of the same issue.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe and Southern Kansas.—The earnings and expenses of these roads for January, 1883 and 1884, are as below. The earnings of the two roads are now combined, and will not be stated separately hereafter.

| | January. 1884. | 1883. |
| Miles of road operated | 2,259 | 2,219 |
| Gross earnings | $1,172,348 | $1,065,793 |
| Operating expenses (exclusive of taxes) | 569,063 | 649,718 |
| Net earnings | $603,285 | $416,075 |

Canadian Pacific.—A statement appeared a short time since, in one of the Canadian newspapers, that Mr. John S. Kennedy, of this city, who was at one time an active director of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and whose late firm were the financial agents of that company in New York, had disposed of his interest in the company's securities. On inquiry, we are informed that the statement referred to is not correct, Mr. Kennedy not having disposed of his interest, or any portion of it, but only having resigned his seat in the board of directors, which he did on the 12th of January last. We are further informed that the statements which have recently appeared, to the effect that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was in financial difficulty and had again applied to the Canadian Government for assistance, are absolutely without foundation.

Chicago & Northwestern.—The directors met in New York this week and, it is stated, practically agreed upon a plan by which the company will acquire actual ownership of what is known as the Blair system of railroads in Iowa. This system is now controlled by the Chicago & Northwestern Company, under leases which make necessary the payment by the latter of an annual rental of about $1,600,000. The proposition is to purchase the Blair system outright, paying for it by an issue of $14,000,000 of new stock.

Vice-President Sykes of the Northwestern said: "This property consists of the Chic. Iowa & Nebraska, the Cedar Rapids & Mo. River, and the Maple River, which are the three leased roads in Iowa, together with their proprietary roads, which are the Sioux City & Pacific and the Fremont Elkhorn & Missouri Valley. The purchase would also include the bridge across the Missouri river at Blair. In all there is about 906 miles of road."

The Tribune reports that "the increase in stock which the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company will make to secure the absolute control of the Iowa leased lines will be something over $14,750,000. The stock now held in the company's treasury is not to be touched. The company of course will guarantee the funded debt of the different lines. The entire capitalization is between $28,000,000 and $29,000,000, or an average of about $31,000 a mile on 906 miles of railroad. The exchange of stock will be made at different rates; 1½ shares for each share of the Chicago Iowa & Nebraska, share for share for the Cedar Rapids & Missouri River, and at much lower rates for the stock of the new roads. An agreement as to the basis of exchange has been made by the directors of the Northwestern and the principal owners of the leased lines. The plan of consolidation will be submitted to the stockholders of the companies at meetings which will soon be called. It will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Northwestern, but to ratify the plan a special meeting will be held."

Cincinnati Wabash & Michigan.—The Indianapolis Journal says: "There is excellent authority for the statement that the Cincinnati Wabash & Michigan road will, within the next ten days, pass into the hands of the Lake Shore. The price to be paid is $12,000 per mile, equipments included. The road is 165 miles in length, extending from Anderson, Ind., to Benton Harbor, Mich."

Cleveland Columbus Cincinnati & Indianapolis.—The directors of this railroad company have decided not to make the stock dividend of 20 per cent requested by James McHenry. Gen. J. H. Devereux said the matter was fairly and thoroughly considered. No other dividend was declared at the meeting this week.

Grand Rapids & Indiana.—At Grand Rapids, Mich., March 28, at a meeting of the directors of the Grands Rapids & Indiana Railway Company, President Hughart announced that the suit with the Pennsylvania Railway Company, involving $3,000,000, had been amicably settled, and that the bond coupons for 1883 and 1884, the payment of which had been stopped by the suit in question, would be paid on April 1.

Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co.—An issue of $1,000,000 of bonds by the Lehigh Coal & Navigation Company was disposed of to Drexel & Co. It was a special mortgage, and the security is the same as that of the consolidated mortgage of the company. The sale of these bonds is for the purpose of providing for the floating debt of the company, which is slightly less than $1,000,000. The new bonds bear interest at the rate of 4½ per cent per annum, and run for forty years. The first mortgage sixes, amounting to $5,381,840, fell due April 1, and all of them not extended at 4½ per cent were paid off.

Maine Central.—A Boston firm offered $450,000 Maine Central collateral trust bonds at 95 and interest, but such was the demand without advertising that the price was advanced to 97½ and interest: The bonds are 5 per cents, run from June 1, 1883, to June 1, 1923, and are secured by an equal amount of 1st mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the Maine Shore line deposited in trust. The Maine Central pays the interest on the 6s, and 1 per cent goes into a sinking fund to retire the bonds at maturity. The bonds cannot be drawn.

Manhattan Elevated.—Mr. Jay Gould has arranged with the Mercantile Trust Company to purchase from the first preferred stockholders of the Manhattan Railway Company, in whose favor a dividend was declared, payable on the 1st prox., their claims to said dividend upon their assignment of such claims, accompanied by an assignment of their claims to a dividend from the New York Elevated Railway Company for like amount, in case the merger agreement between the three elevated railway companies should be adjudged invalid.

Mexican Central.—On the 2d of April Mexican Central issued $4,308,000 of its 7 per cent bonds to complete the issue to block subscribers, increasing the total bonds outstanding to $36,575,000, including $2,000,000 to the concessionaries and excluding $2,000,000 issued as collateral for the recently-negotiated loan of $1,078,000. In May a final issue of stock and income bonds will be made. At that date the total issue of stock will be: To subscribers, $27,268,000; to concessionaries, $3,954,800; exchange for income bonds, $101,000; for collateral under loan of January last, $1,635,000; total, $32,958,800. The amount of income bonds will be: To subscribers, $6,792,000; concessionaries, $989,000; collateral under loan of January 24, 1884, $545,000; total, less $101,000 bonds exchanged for stock, $8,225,000. The total stock and bonds convertible into stock is thus, $41,183,800.—Boston Transcript.

Mexican National.—The coupons maturing April 1 on part of the first mortgage bonds were not paid. Mr. William J. Palmer, the President, has issued a circular to bondholders in which it is stated that the company "proposes to its bondholders to forego payment of the interest instalments which will become due during the next three years on the bonds heretofore issued, within which time it is believed that the International line can be completed and the traffic of the country be developed so as to be sufficient to pay the interest on all the bonds that will then be outstanding. For that purpose it is proposed that bondholders deposit in trust the six coupons which represent the several interest instalments to mature within the three years next ensuing from the date hereof on the bonds heretofore issued, and accept the funding obligations of the company, payable on or before April 1st, 1894, bearing 6 per cent interest, payable annually, on condition that until payment of the funding obligations the coupons will remain alive in the hands of the trustee with the right to enforce payment, suspended and postponed." * * *

The main line needs to be completed and, "in order to make this connection, there remains to be constructed that part of the International line lying between San Miguel Allende and Saltillo, a distance of about 360 miles, through a country where straight lines, low grades and light construction prevail. This line will touch San Louis Potosi, the largest business centre of Mexico (with the exception of the capital), and many other smaller points, between which a good local traffic now exists; in addition to which the line, when completed, will practically control an entirely new business with the United States and Mexico, being 600 to 800 miles nearer from Mexico City to the eastern half of the United States, and therefore to fifty out of the total fifty-four millions of American population."

In further explanation of the situation of affairs the CHRONICLE has the following direct from an officer of the company:

"The Mexican National Construction Company has franchises for the building of about 2,000 miles in Mexico. It has also acquired rights to build 500 or 600 miles in Texas, of which 182 are now built. It has constructed to date 910 miles, nearly all of which is in operation. For road built and accepted in Mexico it receives from the Government of Mexico a subsidy of $11,350 per mile.

The bond issues of the Mexican National Railway Company are as follows:

"First mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds, bearing date April 1, 1881; amount issued, $19,330,000.

"First mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds, bearing date July 1, 1882; amount issued, $5,000,000.

"These issues are exactly the same bond, under the same mortgage deed, the date of the last issue being different from the first in order to adjust itself to a special English negotiation." * * *

"As you will see by the above recital, default in payment of interest due yesterday [Apl. 1] was made only on $19,330,000, the American issue, the interest on the $5,000,000 English issue not falling due until July 1, 1884. About $9,000,000 in interest have signed the 'waiver' up to this time.

"Another issue of bonds has been recently authorized—Second mortgage debentures, bearing interest up to 5 per cent per annum, payable April 1, if earned. These are to be issued at the rate of not over $15,000 per mile, in settlement of adjustment of accounts between the railway company and the construction company, and for the purpose of facilitating negotiations for immediately securing the funds to construct the gap of 3,362 miles which yet remains to connect the Northern and Southern Divisions, and form the International Trunk-Line Division, a continuous rail route to the United States. This line, when built, will open a route from the City of Mexico to the United States (at Laredo on the Rio Grande) only 820 miles long."

Milwaukee City Bonds.—There has been much criticism lately upon the action of the city officers of Milwaukee in calling in certain bonds for payment. A subscriber of the CHRONICLE sends a copy of a Milwaukee paper with a statement by the Comptroller of that city, of the law governing bonds issued by any city, county, &c., of the State of Wisconsin, and says: "According to his statement any bond of the city of Milwaukee (except the $95,000 dated 1876) is liable to be called in at any time. We think that the fact should be stated in your 'Investor's Supplement.' * * * There is nothing upon the bonds to indicate that they may be paid before date of maturity."

New York Lake Erie & Western.—The stock of this company now has full voting power. In London, circulars to the shareholders of Erie have been issued, informing them that the trust held in England having terminated by virtue of the third payment of dividend on preferred stock, the shareholders are now entitled to exchange beneficiary certificates for full voting stock. The London trustees pay a high tribute to the present administration for the last five years for its efficient management.

New York & New England.—Receiver Clark, of the New York & New England Railroad, has issued the following comparative statement of earnings and operating expenses for January, 1884 and 1883:

In January, 1882, the net earnings of the road amounted to $22,848, and for the same month in 1881 to $36,272.

Philadelphia & Reading.—The result of the joint operations of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad and Coal & Iron Company in the month of February was a decrease of $373,367 in net earnings; and for the three months from December 1, 1883, a decrease of $883,567 net, compared with the same period in 1882-83. On the lease of the Central Railroad of New Jersey there was a loss to the Reading of $180,682 in February and a loss of $686,552 for the three months. The total receipts of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad and Coal and Iron Company (not including the Central of New Jersey, leased) for each month of the fiscal years 1882-83 and 1883-84 were as follows:

The above statement does not include the Central Railroad of New Jersey, leased and operated by the Philadelphia & Reading, and the exhibit for that company is as follows:

CENTRAL RAILROAD OF NEW JERSEY.

Pittsburg Fort Wayne & Chicago.—A meeting of stockholders of this company was held in Pittsburg, April 3, to consider a proposition to create mortgage bonds in payment of what is known as "betterment stock." It was intended that a final agreement should be made at this meeting, but a short time ago it was discovered that certain minor details could not be prepared in time, and it was decided to take an adjournment until May 1. Explanatory circulars will be mailed to each stock and bondholder, making the following propositions:

First, to deposit the stock certificates with a trust company, hereafter to be designated, for exchange for bonds as same are earned; second, that you vote in favor of a mortgage not to exceed $22,000,000, the bonds to be issued under the mortgage only as required for "betterments," such bonds to be due at the option of the company after the year 2868, to be registered and transferable only on the books of the company, interest payable quarterly at the transfer agency in the same manner as the interest on the company's third mortgage income bonds are now payable, and the bonds to be guaranteed, principal and interest, by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, lessee; third, that you vote authorizing the board of directors to make such needful contracts with the trust company and lessee company for the exchange of stock for bonds, after same are earned.

The stockholders are instructed to sign papers and instructions, which they will find after April 8 at the office of Winslow, Lanier & Co., the transfer agents, No. 26 Nassau Street, New York. They are informed that the proposition in the last circular for an issue of $20,000,000 bonds is withdrawn, and that all proxies on this proposition should be withheld.

Railroads in Receivers' Hands.—The Boston Herald says: "The roads which have passed into the hands of receivers since Dec. 31, 1883, are: 1. New York & New England; 2. Hastings & Grand Island; 3. Texas & St. Louis; 4. North River Construction; 5. Connotton Valley; 6. St. Louis Hannibal & Keokuk; 7. Cleveland Youngstown & Pittsburg; 8. Shenango & Alleghany; 9. International Interoceanic & Oriental; 10. Midland of North Carolina; 11. Portland & Ogdensburg; 12. Newcastle & Northern."

Richmond & Danville.—The Maryland Legislature has passed the bill originated by the Merchants & Manufacturers' Association of Baltimore, authorizing a loan of $2,000,000 by that city to the Richmond & Danville Railroad Company, in order to secure a traffic alliance with that company, establishing differential freight rates favorable to the city. The bill, before it becomes effective, requires the approval of the Mayor and Common Council, the Corn & Flour Exchange, the Board of Trade, the Merchants & Manufacturers' Association of Baltimore and the voters of the city. If the arrangement is carried out, it is intended to make direct connection from Baltimore to Alexandria over the Baltimore & Ohio road, and a new bridge across the Potomac River to prevent change of cars and breakage of bulk at Washington.

Western Union Telegraph.—The Western Union Telegraph Company's directors are reported to comtemplate the issue of $1,000,000 of additional mortgage bonds. To a newspaper reporter Mr. Green said: "Whatever business our competitors have, they have created, for our own business has steadily increased. I have here a table showing the weekly receipts of 378 test offices, representing two-fifths of the business of the company for four years and three monnths. These weekly returns are telegraphed on. They show steady increase with less than half a dozen exceptions in the entire list, and, excepting July and August of last year, when the strikes caused a falling off for six weeks of from $20,000 to $30,000 per week.

"In the thirteen weeks of 1884 ending March 29, there was an aggregate increase of $80,620, compared with the receipts of the corresponding period last year. * * *

"Of the surplus of $1,094,000 shown by the last quarterly statement, there had been advanced to the account of construction and new property up to January 1 last a fraction over $3,000,000. The amounts advanced to that account last quarter have not been ascertained, but may be estimated at $200,000 more. In other words, $3,300,000 out of $1,094,000 has gone into new property. In regard to the cost of the two new buildings, pneumatic lines and machinery here, amounting to about $1,000,000, the directors have not yet decided how it will be met, and while they are willing to inform the public of any decision they may come to, they are not ready to enlighten the 'Street' and the newspapers on the subject of their deliberations."

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, April 4, 1884.

The weather has been quite wintry in northern latitudes, not favorable to spring trade. Speculative values of food staples have declined greatly; wheat has touched the lowest prices since the beginning of the secession movement late in 1860, and it is now hoped that surplus stocks will be taken for export.

The following is a statement of the stocks of leading articles of domestic and foreign merchandise at dates given:

Provisions have generally declined in the past week, but the feature of the market has been the semi-panic in lard futures, beginning on Wednesday morning and resulting within the next 48 hours in a decline of about one cent a pound. The lowest figures were made this morning, as follows: 8·58c. for May and 8·65c. for June; but there was a recovery and the close this afternoon was firm at 8·65c. for April, 8·70c. for May, 8·75@8·80c. for June and 8·80@8·85c. for July. Spot lard quoted nearly nominal at 8·40c. for prime city, 8·70c. for prime Western and 9c. for refined for the Continent. Pork has declined to $16 75 for mess and $19@$19 50 for clear. Bacon wholly unsettled. Cut meats are lower; pickled bellies and shoulders, 8@8¼c.; hams, 11½@12c. Beef and beef hams very quiet. Tallow lower at 7@7⅛c. Stearine lower at 9⅜@9½c. Butter closes steady; Western factory, 15@22c.; fresh creamery, 30@36c. Cheese dull; State factory, 12@15¼c. Fresh eggs, 19½@20½c.

Rio coffee has been dull on the spot and declining; fair cargoes close at 10½c.; options have declined and latterly have been quiet; the close was quiet at 8·45@8·50c. for April, 8·50@8·55c. for May, 8·55@8·60c. for June, 8·60@8·65c. for July and 8·35@8·70c. for July and August; mild grades have been quiet and weak. Tea has advanced, but the trading has materially decreased; Japan, for June delivery, sold at 25½c.; other months close dull and unsettled, with buyers and sellers far apart in their views. Rice has been in moderate demand and steady. Molasses has been quiet and about steady. Foreign fruits have been moderately active and steady. Raw sugar has been fairly active at declining prices; fair on the spot is quoted at 5 7-16c., and for July at 5·65@5·67½c.; refined is dull at 7 1-16@7⅛c. for granulated and 6⅝@6¾c. for standard "A."

In Kentucky tobacco only a moderate business was reported, but all prices remained steady at 7¼@8c. for lugs and 8¼@11c. for leaf; sales 775 hhds., mostly for export. Seed leaf has had a better movement, and a steady range to prices is noticed; sales 1,355 cases including 385 cases crop 1882, Wisconsin Havana seed, 20@50c.; 100 cases crop 1882, Ohio Havana seed, 18c.; 100 cases crop 1882, New Egland Havana seed, 18@25c.; 250 cases crop 1882, Pennsylvania, 5@20c.; 300 cases crop 1881, do., 5@10c.; 100 cases crop 1882, New England, 11@25c.; 100 cases sundries, 4¾@18c., and 900 bales Havana, 80c.@$1 20; also 200 bales Sumatra, $1 25@$1 65.

The business in naval stores has been mostly of a speculative character. The legitimate calls are small, but spirits turpentine on the spot is quoted very steady at 33½c.; common to good strained rosins are quiet at $1 47½@$1 50. Refined petroleum has been depressed by the utter indifference of shippers; 70 Abel test is quoted at 8¼c. Crude certificates have been very weak until to-day, when the heavy short interest endeavored to cover, and by so doing advanced values from 91¾c. to 93½c., closing 93⅜c. Ingot copper is firm and quiet at 14⅞@15c. for lake. Steel rails have been sold to the extent of 10,000 tons at $34 at the mills. Hops, wool and oils have been quiet and without features of interest.

There has been a better business in ocean freight-room. Berth tonnage has recently improved, but charters are still quiet and quoted at very irregular rates. To-day grain to Liverpool by steam was taken at 1⅞@2d.; cotton, 3-32d.; bacon, 12s. 6d.; cheese, 17s. 6d.; grain to London by steam quoted 3½d.; do. to Glasgow by steam, 3d.; do. to Hamburg by steam, 47½@50 pfennigs; do. to Havre by steam, 6½c.; do. to Antwerp by steam, 3@3½d.; do. to Bremen by steam, 45@50 pf.

The past week has witnessed much excitement in cotton, attended by an important advance in prices. The speculation in futures has shown increased activity. An element of strength has been the decided improvement in advices from Manchester. Another was found in the reiteration of reports that Southern spinners have been compelled to go, not only to the Atlantic ports, but to the interior towns for supplies—demonstrating, it was asserted, that the plantations are quite exhausted. Liverpool and the principal Southern markets have followed ours, but with rather less spirit. On Saturday prices were variable, the close being at a slight decline, with some selling to realize. But on Monday, there was renewed buoyancy. On Tuesday, prices yielded a few points, operators ceasing for the moment to purchase freely. On Wednesday, after a somewhat uncertain opening, there was great activity, and the early months were decidedly buoyant, advancing 14@16 points, and the sales, for the first time in many months, exceeding two hundred thousand bales. On Thursday the fluctuations were wide, the tone unsettled and the close irregular. There was some further advance for this crop; but, with very good weather at the South, the next crop was slightly lower. To-day the demand was only moderate; there was evidently a pause in the speculation for the rise, and there was a general decline, the close being a little lower for the day; but, as compared with last Friday, there was an advance of 25 points for April, 12@17 points for the remainder of this crop, and 4@7 for the next. Cotton on the spot has been in fair demand for home consumption, and has improved in sympathy with futures. Quotations were advanced 1-16c. on Monday, again on Wednesday and again on Thursday. To-day the market was quiet and unchanged, Middling Uplands closing at 11 9-16c.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 927,600 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 2,897 bales, including — for export, 2,033 for consumption, 864 for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

the same towns have been 5,011 bales less than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 604,777 bales less than for the same time in 1882-83.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,695,899 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,649,157 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,505,626 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 37,091 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 21,249 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 68,889 bales and for 1882 they were 27,229 bales.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT APRIL 4.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to April 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

| Receipts at the ports to April 4. | 4,619,661 | 5,408,490 | 4,335,107 | 5,176,322 |
| Interior stocks on April 4 in excess of September 1 | 76,238 | 240,667 | 170,519 | 238,512 |
| Tot. receipts from plantat'ns | 4,695,899 | 5,649,157 | 4,505,626 | 5,414,834 |
| Net overland to April 1 | 526,328 | 572,324 | 394,473 | 452,089 |
| Southern consumpt'n to April 1 | 236,000 | 240,000 | 190,000 | 155,000 |
| Total in sight April 4 | 5,458,227 | 6,461,481 | 5,090,099 | 6,021,923 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,003,254 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 368,128 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 563,696 bales.

INDIA COTTON MOVEMENT FROM ALL PORTS.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to April 3.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

| Year | Shipments this week. | | | Shipments since Jan. 1. | | | Receipts. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Great Brit'n. | Continent | Total. | Great Britain | Continent. | Total. | This Week. | Since Jan. 1. |
| 1884 | 23,000 | 43,000 | 66,000 | 208,000 | 238,000 | 446,000 | 73,000 | 628,000 |
| 1883 | 15,000 | 67,000 | 82,000 | 175,000 | 347,000 | 522,000 | 73,000 | 762,000 |
| 1882 | 30,000 | 47,000 | 77,000 | 375,000 | 220,000 | 595,000 | 86,000 | 755,000 |
| 1881 | 6,000 | 34,000 | 40,000 | 109,000 | 189,000 | 298,000 | 43,000 | 461,000 |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show no change as compared with last year in the week's receipts, and a decrease in shipments of 13,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 76,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| | Shipments for the week. | | | Shipments since January 1. | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. |
| Calcutta— | | | | | | |

| 1883 | 2,500 | ..... | 2,500 | 50,000 | 9,000 | 59,000 |
| Madras— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 9,500 | ..... | 9,500 |
| 1883 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 4,500 | 1,000 | 5,500 |
| All others— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | ..... | 3,000 | 3,000 | 13,500 | 3,000 | 16,500 |
| 1883 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 4,000 | 2,000 | 6,000 |
| Total all— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | 2,000 | 3,000 | 5,000 | 82,000 | 28,000 | 110,000 |
| 1883 | 2,500 | ..... | 2,500 | 58,500 | 12,000 | 70,500 |

The above totals for the week show that the movement from the ports other than Bombay is 2,500 bales more than same week last year. For the whole of India, therefore, the total shipments since January 1, 1884, and for the corresponding periods of the two previous years, are as follows:

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. | | 1883. | | 1882. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. |
| Bombay | 69,000 | 446,000 | 82,000 | 522,000 | 77,000 | 595,000 |
| All other ports. | 5,000 | 110,000 | 2,500 | 70,500 | 11,800 | 139,400 |
| Total | 74,000 | 556,000 | 84,500 | 592,500 | 88,800 | 734,400 |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

ALEXANDRIA RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

* A cantar is 98 lbs.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending April 2 were 12,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe 6,000 bales.

MANCHESTER MARKET.—Our report received from Manchester to-night states that the market is strong at a slight advance in prices. We give the prices of to-day below, and leave previous weeks' prices for comparison.

The following remarks accompany the month's weather reports for February, 1884:

Norfolk, Va.—Frost on February 2d.

Murphy N. C.—Very heavy winds during the month, but no damage done.

Spartanburg, S. C.—Weather warm for the season during most of the month. Terrific storm of wind, rain and hail, with thunder and lightning, on the 19th, beginning at 6 P. M. and lasting for several hours. About six miles south of the city the cyclone passed, destroying houses, mills, &c. Strange to tell but one person was killed.

Aiken S. C.—We had several thunder storms.

Statesburg, S C.—Frosts on the 2d, 16th, 21st, 24th and 29th.

Augusta, Ga.—Destructive storm on the 19th in northern Georgia and South Carolina, with great loss of life and property.

Savannah, Ga.—Heavy rain on the 16th.

Macon, Ga.—The month has been for the most part too cold for farm work, which is quite backward. During the month a very severe storm passed over this section, doing considerable damage.

Forsyth, Ga.—Heavy hailstorm on the 19th. The weather thus far the present year has been exceedingly unfavorable to farmers; outlook not at all hopeful.

Andersonville, Ga.—Heavy winds have prevailed throughout the month. From 10 P. M. on the 20th until 3 A. M. on 21st a heavy gale from N. W. (commencing with hail) visited this section. A velocity of from 50 to 60 miles an hour was reached, but no serious damage resulted. Early vegetables a failure on account of continued frosts.

Archer, Fla.—Terrific wind—40 to 50 miles an hour—on night of 19th, 20th.

Montgomery, Ala.—Cyclone passed to the north and east of this city on the 19th, causing very heavy damage to property and loss of life; high wind in the city, but no material damage. Heavy frosts on the 2d, 21st, 24th and 25th. Light frost on the 14th and 22d.

Mobile, Ala.—Frost on the 29th injured cucumbers and beans.

Greene Springs, Ala.—On 19th about 1 P. M. a storm, with thunder, passed over this place. The wind at first was from S. E., but veered west and west-by-north with hail. The only damage was by blowing down trees and fences, but in other parts of the State, particularly east of Birmingham in the Cahawba Valley, there was great loss of life, and damage to property.

Auburn, Ala.—During most of the day on the 19th a strong gale blew from the southwest accompanied by some rain, hail and electricity. Little damage done here.

New Orleans, La.—Frost on the 15th.

Shreveport, La.—Many plantations both above and below this city are inundated by overflow. Floods first began to do serious damage on the 22d inst. Damage thought to be comparatively small.

Grand Coteau, La.—Only serious frost on the 15th. The destructive storm east of the Mississippi on the 18th was indicated here by falling barometer and rising thermometer. Short storm, lasting about 20 minutes, destroyed a church and several cabins about 8 miles southeast of here.

Vicksburg, Miss.—Severe gale on the 19th from the S. W. Maximum velocity 52 miles per hour. Wind and rainstorm on the 22d. Maximum velocity 31 miles per hour, and on the 27th velocity 34 miles per hour.

Brookhaven, Miss.—The weather was somewhat stormy during the middle and latter parts of the month, but little damage was done in this immediate vicinity. Heavy frosts and ice on the 20th, 21st, 28th and 29th.

Greenville, Miss.—Heaviest rainfall occurred on days of even temperature, when variations did not exceed four degrees. Mississippi River is higher here now than at any time this season, occasioned by return to the river of flood waters from the St. Francis Bottoms in Arkansas. Think about the same area of country will be overflowed as last year.

Mount Ida, Ark.—An exceptionally wet and cold month. Heaviest rainfall for twelve years, except in February, 1882, when it reached 10·50 inches.

Memphis, Tenn.—River above the danger line (34 feet) from Feb. 17 to 29th inclusive.

Ashwood, Tenn.—Wind blew very hard on the 19th, but did no damage. At Bigbyville in this county, 7 miles southeast from here, a large number of trees were blown down. Snowfall on the 27th seven inches.

Indianola, Texas.—Very dry month. No rain of any amount has fallen in this section of the country since September, 1883. Farmers and stockmen are complaining on account of the drought.

Fort Elliot, Texas.—Of the rainfall ·19 of an inch was precipitation from fog and frostworks only.

Cleburne, Texas.—Frosts on the 1st and 28th.

Clarksville, Texas.—Four inches of rain on the 12th. From the 5th to 13th the total rainfall reached 9·36 inches.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE.—A vote was taken to-day for the purpose of deciding whether Friday, April 11, Saturday, April 12, and Monday, April 14, should be kept holidays; only Friday was carried, by 110 yeas against 33 nays; Saturday was lost by 66 yeas against 54 nays and Monday by 44 yeas against 97 nays. All three days will be holidays at Liverpool.

TEXAS COTTON PREPARATIONS AND PLANTING.—The Galveston News of the 28th and 29th of March gives a statement of cotton condition and planting this spring at about those dates. The comparisons instituted in its reports are stated to be with the year 1882–83—the big crop year in Texas. This has been done in order to form an accurate idea of the possible yield compared with that year. We have prepared the following summary from their reports:

Abilene.—Section just passing from dry to wet season. No cotton planted. Acreage small.

Austin.—Planters late in getting crops in, but rains have been ample. Increased acreage.

Belton.—Crop prospects excellent. Ground in good condition and work well up. Increased acreage 15 per cent.

Belleville.—Prospects quite bright. Lands well worked and in fine condition. Planting finishes in 10 days. Large increase in acreage.

Brenmond.—Lands generally broken and ready for a good wetting. Planting just commenced. Increase in acreage about 12 per cent.

Columbus.—Cotton about two-thirds planted, but late wet and cold weather will necessitate much re-planting. Ten per cent increase in acreage.

Corsicana.—Farming operations more advanced than in any previous season. Ground all prepared and some planting done. Small increase in acreage.

Crockett.—Rains general and work well up. Land ready and acreage about same.

Gatesville.—Rainfall just enough to keep ground in fine condition. No cotton yet planted, but acreage will be larger than ever before.

Giddings.—Planting prospects poor on account of heavy rainfall, which has retarded planting. Crop outlook exceedingly gloomy.

Greenville.—Land in fine condition. Planting progresses rapidly. Increased acreage 4 per cent.

Hearne.—Soil in fine condition. Planting well up. Increase in acreage about 5 per cent.

Hempstead.—Soil in fine fix. Good rains. Increase in acreage 3 per cent.

Honey Grove.—Planting well advanced; prospects never better at this time. Increase in acreage 10 per cent over 1883, which was the heaviest previous season.

Huntsville.—Season little backward, owing to too much rain. Planting just commencing. Acreage about same.

La Grange.—Planting prospects very flattering. Great deal of cotton planted and some up.

Lampasas.—Crop propects very flattering. Season so far exceedingly fine. Much larger acreage.

Lawrence.—Rain plentiful and soil in splendid condition. Increased acreage.

Ledbetter.—Rainfall last ten days very heavy. Soil in good condition and cotton about all planted. Small increase in acreage.

Longview.—Rains frequent and soil in excellent condition. Some cotton planted and ground nearly all ready for remainder. Increased acreage about 20 per cent.

Luling.—Crop prospect in Caldwell County most flattering; just enough rain. Work well up. Increased acreage.

McDade.—Cotton not yet planted. Crops expected to be as good as in 1882.

McKinney.—Little or no cotton yet planted. Acreage will be smaller. Winter unusually favorable to farmers.

San Antonio.—Crop outlook promising. Rainfall abundant. Soil good, and progress in planting fair. Largely increased acreage.

San Marcos.—Lands in fine condition. Little cotton planted yet. Increased acreage. Outlook never better.

Schulenburg.—Cotton planting nearly finished. Increased acreage 15 per cent.

Seguin.—Plenty of rain and crop prospects good.

Sherman.—Corn and oats taking the place of cotton in black land districts. Acreage will be less unless fall oats turn out poorly.

Taylor.—Soil never in better condition. Increase in acreage 24 per cent. Outlook very flattering for increased crop.

Temple.—Rainfall sufficient and ground in fine condition. Some planting done. Small increase in acreage.

Tyler.—Planting prospects very fine. Soil excellent. Increased acreage 18 per cent.

Wills Point.—Recent heavy rains have impeded planting. Acreage as large or larger than in 1882-83.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &C.—There has been no improvement in the demand for bagging, and the market is quiet. Buyers are scarce, and no desire is shown to lay in stocks for future wants, and the only transactions reported are small parcels for present requirements. Prices are unchanged and sellers are steady at quotations; but a shade less would be accepted for a quantity. The market closes at 9⅛c. for 1¼ lb., 10c. for 1¾ lb., 10¾c. for 2 lb. and 11⅛c. for standard grades. Butts are rather quiet at the moment. There are a few inquiries in market, but no transactions are reported as closed. Prices are steadily maintained, however, and holders are not disposed to let stocks go except at full rates. The sales for the past few weeks aggregate about 5,000 bales, mostly to arrive, at 2¼@2¾c. as to quality, and at the close dealers are quoting 2¼@2⅜c. for paper grades, while bagging quality is held at 2½@2¾c. The stock on spot is 50,500 bales, which, together with the amount afloat, gives a visible supply of 212,271 bales, against 329,461 bales same time last year.

OVERLAND MOVEMENT, &C., TO APRIL 1.—In our editorial columns to-day will be found our regular statement of overland movement, receipts, exports, spinners' takings, &c., brought down to April 1.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September , 1883, has been as follows.

| Monthly Receipts. | Year Beginning September 1. | | | | | |

This statement shows that up to March 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 750,552 bales less than in 1882-83, and 304,478 bales more than at the same time in 1881-82. By adding to the above totals to Mar. 31 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

Alvah, steamer (Br.), Stephen, from New Orleans for Havre, with cotton, stranded afternoon of March 29 on the Sands, near Tortugas, but was got off by wreckers uninjured, after discharging a part of cargo, and arrived at Key West 31st. She will settle salvage and proceed. Her cargo consists of 4,889 bales of cotton, 20,000 bushels of corn in bulk and 3,000 pieces of staves.

Borinquin, steamer (Span.), at New Orleans, for Liverpool. The cotton in the hold of steamer Borinquin, (Span.), was set on fire March 26 by sparks from the funnels of two passing tugs, but the fire was extinguished immediately with only slight damage.

Asian, ship (Br.), before reported, from New Orleans for Liverpool, at Bermuda in distress, has had a second survey of bottom by a government diver, who report it in a worse state, if anything, than the first diver.

Rebecca Everingham, steamboat, plying on the Chattahoochie river between Columbus, Ga., and Apalachicola bay, Fla., was burned to the water's edge at Fitzgerald Landing, 40 miles below Columbus, about 4 A.M. of Thursday. Her cargo included 307 bales of cotton.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., April 4, 1884

Flour has, most of the week, been very depressed, and until yesterday the transactions were very small. Then, however, there was a good business for export. But to-day there was little trade, and the same weak tone was noticeable, especially for the higher and medium grades, the cheaper brands being the best sustained. The supply here is more than ample, and at the close the market was to a great extent nominal.

Wheat has been fairly active on speculation, but quiet for export as a rule, and prices have rapidly declined, largely in sympathy with falling markets at the West. The large supplies both here and abroad continue to exert a very depressing effect, and the prospects for a large yield of winter wheat in this country continue favorable. Former operators on the bull side of the market have latterly taken the opposite tack, and those who have failed to do so have suffered severe losses. To-day there was a light export trade, and fair transactions on speculation at still declining prices. A failure in the trade added to the demoralization. No. 2 red closed at 98½c. in elevator, 96¾c. for April, 98¾c. for May, $1 00⅜ for June, $1 00⅞ for July and $1 01 for August; showing a decline for the week of from 6 to 7c. The reduction caused to-day a large export movement, mainly to the Continent.

Indian corn has latterly been more active on speculation, but the export trade has been slow all the week, and prices have continued to decline. This cereal has not sympathized so closely with wheat, as has usually been the case in past seasons, the reason being that strictly contract grade has not been in really very burdensome supply; but, nevertheless, the depression in the wheat market has had considerable effect, as will be seen by the important decline during the week. To-day cash corn was steady, but options declined, and the trading was moderate, both for export and on speculation. No. 2 mixed closed at 58c. in elevator, 57½c. for April, 58½c. for May, 59½c. for June and 60⅝c. for July, showing a decline for the week of 2⅛ to 3c.

Rye and barley have sold moderately at easier prices. Oats have followed the other cereals on the downward course, but have latterly sold rather more freely. To-day there was a fractional decline, attended with fair transactions; No. 2 mixed closed at 34½c. for April, 35¼c. for May and 35½c. for June, showing a decline of 3c. during the week.

The following are closing quotations:

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., April 4, 1884.

The recent sharp advance in cotton has been the incentive to more liberal operations in a few of the most staple cotton fabrics the past week, but in other respects the condition of the dry goods market is practically unchanged. The general demand at first hands was comparatively light, but there was a fair movement in a few specialties. The jobbing trade was irregular, and upon the whole disappointing—moderately active days having been followed by very quiet ones, owing partly to the capricious state of the weather. As a whole the business of the week has not realized expectations, and both wholesale and retail buyers have shown a determination to restrict their purchases to such quantities as are required for immediate distribution. It is quite probable that the coming spring trade may atone for the depressed condition of business the past few months, as all textile fabrics are so cheap that a brisk demand for consumption may be reasonably expected; but a late trade has seldom proved to be satisfactory, and it must be admitted that the outlook is less encouraging than at the corresponding period in former years.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of domestics from this port during the week were 2,684 packages, including 1,260 to Great Britain, 405 to Hayti, 356 to Brazil, 250 to Venezuela, 139 to Santo Domingo, &c., making the total exports 36,886 packages since January 1, against 34,880 for the same time last year and 33,758 in 1882—a very poor showing, considering the exceptionally low figures at which cotton goods have been obtainable in this market for some time past. Brown cottons were more active in agents' hands, and some good-sized "round lots" were secured by shrewd buyers. Bleached goods were in steady but moderate demand, and a slightly improved business was done in denims and other colored cottons. The advance in raw cotton has strengthened prices, and while agents are still willing to sell goods actually in stock at current rates, orders for future delivery could be placed "at value" only. Some makes of brown and colored cottons were slightly advanced by agents, but few sales were effected at the enhanced prices. Print cloths were in moderate demand and dearer, closing at 3 9-16c.@3⅝c. for 64x61s and 3⅛c. for 56x60s; but prints have not responded, and only the best makes are firmly held at current quotations. Ginghams and wash fabrics were in very fair demand, and steady at ruling rates.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—There was a slight improvement in the demand for popular makes of clothing woolens—as fancy cassimeres of the most popular makes, worsted coatings and satinets—but business in this connection was by no means satisfactory as a rule, buyers having manifested an unusual degree of apathy. Some considerable sales of light-weight cassimeres and suitings were effected by means of low prices, but values of really desirable woolens adapted to the fall trade were well sustained. Ladies' cloths, tricots, Jersey cloths and cloakings were in fair, but not very active, demand, and a pretty good business was done in some makes of satinets; but Kentucky jeans ruled quiet. Worsted and all-wool dress goods were in fair request and steady in price, and a somewhat improved business was done in fall hosiery and underwear—for future delivery.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS were more active in jobbers' hands than with importers, but the volume of business in this branch of the trade was strictly moderate. Some fair orders for fall goods were placed in first hands, but selections of seasonable merchandise were chiefly confined to a very few specialties. The main feature of the auction rooms was an unusually large sale of hosiery and fabric gloves, which was attended with very successful results.

The Corbin Banking Co.

NEW YORK.

All Interest and Principal Payable in New York City.

From 1851 to 1866 Mr. Austin Corbin resided in the State of Iowa, and, in connection with the banking business, made a specialty of negotiating First Mortgage Loans upon Improved Farms. In 1866 he transferred the business to the City of New York, with immensely successful results. In 1874 the Corbin Banking Company was organized and succeeded him in this business, and has continued it ever since. From moderate beginnings this special business has grown to very large proportions, and now shows a Continuous and Complete Record of Results Covering the Entire Period of 33 Years. The number of current loans upon our books at this date exceeds 33,500, and the amount of money outstanding and due to individuals, savings banks and other corporations is upward of $12,000,000. The business has grown to its present magnitude because its results, as shown by this long record, have been eminently satisfactory. During the periods of depression and general depreciation of nearly all classes of investment securities, which succeeded the panics of 1855, 1857, 1861 and 1873, these first mortgage farm loans negotiated by us, based upon a 40-per-cent cash valuation of the farms, returned high rates of interest to the lenders, with almost the promptitude of Government bonds, and from the beginning of the business to the present time have absolutely proved themselves to be the Safest and Best Paying Investments in this Country. From year to year during this period of 33 years we have been perfecting the details. Our correspondents in the various States are picked men, skilled in this branch of business, of superior judgment, unquestioned integrity and honor, and thoroughly conversant with the laws, procedure and practice of their several States. In addition to this, all the farms are examined and the statements concerning them revised by independent agents of our company, paid by us a liberal salary, who report directly to us in New York; and in a multitude of minor details which have been perfected at great expense through the experience of this long period we have been able to reduce the management of this business to a perfect system. Indeed, it is the perfection of our work that has enabled these first mortgage loans upon improved farms to manifest their superiority and to maintain their very high standard of value over all others, while at times great depreciation has followed nearly all other classes of investments.

To investors who wish to place money for a term of years with entire safety, at rates varying from 7 to 8 per cent, we recommend these loans as being, all things considered, the Best in the World.

We hold ourselves in readiness at all times promptly, personally or by letter, to reply to inquiries and to furnish all needed information in detail.

We have prepared an exact statement of the results of $3,501,845, all investments for individuals for the last ten years. Of this amount $3,310,417 were paid promptly with interest in full when due, or over 94 per cent. Of the $191,428 unpaid at maturity there has now been paid $118,180, with an added interest of $63,136, leaving yet to be collected $73,248, which is principally due from a few later delinquents, and is being rapidly paid up, and is absolutely good. So it will be seen that 98 per cent of all this $3,501,845 capital has been already returned with rates of interest varying from 7 to 8 per cent, and that only 2 per cent is now unpaid. What other class of investment securities, taken at an average, will show such a record as this?

We solicit investors to investigate our methods and the character of the loans.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The break in the breadstuffs market, though a necessary event before recuperation was possible, has been attended like all similar remedial movements, with large losses and temporary distress to a great number of individuals. Thanks to our vicious currency system—which at a time of industrial inactivity has made what we call money a drug and therefore especially venturesome, eagerly courting temporary use—speculators have been able to carry their load far too long for either their own or the country's good. For by withholding our supply of breadstuffs when we could have obtained a paying price for it, we have virtually forced wheat out of every other producing country, until now we are in turn forced to throw our large stock on this glutted market with the results above stated.

In the light of this experience we cannot help stopping here to suggest to Congress, whether it is not of doubtful wisdom to push the measure now before it, of putting the fund for the redemption of national bank notes into bonds. The proposition is to issue in this way the 39½ million legal tenders which are now lying in the Treasury to redeem outstanding notes of banks which are in liquidation;—thus substantially for the time being increasing the paper circulation to just that extent, for the notes of the banks are still out which those legal tenders cover. That is to say, while currency is so abundant that there is no use for it, except to encourage imprudent ventures, and while we are sending out gold by the cart-load without as yet having the least apparent effect on our gorged money market, we propose to put into active use 39½ millions of new supply! Is that statesmanlike? We save a little interest to be sure, but we disorganize our industrial relations. We dump another block of currency into the channels of commerce, and perhaps foster a similar reckless speculation in commodities other than wheat. At all events this new stock of paper money when put afloat diminishes the power of gold to control price, makes that metal less necessary to us, undervalues it, and gives a further impulse to its shipment.

But returning to the break in wheat, there can be no doubt of the more immediate results proving widely harmful. The Agricultural Department estimated the amount of that grain in farmers' hands on the 1st of March at 119¼ million bushels. Accepting this estimate as approximately correct, and adding to it the visible supply at that date (31 millions), and say about 5 millions more in transit or in stocks not contained in the visible supply table, we have a total in the country on March 1 of about 155 million bushels. Consequently every cent decline in price represents to the holders of that stock a loss of a little over 1½ million dollars. On the last day of February No. 2 spring was quoted in New York at $1 09, while on Thursday of this week the quotation for the same grade was 95½ cents, or a decline in the interval of say 13 cents, which would make the loss foot up over 20 million dollars. But those figures by no means measure the extent of the harm done to individuals, since the contracts for futures outstanding at the dates mentioned must have aggregated several times the total crop of the year; and though on these future ventures we may roughly say what is one man's loss is another man's gain, yet in case of failure to keep margins good, the bank or merchant who is carrying the burden finds no compensation.

These thoughts bring out the unfortunate side of this operation, and give just a glimpse of the damage it has inflicted. No one can wonder, therefore, that there have been failures; the surprise must rather be that there are not more announced. But as we have said on a previous occasion, disaster was long since inevitable, and was more burdensome to general business in anticipation than now. Though prices were higher a month ago, no holder was richer, and the country is far better off with this obstruction to a freer trade removed. The first of April report of the Agricultural Department is just published, and it shows a very promising outlook for winter wheat.

Under the influence of a new and abundant harvest, the country will prosper if speculators do not interfere and prevent our produce from being marketed. We can make money and put wheat down at Liverpool at a lower price than any other nation. Probably this year's returns to our producers will not be favorable, for the world is likely to be over supplied; but low values will restore the equilibrium and give us a better result another year. In the meantime, there is a great compensation to our 55 millions of people in securing cheap food, so that very low prices for wheat which may leave very little surplus to the producer, do not necessarily make the mercantile prospect unfavorable.

Among the week's failures we have to include several banks. The unfortunate feature in them is, that the disasters were with one exception due to speculative officers. Perhaps the most prominent instance was the Illinois bank at Monmouth, the telegram to the Associated Press announcing the suspension stating that "for years the cashier has been "known as a daring speculator, and has branched out "widely in his operations." It would be very useful to follow up this suggestion and see who it was that knew all this. The dispatch referred to also stated that "great "excitement prevailed" when the doors were closed and the defalcation, as it was called, was made public. How there could be any surprise or excitement if the man was known as a "daring speculator" while he was acting as cashier of a bank passes our understanding. An officer of that description in this vicinity would have a very short career, and it is gratifying to feel that the national banking system, as administered in the past, harbors but few such cases. We are sorry to notice the announcement that Mr. John Jay Knox is to give up the position of Comptroller and accept the Presidency of one of our city banks. His retirement from the trust he has so long and so faithfully administered is greatly to be regretted, but creates no surprise, as the compensation of Comptroller is wretchedly inadequate, while the responsibilities are great and the criticisms always hasty, so that his retaining the office so long is the more wonderful. He will be warmly welcomed here by all bank officers. The appointment of a suitable successor by President Arthur may prove no easy task. Applicants who live by their wits will be abundant enough no doubt, but to find an honest, practical banker willing to take the trust without receiving half pay for his work and care is more doubtful.

The break in wheat and the larger movement from the west to the seaboard has had little effect on foreign exchange, for although at the close it is a shade easier, it is still strong enough to justify exports of gold. In fact, the exports this week reach the large total of $3,715,638 31, but only $1,006,816 72 of it goes out in the steamers to-day. Bankers seem inclined to ship rather than take the risk of buying and endorsing for discount any but the choicest commercial bills, the situation in London and Liverpool and in this country being so unsettled as to induce extreme caution. Therefore, even if there should be a moderately free movement of produce, the bills drawn against it may not prove entirely acceptable, and in such case the supply would still be insufficient and the demand call for continued shipments of gold. So far as the London money market is concerned, the rate there is so low that it is no object to transfer balances, and later on the cheapness of money in Europe may result to our advantage when confidence is restored; but it is perhaps scarcely reasonable to look for any great demand from abroad for investment in such securities as we have to offer, while European capital can be employed at moderately fair rates of remuneration in foreign loans, such as those offered from time to time on the Continent.

The stock market, influenced by manipulation of Union Pacific, showed some strength early in the week. But on Monday, early in the afternoon, the movement was checked by news of unsettled markets at Chicago and later by an attack upon West Shore bonds based upon an unfavorable construction put upon the report of the receiver of the North River Construction Company; toward the close there was a recovery. On Tuesday the market was generally strong, the feature being a rise in Union Pacific, Western Union and the Grangers. On Wednesday the above-named specialties and the trunk line shares were quite firm in the early part of the day. In the afternoon first one and then another fell off and the market closed weak and unsettled. Thursday there was a better feeling with a little more doing. Yesterday was a holiday.

The manipulation of Union Pacific has been aided by reports of progress made toward a settlement of the differences with the Chicago Burlington & Quincy and by a moderately large short interest in the stock. What basis there is for the rumors that an adjustment is in prospect it would be very difficult to say. The statement that the Burlington had decided upon an issue of about $7,000,000 of stock was at first interpreted as hostile to any settlement, as it was claimed that the money realized for the stock was to be used in building a new line. But on Thursday it was reported that the proceeds of the stock were for retiring the Hannibal & St. Joseph 8 per cents due March 1, 1885, and then a more favorable view was taken of the negotiations. The movement in Western Union has been somewhat erratic all the week. The news on Wednesday morning that the $1,000,000 7 per cent bonds had been sold, and that they were part of an issue authorized in 1874, aided in a fractional advance, but the stock fell in the afternoon on the announcement that the Postal Telegraph bill had been reported to the Senate, and that the majority of the committee were in favor of the clause relating to contracts with existing companies, while the minority were opposed to the purchase or construction of lines by the Government. The trunk-line stocks have shown considerable strength, mainly because of an impression among speculators that the managers have nearly perfected a plan for simplifying the business of the roads so as to avoid trouble in the future. One plan, as reported from Philadelphia, is to abolish the fast freight lines, through which cutting is said to be very frequent, abandon the practice of soliciting business, terminate agencies and establish fixed and unchangeable rates for passengers and freight. Then pool actual cash receipts and divide them according to percentages to be agreed upon. This, it will be observed, is a practical reorganization of the trunk-line pool, and such radical changes, if contemplated, would require time to carry into effect.

In another column we analyze at length railroad earnings for the month of March, drawing attention to the fact that the falling off is really much smaller than the public generally expected it would be. But the figures now coming in for the first week of April still further disappoint the popular expectation in a most agreeable manner. It is as yet too early to get many roads for this period, but some of the leading companies, to which the most interest attaches, have received telegraphic figures, which appear in our usual weekly table on another page, and one and all these make gratifying exhibits. This relates more particularly to Northwestern roads, on which a material falling off was looked for. The St. Paul, which last year had an increase of $89,000, now reports a further increase of $28,000 in the present year; the St. Paul & Omaha gains $20,000 in addition to the $23,000 gained in 1883, and the Chicago & Northwest loses less than $2,000 of its increase of $45,000. The St. Paul & Duluth figures are of the same favorable tenor, while the Northern Pacific on an increased mileage has nearly doubled its receipts of a year ago. The reduction of rates on east-bound freight from Chicago is thought to operate in favor of these roads, but we notice that the receipts of all kinds of grain at Chicago and Milwaukee for the week ended April 5 this year were only 1,627,067 bushels, against 2,094,330 bushels in the same period of the preceding year. In other sections, too, the railroads are making good returns for the first week of April. The St. Louis & San Francisco, for instance, records an improvement of $21,000, or about 33 per cent. Altogether, there appears to have been a marked change for the better in railroad earnings, which it is to be hoped may be continued in future weeks.

New York Lake Erie & Western is getting more prompt in bringing out its returns. We have this week the exhibit for the month of February, and it presents a very much better showing that did the figures of the preceding month. This also appears to be characteristic of the result on the other trunk lines, though in a much smaller degree. The Pennsylvania, in its statement for the same month, showed a loss on the eastern lines of $212,115, as against a loss of $304,922 for January, and the Grand Trunk of Canada, which has this week issued its figures for January and February, records an increase of £20,588 (made on a gain of £14,178 in gross) for the latter month, against a decrease of £27,325 in the former month. The London papers, however, intimate that the February earnings this year include £15,000 received on account of disputed bridge tolls from the Canada Southern, but even allowing for that, there would still remain a gain of £5,000 over the net of 1883. This is interesting, because the Erie also has a gain, but in larger amount. Including the Pennsylvania & Ohio leased line, the increase is only $4,421, but as there was a large loss from the lease, this does not indicate the actual result on the Erie proper—without that lease the net would be nearly $75,000 greater than in 1883. As in January there was a loss of $130,000, this is a very gratifying improvement. Below we give the gross and net earnings of the Erie system alone for five years, the result of the operations of the leased road being added in a separate line at the end.

We here see that while the company suffered a small loss in gross earnings, it was able to effect a reduction of expenses to quite a considerable amount, leaving the net, as already stated, about $75,000 better than in the corresponding month of 1883, which, however, the loss of $70,000 on the Pennsylvania & Ohio lease has reduced to a gain of only about $5,000. It is to be noted that the gross business of the road appears to have been remarkable steady in this month during the whole of the five years here covered, and it is also to be remarked that the net figures do not show any very great falling off from even the best year in this period. For the five months of the fiscal year, however, that have now elapsed, the net are over half a million smaller than in 1881, though with that exception there is no material fluctuation. It is the leased line chiefly that modifies the showing. For the five months this has entailed a loss of $158,622, which reduces the net to $2,096,783, a sum smaller than in any other year of the five. Still, that is a decrease of no more than $284,000 from 1883—a loss by no means alarming.

Money has continued in abundant supply, demand loans being freely made at 2 per cent. Time loans on stock collateral are quoted at 2½@3 per cent for 60 to 90 days and 4@4½ per cent for six to eight months. The flurry in the Chicago market caused very little impression upon the rate for money here. At Louisville a good but not urgent demand is reported, there being less inquiry for funds from the distillers, the reason stated being that those carrying whiskey have made extensive arrangements for exporting it. The following statement, prepared from returns collected by us, shows the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

* Includes $235,000 transferred in the shape of silver certificates, by a deposit of gold in the Sub-Treasury.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have lost $2,000,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury and $4,250,000 more by exports of gold. Adding these items to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total loss to the New York Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day. It should be remembered that these figures represent the actual movement in or out of the banks, and that therefore they cannot be expected to agree always with those given in the bank statement, which are merely the averages for the whole week. Quite frequently (when the banks lose or gain heavily in the last part of the week) our figures indicate the result that the succeeding statement will disclose. Thus for instance our figures of March 29, recorded a loss of $4,284,000, while the bank statement of the same day made a loss (specie and legal tenders) of only $1,612,400. Next week's bank statement, however, recorded a decrease of $4,205,700, while our figures showed that the actual loss in the seven days had been only $1,421,000. It will be seen that taking the two weeks together our report of loss was almost exactly the same as that reported by the banks. Below are this week's figures.

The Bank of England reports a loss of £306,000 bullion for the week. This represents £384,000 received from abroad and £690,000 sent to the interior. ## THE BLAIR EDUCATION BILL.

A vote of three to one in favor of a bill, by the Senate of the United States, at the close of a debate which has occupied three full weeks, and which has been participated in by more than one half of the members of the Senate, certainly creates a presumption in favor of a measure; and that presumption is not weakened by the fact that the bill had the support of a majority of the Senators belonging to each party, and of a majority in every section of the country.

But even with these vouchers, is the Blair bill for aid to common schools such a measure as should be enacted into law? Certain facts used by its advocates as arguments in its favor are frankly admitted; there is no controversy about them. Illiteracy prevails alarmingly in some parts of the country, in the South particularly, and among the whites as well as among the enfranchised blacks. Not only is such a state of things an evil, but uneducated men cannot, as a rule, be useful citizens or intelligent voters. The part of the country where the condition is worst is also the least wealthy, the least able to bear taxation, the most indisposed to tax itself for the support of schools. There is a general feeling that the whole nation having, in the progress of a war, impoverished the South, and having conferred citizenship upon men whose illiteracy was not a great public danger so long as they were unenfranchised, has a certain responsibility for the consequences of its operations in that quarter. Finally, the Government finds itself in possession of a vast surplus which, if Congress must confess itself unable to dispose of it by remitting taxation, must still be employed in some way.

Thus, patriotism, sentimentalism and congressional incapacity seem to unite in urging the passage of this bill. But there is another side to the case, and we are sorry to say that it was not once forcibly presented to the Senate during the three weeks of discussion. The strongest reasons against the measure were only incidentally referred to in the debate. For it must not be forgotten that the country has just received new light on the interpretation of the Constitution. One may respect the conscientiousness of the Senator who can find no warrant in the Constitution for the appropriation of money in aid of education, and accordingly refuses to support the Blair bill; but after all he has been overruled by a higher power. The logic of the recent Legal-Tender decision, to go no further back, most assuredly covers the appropriation of money, in aid of schools, with its protection. The constitutional argument against the bill was most ably set forth by more than one of the Senators, but to what end? One half of the Senate does not accept the principle of "strict construction" at all, and the other half was divided and demoralized by the fact that the advantage of the law, if it should be enacted, would go for the most part to the States which these Senators represent. Consequently the temptation to find, if possible, warrant in the Constitution for the appropriation was quite too strong to be resisted.

It is more than possible that the other arguments against the bill, had they been forcibly presented, would also have been overborne by the votes. It is a pity, nevertheless, that they were not advanced. This measure is one of paternalism in its worst form. It is a bill to help those who will not help themselves. Far be it from us to underrate, much less to deny, the noble efforts which have been put forth in the South to educate the people. Have those efforts failed anywhere? and if so, why? Not, surely, because of the poverty of the people. In those parts of the country where illiteracy is not rife, the school-house is always the first care of the people. It does not come in among the matters which should be provided for if the money holds out, but at the head of the list of things which must be attended to in any event. The truth implied in the remark of Mr. Ingalls during the debate,—that a people is poor because it is ignorant, not ignorant because it is poor,—is recognized. It may be taken as almost an axiom that if the people of the States where illiteracy prevails were anxiously desirous to make education universal they could and would do it. There is hardly need to add that if they cannot resolve to raise and expend all the money that may be necessary to abolish illiteracy, they will not prize advantages that may be furnished to them gratis. But further than this, there is the objection that the communities which are to profit by the Government aid to schools cannot help becoming in a measure dependent upon such aid. It will have upon them the effect which a "subsidy," or "protection" of any sort, has upon every enterprise which is helped by the Government. Let the expenditure of this enormous education fund be conducted with the most perfect honesty—which is hardly to be expected—and its influence upon the recipients of the bounty will be baneful. For eight years, in the States where the enthusiasm for general education is least, the United States will bear half the expense of common schools. The taxpayers receive license to shirk half their duties.

This brings us to the second weighty reason why this bill should not be passed. The appropriation proposed is limited by the terms of the bill to eight years. If it were not disrespectful to Congress, we should say that this was nonsense. When this bill has been passed, a policy has been adopted for all time to come. Look forward eight years. Will illiteracy have vanished from the Census tables by that time? Certainly not. Hundreds of thousands of the illiterates are now grown men and women, who will never learn to read and write; and as long as they live they will be classed as they now are. So, then, in 1892 the need of national aid to education will be as great as ever, and it will be supported by the same arguments as it is now. In fact, there will be a new argument. The people of the illiterate States may very plausibly come to Congress, saying: Encouraged by you, we have greatly enlarged the common school system. We are hopeful that it will yield good results. But eight years is a short time in which to effect the education of a people. We find ourselves now with a great system, which we are too poor to maintain unaided. To withdraw the bounty of the Government will leave us in a worse state than we were when the Blair act was passed, in 1884; because it will cripple the system in every part. We beg that the bounty may be continued a few years longer. What answer can be given to such an appeal. But, indeed, it will not be needed. Before 1892 the public will have become accustomed to the new item of expenditure. The demand for maintaining the annual appropriation at the maximum sum of fifteen millions will begin long before the hundredth anniversary of the Constitution is celebrated, and the country will be fortunate indeed if the educational appropriation does not become a source of scandal as offensive as the River and Harbor bill has been, and if members do not become as reckless and lavish in this matter as they are now in voting pensions.

Some of the Senators spoke of this bill as a possible "precedent." The word is misapplied. If the Blair act is passed it will fully establish a permanent national policy. An educational appropriation will never again be omitted by Congress. Judging from what has taken place in other directions, the chances are strongly in favor of an immense extension of the principle of this bill. But we do not care to anticipate events further than they can be clearly foreseen. We can see that this measure chiefly favors those who do not wish to tax themselves to support schools; that it will not encourage them to assume the full burden when (according to the bill) the Government aid is withdrawn; that it does commit the United States Government to the work of general common school education; and that to complete that work will require an extension of the time during which the aid is to be given. Demoralizing to the Government which gives, and to the communities which receive, this help, the bill should be rejected.

THE ATCHISON SYSTEM.

The growth and expansion of railroad operations in the Northwest, which we found illustrated last week in the report of the Chicago Burlington & Quincy, has a parallel in the Southwest, to which attention is called this week by the appearance of the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe report for 1883, advance sheets of which have been kindly furnished us, and which we give in great detail and with comparative figures on a subsequent page. The extension and development in the Southwest is, perhaps, more noteworthy than the corresponding expansion in the Northwest, for while fewer roads have taken part in it, it must be remembered that in the Southwest the experiment was a comparatively new one, and, therefore, uncertain in its results, while in the Northwest some considerable progress had previously been made.

Among these Southwestern lines, the Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe must undoubtedly be assigned first place, not alone on account of its mileage, but more, perhaps, because of the wonderful coincident growth of traffic which has attended the efforts of the promoters of this great and in many respects novel enterprise. Fourteen years ago the Atchison system, then in embryo, was composed of 28 miles of completed road within the State of Kansas. To-day it operates directly 1,820 miles, and manages 800 miles more, making 2,620 miles, in addition to which it has a half interest in the Atlantic & Pacific, which would raise the total to over 3,000 miles. Thus, from being a road of merely local significance, it has developed, until now, with Kansas City and Atchison on the Missouri, as eastern termini, the system affords in one direction a line into Colorado, and in the other (through New Mexico and Arizona) lines to the Pacific Coast, over both the Atlantic & Pacific and the Southern Pacific, a line to Guaymas in Mexico, over the Sonora road which it owns, and a line to El Paso del Norte, where it connects with the Mexican Central, now completed to the City of Mexico. All this has been attained under the management of energetic Boston people, but it is pre-eminently to the enterprise of Mr. Thomas Nickerson (who has also done such excellent work in the Mexican Central) that the Atchison owes no small measure of its success.

Barring the Sonora purchase, the value of which sufficient time has not yet elapsed to determine, especially since the communications with Guaymas have not yet been perfected, the results of the system, as already intimated, have proved very gratifying. In view, however, of the predictions of ruin so freely indulged in by many, it is very interesting to note just what progress the company has made. We well remember that at first its critics fixed upon 1882 as the year which would witness the collapse of the undertaking, then 1883 was certain to mark such an event, and now the prophets of evil do not care to express themselves with definiteness, but merely assign some unknown day in the future as the time when their prediction will be fulfilled. Meanwhile, the security holders will take pleasure in contemplating the following exhibit of the company's operations for 10 years past—based on the mileage directly operated.

† Not including debt of leased roads.

Here we find that gross earnings are over 14 millions now, against 1¼ millions in 1874, and that net earnings are nearly 7⅜ millions, against less than five-eighths of a million. In the figures for 1883 two things attract attention; first, the falling off in gross earnings, and secondly the heavy gain in net through a reduction in expenses. As to the expenses, any one who knows anything at all about the Atchison management, knows that there is not even the basis of probability in the charge that the cost of operating has been reduced by allowing the property to run down and deteriorate. Still, it being so easy to disprove the charge by actual figures ready to hand, the management have done well to present their evidence in that convincing form. The table incorporated in the report for this purpose, accordingly shows that both in 1881 and 1882 over $2,500 per mile was spent for renewals and repairs, and that this was extraordinary, since in 1879 only $1,341 per mile had been spent in this way, and in 1880 $1,456. These heavy outlays in 1881 and 1882 served to place the property in the highest state of efficiency, so in 1883 the amount required was only $1,651 per mile, even then larger, as will be seen, than in any year prior to 1881. The truth is, the expense was extraordinary in 1881 and 1882, and a reduction now is only what would naturally follow, even if the management were not faithfully seeking to operate the road as economically as was consistent with safety and proper repair.

As to the falling off in gross earnings, this amounts to $655,957, an analysis of which brings out some interesting features. We find that as much as $565,454 of the decrease is to be ascribed to a falling off in passenger earnings, and that this has arisen mainly from the lower rates obtained—the average rate being 2·921 cents per passenger per mile in 1883 and 3·390 cents in 1882. On the other hand, the revenue from freight decreased only $163,190, and this, too, was because of a reduction in rates (from 2·288 cents in 1882 to 1·992 cents in 1883), the tonnage mileage having increased from 460,608,539 tons to 520,751,467 tons. In 1881 this tonnage mileage was 396,416,863 tons, and in 1880 only 267,355,044 tons. But the gain here recorded in tonnage does not indicate the real measure of progress that the company has made in its business in these years. In 1880, 1881 and 1882, a great deal of construction material was carried for the Atlantic & Pacific and Mexican Central roads, and also for the Atchison's own branch lines, which of course swelled traffic and earnings very largely. In 1883, however, a decided diminution occurred in this item, and the strong point in the company's showing is that this diminution has been overcome entirely in tonnage, and almost wholly in revenue, by an increase in the ordinary commercial business of the road. The following table will make this clear.

| | Construction Freight. | | | Total Freight Tonnage. | | |
| | Tons one mile. | Rate per ton p. m. | Revenue. | Tons one mile. | Rate per ton p. m. | Revenue. |
| | | Cts. | $ | | Cts. | $ |
| 1880. | 72,283,403 | 1·018 | 736,154 | 267,355,044 | 2·431 | 6,499,981 |
| 1881. | 110,768,148 | 1·205 | 1,335,010 | 396,416,863 | 2·283 | 9,051,623 |
| 1882. | 85,092,279 | 1·280 | 1,090,165 | 460,608,539 | 2·288 | 10,537,201 |
| 1883. | 34,861,042 | 1·109 | 386,610 | 520,751,467 | 1·992 | 10,374,012 |

Thus, while the revenue from construction freight fell off nearly a million dollars between 1881 and 1883, all but $163,000 of the amount has been made good by a corresponding gain in ordinary freight. The increase in the volume of traffic is shown in the expansion in tonnage from 396 million tons to 520 million tons, notwithstanding that in the interval construction material, which is included in this movement, fell off from 110 million tons to 34 million tons. In other words, the commercial freight of the road has increased 200 million ton miles in two years, which is certainly a most encouraging feature, and helps explain how the excellent financial results for the year were brought about. Of course the splendid harvest of grain in Kansas has had much to do with this development, as will appear evident when we say that of the combined mileage of 2,620 miles operated, 1,365 miles are within that State. Under this favoring circumstance, and the economies which previous improvements permitted, the company was enabled to meet all its charges of every description, pay 6 per cent on 57 millions stock, and yet retain a balance of $1,472,133, independent of $974,620 surplus receipts from the land department, but not independent of $210,000 received as a dividend on the stock of the Southern Kansas system held. Of the balance of $1,472,133, half a million was devoted to renewals and improvements, a quarter of a million was contributed to insurance fund, and $200,000 was stricken off for depreciation of materials,—deducting all which still left a surplus of $522,133 to carry forward.

RAILROAD EARNINGS IN MARCH, AND FROM JANUARY 1 TO MARCH 31.

Our table of railroad earnings for the month of March exhibits a pretty general falling off from the totals of a year ago. This, however, will cause no surprise. It is just what the indications and prevailing conditions had pointed to. The surprise is rather that, in view of all the adverse circumstances with which railroads have had to contend, the decrease should be so small. On the fifty-three roads reporting, the aggregate diminution is only $930,000, equivalent to less than 6 per cent. When it is remembered that general business has continued depressed, that the cotton movement was reduced over one-half, and that the grain movement also suffered a material contraction, this will certainly be considered a good exhibit. But the further fact that earnings last year were unusually heavy—our table then recorded an increase of over 3¾ million dollars, and of 66 roads reporting, only 5 had any decrease, and this in every case was small, the aggregate decrease of all five being less than $15,000—this further fact that the comparison this year is with extraordinarily large figures in 1883, makes the small ratio of decrease actually shown all the more noteworthy. In the following table we give the earnings and mileage of each road embraced in the showing.

* Only three weeks of March in each year.
† For four weeks ended March 29.

It will here be seen that the decrease reported is more than covered by the falling off on four roads, namely the Chicago & Northwestern, the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Central Pacific (the large loss of $400,000 on this latter being no doubt ascribable to the floods in Southern California), and the Canadian Grand Trunk. On the other hand, the Northern Pacific, which by reason of the large addition to its mileage occupies a rather exceptional position, contributed quite a heavy increase —namely, $328,491. If these five roads were excluded, the decrease on the remaining roads would be reduced to the merely nominal amount of $103,032. Outside these five the changes are all less than $100,000, and most of them less than $25,000. Of course, as already stated, the roads exhibiting a decrease predominate, and it is also true that all sections of the country share in the falling off, but this is due to a combination of unfavorable circumstances, mostly special to particular localities. Thus the Southern and Southwestern roads all suffered because of the contraction in the yield of cotton, the Western and Northwestern roads because of a reduced movement of grain. The depression in business, which operates to diminish passenger traffic and general and miscellaneous freight, was, however, more general in its character, and affected all roads alike.

The large falling off on Northwestern roads is not difficult of explanation—in fact, merely bears out our remark, that it was hardly possible there should not be quite a heavy decrease. In January and February last year the traffic operations of these roads were seriously impeded by snow and ice and generally unfavorable weather, through which earnings were greatly reduced and the transportation of freight retarded, leading to heavy accumulations at interior points. In March the meteorological conditions completely changed, and all obstructions to the free movement of traffic were removed. As a consequence, much business which would have come forward in January and February, except for the weather, did not come forward till March and succeeding months, making the earnings in this latter period larger than they had ever been before. In illustration of this, we have only to mention that on the Chicago & Northwest and the Milwaukee & St. Paul the increase for the month aggregated over $900,000, distributed in nearly equal amounts between the two roads. These same roads this year lost less than $600,000, showing that despite the large falling off that has taken place in their earnings, the total is still $300,000 greater than in 1882. The St. Paul makes relatively the better showing—it gained $482,344 in 1883 and loses only $254,730 of this the present year, while the Chicago & Northwestern gained $422,361 and now loses $337,000. The reason is, no doubt, that from the nature of its traffic the Northwest is more largely affected by the business depression prevailing, while at the same time the St. Paul, having a much larger percentage of new mileage through a territory before unsettled (which in the early years at least must yield a steadily increasing amount of business, though not as much, of course, as it would were everything as favorable as in 1880–1) gets important additions to its revenues that the Northwest does not get, at least in the same degree. On the St. Paul & Omaha road we have this year an increase of about $13,000, but this road in 1883 had a comparatively small gain—only $25,000. The Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern, in the same division of the country, gained $29,000 in 1883 and loses $35,000 in 1884. The Central Iowa had a very large increase in 1883 ($35,000, or over 40 per cent), but owing to additions to its mileage, has been enabled to retain almost the whole of it. The Iowa lines of the Illinois Central also had quite a heavy increase in 1883 ($37,000), but the falling off this year is even heavier, namely $64,000. But in respect to all these Iowa roads, it should be said that their earnings last year were made after a snow blockade, and this year during such an interruption. Further, the movement of corn, upon which they are greatly dependent, seems not to have been as heavy as in 1883, as the figures indicating the movement at Chicago in the following table will show.

With one exception there is not a single town in the foregoing table that does not fall behind in the receipts of corn for March, while the same is also true of wheat and barley and some of the other cereals. There is, besides, a large falling off in the movement of flour. The receipts of these articles, however, are not small in themselves—they are small merely by comparison with the totals of a year ago, which were unusually heavy. The effect of the diminished movement of corn should be most marked on the larger carriers of that cereal, like the Burlington & Quincy and the Rock Island; but neither of these is in our list.

The roads running south from Chicago, as well as all those in the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio, have heretofore shown a decrease after a similar falling off in 1883. It is not strange, therefore, that they should exhibit smaller earnings now, when in March, 1883, they pretty nearly all had some gain. In this category belong the Evansville & Terre Haute, the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, the Illinois Central (though the latter's loss this year is to be ascribed largely, if not chiefly, to the diminished movement of cotton on the Southern division whose earnings are included in those of the main stem), the Cleveland Akron & Columbus, the Indiana Bloomington & Western, the Ohio Central, the Cincinnati Washington & Baltimore, and the St. Louis Alton & Terre Haute main line. These latter two form parts of trunk lines to the seaboard, and the decrease on them is very small, because the reduction of the tariff in the east-bound pool has operated to swell their business during the closing weeks of the month. The Peoria Decatur & Evansville (whose termini are indicated in the name) must have had a larger movement of corn in 1884 though the receipts at Peoria do not seem to indicate it, and hence the gain of $12,206 in its earnings this year, while last year there was a loss of $8,514. In explanation of the falling off in earnings this year on the Michigan roads, it should be stated that as a rule they had quite large gains in 1883, and also that in some cases floods seriously interrupted operations this year. As illustrations may be mentioned the Chicago & West Michigan, the Flint & Pere Marquette, and the Detroit Lansing & Northern. In Wisconsin, the Green Bay Winona & St. Paul has a decrease much larger than the increase of 1883, while the Milwaukee Lake Shore & Western is still noteworthy for its large and continuous gains.

But it is the roads running through, or connecting with, the Southwest (except where affected by the contraction in the cotton movement) that record the largest improvement, and the excellent yield of the crops in Kansas is in no small measure responsible for this. We have the Chicago & Alton, which has further added $8,500 to its earnings in 1884, after having added $98,000 in 1883, and the St. Louis & San Francisco, which, after an augmentation of $77,000 in 1883, has a gain of $63,000 more in 1884. The St. Louis Fort Scott & Wichita is also to be mentioned as having swelled its earnings largely, though the line was not fully in operation a year ago. The Kansas City Fort Scott & Gulf, whose traffic connection with Memphis continued interrupted during the early part of the month, reports a handsome increase in spite of this fact. The figures of the Gould Southwestern roads are again withheld. In the absence of facts, an unfavorable result is believed in; first, because the earnings in 1883 were very heavy, and, secondly, because the system runs down into Texas, where it is known the late cotton movement this year is small. The effect of the diminished movement of that staple is seen in the case of the Gulf Colorado & Santa Fe, which records a decrease of $17,000, or 12 per cent. The decrease occurs altogether in freight, the passenger receipts showing a satisfactory increase. In order to make it clear what a material change there is this year in the cotton movement, not only in Texas but all through the South, we give below the receipts of the staple for March and the three months to March 31, for three years.

Here we find a falling off of 225,000 bales from the total of March, 1883, so that even the small aggregate of 1882 is left behind. The receipts were smaller this year than in 1884 at all the ports mentioned, with the single exception of those of Florida. In amount of increase New Orleans has lost more than any other port. The Illinois Central Southern line delivered only 19,649 bales at that point in March, 1884, against 33,920 in March, 1883. The New Orleans & Northeastern brought in 4,016 bales. The smaller cotton movement, of course, has left its mark on the Southern roads chiefly affected; in fact, the varying result on the different lines in this section is to be attributed chiefly to the changes that have occurred through the falling off in this item of freight,—those roads making the best exhibits which have suffered least in this respect. The Little Rock & Fort Smith and the Little Rock Mississippi River & Texas have sustained a loss because of the deficient yield of the staple in Arkansas, and the Shenandoah Valley road and the Richmond & Danville also record a falling off, but the Louisville & Nashville, the Chesapeake & Ohio lines, the Norfolk & Western, and the Florida roads, all exhibit improvement on the figures of a year ago, which were not by any means small. The Memphis & Charleston also has quite a little gain this year, but the figures of the connecting road—the East Tennessee—are not given out.

For the first quarter of the year, our table of earnings makes on the whole a pretty satisfactory exhibit. In the aggregate, the result is only $353,000 behind a year ago, though there are almost as many roads having a decrease as there are those having an increase. It will be noticed that the largest falling off occurs on the Central Pacific, the Grand Trunk of Canada, and the Illinois Central, and that the decrease on other roads, as above in the case of March, is generally quite small. So, too, outside of one or two roads whose earnings have been augmented by reason of heavy additions to mileage, the gains reported are as a rule of small amount. Taking all things into consideration, the St. Louis & San Francisco would appear to be entitled to first place for improvement in results. Following is the table.

* Includes three weeks only of March in each year.
† From January 1 to March 29.

In net earnings (which are to hand for February), there appears to be no uniform tendency either up or down. Most of the roads reporting show improvement, though there are prominent exceptions where the reverse is the case, usually, however, because of some special circumstance or circumstances. To this class belong the Philadelphia & Reading, the Pennsylvania, the Northern Central, the Louisville & Nashville, and the Union Pacific. On the other hand, the Burlington & Quincy has an excellent exhibit, while the Erie, the Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern, the Flint & Pere Marquette, the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe (for January), the New York & New England, together with every one of the Southern roads (barring only Louisville & Nashville, the reasons for whose decrease we gave last week) all record better results than a year ago. The following table embraces all roads from which returns can be obtained for publication.

LONDON, Saturday, March 29, 1884.

No change has been made by the directors of the Bank of England in their rates of discount this week, and consequently the minimum quotation remains at 3 per cent. As this is the closing week of the quarter a change was not expected, but there is still every reason for believing that an early reduction in the quotations will be necessary. Gold is still arriving in moderate quantities from New York, and the movement is expected to continue, though not upon any extensive scale. It is, nevertheless, certain that the accumulation at the Bank of England, already considerable, will be unchecked, and as the trade of the country is very restricted, it is difficult to see how any great demand for money can arise.

A more hopeful view is, however, being taken of the future; but it is not expected that there will be any substantial improvement until the autumn trade sets in. For some weeks to come, therefore, inactivity will be a prominent feature both in commercial and financial circles, and yet there is no reason for believing in any great depression. The low rates of discount, the cheapness of most descriptions of food and the favorable weather for the growing crops are exercising some beneficial influence; and if, as we are led to hope, there will be no more fighting in the Soudan, the position of affairs may become more satisfactory. It has happened for some time past that when matters assume a brighter phase a check is given to improvement by the announcement of another failure. No serious difficulties have been announced during the week just closed, and if we keep free of them for awhile fair progress towards restoration will be made.

This week's Bank return is a satisfactory one, when it is borne in mind that it is a quarterly return. The note circulation has been augmented by £635,770, but there is an increase of £227,991, so that the falling off in the total reserve is not more than £397,770, making its proportion to the liabilities of the establishment 47·16 per cent, against 47·04 per cent last week and 38·25 per cent last year. The supply of bullion amounts to £25,480,425, against £22,318,873, while the reserve of notes and coin is £16,581,490, against £12,965,343 in 1883. The Treasury balance is now £12,450,236, contrasting with £10,845,963 in 1883.

Much is said here regarding the active demand for money, but statistics do not confirm the assertion. During the last three weeks "other securities" at the Bank of England have been reduced to the extent of rather more than £2,500,000, and the total is now £24,454,897, against £25,910,832 in 1883, showing a diminution of about £1,500,000. The public have therefore reduced their debts to the Bank considerably of late, and this may very naturally have caused more demand for loan money in the open market. The feature is important and is a favorable one.

Throughout the week short loans have been much wanted, and at one period the rate charged was 3½ per cent, but it is now 3 per cent. Bills were held back in the discount market early in the week in anticipation of a reduction in the Bank rate; but when it was announced that the directors of the Bank of England had decided upon making no change, more bills came forward and the best three months' were taken at 2¼ per cent.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold.—Since our last, the arrivals of gold have been more moderate and the totals received are as follows: £115,000 from New York, and £3,660 from Brazil. The Bank of England has received of this amount £61,000, and has had £10,000 withdrawn for Buenos Ayres. The P. & O. steamer Australia has taken £35,000 in bars to India.

Silver.—A further decline has taken place in the price of bars since our last, and the nearest quotation we can give to-day is 50¾d. per oz. The orders for India have not been so large as expected, owing to the rise in the value of money in the East; the banks have therefore experienced some difficulty in getting remittances home, and are to a certain extent out of the market for a time. The arrivals, which have been of some importance, comprise, £30,000 from Valparaiso; £33,000 from New York; £84,720 from River Plate; total, £147,720 The La Plata takes £28,730 to Brazil, and the P. & O. steamers £103,000 to India.

Mexican Dollars.—The only arrival to report is £12,670 from New York, which were sold at 49½d. and this price we repeat to-day as the nearest quotation. The Parramatta takes £75,115 to China and the Straits.

Messrs. Baring & Co. have issued the prospectus of a loan of £1,683,100 in bonds, bearing 5 per cent per annum, of the Argentine Republic. The price of issue is 84½ per £100 bond, and the proceeds are to be applied to purchasing 60,000 shares of the National Bank.

The Crown Agents of the Colonies invite tenders for £1,130,200 Natal Government 5 per cents. The minimum price of issue is 98.

Tenders were received early in the week for £154,000 Western Australia Government 4 per cents. The total amount applied for was £257,500, tenders at and above £97 1s. 6d. receiving in full, and those at £97 1s. about 83 per cent. The loan realized an average price of £97 5s.

The Anglo-Servian Bank, with a capital of £1,000,000, is announced; also the Consolidated Land & Cattle (Limited), with a capital of £750,000, to purchase several cattle ranches in Texas; Land & Loan Company of New Zealand, capital £1,000,000, as well as a few minor undertakings.

The weather during the past week has been much colder. Scarcely any rain has fallen, and agricultural work has made good progress. The statistical position is again rather more favorable to holders, but millers only buy from hand-to-mouth, and occasionally at lower prices. The panic at Chicago and the decline in values at New York has not had much influence here. They have, however, confirmed the millers in their policy of only buying to supply actual wants, and it is not expected that there will be much variation in the immediate future. A trade calculation states that the stock of wheat in London has been reduced since the commencement of the year by 340,000 quarters.

The following quantities of wheat, flour and Indian corn are estimated to be afloat to the United Kingdom, Baltic supplies not being included:

The following statement shows the extent of the sales of home-grown wheat, barley and oats in the 187 principal markets of England and Wales, together with the average prices realized, during the first 30 weeks of the season, compared with 150 markets in the corresponding period of the three previous seasons:

Converting quarters of wheat into hundred-weights, the totals for the whole kingdom are estimated as follows:

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |
| Wheat.....cwt. | 26,525,710 | 25,872,670 | 23,048,300 | 19,587,590 |

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by 3⅛, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by 4⅛. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

Central Iowa Railway Company—First mortgage 6 per cent bonds of the Illinois Division, dated December 15, 1882, and due April 1, 1912, $1,520,000.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad Company—An additional $818,000 of first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, dated Dec. 1, 1881, and due December, 1911.

Cleveland Columbus Cincinnati & Indianapolis Railway Company—General consolidation mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds, dated January 1, 1881, and due January 1, 1934, $1,500,000 The total authorized issue is $12,000,000, but $7,500,000 are reserved to retire prior lien bonds as they may mature.

Union Pacific Railway Company—An additional $3,000,000 of collateral trust 5 per cent bonds, dated April 2, 1883, and due December 1, 1907.

Oregon Short Line Railway Company—An additional $2,300,000 of its first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, dated November 1, 1881, and due February 1, 1922.

Bankers' & Merchants' Telegraph Company—An additional 10,000 shares of capital stock of the par value of $100 per share—$1,000,000—to be a good delivery on and after April 21.

North Pennsylvania.—Notice is given by Drexel & Co. to the holders of the first mortgage bonds of this company, maturing January 1, 1885, that they offer to the holders of said maturing bonds to exchange, taking the same at par and interest for the general mortgage sevens at 125 and interest.

Richmond Fredericksburg & Potomac.—The Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia has rendered a decision in suits brought by the stockholders of the guaranteed stock against the Richmond Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad Company, demanding the issue to them of dividend obligations of like character as those issued to the holders of the common stock, under the provisions of the contract under which the guaranteed stock was created. After a full argument the Circuit Court dismissed these suits. The Supreme Court has reversed the decision of the lower court, sustaining fully the claims of the guaranteed stockholders. The amount involved is about $375,000, of which $350,000 is dividend obligations and the remainder in money.

Texas & Pacific.—Judge Wallace, in the United States Circuit Court, rendered a decision in the case of Marlor against the Texas & Pacific Railroad Company, striking out a portion of the defendant's answer as irrelevant. The Texas & Pacific Company claimed that if it made earnings insufficient to meet its obligations on land grant bonds, holders of bonds had no redress, but payment of interest was postponed until the company made such earnings. This plea Judge Wallace overruled, and held that the bond was not an income bond, but one for absolute payment of money; and if the company did not exercise its option to pay in scrip, it was bound to pay interest in cash.

Virginia State Bonds.—The total amount of Virginia State bonds and coupons surrendered to be funded under the Riddleberger bill to date is $3,513,929. The issue in lieu of the same is 3 per cent bonds, $2,208,818; West Virginia interest certificates, $294,751, and do. non-interest certificates, $193,671; discount on Virginia's portion, $816,688.

Wabash St. Louis & Pacific.—The Wabash mortgage of $10,000,000, which the Chicago papers report being filed in counties in Illinois in favor of the Iron Mountain Railroad, is said by Mr. Solon Humphreys to be the old mortgage authorzed by stockholders some months ago.

Western Union Telegraph Company.—In reply to a Herald reporter, a director of the Equitable Life Assurance Society said: "This society purchased of the Western Union Telegraph Company, last month, $1,000,000 of the bonds bearing 7 per cent interest, being the remaining portion of the issue of $6,000,000 authorized by the stockholders of that company on the 14th of October, 1874."

—Attention is called to the advertisement of farm mortgages bearing 7 to 8 per cent interest, which will be found on the sixth page of the CHRONICLE (opposite the editorial page). The Corbin Banking Company offers these mortgages to investors, and after an experience of thirty-three years in the business, including the time in which Mr. Corbin acted individually, they are recommended with great confidence as a safe and profitable investment. The percentage of losses from defaults and foreclosures is near a minimum, and the rates of interest are so good that the inducement to purchase these mortgages for investment seems to be great. The advertisement on another page, and the complete circulars and pamphlets of the company, furnished on application, give all the facts desired.

—Attention is called to the card of Mr. W. F. Stafford in our issue of this week. Mr. Stafford is a member of the New York Stock Exchange and a gentleman of experience in financial circles, being the son of W. B. Stafford, President of the North River Savings Bank. This house deals in all securities, either on commission, cash or margin, dealt in at the New York Stock Exchange.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, APRIL 11, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Some of the effects of the recent large decline in prices of grain and provisions, and also to some extent in railway stocks, are beginning to show themselves in an increase of failures, which are directly traceable to these causes. Two small national banks, one in Vermont and one in Illinois, besides several small private banking firms have suspended within the last week, as the result of speculation by the managers of the concerns. Several packing and provision firms have also failed in various parts of the country. The significance of these failures is not in the amount of liabilities involved in any one case, but rather in the general causes first mentioned, which have produced them.

The break of the speculation in food products, however, is sure to prove beneficial in the end, whatever the immediate effects may be. The decline in wheat, coming coincidently with a heavy reduction in the tariff rates by the railroads, has started a very liberal movement of that cereal eastward, as may be seen from the fact that whereas the total shipments of wheat from Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland and Peoria, in the week ending March 8, were only 296,489 bushels, and for the week to March 15 only 409,266 bushels, they had increased to 1,419,891 bushels in the week ending April 5. The tonnage of grain and provisions freights shipped by the eastward trunk lines out of Chicago, in the week ending April 5, reached the unprecedented figure of 90,753 tons, against 70,218 tons in the preceding week, and as compared with 30,647 tons in the corresponding week of 1883 and 28,175 tons in the corresponding week of 1882. This great increase in the movements of products from the West to the seaboard has as yet had no effect in stimulating exports of the same commodities, and the effect upon prices in the consuming markets of the world will be awaited with unusual interest.

As there is no increase in the exports of domestic products of any kind, the outward movement of specie grows apace. The total exports of gold in the week ending April 5 were $3,242,000. On Wednesday, the 9th, no less than $2,450,000 went out, and on Thursday $250,000 more, making the total exports of gold since Febrnary 21 about $18,000,000, with $1,000,000 engaged for shipment to-morrow (Saturday).

The money markets at the West have hardened a little in the last week or ten days. The heavy decline in wheat has induced the calling of large margins between speculative dealers. Merchants and country banks at the West are also asking more accommodation from the banks in the principal cities. The country roads are bad and the farmers are marketing but little grain.

In the New York market money continues in excessive supply, and rates remain unchanged at the low figures prevalent for the last several months, viz., call loans on stock collaterals at 2 and 1½ per cent. Time loans can still be had on dividend-paying stocks at 3½ per cent, though there is less disposition to loan at these rates than a month ago. Rates for mercantile discounts keep at 4 and 5 per cent for double-name paper for two and four months and at 5 and 5½ for single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a loss of £306,000 in gold, though at the same time the reserve of notes and specie in the banking department was increased (by the gains from the domestic circulation) to 45¾ per cent, against 44 7-16 per cent in the previous week. The Bank of France in the same time lost 11,136,000 francs in gold and 5,050,000 francs in silver. The Bank of Germany gained 8,180,000 marks in specie.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—The market for sterling exchange remained unchanged during the week at rates which justified the continued export of specie in default of any increase in the supply of commercial bills against breadstuffs and cotton. The posted rates throughout the week were 4 88½ and 4 90½. The rates for actual business were also unchanged as follows, viz.: Sixty days, 4 87½@4 87¾; demand, 4 89½@4 89¾; cables, 4 90@4 90¼. Commercial bills sold at 4 86@4 86¼.

Quotations for foreign exchange are as follows, the prices being the posted rates of leading bankers:

State and Railroad Bonds.—The decline of business, which has been a very noticeable feature in the stock market, has not been reflected, according to the usual experience, in the market for railroad bonds, and this helps to confirm the belief that a good deal of capital is being diverted, not only from stocks but also from various other speculative employments, to investments in railroad bonds. The result has been that the better class of investment issues has been firm and generally higher, though the speculative issues are generally lower. The most important changes for the week have been as follows, viz.: Advanced—Burlington & Quincy debentures, ¼; Canada Southern firsts, ¼; do. seconds, ⅜; Erie second consols, ¼; Louisville & Nashville general mortgage 6s, ¼; Louisville & Nashville consols, 2 per cent; Mobile & Ohio fourth debentures, 4 per cent; Milwaukee & St. Paul, Wisconsin & Minnesota Division firsts, 2⅝; do. Lacrosse Division 7s, ⅞; do. Mineral Point Division 5s, 2⅝; Northern Pacific firsts, ⅜; New York Chicago & St. Louis firsts, 1⅝; Northwestern debentures, ⅜; Richmond & Danville firsts, ½; Missouri Pacific consols, ¼; and Chicago & Atlantic seconds, ⅜. Declined—Chesapeake & Ohio currency 6s, 1 per cent; Denver & Rio Grande Western firsts, 2 per cent; Evansville & Terre Haute 6s, 1 per cent; Indiana Bloomington & Western firsts, 1½; Jersey Central adjustment 7s, 1¾; Rome Watertown & Ogdensburg 5s, 2¼; Texas & Pacific land grant incomes, 1½; Wabash general mortgage 6s, 1¾; Oregon Improvement firsts, ¾; and West Shore & Buffalo 5s, ½.

State bonds have been more active than for several previous weeks, and in most cases show advances. The following was the range of prices for the principal issues, viz.: Tennessee 6s, old, at 43; do. mixed at 42¾; do. new series at 43⅛; do. compromise at 49@49⅛; North Carolina 4s at 84@85; Alabama class B at 103; Arkansas 6s funded at 16@15½@17½; do. 7s, issued to Little Rock Pine Bluff & New Orleans Railroad, at 20; Missouri 6s of 1886 at 106⅛; do. 1887 at 108⅛, and do. 1888 at 109⅛@109½.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—To-day being Good Friday the Stock Exchange is closed. During the week to Thursday night the market has been feverish and unsettled, and there has been little disposition to buy or sell either on the part of investors or speculators. The cause of this unwillingness to operate has been the unsettled relations of pool affairs both east and west of Chicago. It seems generally acknowledged that the eastern trunk-line pool is so defective that some new method of business will necessarily be adopted, and yet no definite action has yet been taken towards that end. As a means, apparently, of coercing the roads into doing something, the Pennsylvania persists in its heroic remedy of keeping rates down to figures at which there is no profit in the business. The difficulty between the Burlington & Quincy system and the Union Pacific and its tripartite allies also remains unadjusted, and the proposed issue of $7.000,000 of new stock by the Burlington has been unfavorably regarded by the members of the tripartite alliance. In spite of these appearances of trouble, prices of stocks have been much firmer than expected, and this has given the impression that the leading speculative operators believe the general situation is not so grave as appears on the surface. The changes in prices have been unimportant, as a rule, but yesterday the St. Paul & Omaha stocks rose into some prominence, and scored an advance of 1@2 per cent, and Pittsburg & Fort Wayne stock advanced nearly 5 per cent, while Oregon Navigation stock touched 80, but closed at 81, a decline of 5½ for the week.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The CHRONICLE has been favored with advance sheets of the annual report of this company, and an article at some length analyzing the report will be found in the editorial columns.

A map of the Atchison system and its connections will be published in the next issue of the INVESTORS' SUPPLEMENT, April 26.

A brief preliminary report for 1883 was published in the CHRONICLE of January 19, on page 86, and the statements there made as to income, bond account, and lands, need not be repeated.

The report says that the properties for purposes of operation are divided into the following systems, namely:

I. The parent line and its auxiliaries, called the "Atchison System," with a mileage in Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico and Texas of 1,820 miles.

II. The "Southern Kansas System," all situated in Kansas, of 398 miles.

III. The "Sonora System," lying in the Territory of Arizona and in the State of Sonora, Republic of Mexico, 350 miles.

IV. The lines owned jointly with the Union Pacific Railway Company, both in Kansas, half mileage, 51 miles.

This report, as in previous years, treats of the operations of the parent line, called the "Atchison System," the mileage of which on Jan. 1, 1883, was 1,820 miles, and no addition was made during the year 1883.

From the tables below it will be seen that the commercial tonnage of the road increased from 375,516,260 tons carried one mile in 1882, to 485,890,425 tons carried one mile in 1883, or over twenty-nine per cent. It will also be seen that the loss in the transportation of railroad construction freight in 1883, as compared with 1882, was 50,231,237 tons carried one mile; while the increase made in commercial traffic was 110,374,165 tons carried one mile—thus giving an increase in the whole tonnage of the year of 60,142,928 tons carried one mile. By reason of this increase in commercial tonnage, the freight earnings were upheld to nearly the figures of 1882, notwithstanding that the earnings per ton per mile were reduced from 2·28 cents in 1882 to 1·99 cents in 1883.

"In view of the increased tonnage and decreased rates of 1883, the large reduction made in operating expenses requires a passing word. The rate of operating expenses to earnings in 1883 was 47·80 per cent, in 1882 was 58·46 p. ct. and in 1881 was 63·87. The ratio during the ten years from 1874 to 1883 inclusive was 54·17 per cent. The whole system of operating and construction accounts in these years was uniform, except that in 1883 steel rail account was charged to operating instead of construction account, as in previous years." * *

"The marked decrease made in nearly every class of expenses is due mainly to two causes.

"1. A more compact, and, therefore, more economical organization for the operation of the road, under which nearly every class of expenses for conducting traffic was reduced. This was rendered possible from the fact that the construction of extensions had been practically completed.

"2. The large expenditures upon the property in the years 1881 and 1882, the causes for which were fully explained in the annual report for the year 1881, pages 5, 6 and 7, whereby the property was placed in excellent condition, rendered it possible, as was indicated in that report, to adopt for 1883 a fair average expenditure for repairs and renewals of roadway, bridges, buildings, cars and locomotives." * *

SOUTHERN KANSAS SYSTEM.

The operations of this system during 1883 have been favorable. The average mileage operated in 1883 was 398 miles, as against 392 in 1882. The gross earnings in 1883 were $1,792,092, being an increase of 34·07 per cent over 1882. The expenses and taxes were $904,697, being an increase of 24·86 per cent over 1882. The net earnings were $887,394, being an increase of 44·95 per cent over 1882. The net receipts from the Land Grant of this road in 1883 were $43,167, and the receipts from miscellaneous interest and other sources, $44,511.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

"The year has been a prosperous one. The road has been fully maintained at low cost and improvements made in many important particulars. Additional steps of substantial character have been taken towards strengthening and advancing the line, as one of the important Western railroad systems. Nearly two millions of dollars have been spent in the construction of new branch lines and over a million and a half of dollars in substantial improvements upon the old roads. These and other results have been accomplished without materially increasing the obligations of the company.

"The Atlantic & Pacific Railroad was completed to the Needles in October. A connection was then and there made with the Southern Pacific Railroad. This route between the East and San Francisco had, at the close of the year, been opened for three months. Thus far, it has not secured that proportion of traffic which its merits demand, and which it will eventually obtain.

"The Mexican Central Railway, another important connection of this line, was nearly completed to the City of Mexico at the close of the year; and, at the time of writing this report, through connections have been established between that city and the United States, promising an important addition to our through traffic."

Statistics for four years, compiled in the usual form for the CHRONICLE, are as follows:

* Embraces property in leased and connecting roads not otherwise included in the assets, amounting to $46,839,550.

† The above assets are exclusive of the bills receivable for sales of land to Dec. 31, 1883, amounting to $1,390,774, and the value of 1,247,744 acres of unsold lands.

‡ The outstanding bonded indebtedness of the leased roads is not charged in the liabilities of the Atchison Co., as the value of the Atchison Co.'s interest in the leased roads which appears in the assets is exclusive of the value covered by these bonds.

Denver & Rio Grande Railway.

(For the year ending December 31, 1883.)

A map of this company's lines will be found in the Investors' Supplement. The Chronicle having obtained an early copy of the annual report for the year 1883, the following abstract is made from the remarks of President Lovejoy:

"There was no payment to sinking fund for 1883, such payment not being required until a 6 per cent dividend is shown to have been earned for the stock. The amount paid on account of principal of rolling-stock trusts for year 1883, and charged to equipment account, was $525,000, of which $51,000 was paid by surrendering that amount of certificates, series "E," which were held in treasury, to the trustees, leaving the net cash payment $474,000. The amount of rolling-stock trusts outstanding, for which this company is liable, increased in the year 1883 $756,000." * * *

"One million dollars of consolidated mortgage bonds were received from the Trustees during 1883, of which $881,000 still remain in the company's treasury. It has been customary heretofore (and, as stated in the last annual report, part of the original programme) to charge interest on consolidated mortgage bonds against income account at the rate of only $15,000 per mile on completed road, the balance being charged to cost of construction, until the mileage in process of construction was put into operation. Your Board consider it advisable henceforth to charge interest on all outstanding obligations against income of the current year, and have directed that the balance at credit of profit and loss account (which occurred through the practice of charging only a part of the yearly interest against income) be credited to construction and equipment account, to offset the amount of interest heretofore charged to that account.

"The ratio of increased gross earnings to mileage has not kept pace, owing to the various reductions made for the transportation of coal, coke, and ores, which we believed to be the true policy of your company, to meet the urgent demands of the various shippers and the seeming necessities of the case, coupled with the ruinous rates prevailing on all classes of traffic to and from Utah, from the very opening of your line to that Territory, rendered necessary to meet those offered by competitive lines. We are glad to state, however, that this violent opposition has been overcome, and on the 28th of January, 1884, the regular rates were restored." * * *

"At the date of last report 155 miles of Utah leased line were in operation. About the 1st of April the line was opened from Colorado Border to Salt Lake City, a distance of 325 miles, and on May 18 the road was completed to Ogden, 362 miles, thus making connection with the Central Pacific RR. for San Francisco and all points on the Pacific coast. During the time the new line has been in operation it has carried its full proportion of passenger and freight traffic, but, as already stated, the rates have been unremunerative. When the leased line was turned over to your company for operation, its condition was very primitive and unfinished; the roadbed was graded, rails laid, and a few buildings erected; beyond this little was done. No surface nor ballasting of track; the stations, warehouses, water stations, fixtures, and other appliances were insufficient and not in accordance with terms of contract between the Rio Grande West. Construction and the Denver & Rio Grande West. railway companies." * * * "The amount expended toward finishing the road in accordance with contract, and which is collectible either from the Rio Grande Western Construction Company or the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railway Company, to Dec. 31, 1883, was $656,370. The amount expended on the line of your own road for straightening curves and reducing grades on Marshall Pass and elsewhere, building tunnel to avoid bridges, and other necessary betterments, was $894,733. Total expenditure on permanent way for year, $1,551,104, of which your company is to be reimbursed to the amount of $656,370, either by settlement with the Construction Company or the leased line."

"Your board, at its meeting held September 26th, 1883, decided to execute a general mortgage on all the company's property of every character, including its interest in the lease of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railway Company, covering bonds for $50,000,000, the bonds to run for 30 years, and bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum. The action of your board was approved by a special meeting of the stockholders held at Colorado Springs October 6th, 1883. The bonds under this mortgage can be issued at the rate of $30,000 per mile of completed road, but a sufficient amount of them must be set aside to cover all first and consolidated mortgage bonds authorized by prior mortgages, viz., thirty million dollars, but of which only $26,123,000 have been issued; therefore only $20,000,000 of the general mortgage bonds are available. To meet the expenditure on leased line of road and equipment and betterments and improvements on your own line, your board have authorized the issue of $5,000,000 of the general mortgage bonds and $5,000,000 of the capital stock of the company, from time to time, as the company may require. Of the $5,000,000, two million and a half each of bonds and stock have been issued in conformity with the terms of circular dated October 11th, 1883," * * *

"The stock issued appears in the accounts for this year, but the bonds, not being delivered until after the close of 1883, will not appear in this report. The proceeds of this issue leave your company almost free of floating debt."

DENVER & RIO GRANDE WESTERN.

"The result to your company for 1883 of operations of the Denver & Rio Grande Western Railway under the lease has been as follows:

|---|---|
| Gross earnings for distribution as per terms of lease | $805,766 |
| Forty per cent due to D. & R. G. Ry. Co. | 322,306 |
| | $483,460 |
| Actual operating expenses were | 802,026 |
| Loss to your company for year | $318,566 |

"The operating expenses, for causes already referred to, have been excessive, but it is hoped that most of these causes have been obviated, and in future, with a careful scrutiny of all outlay, that the expenses may be brought within the terms of the lease."

Mexican Central.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The annual meeting of the Mexican Central Railroad Company was held in Boston April 7. The following-named gentlemen were elected directors: Thomas Nickerson, William Rotch, Charles J. Paine, Jacob Edwards, Albert W. Nickerson, George B. Wilbour, Levi C. Wade, Andrew B. Lawrie, Benj. P. Cheney, Oliver Ames, Warren Sawyer and Isaac T. Burr of Boston; Arthur Sewell of Bath, Me.; Levi Z. Leiter of Chicago; Robert R. Symon of London, Eng.; Daniel B. Robinson of Mexico; Sebastian Camacho of Mexico. The annual report of the directors was presented, and the following is condensed therefrom: During the year 296 kilometres of track were laid on the Southern Division and 600 kilometres on the Chihuahua Division. The Board have considered it expedient to concentrate the force upon the main line during the past year, and only moderate progress has been made on the Tampico Division. Forty-two kilometres of track have been laid, and about ninety-three kilometres of grading completed.

"Certificates for subsidy were received during the year to the amount of $2,824,490. The amount of cash subsidy collected was $1,155,792. Our attorneys in Mexico have advised us not to urge the delivery of certificates at six per cent, as we shall be entitled to receive certificates paying eight per cent Sept. 16, 1884.

"The earnings of the road during 1883 were as follows: On the Southern Division, commercial earnings, $1,628,129; company's material, $424,711; total, $2,052,840. Northern Division, commercial earnings, $331,138; company's material, $1,199,436; total, $1,530,574; total gross earnings in 1883, $3,583,414. Operating expenses—Southern Division, $1,207,084; Northern Division, $780,963; total operating expenses, $1,988,047; total net earnings, $1,595,367—equivalent in United States currency to $1,416,904." * * *

"The supplemental concession of April 12, 1883, makes all the company's concessions conform to that of Sept. 8, 1880, and also provides, among other things: That any failure to construct, or to fulfill any obligation to the Government, shall affect only the line upon which the failure occurs; that in case of forfeiture of any of the lines the company shall be paid the value of the work completed upon it; that 400 kilometres in the aggregate of all the lines must be completed every two years, reckoning from April 12, 1883, and any excess shall be credited to the next biennial period; and that of these 400 kilometres, 100 during the first two years, and 150 during each succeeding two years, must be constructed upon the Pacific line. That the entire system must be completed by April 12, 1893. That beginning September 16, 1884, the subsidy certificates shall be amortized with 8 per cent of the customs duties instead of 6 per cent, as at present. As more than 800 kilometres have been built since April 13, 1883, no further construction is required by our contracts with the National Government until after April 12, 1887, except upon the Pacific line, as above stated.

"The full amount of subscriptions Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, aggregating $31,195,000, has been paid in and settled in full. The Treasurer expects to close out the construction accounts of the main line by the 1st of July, 1884. The relations between the Government of Mexico and the company continue friendly, and there is every indication of an increase of mutual confidence and respect."

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Atlantic & Pacific.—The Boston Transcript reports: "The status of the Atlantic & Pacific and of the California Southern, the construction of which latter road was recommended by resolution of the Atlantic & Pacific company, and also the relations of the Atchison and St. Louis & San Francisco railroad companies, have been under discussion for some weeks past in the directories of the Atchison and 'Frisco roads, and the result has been that the Atlantic & Pacific enterprise is to come back to its original basis as it was before Messrs. Gould and Huntington came into the St. Louis & San Francisco management. That plan means the continuance of the Atlantic & Pacific to the Pacific Ocean, and upon it both the Atchison and the 'Frisco companies are agreed. It is now only a question of agreement upon some financial plan for the construction of the Atlantic & Pacific in California. Mr. Huntington has offered to sell the Mohave division of the Southern Pacific at cost, and means will be forthcoming for the construction of a 70-mile connection between it and the California Southern, which controls the port of San Diego."

Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern.—Messrs. H. H. Hollister & Co. state that "there is no truth in the Chicago dispatch that the directors of Cedar Rapids & Northern met this week to increase the capital stock to $30,000,000. Until recently the laws of Iowa forbade any railroad company to issue bonds beyond an amount equal to 60 per cent of its capital stock. The directors of Cedar Rapids & Northern thought it would be necessary to increase the capital stock, the increase to be held by the company, in order to obtain the legal right to issue bonds for the extension of the road. But a few months ago the Iowa Legislature removed the restriction on the issue of bonds, so that the increase of the stock became unnecessary. The company has since placed $1,000,000 bonds, issued for the purpose of extending its line from Worthing to Watertown. That work is now going on, and there is no present intention of issuing any further stock or bonds."

Chicago & Alton.—The Chicago & Alton stockholders, at their meeting in Chicago, authorized the issue of $3,500,000 stock, to take up $1,500,000 of the preferred and $2,000,000 common stock of the St. Louis Jacksonville & Chicago Railroad, which is leased to it at 10 per cent dividends on the stock. The exchange is made share for share, and will reduce the annual fixed charges of the Chicago & Alton.

Chicago Burlington & Quincy.—This company proposes to raise money for the expense of making necessary improvements in its system, building new roads, &c., by issuing $7,000,000 new stock. The new stock will be apportioned at the rate of 10 shares to each holder of 100 shares of old stock. This new stock will be offered to stockholders of April 19 at par; the company's books will close on that date and will reopen April 24. Ten per cent on the new stock will be payable May 1, 30 per cent Aug. 20, 30 per cent Oct. 20 and 30 per cent Dec. 20, the stock to be delivered Jan. 1, 1885. No subscriptions will be received after May 20. It is not yet known with certainty what new lines the company proposes to build, and one very good report says that the proceeds of the $7,000,000 new stock are not intended to be used in constructing new lines, but about $4,000,000 will be utilized in retiring the Hannibal & St. Joseph 8 per cent bonds, which mature next March, and the remaining $3,000,000 will liquidate some outstanding indebtedness, leaving perhaps a small sum for construction.

Cincinnati Washington & Baltimore.—At Cincinnati, April 9, the annual meeting of the stockholders of this company was held, and the following directors were elected: Orland Smith, George Hoadley, James D. Lehmer, J. L. Heck and W. W. Peabody, of Cincinnati; W. T. McClintick, of Chillicothe; Robert Garrett and John C. Walsh, of Baltimore, and E. R. Bacon, of New York. The annual report showed gross earnings for 1883 of $1,989,866; expenses, $1,489,824; net earnings, $500,042. The directors at a subsequent meeting elected Orland Smith, President; E. R. Bacon, Vice-President.

Long Island Railroad.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Long Island Railroad company was held this week. The former directors were re-elected, with one change, William B. Kendall taking the place of Thomas F. Ward, who has filled the vacancy caused by the death of Francis B. Wallace.

Memphis City Bonds.—The taxing district of Shelby County, Tenn., wishes to purchase, at the lowest obtainable price ($50,000), fifty thousand dollars of its bonds, designated as "Taxing District of Shelby County Compromise Bonds," and also "Compromise Bonds of the City of Memphis," issued by J. R. Flippin, Mayor, that have been stamped and assumed by the taxing district, and invites sealed proposals for the sale to it of such bonds.

Mississippi & Tennessee.—A press dispatch from Memphis, Tenn., April 8, said that the Mississippi & Tennessee Railroad, running hece south to Grenada, Miss., a distance of 100 miles, passed that day into the hands of the Northwestern Improvement Company, at New York, of which R. T. Wilson & Co. are the largest stockholders. Mr. Wilson is President of the southern branch of the Louisville New Orleans & Texas Railroad, which branch is being built by the Northwestern Improvement Company. The total capital stock of the Mississippi and Tennessee Road is $825,000, of which the McComb heirs owned $450,000. This was the interest Mr. Wilson bought, giving him control. He paid 66 2-3 cents on the dollar.

Mobile & Ohio.—Holders of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company's Cairo extension bonds are notified that the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company is prepared to deliver in exchange for said bonds the first mortgage extension bonds of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad Company, issued under the mortgage of July 1, 1883.

New York Lake Erie & Western.—The gross and net earnings for each month of the fiscal years 1882-3 and 1883-4 were as under. The earnings below include in 1883 the accounts of the New York Pennsylvania & Ohio. The total working expenses of this leased line are reported, and in the gross earnings 68 per cent of its receipts, since 32 per cent is paid as rental, and the net earnings of the N. Y. L. E. & W. thus show a proper comparison with 1882:

| | Gross earnings. | | Net earnings. | |

—The settlement of the claim of the Erie Railway against James McHenry was confirmed by President Jewett. The New York Times says: "The judgments obtained by the Erie against Mr. McHenry amounted to $2,300,000. The company held 11,477 shares of the stock of the Cleveland Columbus Cincinnati & Indianapolis Railroad and 13,000 Atlantic & Great Western extension certificates, representing a like number of the shares of the same stock. The securities were to be turned over to Mr. McHenry on the satisfaction of the judgment. Mr. Jewett sketched the last proposition on the day of Mr. McHenry's sailing. It was that Mr. McHenry should surrender his claim on the securities, for which a market value of $1,500,000 was struck, taking the New York and London quotations as a basis. That left $800,000 due. Mr. McHenry made a written agreement to pay one-half in one year and the remainder in two years."

New York & New England.—The defaulted January coupons of more than $300,000 are practically paid, thus putting off all fears of a foreclosure from that source for the present. The interest upon the second mortgage, now overdue, can probably be provided for. The company has defaulted, however, upon the car-trust obligations due April 1, with interest of $35,000 and principal of $125,000 then due. Receiver Clark offered to pay the interest, but there is no authority at present to grant the extension of the principal asked for by the receiver. It is said that the sub-committee of the directors has agreed upon a plan to raise the necessary funds to cancel the company's floating debts and place it upon its feet again, and will report to the full board April 29. Particulars are lacking, but it is understood that it contemplates offering 20,000 shares of preferred stock to shareholders and parting with a portion of the second mortgage bonds in the treasury. The measure will have to be voted on by stockholders.

New York West Shore & Buffalo.—Mr. Ashbel Green, Receiver of the North River Construction Company, has made a report, which has been printed in pamphlet form. This report gives at length a statement of the assets of the Construction Company, including $20,035,500 of N. Y. West Shore & Buffalo stock. The committee appointed to examine the claims of the Construction Company advise that the claims of the Construction Company should be allowed as a matter of right, or by way of settlement, to the amount of $9,362,882; claims computation of interest to March 1, 1884, $193,770; claims since January 1, 1884, $591,988; total, $10,148,640. The committee advise that offsets of the railroad be allowed, $2,545,626, leaving $7,603,014; add payments made by Construction Company January 1, 1884, $63,960, making in all $7,666,974. The following plan is proposed to enable the West Shore to provide equipments and improvements, pay floating indebtedness, and settle the claims of the North River Construction Co: 1st morgtage bondholders to deposit six coupons, commencing with July 1, 1884, as they shall severally fall due, with the United States Trust Company, and receive in return debentures running ten years from July 1, 1884; West Shore to make a second mortgage to secure the issue of bonds not exceeding $25,000,000, payable April 1, 1904; $10,000,000 of these bear to 5 per cent interest, and $15,000,000 at 5 per cent or as much thereof as may be earned as net income after April 1, 1884, until April 1889, after which date to bear fixed interest at the rate of 5 per cent. The power of foreclosure is vested in the holders of $5,000,000 worth of bonds of the $25,000,000 issue, to be exercised ninety days after default in the payment of interest on such $5,000,000 of bonds. In case of foreclosure the whole $25,000,000 of bonds are to become payable, principal and interest, and to share equally in the proceeds of sale without priority of preference. The $10,000,000 bonds are to be used to pay the indebtedness to the Construction Company to complete the railway, &c.; and the $15,000,000 bonds are to be used in compromise and adjustment claims and demands against the railway company, including retirement and cancellation.

Ohio & Mississippi.—An order has been entered in the U. S. Courts discharging Receiver Douglas, and thus returning the property to the stockholders. The Secretary gives notice that the overdue coupons on the second consolidated mortgage bonds of this company, due April 1, 1878, October 1, 1878, and April 1, 1879, will be paid, with interest from maturity of coupons to January 1, 1880, at 7 per cent, and from January 1, 1880, to April 7, 1884, at 6 per cent, at the office of the company, 20 Nassau Street.

Oregon Pacific.—Track laying on the Oregon Pacific commenced March 14, six schooner cargoes of rails having already been landed at the company's wharves at Yaquina from San Francisco. The company has at the Bay a large steam tug for service on the bar, and the depth of water in the shallowest part of the channel is now reported to be 22 feet at high-tide, showing great results from the Government improvements now in progress. The company's pioneer steamship, the Yaquina, laden with locomotives, car trucks, and other material for the company, left New York some time ago, and passed Rio Janeiro March 20.

The construction of the 70 miles between Yaquina and Corvallis, on the Willamette River, is now being pushed energetically, and this section will be opened for business next autumn, affording the immense production of the Willamette Valley a new outlet, reducing largely the present time, distance and cost. Two of the three tunnels on the line, one of 650 and one of 450 feet, were pierced within the last fifteen days. On the remaining one of 750 feet, only a short distance remains to be completed. The President, Col. T. Edgerton Hogg, is in Oregon superintending the work.

Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis.—In the foreclosure case of the Central Trust Company against this railroad, Judge Drummond has made an order referring to Gov. J. D. Cox of Ohio certain questions connected with what are called the "car trusts" and general indebtedness. This order relates to the whole floating indebtedness of the company, amounting to about $500,000, and is designed to settle it equitably.

Union Pacific.—The business of the land department of the Union Pacific Railroad for the first quarter of this year is reported to have been as follows: Acres sold, 580,756; amount, $1,419,386.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, April 11, 1884.

To-day is Good Friday, and nearly all our commercial exchanges and other business centres are closed. The speculation in food staples has been feverishly active, and a part of the decline of last week has been recovered, while the lower prices have greatly increased the takings for export. The spring is still backward, snow having fallen in northern and middle latitudes, but at the close it is much milder again.

The markets for "hog products" were further depressed early in the week, but latterly have been improving, with considerable speculative activity. To-day lard futures, after an easier opening, became active and buoyant, then again weakened, closing at 8·85c. for May, 8·95c. for June, 9c. for July and 9·05c. for August. Spot lard 8·90c. for prime Western and 9·15c. for refined for the Continent. Pork has declined, but closed steadier at $16 50@$16 75 for mess. Bacon and cutmeats have declined, but close steadier, although for the most part nominal. Beef dull, and India mess declined to $21@$23 per tce. Beef hams lower at $26@26 50 per bbl. Tallow dull at 7@7⅛c. Stearine quoted at 9c. Butter has declined and cheese is drooping. The following is a statement of stocks of provisions in Chicago as reported to the Board of Trade:

Rio coffee has been dull and to a great extent nominal at 10¼c. for fair cargoes; options have been dull and declining, closing at 8 20@8·25c. for April, 8·20@8·30c. for May, 8·30@8·35c. for June and 8·35@8·40c. for July and August. Tea has been depressed at times, but closes firmer for Japan, with sales at 24¾c. for May and 26c. for June; black is dull and weak. Spices have been quiet and rather weak. Foreign fruits have sold moderately at steady prices. Rice has been steady, but rather quiet. Molasses has been dull and Cuba merely nominal at 22c. for 50 deg. test. Raw sugar has been dull and depressed, closing at 5⅜c. for fair refining; this grade sold yesterday at 5·60c. for July and 5·72½c. for August; refined is rather weak at 7c. for granulated, 7⅛@7⅝c. for crushed and 6⅝c. for standard "A."

Kentucky tobacco has had a quiet week, only about 325 hhds. on the spot changing hands. Prices for lugs, however, are firm at 7¾@8¼c; leaf quoted at 8⅛@9¾c. On 'Change the tone was firm, and medium lugs for May sold at 8 1-16c.; June, 8¼c.; July, 8⅛c; October, 8⅛c. In seed leaf little of interest has transpired, and yet recent figures are retained with a fair degree of steadiness.

In naval stores the legitimate movement has been small, but spirits turpentine on the spot is quoted firmly at 34c. Rosins have had a small export trade, but in a speculative way good strained has been sold at $1 49@$1 50. Refined petroleum has been quiet until to-day, when 70 Abel test was advanced to 8⅛c. on larger orders from the Continent. Crude oil certificates have had a brighter week, but to-night the desire to secure "long" profits broke prices from 94¾c. to 92¾c., closing 93¼c. Ingot copper is easy on the spot at 14¾@14⅞c., and, for June delivery, 8,000 tons Lake sold in Boston at 13c.; all other metals are quiet and essentially unchanged. Hops, wool and oils are still without interesting features.

The ocean freight market has shown a better state of affairs. Berth rates have slightly improved, and oil charter tonnage has received greater attention at more uniformly steady rates. Grain was taken to-day to Liverpool, by steam, at 2@2¼d.; flour quoted 7s. 6d.; bacon and lard, 12s. 6d.; cheese, 17s. 6d.; cotton, 3-32d.; grain to London, by steam, quoted 3½d.; do. to Glasgow, by steam, was taken at 2½d. for immediate shipment and 3½d. for next week; do. to Antwerp, by steam, 4¼d.; do. to Amsterdam, by steam, 10c.; do. to Hamburg, by steam, 70 pfennigs; refined petroleum in cases, to Shanghai, 28½c.; do. in bbls. to Hamburg, 2s. 1½d.; do. to Antwerp, 2s.; do. to Bremen, 2s.; do. in cases to Salonica, 18c., or Constantinople, 19½c.

The speculation in cotton for future delivery at this market for the week under review has not been so active as last week, and there have been wide fluctuations, with some irregularity in the course of prices, but in the aggregate an important further advance must be recorded. Foreign advices have been decidedly better, the movement of the crop has been quite small and stocks have become much reduced. It is true that exports have been materially curtailed, and the weather at the South is fairly favorable for the work of planting, the latter fact preventing the next crop from fully sharing in the advance for this crop; but confidence in higher prices has been very general, leading to active speculation for the rise. On Saturday a variable market closed at a slight advance, and the same was true of Monday; but on Tuesday an active speculation caused an advance of 9@11 points. On Wednesday morning a slight further advance was followed by some selling to realize profits, under which the close was at a slight decline. Yesterday there was again a brisk speculation at advancing prices, closing with a gain for the day of 4@8 points, while as compared with last Friday the latest figures showed an advance of 20@21 points for this crop and September and 9@10 points for the next. Cotton on the spot has been more active for export, with a fair demand for home consumption. On Tuesday quotations were advanced 3-16c. Yesterday there was a further advance of 1-16c., middling uplands closing at 11 13-16c.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 566,500 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 3,282 bales, including 1,515 for export, 1,281 for consumption, 486 for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

☞ The imports into Continental ports this week have been 42,000 bales.

The above figures indicate a decrease in the cotton in sight to-night of 326,821 bales as compared with the same date of 1883, a decrease of 36,081 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1882 and a decrease of 132,977 bales as compared with 1881.

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since Sept. 1, the shipments for the week, and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1882-83—is set out in detail in the following statement:

bales less than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 3,990 bales more than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 604,729 bales less than for the same time in 1882-83.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,710,686 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,709,114 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,524,658 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 30,113 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 14,787 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 55,244 bales and for 1882 they were 19,032 bales.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT APRIL 11.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to April 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

| Receipts at the ports to Apr. 11 | 4,649,774 | 5,486,138 | 4,368,336 | 5,242,901 |
| Interior stocks on April 11 in excess of September 1..... | 60,912 | 222,976 | 156,322 | 222,761 |

| Total in sight April 11..... | 5,473,014 | 6,521,438 | 5,109,131 | 6,072,751 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,048,424 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 363,883 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 599,737 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—The weather has continued favorable for crop purposes at the South during the week. In a few sections the weather has been so cold as to retard planting to some extent, but generally good progress is being made.

Galveston, Texas.—We have had hard rain on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and seventy-six hundredths. Crop accounts seem to be generally favorable. The thermometer has ranged from 52 to 74, averaging 63.

Indianola, Texas.—It has rained splendidly on two days of the week, very beneficial to young crops. The rainfall reached one inch and two hundredths. Both corn and cotton are thriving. The thermometer has averaged 65, ranging from 49 to 80.

Palestine, Texas.—We have had showers on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching seventy-two hundredths of an inch. Corn planting is about finished and cotton planting makes fine progress. We have had a frost this week, but not a killing frost, and no harm was done. Average thermometer 58, highest 75, lowest 41.

Huntsville, Texas.—We have had no rain during the week. Corn has been planted and is coming up, and cotton planting progresses well. The thermometer has ranged from 40 to 77, averaging 60.

Luling, Texas.—There has been no rain all the week. Young crops are promising. Average thermometer 65, highest 78 and lowest 51.

Brenham, Texas.—It has rained on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches. Young corn is coming up, and good progress is being made in planting cotton. The thermometer has averaged 62, ranging from 45 to 80.

Belton, Texas.—We have had no rain during the week. There has been one killing frost during the week, but there was nothing above ground to be hurt. Corn planting is about completed in this neighborhood, and cotton planting progresses well. The thermometer has averaged 54, the highest being 71 and the lowest 34.

Weatherford, Texas.—We have had no rain during the week, but need some. We had one killing frost this week, but it proved harmless. There will probably be a large increase in the acreage of both corn and cotton. The thermometer has ranged from 34 to 81, averaging 55.

Dallas, Texas.—There has been no rain all the week. We have had a frost, but not a killing frost. Young corn is doing well. Planters are giving increased land to cotton this year, and planting progresses well. Average thermometer 58, highest 82, lowest 34.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching two iches and ninety-six hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 60.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—The weather has been fair, and latterly cool, during the week, with light rains. The rainfall reached forty hundredths of an inch. Roads are in good condition. The thermometer has ranged from 42 to 79.

Vicksburg, Mississippi.—It has been showering on one day, and the remainder of the week has been pleasant. The rainfall reached sixty-eight hundredths of an inch. Planting makes good progress. The thermometer has ranged from 45 to 74.

Greenville, Mississippi.—The weather has been cold and dry all of the week. Buffalo gnats and cool weather prevent planting. The thermometer has averaged 59, ranging from 40 to 75.

Columbus, Mississippi.—We have had a shower on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching eight hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold. Rain is needed on the prairies.

India Cotton Movement from all Ports.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to April 10.

Bombay Receipts and Shipments for Four Years.

| Year | Shipments this week. | | | Shipments since Jan. 1. | | | Receipts. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Great Brit'n. | Continent. | Total. | Great Britain | Continent. | Total. | This Week. | Since Jan. 1 |
| 1884 | 23,000 | 46,000 | 72,000 | 234,000 | 284,000 | 518,000 | 69,000 | 697,000 |
| 1883 | 22,000 | 9,000 | 31,000 | 197,000 | 356,000 | 553,000 | 66,000 | 828 000 |
| 1882 | 41,000 | 8,000 | 49,000 | 416,000 | 228,000 | 644,000 | 75,000 | 830.000 |
| 1881 | 6,000 | 28,000 | 34,000 | 115,000 | 217,000 | 332,000 | 55,000 | 516 000 |

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show an increase compared with last year in the week's receipts, of 3,000 bales, and an increase in shipments of 41,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 35,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| | Shipments for the week. | | | Shipments since January 1. | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. |

| 1883 | 1,200 | ..... | 1,200 | 51,200 | 9,000 | 60,200 |
| Madras— | | | | | | |

| 1884 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 13,500 | 3,000 | 16,500 |
| 1883 | ..... | ..... | ..... | 4,000 | 2,000 | 6,000 |
| Total all— | | | | | | |
| 1884 | 11,000 | ..... | 11,000 | 93,000 | 28,000 | 121,000 |
| 1883 | 1,200 | ..... | 1,200 | 59,700 | 12,000 | 71,700 |

The above totals for the week show that the movement from the ports other than Bombay is 9,800 bales more than same week last year. For the whole of India, therefore, the total shipments since January 1, 1884, and for the corresponding periods of the two previous years, are as follows:

Exports to Europe from all India.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. | | 1883. | | 1882. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1. | This week. | Since Jan. 1 |
| Bombay | 72,000 | 518,000 | 51,000 | 553,000 | 49,000 | 644,000 |
| All other ports | 11,000 | 121,000 | 1,200 | 71,700 | 3,500 | 142,900 |
| Total | 83,000 | 639,000 | 52,200 | 624,700 | 52,500 | 786,900 |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

Alexandria Receipts and Shipments.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

* A cantar is 98 lbs.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending April 9 were 5,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe 9,000 bales.

Manchester Market.—Our report received from Manchester to-night states that the market is strong at a fractional advance. We give the prices of to-day below, and leave previous weeks' prices for comparison.

East India Crop.—From Messrs. Wallace & Co.'s report, dated Bombay, March 7th, we have the following:

"Some parcels of new Broach and Dhollerahs of very satisfactory quality have come to market, and in a short time free arrivals of both may be expected. From all accounts, however, it is unlikely that the supply of either growth will be so large as was the case last year, and, looking to this and the undoubted shortness of the Oomrawuttee crop, it now appears very probable that the receipt of cotton into Bombay before the rains will not admit of an export for the half-year ending 30th June of more than 900,000 bales, notwithstanding the increased quantity of Bengals that is this year finding its way to Europe via Bombay. Of course higher prices, inducing free shipments, may make a difference, but from a careful comparison of the reports of the best up-country authorities, both European and native, 900,000 bales is the most that the exports for the half-year are likely to total."

Messrs. Gaddum, Bythell & Co., of Bombay, in their circuiar dated March 7th, give the following report received from Tinnevelly:

"Tuticorin: Since last reporting to you the weather has continued hot and dry, and but for the heavy dews falling at night our cotton crop might have suffered to some extent. From the northern districts, where the plants are always in advance, reports continue favorable. In the southern parts people are very anxious for rain, saying that if rain does not fall shortly the plants will suffer considerably. Should no rain come, the yield in the southern portion of the district will no doubt be somewhat smaller; but on the whole the prospects of the new crop are good."

Jute Butts, Bagging, &c.—The market for bagging has been moderately active since our last, and a fair amount of business is being transacted. The orders, however, are for small lots for present wants, buyers still holding off from supplying future requirements. Prices are steady, holders not being willing to shade present figures on the lots that are being taken, but a round parcel could be had at less money. At the close the quotations are 9½c. for 1½ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10¾c. for 2 lbs. and 11½c. for standard grades. Jute butts are only inquired for at the moment in a jobbing way and invoices are neglected. The business is in spot lots, and for these dealers are quoting 2¼@2⅜c. for paper grades and 2⅝@2⅞c. for bagging qualities; but to arrive a quantity could be had for a shade less.

European Cotton Consumption to April 1.—The cable brings us to-day Mr. Ellison's cotton figures, brought down to April 1. The revised totals for last year have also been received and are given for the purpose of comparison. The takings by spinners, in actual bales and pounds, have been as follows:

| From Oct. 1 to April 1. | Great Britain. | Continent. | Total. |
| For 1883-84. | | | |
| Takings by spinners...bales | 1,931,000 | 1,603,000 | 3,534,000 |
| Average weight of bales | 431 | 435 | 433 |
| Takings in pounds | 832,261,000 | 697,305,000 | 1,529,566,000 |
| For 1882-83. | | | |
| Takings by spinners...bales | 1,829,000 | 1,718,000 | 3,547,000 |
| Average weight of bales | 446 | 435 | 441 |
| Takings in pounds | 815,881,000 | 747,330,000 | 1,563,211,000 |

According to the above, the average weight of the deliveries in Great Britain is 431 pounds per bale to April 1, against 446 pounds per bale during the same time last season. The Continental deliveries average 435 pounds, against 435 pounds last year, and for the whole of Europe the deliveries average 433 pounds per bale, against 441 pounds during the same period last season. In the following table we give the stock held by the mills, their takings and their consumption, each month since October 1, all reduced to bales of 400 pounds each for this season and last season. It is a very convenient and useful summary:

A more striking comparison with last year is reached by bringing together the above totals and adding the average weekly consumption up to this time for the two years:

| Oct. 1 to April 1. Bales of 400 lbs. each. 000s omitted. | 1883-84. | | | 1882-83. | | |

The foregoing shows that the actual weekly consumption in Europe during March was 135,250 bales of 400 lbs. each, against 137,000 bales of the same weights at the corresponding time last year. Our cable, however, gives the weekly rate of consumption for Great Britain during March at 73,000 bales (which for four weeks would make 292,000 bales), but the total consumption for the month is stated at only 277,000 bales, or an average of 69,250 bales per week. The following extract from Mr. Ellison's circular of March 10 explains why he called the rate in previous months 73,000 bales (when it was really 71,000 and 70,000 bales), and probably furnishes an explanation for the present difference.

"The rate of consumption in Great Britain we estimate at 73,000 bales of 400 lbs. per week, which, for twenty-two weeks, would give a total of 1,606,000 bales; but from this must be deducted the reduction occasioned by the strike in North East Lancashire. The strike lasted about nine weeks, during which the production of goods was diminished by about 270,000 pieces of shirtings per week, or a total of about 2,430,000 pieces, which, at an average of 8 lbs. each, would be equal in cotton to 50,000 bales of 400 lbs. It is well known, however, that the reduction in the out-turn of yarn was not more than three-fifths of the reduced production of cloth—say about 30,000 bales. This item taken from 1,606,000, leaves 1,576,000 as the actual consumption of cotton in the first twenty-two weeks of the season."

We retain in our table the figures which correspond with the actual consumption, instead of the consumption as it would have been in case the strikes had not occurred.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

This statement shows that up to March 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 750,552 bales less than in 1882-83, and 304,478 bales more than at the same time in 1881-82. By adding to the above totals to Mar. 31 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

This statement shows that the receipts since Sept. 1 up to to-night are now 811,142 bales less than they were to the same day of the month in 1883 and 293,120 bales more than they were to the same day of the month in 1882. We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to April 11 in each of the years named.

SHIPPING NEWS.—The exports of cotton from the United States the past week, as per latest mail returns, have reached 66,512 bales. So far as the Southern ports are concerned, these are the same exports reported by telegraph, and published in the CHRONICLE last Friday. With regard to New York we include the manifests of all vessels cleared up to Thursday night of this week.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., April 11, 1884.

Flour has been as a rule very quiet, though city shipping extras have met with a fair demand on West India and South American account. Superfine has been in only moderate supply, but most other descriptions have been plentiful, while the trade has been very unsatisfactory. Yesterday the market was steady, with rather more demand. The Exchange is closed to-day, agreeably to a previous resolution, and there has therefore been little or no business.

Wheat has been quiet for export, but the speculation has reached a fair aggregate, and it has been an interesting market all the week. For several days prices declined steadily under the influence of unfavorable news from the West and from Europe, and the fine outlook for the winter crops, as well as the excessive supplies both in this country and abroad; but on Tuesday the market suddenly took an upward turn, owing partly to a demand from shorts anxious to cover at the profits accruing from the late marked decline. The rise in two days was over three cents, and was also due in part to firmer markets in Europe. There has been considerable excitement at Chicago, where the short interest is believed to be the largest. The small receipts there on Wednesday caused a rise, to which New York responded; but it is understood that the bull movement in wheat at Chicago is merely subsidiary to similar manoeuvres in the pork market. Yesterday there was a slightly better export trade here and a larger speculation than for some days, with prices 1@1¾c. higher. No. 2 red closed at $1 in Elevator, $1 01 for April, $1 02¼ for May, $1 04¼ for June, $1 05¼ for July and $1 06 for August. This shows an advance for the week of 3½ to 5c. for options, the later deliveries showing the greatest rise. Wheat on the spot is 1½c. higher than last Friday. The visible supply in this country is 639,495 bushels smaller than a week ago.

Indian corn has been no more than fairly active on speculation, and as a rule very quiet for export. Large quantities have been disposed of at Chicago, and in the face of an advancing wheat market this cereal has declined. The visible supply shows a decrease of 616,811 bushels compared with that of a week ago, but the absence of any foreign trade of importance is still a depressing feature of the market. Any rise is due solely to speculative manipulation. Yesterday there was a fair business in options at an advance of 1 to 1¾c., but there was very little export business. No. 2 mixed closed firm at 56½c. in elevator, 57⅛c. for April, 58⅛c. for May, 59c. for June, 60¾c. for July and 61¾c. for August. These prices are ¼ to ½c. lower for options and 1½c. lower for cash corn than a week ago. The decline was at one time greater, but much of it has latterly been recovered.

Rye and barley have sold to only a moderate extent, but closed firm. Oats have not sold freely, but have nevertheless moved upward of late with the other cereals. No. 2 mixed closed yesterday at 36c. for April, 36½c. for May and 37⅛c. for June, showing an advance during the week of 1½c.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., April 11, 1884.

The principal feature of interest in the dry goods market the past week was an increased demand for some of the most staple cotton fabrics at first hands, a further marked advance in the price of raw cotton having stimulated more liberal operations on the part of large jobbers and the manufacturing trade. For other goods there was only a moderate inquiry by package buyers on the spot, but a good many orders for small re-assortments were received by mail and telegraph, the former accompanied by more cheerful reports in regard to the spring trade in some sections of the country. The jobbing trade was spasmodic and irregular, but a fair aggregate business was done by most of the leading firms. Values of the most desirable cotton, woolen and mixed fabrics remain fairly steady, and stocks in first hands—though abundantly large for the present requirements of the trade—are not redundant, save in exceptional cases, and distributers have so long pursued a cautious hand-to-mouth policy, that they are carrying smaller supplies than usual.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week were only 1,667 packages, of which 369 were shipped to United States of Colombia, 222 to Venezuela, 154 to Chili, 102 to British Honduras, 79 to Great Britain, etc. There was a more active demand for brown sheetings and drills denims, ducks, ticks, and other colored cottons by large buyers, and prices ruled very firm and a trifle dearer in some cases. Cotton flannels were ordered in large quantities "at value" for future delivery, and there was a steady call for wide sheetings and corset jeans; but bleached sheetings ruled quiet, aside from a few popular makes, in which a fair business was reported. The tone of the market for plain and colored cottons is decidedly firmer, and there is no pressure on the part of agents to sell at present quotations, prices being far too low to be remunerative to manufacturers. Print cloths were in moderate demand, and 64x64 "spots" have advanced to 3 5/8c, at which figures manufacturers refuse to make contracts for future delivery, because of the uncertainty regarding the future of the staple. Fancy prints were mostly quiet, but indigo-blues and shirtings were in good demand, and a fair trade was done in ginghams and wash fabrics.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—There was only a moderate business in men's-wear woolens, selections having been chiefly confined to relatively small parcels of the most desirable heavy and spring fabrics. There was, however, a fair movement in heavy cassimeres, worsteds, &c., on account of back orders, and clothiers bought so sparingly at the outset of the season that some duplicate orders are already coming forward—a pretty sure indication that the outlook is improving somewhat. The best makes of clothing woolens are well under the control of orders, and prices remain steady, but poor qualities and indifferent styles are in buyers' favor. Satinets were in fair demand, but Kentucky jeans ruled quiet in first hands. Jersey cloths were moderately active, and a fair trade was done in ladies' cloths, tricots and cloakings, while there was a steady call for light re-assortments of all-wool and worsted dress fabrics, and carpets were in steady request at both first and second hands. Hosiery and knit underwear adapted to the fall trade have met with more attention, and some fair orders (for future delivery) were recorded by agents.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS continued quiet with importers, but a fairly good business was done in a few specialties by leading jobbers. The most staple fabrics were generally steady in price, but fancy dress goods are easier in some cases, and some kinds of silks are selling low. The auction rooms presented no features of special importance.

NEGOTIATED BY

The Corbin Banking Co.

NEW YORK.

All Interest and Principal Payable in New York City.

From 1851 to 1866 Mr. Austin Corbin resided in the State of Iowa, and, in connection with the banking business, made a specialty of negotiating First Mortgage Loans upon Improved Farms in that and other Northwestern States. In 1866 he transferred the business to the City of New York, with immensely successful results. In 1874 the Corbin Banking Company was organized to succeed him in this business, and has continued it ever since. From moderate beginnings this special business has grown to very large proportions, and now shows a Continuous and Complete Record of Result: Covering the Entire Period of 33 Years. The number of current loans upon our books at this date exceeds 33,500, and the amount of money outstanding and due to individuals, savings banks and other corporations is upward of $12,000,000. The business has grown to its present magnitude because its results, as shown by this long record, have been eminently satisfactory. During the periods of depression and general depreciation of nearly all classes of investment securities, which succeeded the panics of 1855, 1857, 1861 and 1873, these first mortgage farm loans negotiated by us, based upon a 40-per-cent cash valuation of the farms, returned high rates of interest to the lenders, with almost the promptitude of Government bonds, and from the beginning of the business to the present time have absolutely proved themselves to be the Safest and Best Paying Investment in this Country. From year to year during this period of 33 years we have been perfecting the details. Our correspondents in the various States are picked men, skilled in this branch of business, of superior judgment, unquestioned integrity and honor, and thoroughly conversant with the laws, procedure and practice of their several States. In addition to this, all the farms are examined and our correspondents' statements concerning them revised by independent agents of our company, paid by us a liberal salary, who report directly to us in New York; and in a multitude of minor details which have been perfected at great expense through the experience of this long period we have been able to reduce the management of this business to a perfect system. Indeed, it is the perfection of our work that has enabled these first mortgage loans upon improved farms to manifest their superiority and to maintain their very high standard of value over all others, while at times great depreciation has followed nearly all other classes of investments.

To investors who wish to place money for a term of years with entire safety, at rates varying from 7 to 8 per cent, we recommend these loans as being, all things considered, the Best in the World.

We hold ourselves in readiness at all times promptly, personally or by letter, to reply to all inquiries and to furnish all needed information in detail.

We have prepared an exact statement of the results of $3,501,845, comprising investments for individuals for the last ten years. Of this amount $3,310,417 were paid promptly with interest in full when due, or over 94 per cent. Of the $191,428 unpaid at maturity there has now been paid $118,180, with an added interest of $3,136, leaving yet to be collected $73,248, which is principally due from a few later delinquents, is being rapidly paid up, and is absolutely good. So it will be seen that 98 per cent of all this $3,501,845 capital has been already returned with rates of interest varying from 7 to 8 per cent, and that only 2 per cent is now unpaid. What other class of investment securities, taken at an average, will show such a record as this?

We solicit investors to investigate our methods and the character of the loans.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

This has been another dull week with no special sensations. Wall Street values seem to be declining, mercantile business is dragging, stocks of goods in first hands are accumulating, gold is flowing out like a river, and about the only straws the street has had to tickle its fancies with, have been the hourly settlement and re-settlement of the Union Pacific difficulty with the Chicago Burlington & Quincy, and the re-organization of the Trunk line pool showing a similar vacillating perversity. These two uncertainties are being talked about and made much of, every one professing to believe that with them out of the way, stocks would boom, though every one at the same time knows that they are mere trifles on the surface, possessing very little real healing power, whatever the event be.

This by no means indicates that stock values are high. As now ruling, the prices of the better class of stocks certainly seem to be low. There are others for which perhaps so much cannot be said, especially under the Elevated Railroad decision of this week, which very properly widens the application of the good old wholesome rule that no agent can act for both parties to a contract. This appears to be the principle underlying Judge Van Brunt's decision and if it is to become the law of the land, it may seriously affect reorganizations and leases where the same party has virtually been buyer and seller or lessor and lessee. Investors, with for instance foreclosed stock certificates in their tin boxes, may not acquiesce in the situation simply because other tin boxes hold certificates covering the same property but issued by a company of a later date. The same decision also touches another question which cannot too soon be settled by the courts, and that is how far directors can bind stockholders. This of course is a point that has many sides to it, differing with each varying fact. But the practice grown so common during late years of directors shoving in bonds ahead of stock, or effecting leases and assuming rentals which prove unprofitable, has done much to discourage investments in share property. Still we admit that these latter are powers the possession of which may be necessary for a progressive vitality in the organization; but even if so, it would be well to know how far the practice is legal and what kind of an endorsement of stockholders is sufficient; also, if they have any voice in the matter, whether a majority vote can foreclose the minority.

The very large and continuing gold exports have probably contributed more than any other one thing to produce the renewed dullness now prevailing, not only in Wall Street, but in trade circles as well. At all events, this outflow of the better currency, together with the evident determination of Congress not to take any action this session looking towards a check in the supply of silver dollars the inferior currency, has had a very depressing effect among conservative classes. Perhaps an increased interest, or at least a fresh impulse, has been given to the discussion of this subject by the visit to Washington the past week of the representatives of the New York Chamber of Commerce and other commercial organizations of the country. It seems to have been demonstrated that the Coinage and Currency Committee of the House has no ear open to the wants of any industrial interest except silver mining. It can even see 25 millions of gold leave us with no check to its outflow, and yet keep on adding 2 millions of silver a month to the amount locked up in the Treasury, which silver could and would go out instead of the gold if that committee would only let it. Furthermore, another committee has this week introduced a measure to provide for the issue of silver certificates of one, two and five dollars, which bill, if correctly entitled, should be called a new device for forcing silver or its equivalents at the overvaluation into circulation and thereby supplying another agency for displacing the better currency. Mr. Buckner very naively asks, "How can 168 millions of silver drive out 600 millions of gold?" In the first place, we have not got 600 millions of gold, or anything like that amount, as every one knows who has studied the subject at all, and as we have shown very clearly in these columns. But even if we had, the effect of the Coinage and Currency Committee's policy would be just as certain in its result, though the end might be a little more remote. The truth is, the gold does not wait to be kicked out; it leaves of its own accord because it does not like association with its inferiors.

This week's gold shipments have reached about $5,300,000, the amount sent out on Tuesday being $2,500,000, on Thursday $100,000, and to-day (as near as we can state it as we write) $2,700,000. Thursday afternoon there was an unexpected reduction by a leading drawer in the posted rates of exchange. What this was due to, elicited considerable discussion, as there seemed to be no change in the rates for actual business. It was understood that a small supply of loan bills was on the market, the offerings being about £200,000. Possibly a further cause may have been, the recent liberal outflow of gold and a momentary pressure of cable transfers drawn against some speculative shipments. It is not unlikely also that there is a small increase in the supply of breadstuffs bills, though dealers still hesitate about buying drafts drawn against grain exports unless they are really first-class. Besides, the shipments of breadstuffs and provisions are not yet liberal enough to make of themselves any decided impression upon the exchange market. Other commercial drafts come from various sources, but are in limited supply. The way our foreign trade is at present running may be gathered from the following statement, issued this week, of breadstuffs exports for March and for nine months, for three years.

It will be noticed that in the above we have added the values of provisions for the same periods, and that the totals for March show a loss this year to our export trade from these articles alone of $12,800,000, compared with 1883, and of even $4,400,000 compared with the small crop year of 1882. Such figures as these, if rightly interpreted, contain within them evidence of the disorganizing power of our currency arrangements.

The course of the stock market, as already indicated, has been towards lower values this week. This has not been an uninterrupted decline, but a variable movement up and down with the result as stated. Rumors of no progress made on Saturday in settling the Union Pacific and Burlington & Quincy difficulties had an unfavorable influence upon the stock of the first named company on Monday. The Gould specialties were weak in consequence of disquieting reports, one of which was that the Wabash would be unable to meet the June interest on the general mortgages. Oregon & Trans-Continental was affected by a rumor that Mr. Endicott would retire from the Presidency, and there was a sharp fall in Oregon Improvement stock and bonds on rumors of a disagreement between this company and the Northern Pacific respecting a contract for the sale of coal lands in Oregon. On Tuesday reports that at the next meeting of the Union Pacific–Quincy Committee, the differences would be adjusted, and that the Quincy managers were inclined to take a more favorable view of the tripartite alliance, aided in advancing Union Pacific and the grangers. In the afternoon there was a drop in Missouri Pacific and the Southwesterns, which temporarily had an unsettling effect; but the market was rallied, and it closed generally strong. The next day Rochester & Pittsburg, which had been broken down on the prospect of a war between it and the Erie over coal business, recovered on the announcement that the matters in dispute had been referred to arbitrators; Union Pacific was heavy on the news of a large decrease in gross and net earnings for February; Western Union was unfavorably influenced by the announcement of progress made in the Eastern States by the opposition lines; the coal shares were depressed by the prospect of a cut in rates by one of the companies in the combination and by the statement that production at the mines would be entirely suspended for another week, thus reducing the output and consequently the tonnage by the coal carriers about 750,000 tons. The Southwesterns were again the weak spots in the market on this day. On Thursday morning the tone was feverish, with a fall in Pacific Mail, Denver, the Gould specialties, and the coal shares, as the feature, but Union Pacific was comparatively strong in consequence of manipulation. Early in the afternoon the market was turned upward by the decline in exchange and the prospect, if rates continue low, of an interruption to gold exports, but subsequently it became irregular, and it closed feverish by reason of a sharp decline in Reading. Friday, the announcement that the coal companies had agreed upon a satisfactory plan to restrict coal production, served to stimulate prices in the morning, and though there were one or two spells of weakness during the day, they were momentary, and the close was generally strong.

So far as reported, railroad earnings may have been an influence on the market; it is to be said that they have since April began, proved more satisfactory than in the periods immediately preceding. We alluded last week to some of the earlier of the returns that had come in for the first seven days of the month, showing in many instances quite considerable gains over 1883, and the exhibits that have since been received for the same period are, nearly all of them, of an equally encouraging character. Reports also for the second week of April are now at hand, and they go further to show that the general anticipations of a large decrease in earnings are not being fulfilled. Most interest centres in the figures of Northwestern roads, since these are the roads which were expected to show a very marked falling off, because of their heavy receipts in 1883. The St. Paul then gained $116,000 in the second week of April, yet all but $10,000 of this, it now turns out, has been retained in the present year. The Northwest loses only $8,800 of the gain of $37,000, while the St. Paul & Omaha actually reports an increase of $31,000, in addition to its increase of $10,000 in 1883. The Northern Pacific again nearly doubles its earnings of 1883, the total being $339,500 for this year, against $172,100 in 1883, and this road is believed to be deriving some benefit from the gold excitement in a section of its territory. Minor roads in the Northwest, like the St. Paul & Duluth and the Milwaukee Lake Shore & Western, also report gains over 1883. In other sections of the country, we have the St. Louis & San Francisco, the Louisville & Nashville, and the Long Island, recording improvement, in large or small degree, over the preceding year for this same second week.

Union Pacific and Denver & Rio Grande have both issued their February statements of earnings and expenses this week. They are of course of the same unfavorable tenor as were the returns for the months immediately preceding. The fact that February this year contained an additional day counted for little in offsetting the many disadvantages that the roads had to contend with. These were the rivalry on Colorado and Utah business with the low rates obtained as a result, snow storms which interrupted traffic and increased operating expenses, and in the case of the Denver & Rio Grande the further trouble with the Colorado Coal & Iron Company which caused the withholding of much traffic that is expected to come forward in subsequent months. The Chicago Burlington & Quincy is the other competing line concerned in the difficulty west of the Missouri River, and this company's exhibit for the same month we had last week. In view of the interest attaching to the subject, it will be useful to bring the results on these three lines together and see how each is being affected by the strife in progress; so we have prepared the following table showing their gross and net earnings both in February and for the two months ended with February. The comparison has, at some trouble, been extended back to 1881, as that will afford a clearer idea of the influences at work, and their effect.

Looking first at the figures for the month of February, we see that the Union Pacific, notwithstanding the great extension of its branch system of roads, had smaller gross earnings in 1884 than in any other of the four years given, while its net earnings are less than $347,000, against over $665,000 in 1883 and over half a million in both 1882 and 1881; that the Denver & Rio Grande, despite the addition of the Utah lines, has lost $66,000 gross as compared with 1883 and $4,000 as compared with 1882, while its net earnings for the month reach less than $35,000, against $138,000 in the year before, and even $103,000 in 1881, though as to this road it should not be forgotten that the disagreement with the Colorado Coal & Iron Company (which affords it so much coal and ore traffic) must have been a very serious drawback. In sharp contrast with the losses by these roads are the continuous gains by the Burlington & Quincy. We need not say anything of the February earnings as compared with those in 1881, for this period in the latter year presented unusually small returns, by reason of the unfavorable meteorological conditions then prevailing; but, as compared with 1882, it will be seen there is a gain of over half a million in gross and nearly $350,000 in net, the latter an increase of more than 50 per cent—in fact, the Burlington & Quincy shows an unbroken gain right through the four years. For the two months the results on the different lines are not materially different than those brought out by February. The continued prolongation of the strife on trans-Missouri business evidently is hurting the Burlington & Quincy less than the other lines.

There is scarcely anything doing by the arbitrage brokers. The following, showing relative prices for leading bonds and stocks in London and New York at the opening each day, indicates a very small margin of profit.

Money on call remains easy at 1½ to 2 per cent, with the bulk of the business at the last-named rate, but there is a little better inquiry for time loans, and the latest reported transaction is 4 per cent for four months. Mail advices from the grain centres show that the money markets there have not been perceptibly disturbed by the sharp decline in breadstuffs and provisions, and interior banks report that the demand for additional margin made upon holders of grain has been promptly met. This week we have the news of the collapse of another country bank, caused by grain speculations; and there will probably be more weak spots developed, unless, indeed, the facts can be successfully concealed. The following statement, prepared from returns collected by us, shows the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have lost $250,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury and $3,500,000 more by exports of gold. Adding these items to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total loss to the New York Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day. Allowance should, however, be made for the fact that last week's bank return was made up on declining averages.

The Bank of England reports a gain of £91,000 bullion for the week. This represents £321,000 received from abroad and £230,000 sent to the interior. The Bank rate o discount remains unchanged at 2½ per cent, but money in the open market is reported as low as 1¾ per cent. The Bank of France shows only slight changes—a gain of 72,000 francs gold and of 213,000 francs silver. The Bank of Germany gained 5,660,000 marks in specie. The following indicates the amount of bullion in the principal European banks this week and at the corresponding date last year.

CHICAGO BURLINGTON & QUINCY AND THE TRIPARTITE AGREEMENT.

The pool difficulty between the Burlington & Quincy and the Union Pacific and tripartite lines which so long has furnished food for discussion on the Stock Exchange and in railroad circles, has this week commanded increased attention. This is due to the fact that it has been confidently reported that matters are now in a fair way of being adjusted and that a speedy settlement may be looked for. There have been similar reports before, which have turned out unfounded, but this last one gives briefly the details of the arrangement and comes from a very reliable source—the Boston Transcript—and consequently is entitled to greater weight and has received wider credence.

It is not so much, however, the report of a settlement (for a settlement of some kind must be reached sooner or later) as it is the form in which the settlement is announced, that is most open to question. If we were told that the Union Pacific had declared itself ready to accept the Burlington & Quincy's terms, or that the tripartite alliance was to be disbanded, we should have little hesitation in believing the statement. But the apparent meaning and popular interpretation of the words used is, that all the concessions and modifications have been made by the Burlington & Quincy, while the Union Pacific has been granted every demand in full. We are thus asked to believe, not exactly that the Burlington & Quincy has been suing for peace, but that it was only too glad to accept any and all overtures looking to that end; in a word, that it has completely abandoned its position. We are free to confess that a settlement on such a basis rather taxes one's credulity.

But a closer study of the language in which the intelligence of a probable adjustment is conveyed, seems to warrant a different conclusion as to the real terms of the arrangement. The words announcing it are that "The "Burlington & Quincy has agreed to waive its claim for a "full share in the business of the Union Pacific at Omaha, "and will allow the Union Pacific to deliver its share of "the Nebraska business to the tripartite roads, the Iowa "lines to say what share the Burlington & Quincy will "have." Of course, one naturally lays stress upon the first part of this brief summary. There were two contestants, and one of them had to yield—which one, that was the important question. The statement says that the Burlington & Quincy has "waived its claim," so the inference has been that it, and not the Union Pacific, had yielded. But the remainder of the announcement does not bear out this interpretation—leads rather to the idea that any concession made by the Quincy is nominal and not real. In the importance given to the mere statement that the Quincy had yielded, this has been overlooked. The fact has also been overlooked that the change of plan decided upon, which the Transcript's remarks taken entire undoubtedly do suggest, forms the basis of a very rational means of ending the dispute.

We are told that the Union Pacific is to be permitted to deliver its share of the Nebraska business to the tripartite lines, and that then the latter are to determine how much of it the Burlington & Quincy is to have in common with them. Of course, under that agreement, the Burlington & Quincy will control its own Nebraska business, as heretofore, —just what it has been contending for all the time. The whole trouble arose out of the demand of these same Iowa lines that the Burlington & Quincy should put its Nebraska traffic into the Iowa pool at Omaha. The Burlington has always had an equal share (as, indeed, it was entitled to have, being one of the older lines into Omaha) of the business of the Union Pacific and other roads from points west of Omaha, and this there was no reason to deprive it of. But having at a great outlay of money extended its system beyond Omaha, and thus secured its own avenues of traffic into that territory, it naturally declined to share this business, built up at such pains, with the Iowa lines after it reached Omaha—especially as these lines had spent nothing themselves in development of such traffic. Still these Iowa lines were firm in their demand that the business should be treated the same as that brought by other roads, and not being able to force the Quincy into submission directly (because their systems terminated at Omaha) they went to the Union Pacific and, by entering into an alliance with the same, formed, as they announced, continuous lines under one management from Chicago to Ogden, Denver, &c., and thus sought to accomplish their purpose. Nevertheless, we now have the news that the Burlington & Quincy will, after all, retain its own Nebraska business, while the Iowa lines will adjudicate merely upon the business delivered by the Union Pacific, &c., just as they have been doing. Of course they may refuse to give the Burlington & Quincy as much of this Omaha business delivered by the Union Pacific as heretofore, but the question then will be, will the Quincy be content with a smaller proportion. Thus far it has refused to yield in this particular either to the pool lines alone or to the pool lines in combination with the Union Pacific, and it will be time enough to interpret the waiver above announced, when we hear just what percentage the Burlington accepts.

As said, however, the method proposed is the only feasible one for bringing about any kind of a settlement; so it seems quite probable that the statement that the meeting held this week at Boston had resulted in the first definite step of progress, is substantially correct. When the Union Pacific has carried the traffic to Omaha, it has no further interest in it. If the lines east of that point cannot agree as to the division of the business, that is their fault and not the Union Pacific's, and they should settle it among themselves. It was a mistake to connect the Union Pacific in any way with the matter. The argument that by uniting with the Rock Island and the St. Paul, and forming continuous lines to Chicago, the Union Pacific would be better able to cope with the Burlington & Quincy, was the only excuse for the arrangement. Four months' experience has demonstrated the error in this reasoning. The benefits to result have proven illusory, and the earnings of the road show a continuous large falling off. Under these circumstances, the company has apparently determined to resume its former position with reference to trans-Missouri traffic, and leave the contending roads to dispose in their own way of the business after it reaches Omaha. The Iowa pool lines appear to be a party to the change, for General Manager Clark, of the Union Pacific, had a conference with the managers of these lines before starting East to submit his proposition.

It is stated that the understanding arrived at between the Quincy and the Union Pacific relates only to Nebraska business, but that the difficulty about Utah and Colorado business will probably be adjusted in the same manner—that is, the Union Pacific will not decide what shall be done with the traffic after it reaches the terminus of its own lines. And most important of all the Quincy will retain its own business. The Rock Island and St. Paul, in making the alliance with the Union Pacific, contemplated that this should be turned into the Iowa pool. If the latest understanding is carried out, apparently no portion of it will go into the pool. Thus the Union Pacific never has derived any benefit from the tripartite agreement, while that which the Iowa lines counted upon getting is vanishing. Is it not pertinent to ask, therefore, whether if the alliance is maintained in name, it has not already been abrogated in effect?

THE BLOCK IN LEGISLATION.

If Congress would only adjourn, business would be all right, said a very prominent New England manufacturer's agent lately, in an "interview" with a newspaper reporter. A leading dealer in wool echoed the opinion. "The only thing I want," said he, "to make me perfectly happy, is the adjournment of Congress." He is perhaps more fortunately situated than the most of us are.

No striking originality can be claimed for the observation that Congress causes a disturbance in the business world quite out of proportion to the importance of its actual achievement; but the remark has never been more true than it is to-day. With the aid of the index to the Congressional Record, we have made up a summary of the completed work of Congress up to the 28th of March. The session had then lasted seventeen weeks; but there had been a holiday recess of two weeks. In the four months, nearly, the whole number of bills which had been passed by both houses and submitted to the President for his approval was—twenty. The importance of these twenty acts was as insignificant as the number was small. Four of them changed the names of as many national banks; two changed the times of holding certain courts of the United States; two were simple "relief" bills. Seven others were on the following subjects: removing the political disabilities of an "ex-rebel"; providing for the removal of General Ord's remains from Havana to the United States; granting an American register to a foreign-built vessel; limiting the cost of printing the index to the Congressional Record; fixing the standard of time in the District of Columbia; providing for completing the statue of Admiral Du Pont; and relating to public lands in Colorado. Possibly some of these fifteen acts will be classed as "public," but not one of them concerns more than a very small fraction of the public. Four others were appropriation acts, the most considerable of which was the Military Academy bill, the smallest of all the regular appropriation acts. The twentieth is in a strict sense a public act. It declares all public ways and highways, post-roads.

A great many interesting topics are suggested by what we have written above. We select one only, and confine our attention at this time exclusively to that. It is not what Congress does, nor what it threatens to do, nor what the business world fears it will do; but what it ought, yet fails, to do. Experience shows that Congress does not and cannot pass the laws that are necessary, or even a large proportion of them. We say this, not in a spirit of fault-finding and criticism, but in recognition of an undeniable fact. The statement does not apply peculiarly to the present Congress any further than this: that the incapacity to legislate has been growing steadily more pronounced for many years, and the chances are that the next Congress will be less capable than is the present. Nor is the difficulty peculiar to Congress. As a result of very different causes, legislation has come to almost as complete a stand in the British Parliament as it has in the American Congress. "The one thing Parliament cannot do," it was recently said, with wit because with truth, "is legislate." There is a certain similarity in the problems presented for the solution of each country, and yet they are not sufficiently alike to make the experiments and the experience of the one useful in the other.

It is most necessary for the present and future well-being of the nation that the problem be faced, attacked and solved. No help, however, can be obtained from political recrimination. The evil does not come from the ascendancy of one party or the other, but from a fault in the system. Where is that fault? Let us first see where it is not. It is not in the character of the members. With rare exceptions they are good, well-meaning men, of far more than average ability. They are as able, as honest, and as desirous of meeting the wishes of the people, as Congressmen have ever been, or as the members of any other legislative assembly in the world are. But even those who would not concede so much as this, must admit that if an improvement of the efficiency of Congress depends upon an improvement of the quality of its members, the chance of reform is small and remote. Again, the failure to accomplish all that should be done does not come from indolence or from lack of enterprise. Nine thousand bills have been introduced during this session. The Senate and the House sit daily as many hours as they ought to sit. The committee work is said to be well forward. Furthermore, it cannot be said that too much time is devoted to debate upon the measures before Congress; for if discussion upon public questions were reduced in the House, it would become alarmingly like a minus quantity. Now it is very easy to see where the trouble does lie. It results from a totally unnecessary waste of time—a lack of economy. We shall specify as briefly as possible only two or three examples, but those who are familiar with the course of business in the House of Representatives—for, in spite of its rule of unlimited debate, the Senate is always ahead of the House in its work—can easily supply other instances of similar waste of time.

There is, first, an immense loss of time in routine business. The journal must be read, if one member objects to dispensing with the reading. The purely formal work of presenting and referring bills is another leak, not a great one to be sure. The making of reports is another. Too much time is spent in calling the roll. Again, an undue proportion of the time of the House is devoted to private bills and the business of the District of Columbia. Thirdly, the rules of the House, refined as they are to the last degree, do not prevent frequent wrangles over the order of business, which consume time. Most important of all, there is no member, and no body of members, to speak for the country. Each member is for his own pet measure, and there is a total absence of general leadership. From this circumstance it ensues that the least important matter stands as good a chance of consideration as the most important. To illustrate:—The two bills which have been most thoroughly discussed during the present session are those for restoring Fitz-John Porter to his lost position and the Blair Education Bill. Not to deny the importance of these measures, they are assuredly less pressing than the silver coinage, the bankruptcy bill, the tariff, or half-a-dozen other bills.

There is a remedy for all this, and it will be found some day. It will be a very simple remedy. Good and strong leadership would result in an instant improvement. At present the members are of too nearly equal ability and force. The two or three who are decidedly above the average, are not far enough above it to escape the envy and jealousy of those who are just below them, or to triumph over the counter schemes of those who are equal to themselves. It is true that leadership has its disadvantages, but they are not so great evils as is an inability to do anything which the country needs to have done. We must not, however, be understood as asserting that there can be an improvement only when some statesman with will force enough to dominate Congress assumes the attitude of a leader. That is only the most obvious and speedy means of reform. There are other ways, and there can be no more useful discussion by those who are interested in the science of government than one which is directed to the discovery of those ways.

FRANCE AND CHINA.

It is, we believe, generally admitted that the French have at last conquered Tonquin. It will, we think, also be admitted that, all things considered, they have done their work very effectively. In some respects, indeed, their conduct stands out in striking contrast to that of England in Egypt. Neither in Tunis nor in Tonquin was there anything so brilliant as that early morning surprise at Tel-el-Kebir or as that later passage of arms at El Teb; but neither have there been any disasters such as those which befell Hicks Pasha and Baker Pasha. If the French have moved slowly since they first attacked Hué, they have moved steadily, and they have had no occasion to fall back and repeat their work; and now they are masters of the entire peninsula, along its eastern border from Saigon in the south to the confines of China in the north and northwest, including the rich alluvial delta of the Red River.

For a time it was doubtful how far France was engaged in a conflict with China proper. It was not doubtful that China claimed sovereign rights over the whole of Anam, from the northern limits of Tonquin southward. If there had been doubts before the occupation of Hué, the loud protests of China made them impossible after that event. But it was for some considerable time an unsettled question whether the fortresses in Tonquin were strengthened by Chinese troops. Latterly there has been no cause for such uncertainty. China has been lending active help to the Tonquinese; and it has now to be admitted that, after all her boasting, she has made a very poor show in defense of what she declared to be her rights. So little fight, indeed, has she shown in the whole matter, apart from mere words, that one is tempted to believe that if France had been less disposed to show respect to the wishes of the Great Powers, she might have continued her successful march to Canton, and even forced her way to Pekin. It remains to be seen whether China will not make herself more ridiculous before the world by attributing the losses which she has sustained to the mismanagement of certain prominent officials, and by punishing them accordingly. She at times has a very direct way of saving her honor in such circumstances; and it would not be, according to latest advices, at all wonderful, if some unfortunate statesmen and generals should be deprived of their heads for allowing the Frenchmen to have things so much their own way in Tonquin.

It can hardly be said that France is yet done with her work in those eastern regions. It would seem from all the accounts yet published that she has resolved to discontinue her march further into the interior. To many this has been somewhat of a surprise, as one great object of the expedition was to remove the barriers which hindered the trade with Yunnan—a wealthy and as yet wholly undeveloped country lying to the northwest of Tonquin, and under the government of China. The way to Yunnan is blocked so long as Lao-Kai, a stronghold which commands the upper waters of the Red River, remains in the hands of the enemy. Lao-Kai is on the southern edge of the Yunnanese frontier. The stronghold itself, with the entire country for some distance to the southeast, is in the hands of the Black-Flags, and it is of some importance to bear in mind that the distance between Hung-Hoa, the place last captured, and Lao-Kai is greater than that between Hanoi and Hung-Hoa. It is probable that France has become satisfied that, with the entire command of the whole region of the Delta, and with absolute control of all the lower waterways in Tonquin, she can afford to wait with patience until Lao-Kai shall fall into her hands by a sort of necessity. Probably, also, she indulges the hope that some good may come from diplomacy. And it would not be difficult to discover in the present condition of French politics sufficient reasons why the Government should wish the war in Tonquin brought to a close as early as possible.

The question of commanding interest now is, what arrangements does France propose to make with China? It is reasonable, we think, to take it for granted that France will hold on to the conquests she has made, and that she will endeavor to build up another and grander Algeria in Southern Asia. But will she be contented with those conquests? Some are disposed to think she will not; and there is a prevailing sentiment that France has decided to imitate the painful example set by Germany in her own case, and to demand from China a satisfactory pecuniary indemnity. If France should hold on to her conquests, and insist on exercising the authority of the protectorate throughout the entire territory of Anam, and at the same time demand a pecuniary compensation, she may find that she asks too much, and that while she forces China into an attitude of hostility, she shuts herself off from the sympathy of all the other nations. Besides, the Republic will thus be placed in a false position, and France will have repeated the wrong which in her own case she has deemed unpardonable. Until the arrival of the new French Minister, M. Patenôtre, in Pekin, we shall have to be contented to remain in some uncertainty as to the French proposals in the premises.

—Mr. William Felix Alexander, so widely and favorably known as a cotton broker at Augusta, Georgia, has recently extended his business by offering his services to those wishing to buy or sell Southern railroad securities. We have known Mr Alexander personally for about thirty-five years, and are satisfied that any one having occasion to employ him will be honestly dealt with, for his integrity is beyond question. This is especially important when one is buying or selling securities not quoted at the Stock Exchange, as the broker's word is frequently the only evidence had of the price paid.

In a circular we have this week received from Mr. Alexander he calls attention to the field that Southern securities (more particularly Georgia securities) offers to investors in this day of small returns for capital. Georgia has undoubtedly made very rapid progress, and values are more fixed there than in most any other portion of the South. We notice the circular states that safe investments in bonds and stocks can be secured which will net as high as 7 per cent. We do not know what railway securities are referred to, but the matter will well repay investigation, since the progress of Georgia in the past is an assurance of a decided growth in miscellaneous traffic in the future.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Notwithstanding some increase in the failures a week ago as the result of the decline in grain and provisions, the general status of mercantile credit throughout the country appears to be unusually good. The jobbers in the principal cities concur in the general report that collections have been much better and more promptly made since the first of January this year than last, and that where failures have occurred the causes can in nearly all cases be traced back into last year or into 1882. The complaint continues, however, that profits are very small, while the decline in railroad building is still showing its effects in the depressed condition of the iron trade, and this is, to some extent, being reflected in the coal trade, which latter fact has resulted in the past week in lower prices for the stocks of the coal-carrying roads.

The largely-increased movement of wheat from the Western markets, which was induced by the reduction of freight rates and the decline in price since the middle of March, has at last begun to show a tardy effect on the exports of breadstuffs, and we find that in the week to April 12 the exports of wheat and flour from the seven Atlantic ports were equal to 1,763,442 bushels of wheat, as compared with 962,410 in the preceding week. This increase in the exports is the more noticeable because a vast deal of argument and statistics has been printed in the last few weeks to prove that there was no foreign market for our surplus wheat even at the prevalent low prices.

The increased exports of wheat have had some slight influence in making an easier market for sterling exchange in the past week, though the leading factors in the reduction of rates for sterling on Thursday were the light demand for foreign payments and the very low rates of interest in London, where the street rate for money is down to 1¾ per cent per annum. This is just equal to the current rates for call loans in New York, and consequently there is nothing in the relative rates of interest to induce the movement of capital in either direction. The shipments of gold continue, however, and the total for the week will exceed five millions.

At the West money has become easier, as the result of the outward movement of grain, and at Chicago and St. Louis the exchanges have turned decidedly in favor of New York.

Notwithstanding the export of about $24,000,000 of gold since February 21, the surplus reserve of the New York banks has kept largely above the legal requirement and also largely above the reserve of last year at this time. The lack of satisfactory investments for money also still keeps the deposits of the banks about $60,000,000 above 1883, and though the banks are daily offering money on call at 2 per cent per annum on stock collaterals, their loans have expanded only $37,000,000 to $38,000,000, as compared with this 60 millions increase in deposits. Time loans on dividend-paying stocks are still to be had at 3½ per cent, and the rates for mercantile discounts remain unchanged at 4 and 4½ for 2 and 4 months on endorsed paper and 5 and 5½ on single names.

The statement of the Bank of England showed a gain of £91,000 bullion for the week. The reserve, also, which last week was 45¾, is now 47¾ per cent. The Bank of France reports a gain of 72,000 francs in gold and 213,000 francs in silver. The Bank of Germany gained 5,660,000 marks.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—The market for sterling has been very quiet, and the volume of transactions unusually small. As indicated in another place, the low rates of interest in London and the light demand here for remittances caused a reduction in the rates on Thursday of ½ cent on the £ sterling to 4 88 and 4 90. The rates for actual business on Friday, the 18th, were as follows, viz.: Sixty days, 4 87¼@4 87½; demand, 4 89¼@4 89½; cables, 4 89¾@4 90. Commercial bills sold at 4 85½@4 86¼.

Quotations for foreign exchange are as follows, the prices being the posted rates of leading bankers:

| April 18. | Sixty Days | Demand. |

| Prime bankers' sterling bills on London | 4 88 | 4 90 |

State and Railroad Bonds.—The market for railroad bonds has this week been affected by the lack of confidence which has been so positive a feature of the stock market. The volume of business in bonds has diminished, and the tendency of prices has been downward for the majority of issues, though this must be qualified by saying that the declines this week, as they were last week, are largely confined to the speculative issues. On the whole, however, the market has been neither so strong nor so active for even the best class of bonds as in the preceding week. The principal net changes as compared with Thursday evening, the 10th, are as follows, viz.: Declined—Chesapeake & Ohio currency 6s, 1¼ per cent; Denver & Rio Grande consols, 5½; Denver & Rio Grande Western firsts, 4¾; Erie second consols, 2½; International & Great Northern 6s, ¼; Louisville & Nashville consols, 1¼; Lehigh & Wilkesbarre consols, ½; Metropolitan Elevated seconds, 2⅜; Mexican Central firsts, 3⅜; Milwaukee Lake Shore & Western firsts, 1 per cent; Milwaukee & St. Paul, Chicago & Pacific (Western Division), firsts, 1; New York Chicago & St. Louis firsts, ¾; Rome Watertown & Ogdensburg consols, 2 per cent; Oregon Short Line 6s, 3⅝; St. Paul & Omaha consols, ½; Texas & Pacific land grant incomes, 3½; do. Rio Grande Division firsts, 1¼; Wabash general mortgages, 9; Toledo & Wabash seconds, 4⅞; Great Western firsts, 2 per cent; Oregon Improvement firsts, 10 per cent; Rochester & Pittsburg consols, 4¼.

State issues were dull during the week, and prices show but little change.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has been depressed during the past week as the result of a variety of unfavorable developments and rumors of possible more unfavorable ones yet to come. Conspicuous among these were reports of the cutting of prices for coal among the coal companies. This, however, was changed on Thursday by the new agreement of the coal companies to restrict production and maintain prices. The Wabash stocks have been especially depressed by the arguments of the bears that this year it would certainly go into the hands of a receiver, because the interests of Messrs. Gould and Sage were now more largely in its bonds than in its stocks. The argument has received a show of color from the fact that Mr. Gould has not given his stocks any decided support, and even Missouri Pacific has declined largely. The long-expected decision in the Elevated Railroad case was handed down by Judge Van Brunt this week with entire satisfaction to none of the parties in interest. The effect was to cause a decline in both the Metropolitan and Manhattan Elevated stocks, though at first the former advanced. The greatest depression has been in the Oregon stocks, as the result of the decrease of the dividend on Oregon Navigation to 6 per cent from 8 and the variety of unfavorable reports about the condition of Oregon Improvement. The difficulties of the Burlington & Quincy and the Union Pacific have this week, it is believed, made some progress toward settlement; but the Trunk-Line Pool troubles are still a subject of as much uncertainty as ever. The depression of prices had been so decided through the week that there was a natural re-action to a limited extent on Friday, which somewhat diminished the net declines for the seven days.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Chicago Burlington & Quincy.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

An abstract of the remarks contained in the annual report was given in the CHRONICLE Vol. 38 p. 422. The report is very brief, and gives few comments in addition to the remarks just referred to. Very little is said of the plans or prospects of the company for 1884, and nothing of the sharp competition with Union Pacific west of the Missouri River, nor of the famous tripartite agreement.

The increase of stock during 1883 was $2,363,000, of which $2,290,000 was for the Republican Valley RR. stock, and is held in the C. B. & Q. treasury. The net increase in the bonded debt was $8,760,400—the $9,000,000 of 5 per cent debentures having been given for the Hannibal & St. Joseph stock, while old bonds were reduced by sinking fund purchases and by conversions into stock.

The extensions, mostly in Nebraska, added ninety-four miles to the road.

The comparative statistics for four years, compiled for the CHRONICLE, are as follows:

Chicago & West Michigan Railway.

The annual report states that during the year 1883 there was charged for extension from West Troy to Baldwin, and other construction items, $210,361, and for equipment, $105,083, the funds for which have been provided from the sale of the 5 per cent bonds of the company.

"The unusually large percentage of operating expenses for the year is due to damage to track and bridges (including the loss of the long bridge at Grand Rapids) caused by severe storms in Michigan. It should be borne in mind, however, as stated in last report, that so long as the gross earnings continue at their present low rate of $3,755 per mile, that no large increase can be expected in net earnings, and that the percentage of operating expenses will therefore be large.

"For purposes of comparison, of some value in this connection, we submit the gross earnings per mile in 1883 of a few of the neighboring Michigan roads engaged in the same character of business: Flint & Pere Marquette Railroad, $7,330 per mile, Detroit Grand Haven & Milwaukee Railroad, $7,282 per mile, Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad, $6,569 per mile, Detroit Lansing & Northern Railroad, $6,188 per mile. Since the first of this year, favorable arrangements have been made with roads reaching Southern and Missouri River points, which should materially increase our business, unless there is a general depression of the business interests of the country, which would of course temporarily affect any demand for lumber."

"The increase in the receipts amounted to $21,792—the gain being $2,526 from passenger traffic, $15,905 from freight, $1,923 from mails and express and $1,438 from rentals.

"The number of passengers carried was 648,409, against 629,243; the movement one mile, 22,388,000, against 22,014,000, and the average rate per mile 2·52 cents, against 2·55 cents.

"619,860 tons of freight were moved, as compared with 585,351, but a larger proportion of the gross was short distance local business, and the movement one mile fell from 61,044,000 to 58,195,000; the average rate per mile was 1·28 cents, against 1·20 cents." * * *

"The working expenses and funds amounted to $996,696, being 72·41 against 74·94 per cent of the receipts.

"Included in these expenses is the amount chargeable this year for replacing bridges, culverts, etc., carried away by floods in the month of July, and other expenses caused by the diversion of the traffic, amounting to $14,000, and new works and betterments, amounting to $16,000 more." * * *

"A new route to Chicago in connection with the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway has been opened up this year, and access obtained to other districts in Michigan by the opening for traffic of the Toledo Ann Arbor & Grand Trunk, the Michigan Air Line and the Pontiac Oxford & Port Austin railways. The policy of your directors has been to afford facilities to all these routes, and to increase the business tributary to the city of Detroit."

American Bell Telephone Co.

(For the year ending Feb. 29, 1884.)

The stockholders of this company held their annual meeting in Boston late in March. The President is Mr. Wm. H. Forbes. The following gentlemen were elected for the ensuing year as directors: Francis Blake, Chas. P. Bowditch, Chas. S. Bradley, Geo. L. Bradley, Channing Clapp, Alex. Cochrane, Wm. H. Forbes, Chas. Eustis Hubbard, Gardiner G. Hubbard, Robert B. Minturn, Wm. G. Saltonstall, Thos. Sanders.

The annual report said: "The growth of our business for the past year has been healthy, and in some directions very active. The demand for new telephones fell off during the winter months, but the net output for the year was 57,299, against 60,337 for the previous year. This falling off seems to be partly due to dulness in general business and partly, perhaps, to the fact that in some parts of the country telephone managers have put their strength into connection of towns with each other, which, though adding to the value of each exchange, does not increase the number of instruments in use as much as if the work was done on the exchanges themselves. The increase in this branch is very marked, the number of miles of wire in use having increased during the year from 13,653 to 29,359." * * * "Since the last report, 165 new exchanges have been built, 13,417 miles of new wire added in the exchanges and 25,798 new subscribers connected." * * * "The dividends upon the stock in licensed companies amounts to $440,923, an increase of over $200,000. The income from extra territorial lines was $45,819, and this item should be largely increased in the coming year. The amount received from the increase of the capital stock has been used in the payment of the notes of the company and in the further purchase of interests in licensed companies. In addition to the cash purchase of interests of local companies, $9,998,850 has been received in the stock of those companies for licenses issued, and our holdings in those companies now amount to about $19,000,000." * * * "A consolidation of the companies operating in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and all of Massachusetts, except the portion licensed to the Southern Massachusetss Telephone Company, was arranged in the autumn, a new company being formed, called the 'New England Telephone & Telegraph Company,' which took over the business on October 1. For the stock interests held by us in these companies, and for our property in Boston, with a permanent license for the whole territory, we are paid a majority of the stock of the new company, upon which we waive dividends to an amount corresponding to the conditions existing in the old companies." * * * "The tendency towards consolidation of telephone companies noticed in our last report has continued, and is for the most part in the interest of economical and covenient handling of the business. The connection of many towns together, causing large territories to assume the character of great telephone exchanges, made it of importance to bring as large areas as possible under one management, to ensure simple and convenient arrangements for furnishing rapid inter-communication. As methods are devised for making the telephone commercially useful over long lines, the advantages of this centralization of management will be still more apparent, as well as the importance to the public of having the business done in large territories under one responsible head, with far-reaching connections throughout the whole country. To make this service of the highest value to the people will be complicated enough under one control."

The report of the Treasurer shows a comparative statement of earnings and expenses as follows:

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Anthracite Coal Companies.—The anthracite coal companies have agreed to continue for the rest of the present year the policy of restricting production. The supply will be regulated to the demand by stopping work at the mines whenever necessary. No specific times for suspending production have been fixed beyond May, but it is agreed that the periods of restriction shall be a full week and three days alternately. The first suspension shall be May 5 to 10 inclusive and then May 23, 24 and 25. The limit of restriction for May will be nine days. A new and important feature of the agreement is to leave the decision as to future restriction to the companies having the majority of tonnage, instead of giving to each company an equal voice. The vote under the present arrangement will be according to the amount of coal mined by the companies. It will be possible now for two companies to order a restriction. The Philadelphia & Reading, including Central of New Jersey, controls nearly one-half of the anthracite coal business, and by a combination with the Lackawanna or the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company can determine the policy of the trade, according to the new agreement, during the rest of the year.

Alabama Great Southern Railway.—The report for 1883 shows that the gross earnings of the line were $1,058,763, as compared with $856,757 in 1882, showing an increase of $202,005. The receipts per mile per annum in 1883 were $3,589, as against $2,904 in 1882—an increase of $685 per mile per annum. The passenger receipts show an increase of 38·13 per cent. The directors regret that the operating expenses amounted to 71·14 per cent, as against 70·08 in 1882. It is hoped that this figure may be considerably reduced in the current year. Of the 25,000 additional "A" preference shares, the issue of which was authorized in 1883, 6,000 were placed during the year. The accounts of the American corporation show a balance to the credit of net revenue of $198,278, or £40,798 4s. 8d., which includes the sum of $2,959, or £608 18s. 9d., brought forward on the 31st of December, 1882. After providing for the dividend on the "A" preference shares and for the payment of the subsidy to the Alabama Texas Company to the 31st of December, 1883, there remains a balance of £4,831 17s., which the directors recommend should be carried forward.

California Southern.—Circular No. 4, issued from the office in Boston on April 15, has the following: "The recent heavy storms in California have seriously damaged our property, and although the extent of the loss is not fully known, it is estimated by Superintendent Victor at from $200,000 to $250,000." * * *

A committee appointed by stockholders April 12 "recommends that for the purpose of raising the money to make the repairs the company place a second mortgage on the property to the extent of $5,000 per mile, increasing the capital stock the same amount, and that a circular be sent to the stockholders proposing a loan to be made to the company for one year, in blocks of $500; each of said blocks to be secured by the company's note, drawing 7 per cent interest and 2½ per cent commission, with collateral for each $500, as follows: $250 in the company's first mortgage bonds, $750 in its second mortgage 6 per cent bonds, the first coupon on which shall be due April 1, 1885; and ten shares of its capital stock. Said collateral to be put into the hands of Warren Sawyer, trustee, and said trustee to certify on each note that he holds the collateral for the benefit of the parties making the loan. The committee recommend raising $303,500, and under this subscription each holder of fifty shares of stock is entitled to subscribe for one block of $500."

Central Pacific.—Mr. R. T. Colburn, in the Central Pacific office, said: "The Central Pacific Company's sinking fund, exclusive of the Government sinking fund, is a considerable burden on net earnings. The company's sinking funds now amount to $7,000,000, and call for interest accumulations of about $420,000 a year, besides the annual instalments. During 1882 and 1883 there was expended from net earnings nearly $5,000,000 in reducing the company's debt. Of that amount $1,284,000 was employed in redeeming land bonds, which were canceled; $2,112,000 was applied to the company's sinking fund and $1,540,000 to the Government debt and sinking fund."

Chicago Burlington & Quincy—Union Pacific.—The Boston Transcript of April 14 said: "The meeting of the conference committees of the Union Pacific and Chicago Burlington & Quincy Railroad companies with General Manager Clark, of the Union Pacific, has resulted in the first definite step of progress made towards a settlement of the difficulties. The Burlington & Quincy has agreed to waive its claim for a full share in the business of the Union Pacific at Omaha, and will allow the Union Pacific to deliver its share of the Nebraska business to the tripartite roads, the Iowa lines to say what share the Chicago Burlington & Quincy shall have. Only the Nebraska business was considered, but the same principles will apply to Colorado and Utah business. General Manager Clark, of the Union Pacific, has gone West to confer with General Manager Potter, of the Chicago Burlington & Quincy and the Iowa lines. If the Chicago Burlington & Quincy and the Iowa lines can agree upon the former's share of the Omaha business, the two roads will then pool upon the local business of Nebraska. As the Chicago B. & Q. has now a better understanding of the "tripartite," and has agreed to a conference with this new Western Trunk Line Association, the prospect for a settlement is very fair. After the Chicago Burlington & Quincy settlement with the Iowa lines, which, it is believed, will be speedily agreed upon, the Chicago Burlington & Quincy and Un. Pac. Nebraska local pools will be confirmed, and then the question of territorial extensions will be taken up. The Colorado and Utah pools will also have to be adjusted, probably after the manner of the Nebraska settlement."

Co., to be held in Philadelphia, May 15, they will be asked to consent "to the issue by the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Company of certain bonds, which shall take precedence of the income bonds of said railroad company, forming part of the security pledged for the redemption of said bonds of the Continental Improvement Company, such new issue of bonds by the Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad Company to be used in settlement of the debt owing by that Company to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and Pennsylvania Company."

Memphis & Little Rock.—At Little Rock, Ark., April 12, Judge Caldwell, in the United States Court decided in the case of P. K. Dow and others, trustees, that a receiver should be appointed for the road, and Rudolph Fink was so appointed.

Metropolitan Elevated.—One of the principal events of the week was the decision of Judge Van Brunt of the New York Court of Common Pleas in the Metropolitan suit. The decision itself is not at all conclusive in this particular suit, as the case will be appealed immediately; but the questions of law discussed by Judge Van Brunt are of the greatest magnitude so far as the interests of stockholders and bondholders are concerned. In our laws affecting corporations there are hardly two points that could be named which have a wider and more important bearing upon stockholders' interests than these:

1. What action may directors take without the consent of stockholders.

2. What contracts may trustees and directors make between themselves as individuals and the corporations, or cestui qui trusts that they represent.

In Judge Van Brunt's decision the simple findings are as follows:

1st—The Metropolitan directors had no power to modify the original lease or tripartite agreement of May 20, 1879, without the consent of the shareholders.

2d—The October agreements were voidable because three of the Metropolitan directors were also directors of the Manhattan Company.

3d—That there was no actual fraud upon the part of any Metropolitan director in making the October agreements, but they were for the best interests of the Metropolitan Company.

4th—The October agreements were disaffirmed by the Metropolitan Company.

5th—The bill of peace was no bar to the suit.

6th—The judgment in the People's suit against the Manhattan Company was no estoppel.

7th—The judgment of the Superior Court was no estoppel.

8th—All restitution required by law can be made.

POWERS OF THE METROPOLITAN DIRECTORS.

Judge Van Brunt, in considering the question whether the Metropolitan directors had the power to modify the original leases and tripartite agreement of May 20, 1879, without the consent of the stockholders, says that he is little aided in his decision by any of the authorities in the State or Federal courts. Justice Blatchford sustained the October agreements on the ground that they were only a compromise and adjustment of claims which the two lessor companies held against the Manhattan, and that boards of directors can exercise the power of adjustment. But Judge Van Brunt holds that the agreements are not susceptible of any such limitation. They are rather new agreements radically modifying and changing previous ones. The stockholders consented to lease their road under the terms of the agreement of May 20, 1879, and no other, and the directors had no original power to lease. But the Court says, it is urged that the stockholders had, by approving a lease for 999 years settled the question of parting with their property during that time. There was nothing practically left for the directors to do, except to attend to the collection and distribution of the rent. Would it be in excess of their powers to accept a less sum than that reserved in the lease, when no element of leasing entered into that agreement? The fallacy of this reasoning, the Court says, arises from overlooking the fact that if the shareholders had the right to determine the terms and conditions upon which their property was to be parted with, such terms and conditions form the consideration of their assent, and cannot be taken away without destroying their assent. It might have been within the power of the directors to make temporary arrangements for relief from the difficulties, yet they could not make radical changes in the terms of the lease as to which the stockholders have never been consulted. The result of the October agreement certainly was a permanent and radical change in the terms of the lease. If the directors could not make a new lease themselves, clearly they could not radically modify the old lease or in effect make a new lease by striking out of the old lease substantial covenants upon the part of the lessee.

THE POWERS OF AN AGENT.

Judge Van Brunt then takes up the claim that the directors of the New York and the Metropolitan companies had the right to make the agreement of 1879 without the assent of the shareholders. He holds that in all cases in which the question has been discussed, the directors of a corporation have been held to be only the agents of the shareholders. The powers of directors are such as are conferred by the charter of their corporation, and all other powers remain in the corporation, to be exercised or at least set in motion by its component parts, the shareholders. Shareholders cannot compel the directors to act in any manner against their judgment in the exercise of a corporate power which remains in the corporation. But that the directors convened as a board are not the primary possessors of all the powers which the charter confers, is expressly held by the United States Supreme Court in the case of the Railway Company vs. Allerton, 85 U. S. Supreme Court Reports, in which an increase of capital stock without the consent of the shareholders was held to be void, although the charter provided that all the corporate powers of the corporation should be vested in the board. Judge Van Brunt construes the legislation in this State and others conferring the power to make leases upon directors as being simply intended to enable directors to exercise a power that the corporation could not exert except through its agents, and holds that acts making organic or fundamental changes in the character of business or a corporation cannot be performed either by the directors alone or the shareholders alone, but that the action of both is necessary.

DIRECTORS' AGREEMENTS VOIDABLE.

Judge Van Brunt then takes up the question: Were the agreements voidable at the option of the Metropolitan Company because three of its directors were also directors of the Manhattan Company, or because Metropolitan directors held stock in the Manhattan Company? It must be borne in mind, he says, that in the making of the October agreements the interests of the Manhattan and the Metropolitan Companies were antagonistic. It will not be denied that where an agent or trustee has a personal interest opposed to that of the principal, the principal or cestui qui trust may avoid the contract at will, even if there be no actual fraud or damage. The courts have made no distinction in this rule in respect to different kinds of contracts. The undoubted rule of law in this State is that every contract entered into by a director with his corporation may be avoided by the corporation within reasonable time, irrespective of the merits of the contract itself. "I can see no difference in principle," says Judge Van Brunt, "between the case of a director contracting with his corporation and that of directors of one corporation contracting with themselves as directors of another. The evils to be avoided are the same; the temptations to breach of trust are the same; the want of independent action exists." * * * "The rule seems to be clearly established that the question of minority cannot be considered in determining the right in equity to avoid a contract. The presence of one disqualified director is as fatal to action which cannot be repudiated as the existence of a dozen." * * * "I have therefore been led to the conclusion that the directors had no power to modify the lease of May 20, 1879, in the manner that they did by the October agreements without the assent of the stockholders, and that even if they had such power, the presence of directors in the Metropolitan Board who were also directors of the Manhattan Company at the time of the adoption of the October agreements, gave either company the right, in equity, to repudiate those contracts within a reasonable time, although the contracts may have been perfectly valid at law. The Metropolitan Company certainly did repudiate those agreements within a reasonable time, having commenced this action within one month after the shareholders of the company had an opportunity to elect a new board of directors who could take action in the matter. The plaintiff, therefore, is entitled to a judgment relieving all the parties in this action from the October agreements, upon making such restitution as is suggested in a former portion of this opinion."

Old Colony.—This company advertises the sale of 2,000 shares of its stock to be sold by auction. These shares are a part of the authorized issue.

Oregon & Trans-Continental.—According to Kiernan's, a letter has been addressed to President Endicott by a number of stockholders, including Messrs. Work, Strong & Co., Decker, Howell & Co., Brayton Ives & Co., John H. Davis & Co., and others, requesting that a full statement of the assets and liabilities and other matters pertaining to the company's finances be made; that the books and offices of the company be removed from Boston to New York; and that the stockholders be informed whether the directors of the company have any plans under consideration for putting its indebtedness into more favorable form, and relieving the company of its burdensome contracts.

Pacific Mail Steamship Co.—The directors of Pacific Mail have declared 1¼ per cent dividend, payable May 1. The report shows for nine months ending February 29, 1884, and February 28, 1883, the following:

| | 1883-4. | 1882-3. | Increase. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Earnings | $3,634,607 | $3,036,916 | $596,691 |

The President remarks upon this that "the above exhibit shows the net earnings from June 1, 1883, to February 29, 1884, to have been $1,070,522, or a trifle more than 7 per cent per annum. During this period we have continued the payments of $20,000 per month on account of the bonds, and paid the last claim of the city against the company for the personal taxes of 1881, amounting to $111,150. The outlook for the coming year gives me every reason to believe our earnings will be much larger and at a very slight increase of expenses, inasmuch as supplies of all kinds are cheaper, especially coal." The company has now $1,118,000 cash on hand (prior to the payment of the dividend).

Richmond & Danville.—A statement for six months ending April 1, being the first half of the fiscal year, has been submitted, as follows:

| | 1882-3. | 1883-4. |
|---|---|---|
| Gross | $2,018,554 | $2,084,950 |
| Expenses, including new equipment construction and betterments of all kinds | 1,323,096 | 1,237,976 |

| Fixed charges, six months | ..... | 587,446 |

Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis.—The proxy committees representing the main line and St. Louis divisions finally agreed upon a plan of reorganization. It recommends the organization of a new company and the conversion of the narrow into a standard gauge track. The financial plan is substantially as follows: The first mortgage will be for $6,750,000 ($15,000 per mile), the bonds to run for forty years and bear 6 per cent interest. The second mortgage will be for $7,000,000, to run fifty years, and bear interest at 4 per cent from January 1, 1888, to January 1, 1893, and 6 per cent thereafter, said bonds and mortgage to contain a provision that the said mortgage shall not be foreclosed before 1890, unless in case of default in the payment of interest on the first mortgage bonds, and in the event of such default the principal and interest of the second mortgage bonds shall at once, and by virtue of such default, become due and payable. Holders of first mortgage bonds of the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis Railroad Company, who become parties to this agreement and pay $10 for every bond of $1,000 held, shall receive new second mortgage bonds to an amount equal to the amount of such first mortgage bonds held by them, including interest thereon, to be computed from last payment to the 1st day of January, 1888, at 6 per cent per annum. Holders of first mortgage bonds of the Toledo Delphos & Burlington Railroad Company, who become parties to this agreement and pay $10 for each bond for $1,000 held by them, shall receive new second mortgage bonds to an amount equal to the amount of such first mortgage bonds held by them, including interest to be computed from last payment to the 1st day of January, 1888, at 6 per cent per annum, to which amount shall be added a sum equal to 50 per cent of the principal of such first mortgage bonds, excluding interest.

The subscribers to the $600,000 debenture subscription of December, 1882, shall receive second mortgage bonds for five-eighths of their holdings—say $460,000, "such being the estimated amount actually paid."

Preferred 6 per cent non-cumulative stock shall be created to the amount of $12,000,000, and holders of Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis income bonds may exchange for this at par on paying $5 for each share of $100; holders of Toledo Delphos & Burlington income bonds may exchange for preferred stock at par on paying $5 for each $100 share, and may also take 50 per cent more of the said preferred stock on payment of $1 for each share of $100.

Delphos trust holders, amounting to $300,000, may take five-eighths of their holdings in preferred stock on payment of $1 per share of $100.

The new company shall create $5,000,000 of common stock, and holders of common or preferred stock of the present company and holders of stock of either of the previous companies (Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis or Toledo Delphos & Burlington), may take new common stock for one-fourth of their holdings on payment of not less than $2 50 nor more than $5 per share of the new stock as the trustees of this agreement may determine.

The Metropolitan Trust Company is named as trustee, and Messrs. James M. Quigley, Halsey J. Boardman and Charles W. Pierce for the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis division, and Messrs. Quigley, John McNab and Charles T. Harbeck for the main line, are appointed and authorized to execute the agreement. The North National Bank is the custodian for the bonds in Boston.

It thus appears that the railroad of 450 miles between Toledo & St. Louis, when changed to standard gauge and put in complete order will be capitalized as follows:

| 1st mortgage 6 per cent bonds ($15,000 per mile) | $6,750,000 |
| 2nd mortgage bonds, no interest till 1888, then 4 per cent 1888-1893, and 6 per cent after 1893 | 7,000,000 |
| Preferred 6 per cent stock, non-cumulative | 12,000,000 |
| Common stock | 5,000,000 |

Union Pacific.—The gross and net earnings for February, and for two months from January 1, have been as follows:

| | February. | | 2 months—Jan.-Feb. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. |
| Gross earnings | $1,673,224 | $1,547,963 | $3,590,078 | $3,086,877 |
| Expenses | 1,007,454 | 1,201,018 | 2,026,576 | 2,506,383 |
| Net earnings | $665,770 | $346,950 | $1,563,502 | $580,494 |

—The land sales of the Union Pacific are showing a large increase over those of 1883 and previous years. The Boston Journal says: "This is due in great part to the fact that the movement of population, which for several years has been in the direction of the Northwest, is now turning its attention to the more central and milder sections of the West. We can best illustrate this fact by stating that since Jan. 1 the Union Pacific has sold more than half a million acres of land situated more than 350 miles from the Missouri River, chiefly in Keith and Cheyenne counties, Neb. Since Oct. 25 last, when the Keith County lands were thrown upon the market, over 400 homestead and timber claims of Government lands have been taken up, besides the sales of railroad lands. In Lincoln County, Neb., the Union Pacific has about half a million acres of land suitable for cattle and sheep raising, which is being sold rapidly, both in small lots and in tracts of 5,000 to 15,000 acres. As the company has left some 8,000,000 acres of its land grant upon the main line and 5,000,000 upon the Kansas Pacific Division, it still has an abundant supply of land for future settlers and land purchasers."

—A correspondent of the Boston Herald writes to that paper:

We have before us the interesting report of the Union Pacific Railway Company for 1883, and beg to ask for information on the following point: Under the heading of "Fund relating to the Union Pacific Railroad Company land grant bonds," we find that the trustee, Mr. Fred L. Ames, had $2,00?,103 61 "cash balance" on hand December 31, 1883, and that only $81,000 of the land grant bonds were canceled in 1883. There is no evidence that this large sum of over $2,000,000 is drawing any interest for the company; neither is there reason to believe that Mr. Ames has any right to use this fund for other than redemption purposes of the land grant department. The land grant bonds are quoted at 107½, and at such a premium there seems no reason why the bonds should not be redeemed faster than they were in 1883. It would be interesting to know why Mr. Ames sees fit to carry such a large cash balance as trustee of this fund rather than invest it in the bonds for which it was intended. STOCKHOLDER.

The Herald answers this, "that the land grant balance is drawing interest, and that it seems wiser to the trustee to continue this policy than to pay current prices for any large amount of the bonds for whose redemption the fund is applicable. The land grant 7s mature in 1887, 1888 and 1889, at which several periods they can be bought ex premium. Seven per cent bonds having three years to run pay at 107·67 about 4¼ per cent; having four years to run, they pay about 5 per cent, and having five years to run, pay about 5¼ per cent. From the standpoint of the trustee it is easy to see why there should be no hurry to redeem the bonds in question before maturity when the asking price is as at present. This subject suggests a point on which there is some misconception, the statement having gone abroad that, whatever the earnings of the operating department of Union Pacific, the land sales would provide for the dividend. The Kansas Pacific lands may be sold to help out on dividends, but not Union Pacific lands proper. Proceeds from these are applicable to the land grant bonds, and after that to the sinking fund bonds."

—The Union Pacific land sales in March were 364,000 acres; receipts, $1,061,000. Increase in acres, 279,075; in receipts, $778,486. Jan. 1 to March 31, acres sold, 647,112; receipts, $1,857,787; increase, 516,995 acres, $1,331,966.

Vicksburg Shreveport & Pacific.—The bridge across the Red River is nearly completed. Only twenty miles of track remain to be laid to complete the road into Shreveport, and as all the grading is finished, it is expected that the road will be opened by July 1.

—Attention is called to the card of the American Surety Company, just organized under the laws of New York, with a cash capital of $500,000. This company acts as surety for officers and employes of banks, railways, express and telegraph companies, corporations and business houses; it will also act as surety on bonds required in courts and in other legal undertakings. The officers of the company are gentlemen of business capacity and experience, while the Board of Trustees embraces a large number of gentlemen prominent in business and financial circles, among whom we note the following: Hon. John Jay Knox, Comptroller of the Currency; W. A. Wheelock, President Central National Bank; Julius Wadsworth, Vice-President Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad; William Dowd, President Bank North America; George R. Blanchard, Vice-President Erie Railroad; R. N. Hazard, President American Loan & Trust Company; George M. Pullman, Chicago; C. N. Bliss, of Bliss, Fabyan & Co.; Charles G. Miller, of Latham, Alexander & Co., and others.

—A volume of 378 pages, entitled "A Guide to Mexico," is published by Messrs. D. Appleton & Co. The author of this book is Mr. Alfred R. Conkling, L. L. B., Ph. B., and it is too considerable a volume in the scope and character of its information to be called merely a "Guide." A hearty commendation of the work by Gen. Grant is given in an autograph letter (of which a fac simile is presented next to the title page), and he remarks: "Information is wonderfully condensed in it, and I wonder at its completeness in so little space. The book is really a guide not only for the traveler, but for the capitalist, and for the general reader who seeks information of this old country, now about to be modernized through the irresistible invasion of the American railroad man."

—The Fidelity & Casualty Company, of which Mr. Wm. M. Richards is President, has removed to more commodious quarters in the National Park Bank Building, Nos. 214 and 216 Broadway. The increase of the company's business in the special line to which it has been devoted is one of the causes for its removal to larger offices.

—The Homestake Gold Mining Co. has declared its sixty-eighth dividend ($25,000 for the month of March), payable at the office of the company in San Francisco, or by Messrs. Lounsbery & Haggin, Transfer Agents, 15 Broad Street, New York.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, April 18, 1884.

Weather has become more spring-like, giving some impulse to seasonable traffic. Still, in most sections the season is backward for crop purposes; not so much so, however, as to excite any serious apprehensions as yet. Little progress has been made in the resumption of inland navigation. The speculation in staples of agriculture has been active, but at varying prices, which in the aggregate show little change. The tariff bill has come up for discussion in the lower house of Congress, but with little prospect of its passage.

The speculation in lard futures in the past week has been noted for a severe depression in values. On Wednesday the close was at 8·36c. for May, 8·43c. for June, 8·51c. for July and 8·65c. for August. From these prices there was a material recovery in the course of yesterday and to-day, and the close this afternoon was steady at 8·55@8·56c. for May, 8·63@8·66c. for June, 8·72@8·75c. for July, 8·81@8·82c. for August and 8·45@8·50c seller the year. Spot lard sold at 8·50c. for prime Western and 8·75c. for refined for the Continent, but the close is at 8·65 and 8·95c. for the two grades respectively. Pork has been more active, and closes at $16 75 for mess and $19 for clear. Bacon is nominal at 9½c. for long clear. Cut meats have been lower, but close steadier; pickled bellies and shoulders 7⅝@7⅞c., hams 11½@11¾c. Beef of all grades is dull and nominal. Beef hams quoted at $25 50@$26 per bbl. Tallow has advanced and is active at 7⅛@7¼c. Butter has declined; new creamery 23@33c.; new Western factory 15@21c.; oleomargarines sold to-day at 8⅝c. Cheese dull; old factory 12@15¼c.; new do., 8@12c. Fresh eggs 15@16c.; a slight recovery from inside figures. The following is a comparative summary of aggregate exports from November 1, 1883, to April 12, 1884:

| Pork, lbs | 19,973,600 | 23,665,600 | 3,692,000 |
| Bacon, lbs | 183,690 228 | 231,247,497 | 47,557,269 |
| Lard, lbs | 94,357,280 | 119 169,403 | 24,812,123 |
| Total lbs | 298,021,108 | 374,082,500 | 76,061,392 |

Rio coffee has been quiet as a rule, but to-day there was a better business in Santos at 10⅛c. for fair, and Rio closed firm at 10¼c. for that grade; options have sold moderately at advancing prices, largely due to higher quotations in Havre; the close here was irregular, after an advance to-day of 15 to 20 points; May closed at 8·50@8·60c., June at 8·50@8·55c., July at 8·60@8·65c., August at 8·60@8·70c., September at 8·65@8·70c. and October at 8·70@8·75c. bid and asked; mild grades closed steady, with a fair demand. Spices have been very dull and to a great extent nominal. Tea has sold rather slowly at declining prices; Japan sold to-day at 23½c. for May and 24⅜c. for June. Rice has been in rather more demand, and quite firm, in sympathy with the Southern markets. Foreign fruits have been quiet and without marked change. Cuba molasses has been in fair demand, and closed firmer at 22@22¼c. for 50-degrees test; grocery grades have met with a moderate sale at steady prices; Raw sugar has been firmer on the spot, with a very fair business at times; fair refining is quoted at 5⅜c.@5 7-16c., and 96-degrees test centrifugal at 6¼c.; options have been unusually active for raw, and prices at one time advanced, but to-day there was a decline, in sympathy with a weak market in London, and there were sales of fair refining at 5·55c. for July; refined has been stronger; granulated closed at 7 1-16c., crushed at 7¾c. and powdered at 7½c.

While Kentucky tobacco has been quiet, both in a legitimate and speculative way, prices have been steadily maintained at 8¼@8¾c. for lugs and 8¾@11½c. for leaf; sales for the week 56 hhds., of which 13 were for export. Seed leaf has had a better inquiry, and all figures are considered steady; sales 1,950 cases, including 450 cases crop 1882, New England, 12@18c.; 100 cases crop 1883, do. Havana seed, private terms; 300 cases crop 1881, Pennsylvania, 9@11c.; 800 cases crop 1882, do., 11@15c.; 100 cases crop 1882, Wisconsin Havana seed, 20@30c., and 200 cases crop 1883, do. do., private terms; also, 500 bales Havana, 80c.@$1 15, and 150 bales Sumatra, $1 25@$1 60.

In naval stores little or nothing of interest has transpired, and prices have been on the wane; spirits turpentine closed to-night at 31½@32c., and strained to good strained rosins, $1 44@$1 45. Refined petroleum for export has had an active week, and 150,000 bbls. 70 Abel test have changed hands at 8¾@8⅞c.; to-day the tone was weaker, in sympathy with certificates, and refiners reduced their views to 8¾c.; cases are strong at 10½c. Crude oil certificates have had a boom, and at one time $1 was reached, and to-day a selling movement broke prices from 97¾ to 94¾c., but renewed buying rallied the market to 97½c. In metals, hops, oils and wool nothing of interest has transpired, and yet prices are essentially steady.

Ocean freight room has been depressed and very irregular during the greater part of the week. To-day an improvement was noticed, and yet only a fair movement was reported. Liverpool, steam grain was taken 1¾@2d.; flour, 5s.@7s. 6d.; bacon and lard, 10s.@12s. 6d.; cheese, 15s.@17s. 6d.; cotton, 3 32d.; grain to London by steam quoted 3¼d.; do. taken to Glasgow by steam, 3d.; do. to Antwerp by steam, 5d.; refined petroleum in cases to Seville, 16c.; do. to Santander, 16c; do. in bbls. to Bremen (May 16 clearance), 2s. 1d.; do. in cases to Java, 28@29c.; do. from Philadelphia to Singapore, 28c.

The speculation in cotton for future delivery at this market has been quite active during the week under review, but prices have been quite unsettled, varying widely. The Liverpool market was closed from Friday to Tuesday, inclusive. The re-opening of our market on Saturday was quite buoyant, with general and fresh speculative activity. There was also a brisk demand to cover contracts. The advance was most decided, however, for this crop. Monday closed slightly lower, under sales to realize, which, continuing on Tuesday, caused a further decline more than equaling, in the aggregate, the advance of Saturday. On Wednesday the Liverpool market was unexpectedly strong, and the opening with us was quite buoyant, but a fresh selling movement caused the loss of nearly all the early advance and a weak closing. Yesterday there was an early decline, but a revival of speculation caused a recovery, and the close was firm at a few points advance. To-day the speculation was much less active, and prices rather easier; but subsequently became stronger. As compared with last week Thursday, the close was slightly dearer, the distant months showing the most decided improvement. Cotton on the spot advanced 1-16c. on Saturday and again on Monday. There has been a small demand for home consumption, and little inquiry on other accounts. Yesterday there was a reduction of 1-16c. To-day the market was quiet and prices unchanged, middling uplands closing at 11⅞c.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 857,400 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 2,670 bales, including —— for export, 2,142 for consumption, 537 for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the pnrpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plautations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,722,147 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,749,209 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,532,992 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 30,274 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 19,166 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 40,095 bales and for 1882 they were 8,334 bales.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT APRIL 18.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to April 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

| Receipts at the ports to Apr. 18 | 4,672,343 | 5,552,665 | 4,398,136 | 5,303,619 |
| Interior stocks on April 18 in excess of September 1 | 49,804 | 196,544 | 134,856 | 202,360 |
| Tot. receipts from plantat'ns | 4,722,147 | 5,749,209 | 4,532,992 | 5,505,979 |
| Net overland to April 1 | 526,328 | 572,324 | 391,473 | 452,089 |
| Southern consumpt'n to April 1 | 236,000 | 240,000 | 190,000 | 155,000 |
| Total in sight April 18 | 5,484,475 | 6,561,533 | 5,117,465 | 6,113,068 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,077,058 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 367,010 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 628,593 bales.

New Orleans reported below high-water mark of 1871 until Sept. 9, 1874, when the zero of gauge was changed to high-water mark of April 15 and 16, 1874, which is 6-10ths of a foot above 1871, or 16 feet above low-water mark at that point.

INDIA COTTON MOVEMENT FROM ALL PORTS.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to April 17.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show an increase compared with last year in the week's receipts, of 12,000 bales, and a decrease in shipments of 31,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 66,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| 1883..... | 2,000 | ..... | 2,000 | 61,700 | 12,000 | 73,700 |

The above totals for the week show that the movement from the ports other than Bombay is 1,000 bales more than same week last year. For the whole of India, therefore, the total shipments since January 1, 1884, and for the corresponding periods of the two previous years, are as follows:

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

| Shipments to all Europe from— | 1884. This week. | Since Jan. 1. | 1883. This week. | Since Jan. 1. | 1882. This week. | Since Jan. 1. |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

ALEXANDRIA RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

| Per'tage of tot. port receipts March 31. | 89·80 | | 90·99 | 86·40 | 89·58 | 93·10 |

This statement shows that up to March 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 750,552 bales less than in 1882-83, and 304,478 bales more than at the same time in 1881-82. By adding to the above totals to Mar. 31 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

We add to the table the percentages of total port receipts which had been received to April 18 in each of the years named.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., April 18, 1884

Flour has on the whole sold quite slowly, and prices as a rule have been depressed. The export trade has been small, and the home demand equally unsatisfactory. The lower grades have met with the most favor, especially No. 2 and superfine, but there has not been sufficient business to afford holders any great encouragement. Most grades of spring and winter flour are plentiful. To-day the market was firmer, with a better demand, and a more cheerful feeling was generally noticeable, owing to the advance in wheat.

Wheat has, as a rule, been very quiet for export, the only break in the otherwise uninterrupted dulness being yesterday, when a fair business was done at some advance. The speculation has been rather less active. The contending factions have each manipulated the quotations in their turn, and the course of the market has therefore been quite erratic. Covering at Chicago started a similar movement here, but the slowness of the foreign business has still acted as a weight on the market, and as the fears that strong operators had taken hold with a view to putting prices up, diminished prices at one time showed a disposition to decline. There are not a few speculators in Chicago, however, who contend that wheat is a good purchase at the present figures. To-day there was a very fair demand here for export, and prices advanced 1 to 1½c. No. 2 red closed at $1 03½ in elevator, $1 03 for May, $1 05⅛ for June, $1 06 for July, $1 06⅛ for August and $1 06½ for September. This shows an advance for the week of 3¼c. on the spot and ¼ to ⅞c. for future delivery. The final figures were firm.

Indian corn has been moderately active on speculation, and prices, following the general course of the wheat market, have advanced. Smaller receipts at Chicago have caused some covering of contracts, both there and here, but it is now considered that the rise is due mainly to the advance in wheat. Many therefore contend that on every rise corn is a good sale. To-day the market here was fairly active on speculation but quiet for export. The foreign trade, as a rule, has been quiet throughout the week. No. 2 mixed closed at 60½c. in elevator, 60c. for April, 60⅛c. for May, 60½c. for June and 61⅞c. for July. This shows an advance for the week of 4c. on the spot, 3c. for April and 1 to 2c. on the later deliveries.

Rye and barley have been quiet but firm. The supply of barley here is now quite small. Oats have been moderately active at some advance. No. 2 mixed closed at 36¾c. for April and May and 37¼c. for June, these figures being ⅛@¾c. higher than those of a week ago.

AGRICULTURAL BUREAU REPORT.—The following is the report of the Agricultural Bureau of the condition of wheat at the beginning of April:

The April returns of the Department of Agriculture make the winter wheat area about 27,600,000 acres. This is nearly the breadth sown of the previous crop, of which between 5 and 6 per cent was subsequently plowed up, leaving 26,400,000 acres to be harvested.

Comparing with the area harvested, the present breadth is an increase of 5 per cent. The present area is greater than that of the census year by more than 2,000,000 acres. The increase is about 1,500,000 acres on the Pacific coast and nearly 750,000 acres in the Southern States. There is a small increase in the Middle States and a slight decrease in the Ohio basin.

The condition of wheat averages 93, one hundred representing a full stand, unimpaired vitality and medium growth. In April, 18-3, the average was 80, and 85 in April, 1881. The April average of the large crop of 1882 was 104. The State averages are as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Connecticut | 100 | Arkansas | 81 |
| New York | 97 | Tennessee | 98 |
| New Jersey | 95 | West Virginia | 100 |
| Pennsylvania | 99 | Kentucky | 98 |
| Delaware | 96 | Ohio | 88 |
| Maryland | 102 | Michigan | 94 |
| Virginia | 101 | Indiana | 92 |
| North Carolina | 102 | Illinois | 82 |
| South Carolina | 97 | Missouri | 91 |
| Georgia | 91 | Kansas | 101 |
| Alabama | 88 | California | 101 |
| Mississippi | 92 | Oregon | 102 |
| Texas | 101 | | |

In Michigan, New York and Connecticut the fields were protected with snow on the first of April, in some places a foot in depth. Subsequent condition will depend on the weather of April. No serious winter killing is reported, except in Alabama. On low and wet areas some injury is reported throughout the entire breadth.

The superior condition of drilled wheat is attested almost without exception.

The area in rye is nearly the same as last year, being 99 per cent. Condition average, 97 per cent.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

FRIDAY, P. M., April 18, 1884.

The situation in the dry goods trade was practically unchanged the past week. The demand for staple cotton goods was favorably influenced by the late advance in the raw material, and the probability of an early curtailment of production by the New England mills, and a moderately good business was done in this connection by manufacturers' agents. The woolen goods market continued quiet, but the most desirable fabrics are held with a fair degree of firmness. Transactions in foreign goods were chiefly of a hand-to-mouth character, and light in the aggregate. The jobbing trade was only moderate as regards selections by buyers on the spot, but there was a steady improvement in the demand by mail and telegraph, suggestive of depleted stocks in the hands of retailers. Accounts from the West and Southwest are more encouraging, and a fair average trade is being done in nearby States, but business is still reported sluggish in some sections of the South.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of domestics for the week were 4,759 packages, distributed as follows: 2,923 to China, 944 to Great Britain, 208 to U. S. of Colombia, 197 to Newfoundland, 129 to Hayti, 97 to Central America, 85 to Brazil, &c. There was a fairly good demand at first hands for plain and colored cottons, large buyers having taken hold with more freedom than of late, though there was little, if any, tendency toward speculation. Operations in brown sheetings and drills were more liberal, and a large business was done in cotton flannels for future delivery. Bleached goods were more active, and there was a steady call for wide sheetings, and corset jeans, denims, ducks, tickings, cheviots, plaids and other colored cottons were in better request, and large sales of cotton batts were reported in some quarters. The tone of the market was quite firm, and several of the above-named fabrics were advanced from 2½ to 5 per cent. Print cloths were in good demand and firm, closing at 3 5/8c. for 64x64s and 3 3-16c. for 56x60s. Prints were lightly dealt in by package buyers, but ginghams and woven wash fabrics were in fair request and steady as far as leading makes are concerned.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—The general demand for clothing woolens was light and disappointing. There was a steady inquiry for really desirable makes of cassimeres, worsteds, suitings and overcoatings, resulting in a fair business; but poor styles and qualities were almost neglected, although not infrequently offered at very low prices. Satinets were in fair request, but by no means as active as a short time ago. Kentucky jeans and doeskins have shown more animation, and some good-sized round lots were quietly picked up by shrewd buyers. Low-grade blankets and repellents have met with some attention, but transactions were neither numerous nor important. Ladies' cloths, Jersey cloths, tricots and cloakings were taken in small parcels to a moderate amount, and agents experienced a steady call for light re-assortments of worsted and all-wool dress fabrics. Carpets were in limited request at first hands, but a fair business was done by leading jobbers, and retailers are doing a good trade in the various kinds. Hosiery and knit underwear were in irregular demand by package buyers, but some pretty good orders were placed for fall makes.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—There was only a limited call for seasonable goods at first hands, but some very fair orders for autumn fabrics, as velvets, dress goods, plush cloakings, &c., were placed with importers. Summer silks, colored grosgrains, and fine black silks were in moderate request, but other silks and ribbons ruled quiet. Seasonable dress goods were sluggish, aside from a few specialties in printed and woven wash fabrics, in which there was a steady movement. Laces, embroideries and white goods were disposed of in fair quantities, but linen goods were mostly quiet, and hosiery and gloves were less active with importers. Imports continue light, and buyers who are about visiting the European markets are likely to pursue a very cautious policy in making provision for the coming fall trade, and rely upon the cable for the supply of such deficiencies as may arise.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.

During the forty years of its publication THE LIVING AGE has met with continuous commendation and success.

A Weekly Magazine, it gives more than double-column octavo pages of reading matter yearly. It presents in an inexpensive form, considering its great amount of matter, with freshness, owing to its weekly issue, and with a satisfactory completeness attempted by no other publication, the best Essays, Reviews, Criticisms, Serial and Short Stories, Sketches of Travel and Discovery, Poetry, Scientific, Biographical, Historical and Political Information, from the entire body of Foreign Periodical Literature.

THREE AND A QUARTER THOUSAND

It is therefore invaluable to every American reader, as the only satisfactorily fresh and COMPLETE compilation of an indispensable current literature, indispensable because it embraces the productions of in all branches of Literature, Science, Politics and Art.

"No other periodical gives so diversified a view of current literature, of thought, judgments, but by publishing entire the best essays, criticisms, discussions, short stories, and serial romances of the day . . . It is for readers of limited leisure or purse the most convenient and available means of possessing themselves of the very best results of current criticism, philosophy, science, and literature."—Presbyterian Banner, Pittsburg.

"The mass it puts at command is as possible to be as well informed in current literature as by the perusal of a long list of monthlies."—Phila Enquirer.

"Whatever there is of interest in the literary and scientific world is spread before its readers."—Boston Journal.

"No reader who makes himself familiar with its contents can lack the means of a sound literary culture."—New York Tribune.

"It furnishes a complete compilation of an indispensable literature."—Chicago Evening Journal

"Remarkably cheap for the quality and amount of reading furnished."—Montreal Gazette

"It is by odds the best periodical in the world."—Morning Star, Wilmington, N. C.

"We know of no equal to THE LIVING AGE for variety of information, depth of interest, and purity of tone. It possesses unique merit to keep any reader abreast with the best printed thoughts of the best of our contemporary writers. It is the great eclectic of the world."—Episcopal Register, Philadelphia

"It flourishes in even more than youthful vigor. It has become indispensable."—New York Observer

"Its readers are supplied with the best literature of the day. . . . "There is nothing noteworthy in science, art, literature, biography, philosophy, or religion, that cannot be found in it. . . . It gives in accessible form the best thought of the age."—The Churchman, New York

"It becomes more and more necessary as the field of periodical literature broadens."—Zion's Herald, Boston

Published WEEKLY at $8.00 a year, free of postage, or,

For $10 50 THE LIVING AGE and any one of the American $4 Monthlies (or Harper's Weekly or Bazar) will be sent for a year, postpaid; or for $9.50 THE LIVING AGE and the St. Nicholas, or Lippincott's Monthly. Address,

FIRST MORTGAGES
ON IMPROVED FARMS,
Drawing 7 and 8 Per Cent Interest,
NEGOTIATED BY
The Corbin Banking Co.
NEW YORK.

All Interest and Principal Payable in New York City.

From 1851 to 1866 Mr. Austin Corbin resided in the State of Iowa, and, in connection with the banking business, made a specialty of negotiating First Mortgage Loans upon Improved Farms in that and other Northwestern States. In 1866 he transferred the business to the City of New York, with immensely successful results. In 1874 the Corbin Banking Company was organized to succeed him in this business, and has continued it ever since. From moderate beginnings this special business has grown to very large proportions, and now shows a Continuous and Complete Record of Result: Covering the Entire Period of 33 Years. The number of current loans upon our books at this date exceeds 33,500, and the amount of money outstanding and due to individuals, savings banks and other corporations is upward of $12,000,000. The business has grown to its present magnitude because its results, as shown by this long record, have been eminently satisfactory. During the periods of depression and general depreciation of nearly all classes of investment securities, which succeeded the panics of 1855, 1857, 1861 and 1873, these first mortgage farm loans negotiated by us, based upon a 40-per-cent cash valuation of the farms, returned high rates of interest to the lenders, with almost the promptitude of Government bonds, and from the beginning of the business to the present time have absolutely proved themselves to be the Safest and Best Paying Investment in this Country. From year to year during this period of 33 years we have been perfecting the details. Our correspondents in the various States are picked men, skilled in this branch of business, of superior judgment, unquestioned integrity and honor, and thoroughly conversant with the laws, procedure and practice of their several States. In addition to this, all the farms are examined and our correspondents' statements concerning them revised by independent agents of our company, paid by us a liberal salary, who report directly to us in New York; and in a multitude of minor details which have been perfected at great expense through the experience of this long period we have been able to reduce the management of this business to a perfect system. Indeed, it is the perfection of our work that has enabled these first mortgage loans upon improved farms to manifest their superiority and to maintain their very high standard of value over all others, while at times great depreciation has followed nearly all other classes of investments.

To investors who wish to place money for a term of years with entire safety, at rates varying from 7 to 8 per cent, we recommend these loans as being, all things considered, the Best in the World.

We hold ourselves in readiness at all times promptly, personally or by letter, to reply to all inquiries and to furnish all needed information in detail.

We have prepared an exact statement of the results of $3,501,845, comprising investments for individuals for the last ten years. Of this amount $3,310,417 were paid promptly with interest in full when due, or over 94 per cent. Of the $191,428 unpaid at maturity there has now been paid $118,180, with an added interest of $63,136, leaving yet to be collected $73,248, which is principally due from a few later delinquents, is being rapidly paid up, and is absolutely good. So it will be seen that 98 per cent of all this $3,501,845 capital has been already returned with rates of interest varying from 7 to 8 per cent, and that only 2 per cent is now unpaid. What other class of investment securities, taken at an average, will show such a record as this?

We solicit investors to investigate our methods and the character of the loans.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Very little has occurred to change the situation of affairs the past week. On Wall Street the special influences have been the depression and disagreements in the coal-carrying business, the slow progress made towards settling the differences between the Burlington & Quincy and the Union Pacific, the disorganized condition of the Trunk Line Pool, and the general weakness of what are known as the Gould stocks. From the latter fact the inference has been drawn quite widely that Mr. Gould has marketed during late weeks or months a good portion of his properties, and is not an unwilling spectator to the present decline, while the loss in earnings of some of the coal-carriers has given currency to rumors of impending financial difficulties in the case of one or more of them.

But these are all mere trifles as light as air, were it not for the distrustful attitude of the public mind, which leads it eagerly to harbor every unfavorable suggestion. Share property in general is really in no special danger. We have in another column set out the condition of one of the two roads about which the most has been charged this week, and even that property, it will be seen, is far from being in such a distressing condition as the rumors afloat would indicate. If that road fails to meet its interest, the default will grow out of future events not yet developed. But, passing that and two or three other instances, are not the traffic returns in various sections, now being reported, much better than the forebodings that have prevailed? Most assuredly there is no such loss of business yet apparent as was promised, while with regard to the future a favorable start for the season's crops seems to be assured. Some (in the absence of a better grievance) fret about India crowding out our wheat, and its being fed to cattle or left to rot in the fields. All that is idle talk, good enough for Wall Street perhaps, but no country can lay down wheat at Liverpool cheaper than we can. Our farmers have more to fear from speculators than from India. If then we only have good crops, the marketing of the produce, together with a World's Fair at New Orleans, is pretty sure to give our roads about as much as they can do the coming fall and winter.

Yet, while all this is true, such considerations count but little with the conservative public, which sees Congress persistently forcing upon us a currency system that is actually bleeding us to death. There never was a more evident case of self-destruction than our country is at this moment engaged in. We have no commercial malady; we are not insolvent; we are not even largely in debt, either as individuals or communities; we are not short of any of the necessaries of life, for they are both abundant and cheap; we are the same active, self-reliant, venturesome people we were three years ago; capital also is in very good supply at very low rates of interest; and yet there is not a morsel of enterprise, but a kind of dry rot has taken possession of all our industries. Some try to think that it is the tariff talk that is disturbing the relations of trade; but a difficulty with that explanation is, that the same condition existed before that agitation began, and furthermore, most values are lower now than the proposed reduction in the tariff would warrant. Others are sure that it is the coming Presidential election that is paralyzing our energies; an absurd explanation for a people that have passed through so many such experiences with business unchecked, even too at critical moments when much was at stake; while now, if the tariff is not an issue, we are not sure that anything is. Still others look pleadingly to Congress to adjourn and think they see in that the realization of their hopes; and yet we can hardly imagine what relief is anticipated, since as a legislative body it is literally doing nothing, and unless all signs fail, there is no reason to expect any change in that particular.

No, the truth is the difficulty lies deeper. Capitalists and business men know that we have entered upon a course which sooner or later must end in disaster. They are therefore in a listless mood, waiting, watching, unwilling to engage in any enterprise, or to trade except with the utmost caution. It is not because gold has left us, or continues to leave us, but because of the unknown power of the volcano that is working underneath and producing the outflow, which disturbs our people and industries. In the meantime the two parties in Congress, instead of doing anything to relieve the situation, are just keeping up that ceaseless, wearying, face to face, steady stare at one another, like two dogs over a presidential bone, apparently thinking that the one displaying the most humbug and the least principle will hold the winning cards for November. We doubt it; and if Congress were elected to-day, it would doubt it too. As an indication of what the people now think, it is refreshing to turn to a party convention held in this State this week, and read the unequivocal announcement of its "adherence "to a sound financial policy which dictates the immediate "suspension of the coinage of the standard silver dollar, "the retirement of the trade dollar, and the inflexible "adjustment of the currency to the single standard of gold." Our opinion is that no one will be elected president next fall that has an uncertain record on these points; the disturbance is getting to be too serious and too widely understood to permit of scepticism here.

The market for foreign exchange has continued strong all the week, and on Thursday the rates were advanced half a cent per pound sterling. This rise in rates followed pretty promptly the rise in prices of breadstuffs, favoring the presumption that the latter affected the supply of bills from that source. Still the shipments of grain have been very light, making the drafts drawn against them quite limited in amount; and moreover a disposition has all along existed among bankers to discriminate against all but really prime bills of that character. Some bankers, however, report that they are able to gather bills enough from the small variety offering to meet current requirements without shipping gold, while other bankers claim that the demand upon them is so urgent that they are forced to ship, although the profit of the movement is acknowledged to be very small. Discounts in the open market at London have for the past fortnight been nearly as low as our rate for call money and now they have fallen to 1 5-16 per cent. It is not reasonable to suppose therefore that any gold has been sent this week on speculation. The outward movement has undoubtedly been in response to legitimate demand for remittance either from importers of goods or from the arbitrage brokers dealing between the two markets, and there is a fair prospect for a continuance of these exports. Perhaps a check to the outflow may occur when money becomes more or less permanently dearer here than it is in Europe, enabling foreign bankers to employ their funds to good advantage in our market. The exports of gold this week have been $3,438,805 on Wednesday, $250,957 on Thursday, and $1,400,000 have been withdrawn for shipment by the steamers sailing to-day. The rise in the price of bar silver in London has encouraged the export of about $250,000 of that metal this week. One unusual circumstance may be mentioned, and that is that gold is now crossing the Atlantic in both directions. A syndicate of Spanish bankers, interested in Cuba, have contracted with the Bank of France for about $2,000,000 Spanish gold owned by the Bank, and a portion of this has been shipped to the United States in transit for Havana, some arriving last week and a small amount during the week ended April 5th. The gold so arriving is being sent to Cuba on the order of the representatives here of the Spanish syndicate.

As already indicated, the stock market has been unsettled and generally lower this week. Each day there were rallies, due, however, to manipulation or a temporary covering of short contracts, and when the demand for this purpose ceased, the downward movement was resumed. Monday the market was panicky during the morning and very feverish until the late trade, when there was a manipulated re-action. The feature on this day was a fall in Union Pacific, the Southwesterns, the coal shares, and Erie. The movement was accompanied by disquieting rumors, one of which was that the pool in Union Pacific had liquidated; that Mr. Gould had been freely selling his properties, including Western Union, and that the Erie had a large amount of paper floating on the street. Although the tone was a little better at the close, the feeling was very gloomy. The next morning there appeared a statement by Mr. Jewett, of the Erie, positively denying the rumors current on the previous day, while an interview with Mr. Gould represented him as saying that he had not sold, but, on the contrary, had been buying stocks. Influenced by these statements, the market opened at an advance compared with the close of the previous day, and there was an irregular but generally upward movement until the afternoon, when liberal sales of Union Pacific, probably to realize the profits of the advance, had an unsettling effect for a short time. In the final trade there was a sharp recovery, and the tone was strong at the close. On Wednesday the advance movement was resumed at the opening, but the tone of the market changed before noon, and for the remainder of the day it was more or less unsettled, closing weak. On Thursday the market was feverish at the opening, and it so continued until near noon. After it recovered, the movement was upward, with the exception of a sharp decline in Reading to the close. Friday, Reading developed renewed weakness, in which the other coal properties shared, and the trunk line stocks (as well as West Shore bonds, which were depressed by reason of the application for a receiver of the Ontario & Western Terminal Company) also showed a lack of strength, but the close was at some re-action from the lowest figures. Union Pacific was strong throughout the day at a slight advance.

Railroad earnings for the later weeks of April, as in the earlier weeks, make on the leading Northwestern, Southwestern, and Southern roads, according to the weekly returns coming in, a very satisfactory showing. We have previously alluded to some of the exhibits for the first and second weeks of the month. For the third week the St. Paul, which last year gained the large sum of $104,000, loses only $24,000 of it in the present year. The Northwest loses $2,900, but had last year an equally small gain. The St. Paul & Omaha, on the other hand, which in 1883 gained $12,000, now gains nearly $32,000 in addition. Northern Pacific has earnings twice as great as in 1883. Minor roads in the same section, like the St. Paul & Duluth and the Milwaukee Lake Shore & Western, also show improvement on last year, in addition to the improvement recorded then. In the Southwest, St. Louis & San Francisco has as yet suffered no interruption to the large augmentation in its business, for which it has thus far in the present year been distinguished. The gain for the third week is $13,400. In other sections we have the Ohio Central and the Long Island, both of which have done better than a year ago. In the South, the Louisville & Nashville deserves to be mentioned for its steadily rising earnings. It gains $33,200 for the third week, and had previously gained $70,500 in the first two weeks.

Pennsylvania Railroad's statement for March makes a very much better exhibit on the lines east of Pittsburg than for either January or February, and the improved result has in great measure been brought about in the way we suggested it might be, namely by a reduction of expenses which in past years have been increased enormously. We find that the loss in gross earnings is $186,753—which is comparatively small, considering the adverse conditions prevailing and the heavy continuous gains made in this month in preceding years—and this loss in gross receipts has been offset to the extent of $135,877 by a contraction in expenses, so that net earnings are only $50,876 smaller than a year ago. When we come to the lines west of Pittsburg, however, we meet with an entirely different result. Here we have again a very large falling off, there being this year a deficiency in meeting liabilities of $108,883 for the month, while in 1883 there was in the same period a surplus of $153,366, making the difference against 1884 $262,249, which, added to the loss of $50,876 net on the Eastern system, makes the total decrease, compared with 1883, on all lines, both East and West, $313,125. As compared with the years preceding, the showing is even more unfavorable, chiefly by reason of the great loss on the Western lines. This will appear from the following statement giving the results for six years, both for March and the three months ended with March.

* Surplus. † Deficit.

Here we see that these Western lines make a poorer exhibit this year than in any other year given. As compared with the best year they have had, namely 1880, when there was a surplus of as much as $615,059, the falling off in this one month reaches nearly three-quarters of a million dollars, and as compared with 1881 the loss is nearly half a million. Even the poor year, 1882, is outdone, and 1879, too, is left behind. Thus it happens that, including the result on the Western lines, the Pennsylvania system of roads shows net earnings of only $1,295,668 in March, 1884, against over $2,100,000 in both 1880 and 1881. The total, however, it is satisfactory to note, is above that of 1879, when it was but a trifle over a million dollars. But in the exhibit for the first quarter of the year the total is almost exactly the same as in 1879, the difference being only a few hundred dollars, and the small improvement is attributable to the same cause, that is, to the unsatisfactory result on the Western system, for the Eastern lines have increased their net over half a million in the interval. As compared with any other year than 1879, the showing for the quarter in 1884 is far from satisfactory, for in 1883 the total was over $1,200,000 greater—that is, the loss thus far this year reaches that much on the entire system—and in both 1881 and 1880 it was over $1,700,000 greater. What offers the greatest encouragement for the future is the fact that there is so much room for a large reduction in expenses. While since 1879 the Eastern lines have gained nearly 3⅜ million dollars in gross, they have gained only half a million in net, the augmentation in expenses having absorbed all the rest. As to the Western lines, the reduction in rates on east-bound freight that occurred in March was no doubt a very unfavorable feature. On the 13th of the month, the rate on grain was reduced from 30 to 20 cents per hundred pounds, and on the 20th it was further reduced to 15 cents. The Eastern lines were able in great measure to overcome this adverse circumstance through the large extent of their local traffic, but on the Western lines this traffic plays a much less important part.

Money on call was quoted at the stereotyped rate of 1½ @2 per cent until Tuesday, when there was a spasmodic movement, which brought it up to 3½. This was, however, immediately followed by such a liberal supply from all quarters that the rate fell to 1½. Each day since then there has been a similar movement, succeeded by equally liberal offerings. These flurries may foreshadow a period of greater activity in money. There has been very little change in the rates of exchange on New York at interior points during the week. The following statement, prepared from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have lost $500,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury and $6,571,000 more by exports of gold. Adding these items to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total loss to the New York Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day.

The activity and decline in the United States 4 and 4½ per cent bonds this week are attributed to manipulation by two prominent houses, each operating in different directions—one seeking to depress the 4½s, and the other to advance the 4s. In the absence of a demand such manipulation is possible.

The Bank of England reports a gain of £191,000 bullion during the week. This represents £110,000 received from abroad and £81,000 from the interior. The Bank of France gained 8,753,000 francs gold and 1,920,000 francs silver. The following indicates the amount of bullion in the principal European banks this week, and at the corresponding date last year.

SUGGESTIONS FOR A NEW BANK CURRENCY.

In another column this week the monthly Canadian bank returns are published, and we call attention to them here, for the purpose of illustrating one feature in which Canada's paper-currency machinery seems to work with greater efficiency than ours. We are aware that according to popular belief, we have nothing to learn in these particulars from our neighbor. Even the suggestion we have made, has probably raised in many a reader's mind an inquiry as to what could be safer than our national bank notes, legal tenders and coin certificates. We do not propose to discuss that question. In fact it may be admitted at the outset, that, in the matter of ultimate safety or redemption, most likely we have reached as high a standard as we or any other people ever will.

But there is a feature necessary in a paper currency, if we would keep it as little disturbing as possible, which it would be well for us to become more familiar with, especially as the day is rapidly drawing near when we must substitute something new for our bank notes. We referred to this property, and the evil its absence was doing us, in an article on the subject on the 15th of March (page 314) when we stated that the shipment of 10 millions of gold had not in the least disturbed our money market and that "if 10 millions more should go out "before the first of April the rates of interest would "scarcely mark the event." Instead of 10 millions more, nearly 20 millions more have now been shipped, and yet what we call money is still a drug with call loans at only 2 per cent and plenty of money offering on time at 4 to 5 per cent on best security.

Of course this condition will be attributed to an accumulation of loanable funds at the commercial centres on account of the inactivity in business, and therefore the little use there is for it. That is certainly a correct explanation. We can keep in active employment in prosperous times a much larger amount of currency than we can in dull times; so when it is out of employment, if it is kept afloat, it must accumulate somewhere. We do not object to the explanation, but to the fact that we have a paper currency that is encumbered with just this defect, and does not retire itself when there is no use for it. It is the product of what are called prosperous times, guaged to serve the purposes of extreme activity, but remains a disturbing force in the channels of commerce just the same to-day, with little or nothing to do. How much more automatic the Canada arrangement is, may be seen by the following statement.

We present these figures solely to show the changes made from time to time in the amount of bank notes in circulation in Canada. The reader will remember that the banks have authority to issue notes to the full extent of their unimpaired paid-up capital, that stockholders are liable in double the amount of the capital, and that the notes are a first lien on all the assets; furthermore, there can be no jugglery with regard to who are the stockholders in case the occasion is reached when personal liability attaches, for a return of each and all of them is made annually to Government and published in a Government report. This would seem to make a very safe currency, but (mark this) it is one that depends wholly upon the issuing bank, its assets and stockholders for its ultimate payment, and consequently with an inclination, or rather a decided proclivity all the time (and especially in dull seasons) to return to the emitting bank. That is to say, such notes cannot be kept out except so far as they are in active employment, for they can secure no resting place outside the vault of the issuer, and this makes them fluctuate in amount strictly in obedience to the wants of commerce. Hence it is, as we see in the above return, that although the Canadian banks are authorized by law to issue notes to the full extent of their unimpaired capital, yet even during the activity of 1882 with a paid-up capital of 61 millions they only had out 36½ millions; and ever since that date as business activity has declined, the volume of the notes has also steadily and concurrently declined.

With us how different is the situation. We have a paper currency, first of bank notes, second of legal tenders, and third of coin certificates. The latter when once issued can never get back except through the Custom House and are increasing monthly, even during these dull times; of the two other kinds, legal tenders are unalterably fixed in amount and bank notes only change in volume as the changing prices of United States bonds make the profit in their issue fluctuate. As to bank notes they have no tendency whatever towards the issuing bank,* no holder thinking of the bank as the payer, the Government, through the Government bond at Washington, being virtually the guarantor, while as between the banks these notes are made a legal tender in payment of any debt or liability. Such a paper currency has no adaptability whatever to the needs of commerce; it neither increases nor decreases with the fluctuations in business activity; once out means always out. As a consequence, our money market bears no relation to the money markets of other commercial nations. We have been the cheapest in the world, not because we had more capital or more gold than we needed, but simply because we had so much idle currency (the medium we pay our domestic debts with) that the market was held away from the influence of gold currents; and hence it is that we can lose 30 millions of that metal with so little apparent effect.

These facts give us a view of our paper currency, which is certainly suggestive. We are rapidly reaching a point, through the payment of United States bonds, when a new system for banks will have to be devised. The thought we wish to present is whether in devising a substitute we are not too exclusively absorbed with the question of ultimate safety, and whether after all a Government bond or Government guarantee is desirable as a basis. Of course, bank notes should be above suspicion, but should not the source of safety be in the bank itself, not in the Government, so that the tendency or proclivity of the note when it has finished its work, or is out of active use, would always be towards the issuer for redemption. Certainly no legal-tender power should be conferred upon it even as between banks. Every such feature helps to prevent the free action of the system. What is needed is a currency that is self-regulating because a creature of commerce, and therefore sensitive to every trade influence; not only expanding and contracting from year to year with the changes in industrial activity but varying in volume with the business seasons.

We have in the above confined our strictures mainly to bank notes, because our national bank note system is now in jeopardy and must soon be remodeled. Of course the defect referred to, is even more obvious in the case of the legal tenders and of silver certificates. The truth is, that any feature or device in a paper currency which tends to keep the note in life—that is in a position where it must be used—when there is no commercial use for it, makes it artificial and disturbing; and no nation can persist in employing such a currency without suffering for it.

ERIE'S POSITION AND STANDING.

Erie securities, which for some time have evinced a drooping tendency, this week developed exceptional signs of weakness, and under large sales the price of the stock dropped to 17⅜, the lowest point reached since the reorganization of the company, while the 2d consolidated bonds fell to 81½, the lowest figure since 1880. No particular cause was assigned for the weakness, but it was hinted that default would be made in the payment of the June interest on the 2d consols, and it was also insinuated that the position of the company was by no means a strong one—that another receivership was far from impossible. In such a state of affairs it becomes exceedingly important to know just what the road's real position as respects charges and income is, and we propose to throw whatever light we can upon the matter by bringing together all the facts and data in our possession bearing on the question.

Two things are needful to determine the value of a property—the results of the past and the prospect for the future. As to the future, we profess no special knowledge, though it is evident that a continuance of the present depression in business must affect railroad property adversely, as it does every other industry. As to the past, the results, with a little help, will speak for themselves. The Erie was taken out of the hands of the receiver the 1st of June, 1878. Five full fiscal years have elapsed since then. How the company has fared in this interval is indicated in the following table of its yearly operations from 1878–9 to 1882–3 inclusive. The summary will possess the more interest that no full analysis of the company's return for the last fiscal year has yet been made, the report having come to hand so late as to be practically useless except for an inquiry like the present.

* Including 68 per cent of the earnings and the entire working expenses of the New York Pennsylvania & Ohio road from May 1.

The comparison of gross earnings above is vitiated by the inclusion in 1882–3 of the earnings of the New York Pennsylvania & Ohio, but the comparison on net earnings may be accepted as substantially correct, and that shows that the company has made steady progress in its business, the total net income ($8,234,463) in the last fiscal year having been only a trifle below the largest ever made (in 1880-81.) On the other hand, the yearly balance remaining shows a diminution—almost solely, however, by reason of the fact that the charges have greatly increased since 1878–9, though this arose not through additions to the road's indebtedness, but rather very largely because under the reorganization agreement interest on the whole debt did not have to be met in full in the early years. Had the charges been as heavy, say in 1879–80 and 1880–1, as in 1882–3, the balance for the latter year would make a very favorable comparison with any other year given. But the main interest just now is as to the extent of that balance. Looking at the figures, we see that on the operations of 1882–3 there was an actual surplus of $646,917 above all charges and the 6 per cent dividend on the preferred stock, while leaving out the dividend and also interest on the incomes (neither of which is obligatory), as well as the $100,000 yearly sinking fund on the reorganization 1st lien bonds (which also is optional in a certain contingency), there remains a balance above all charges of every description of $1,265,485. Hence it is clear that the company could suffer a reduction of net income in the sum of over $600,000 before the dividend on the preferred stock would be endangered, and over 1¼ millions before interest payments would be involved.

This balance of income may be reduced in the current year either by an increase of charges, or by a falling off in earnings, or by both. As to an increase in charges, it is generally supposed that a large allowance for this purpose will have to be made in the current year. This, however, appears to be erroneous. Reference to the last report shows that the collateral trust bonds, just listed on our Exchange, counted for nearly full interest in 1882-3, and the total interest charge on the entire debt outstanding at the end of the year—$75,267,137—was $4,605,393, or only $58,997 more than was actually paid during 1882–3. In addition, there is the interest on the equipment trusts to be considered. The amount of these trusts still outstanding is not given in the report, but, as nearly as we can judge, it is not much less than about $7,000,000. The payments to be made on these trusts are of two kinds—first for interest, and secondly quarterly or semi-annual instalments in reduction of principal. The payments for interest are of course a direct charge against income, and are included above under the head of "rentals and other interest, &c." The amount so included was only $316,418 in 1881–2, but in 1882–3 increased $147,940, to $464,358. We do not know what additional sum will be required in the present year, but will assume that instead of $464,358, as in 1882–3, the sum called for will be $500,000, which would be an increase of about $36,000. Adding this to the augmentation of $58,997 in the interest on the funded debt, and we get a total increase in the charges in the present year, over 1882–3, of about $100,000. The yearly payments on account of the principal of the car trusts appear to be very heavy. In 1881–2 the amount was $934,649; in 1882–3 it was $1,365,051, and was met by the sale of bonds. It is to be presumed that any payments on that account in the present year will be met in the same way, though we have no data as to the amount called for or the kind of bonds that could be disposed of. It is not impossible, however, that the call might be met by the re-payment of advances previously made to the Chicago & Atlantic, which company was lately placed in funds by the sale of second mortgage bonds. These advances aggregated $1,254,250 on the 30th of last September.

Having given the increase of $100,000 in the charge for interest, the next question relates to the change from 1882-83 in the company's earnings and income. Here again we must let the results speak for themselves. Nearly seven months of the current fiscal year have already passed, but returns as yet cover only five of these. The net earnings of these five months are given below in comparison with the corresponding figures in the preceding fiscal year. The figures embrace in the current year the results on the leased line, the New York Pennsylvania & Ohio, which of course not having been operated in the previous year, is not included in that year.

| Net Earnings. | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | Inc. or Decr'se. |
| October | $843,363 | $643,329 | Inc. $200,039 |
| November | 703,078 | 757,206 | Dec. 54,128 |
| December | 226,342 | 441,739 | Dec. 215,397 |
| January | 85,773 | 304,577 | Dec. 218,804 |
| February | 238,221 | 233,800 | Inc. 4,421 |
| Total five months | $2,096,782 | $2,380,651 | Dec. $283,869 |

Thus there has been a falling off in net earnings in these five months of $283,869, which together with the $100,000 increase in charges would give a total loss of somewhat less than $400,000. That represents all the loss that is as yet apparent. What further loss the succeeding seven months will disclose we cannot undertake to say, but it is apparent that the company could, on the basis of the operations for 1882–3, lose $250,000 more in this period and yet retain a balance large enough to pay the dividend on its preferred stock, and if that dividend should be passed, it could lose a full half million more before any of the coupons on bonds would be affected. In other words, the loss of $400,000 now apparent would have to be augmented by $850,000 before the balance remaining above all charges in 1882–3 were completely exhausted—this on the basis of the operations of its own lines.

But there may be some doubt as to the company's position with reference to its guarantee or liability on behalf of leased or connecting roads, so it will be well to devote a few moments to that branch of the subject. Within the past few years, the company has assumed obligations, of one kind or another, in connection with the Cincinnati Hamilton & Dayton acquisition, the Chicago & Atlantic line to Chicago, and the New York Pennsylvania & Ohio lease. Taking the latter first, this is leased to the Erie at 32 per cent of gross earnings up to $6,000,000 (the rental in no year, however, to be less than $1,757,055) and 50 per cent of any excess above $6,000,000, up to $7,200,000. The results to the Erie thus far in the current fiscal year are shown in the following table.

| N. Y. Pennsylvania & Ohio. | October 1 to January 1. | January. | February | Total for Five Mos. |
| Gross earnings | $1,754,605 | $433,616 | $386,772 | $2,574,993 |
| Operating expenses | 1,193,327 | 383,185 | 333,111 | 1,909,618 |
| Net earnings | $561,278 | $50,431 | $53,661 | $665,375 |
| Rental (32 per ct. of earnings) | 561,473 | 138,767 | 123,757 | 823,997 |
| Loss to Erie | $195 | $88,301 | $70,126 | $158,622 |

As these results are already comprised in those of the Erie net earnings given above, they are of value only as showing that the lease is proving unprofitable to the lessee, and possibly as affording an indication of the extent to which the Erie may be affected in future months, for it will be noticed that as much as $158,622 of the entire decrease which the Erie net earnings exhibit for the five months, is to be attributed to the loss in operating this Pennsylvania & Ohio line. Still, it may be that subsequent months will make a better showing for the Erie. There is one clause in the lease, however, which may still further swell the loss, and for which allowance would have to be made separately. We refer to the provision that if gross earnings exceed $6,000,000 a year, one-half of the excess (not 32 per cent, as on the amount below six million) must be paid over to the lessor. It is very probable that this provision will come into operation this year, as the leased line's gross earnings have largely increased under the lease. The lease went into effect May 1, and for the five months to the end of September, the total gross earnings reached $3,240,699 (according to Pennsylvania & Ohio report), while our figures above show that in the next five months to the end of February they reached $2,574,993, or together $5,815,692 for the ten months. If in March and April (the remaining two months of the year) the earnings should prove as heavy as in the corresponding months of 1883, the total for the twelve months would amount to $6,841,925. As under the system of reporting earnings, only 32 per cent is taken out by the Erie, 18 per cent additional (the difference between the 50 per cent called for and the 32 per cent taken out) would have to be allowed for on the entire excess of $841,925—or say $150,000.

As to the Chicago & Atlantic, this is not leased, but the Erie and the Pennsylvania & Ohio have guaranteed interest on the 1st mortgage bonds of $6,500,000 to the full amount of all gross earnings derived on business to or from the road—that is, these two companies agree to devote all such earnings to the payment of the interest in question, provided the Chicago & Atlantic's own earnings should prove insufficient. The line has been open only a short time, so it is hardly possible to make any reliable estimate as to the success attending its operations. Besides, very little information has been furnished on this point. In addition to the 6½ million 1st mortgage bonds, 2½ millions second mortgage bonds were lately issued, (being part of a total of 5 millions authorized). There appears to be no such guarantee on these as on the 1sts, but there is no doubt that if the Chicago & Atlantic should be unable to meet the annual charge on the same, the Erie would be forced to step in and take care of it, to protect itself. But that contingency seems rather remote as things now stand. The total of both issues of bonds now outstanding is 9 millions, which at 6 per cent calls for $540,000 a year. The line is 269 miles long, and in the application to the Stock Exchange to have the second mortgage bonds listed, under date January 25, Mr. Jewett stated that the road was then earning $135,000 a month, and he estimated that in the present spring, with the road fully open, double that amount would be realized. If we assume that the total will reach only $150,000 a month, and that expenses will absorb 65 per cent of this, net for the year will aggregate $630,000, or nearly $100,000 more than the amount required for interest.

Coming now to the Cincinnati Hamilton & Dayton, the Erie acquired a controlling interest in this road by the purchase of 2 millions of its stock, and in payment gave the holders of the same beneficial certificates to amount of $1,500,000, on which it agreed to make good any failure of the Cincinnati company to pay 6 per cent per annum—that is, these holders, and only these, were given a guarantee of a 6 per cent regular dividend each year. If the Cincinnati company paid six, that of course relieved the Erie from paying anything, but if it paid less or paid nothing, then the Erie was compelled to meet the difference itself. The extreme liability assumed under this arrangement, it will be seen, is $90,000 ear, and, as bearing on the burden actually borne, it is only necessary to say that the holders of the beneficiary certificates have as yet had no occasion to remind the Erie of its guarantee, since the Hamilton & Dayton has been able to make 3 per cent semi-annual dividends itself.

The Blossburg Coal property remains to be alluded to. This comprises 66 miles of railroad and 28,000 acres of coal land in the State of Pennsylvania, which the Erie bought two years ago for two million dollars. Mr. Jewett in his report says that in the calendar year 1882 the operations of the property resulted in a net profit of $350,000, or over 17 per cent on the capital invested, but that this sum was applied to the extinguishment of certain liabilities on the property and in the acquisition of additional facilities and the making of improvements. It is of course possible that this may yield more or less direct income in the present fiscal year, in which event it would act to that extent as an offset to the payment required of the Erie on the Pennsylvania & Ohio lease on any excess of earnings above $6,000,000, beyond the 32 per cent actually taken out in the monthly exhibits, to which we have referred.

Altogether, it may be said that whatever unfavorable developments may attach to the Erie property, appear to relate altogether to the future, and though the road by reason of its heavy tonnage of coal seems likely to suffer in a double way from the existing depression in business, it must not be forgotten that having lines of its own all the way to Chicago and Cincinnati, and many important intermediate points, and possessing numerous local feeders, its position for commanding traffic is a very strong one. This fact might make it an object for one of the powerful Western or Southwestern combinations to secure its control, which, now that the stock has full voting power, is possible. Such an achievement would be easy, too, in a period of depressed values (at 18 for the common, 7½ million dollars would suffice to buy control of the 85 millions stock outstanding). Indeed, it is not unlikely that should such a scheme be on foot, the movers in it would seek to accomplish their purpose under the very cover of a weakness in price which they would do all in their power to foster. In any event, that is a contingency that should not be lost sight of, and we mention it not as indicating any knowledge on our part of such endeavors, but merely as suggesting one of the possibilities that might grow out of the present low quotations for Erie.

SHORT TIME IN THE COTTON MILLS.

An effort is making to secure an agreement of agents representing three-fourths of the cotton-spindles of New England, to curtail production by stopping their mills one day in the week during two months. No report has yet been made of the result of this effort, but, judging from what can be learned, it does not bid fair to be successful. The situation of the cotton-weaving industry and the dry goods trade of the country is well worthy of close study at the present time. Its peculiarity is a dull and a sluggish market, at low prices for the finished product, in the face of a firm and high market for the raw material. In this respect the situation is not unlike that in the shoe trade, leather having advanced considerably, while boots and shoes, though nominally somewhat higher than they were a year ago, are very weak at the small advance.

In looking to the future of either of these trades however, a very important fact must be borne in mind, namely, that there is a fair profit in making goods at present prices, where factories are well-situated and well-managed, at the old prices of cotton and leather; and that a large proportion of the shrewder manufacturers have provided themselves with several months' supply of material, at those old prices. Aside, therefore, from the ordinary difficulties in the way of securing agreement to a curtailment of production, the committee of the Arkwright Club will encounter the objections of certain manufacturers who are making money by running full time, and who will not be disposed to yield any of the advantage which they possess over competitors who were not so far-sighted—or so lucky—as they were. Moreover, while there are no trustworthy statistics to prove the exact fact as to the surplus stock of domestic cottons on hand, there is reason to believe that the surplus is not so large as reported. It seems to be very excessive because certain manufacturers are, without doubt, carrying unusually large stocks; but it is known for a fact that other stocks are not large,—in some cases they are unusually small. With regard to productive capacity it is not believed that there is any great excess of spindles in the country. The population has increased eight or ten per cent at least since 1880, and the spindles, which were none too many then, have not increased in a very much greater proportion. Of course it is to be said that those were "good times," while these are "bad times;" but the answer is that cotton fabrics are so far a necessity, whether men are prosperous in business or not, that the rate of consumption seldom varies three per cent between the best and the dullest seasons.

These are reasons for believing that there will be no general stoppage of mills, even for one day in the week of six days, but these general considerations are not all the circumstances that will determine the action of agents and treasurers. Without attempting to predict what the course of manufacturers will be, we will point out some things that must be taken into the account. There is little expectation anywhere that the price of cotton will yield much, if at all, before the new crop becomes available—certainly not until a large crop is reasonably sure. Inasmuch as there is no profit whatever in making goods at present wages and prices, it is for the interest of manufacturers to do what they can to bring about an advance in goods, or a reduction of wages, or both. For either of these objects, shutting down a part of the mills for one short-time day in the week would be altogether ineffectual. A suspension of operations for one-fourth, or one-third of the time, if it could be effected, might be successful. Certain questions of prudence also enter into the case. That goods cannot be lower while the present rates for cotton hold, every manufacturer believes; he hopes that they may follow the raw materials market. But if he is provided with cotton for only one-half or two-thirds of the time until the new crop is available, he is not justified, so he thinks, in running full time with the certainty that if the price of cloth does not advance, he must either stop his mill altogether or run it at a loss. It is better for him to make his supply of cotton last as long as he can. Not only is this the prudent course, but it will have a tendency both to diminish whatever surplus of goods there may be, and to slacken the demand for cotton, thus bringing the two prices into more nearly normal relations to each other. Moreover, the feasibility of short time may dispose the mill-hands to prefer a small reduction of wages to partial stoppage.

It appears probable, then, that while a three-fourths agreement to an inadequate shortening of time will not be obtained, there must be a considerable curtailment of production by the independent action of manufacturers, for different reasons and with different objects in view. This is, of course, on the supposition that the goods market is not soon to respond really, as well as nominally, to the advance in cotton. At present, as has been said, the stocks are mainly in the hands of the manufacturers and commission merchants, who display no anxiety to sell freely at present prices. Some of them, at any rate, are not at all sorry that the custom of the trade by which an order may be countermanded on a declining market, but enforced when prices are advancing, has left the stocks where they are. A further decline is looked upon as most improbable, an advance in the near future as almost certain. Controlling, as they do practically, the whole supply of goods, they are certain to make a good profit if the market turns as they say they believe it must, and the more conservatively they act at this time the better is the chance that the market will advance.

The present situation suggests, among other things, that somewhere between the seller of cotton and the consumer of dry goods there is a weak spot in the trade. We are dealing with an article the consumption of which is very nearly uniform in amount per head of the population, year in and year out. There has been an advance in the raw material, owing to a short supply. Every man in the trade would reason that there will be an advance in the finished product, because the goods must be had, and manufacturers will not make them at a loss. Yet, instead of more than an average demand by jobbers, in view of the chance of an advance, there is a slackening demand. Time will show whether the lack of courage which this course of the trade betokens was justified. It will show, too, whether the manufacturers, who say they believe in an advance in the cloth market, but who act as if it were to remain sluggish, are prudent or only timid. In any event, the entire trade is in a more perturbed state than many of the manufacturers and merchants are willing to admit, and more so than a calm consideration of the situation and prospects seems to warrant.

LONDON, Saturday, April 12, 1884.

This has been a very quiet week, as is usually the case as the Easter holidays are approached. At the present time the quietness is very pronounced, as so little disposition is shown on the part of the general public to make investments. The extreme inactivity on the Stock Exchange has had, therefore, a depressing effect; but, at the same time, a moderate degree of steadiness prevails. The weather is very favorable, and it will be a great disappointment if the railway companies do not add considerably to their traffic receipts during the present holiday season. The very satisfactory crop reports and the continued lowness of the value of many necessaries do not have the influence upon the general trade of the country which is ordinarily looked forward to, though it is satisfactory to observe that there is no retrograde movement. Some failures of importance have been announced during the week, and they naturally operate as drawbacks to an improvement in general business. It may, nevertheless, be asserted that the unfavorable position of affairs which has been so long in existence, has been in process of rectification, and that, although it has been tedious, a more hopeful feeling with regard to the future prevails.

Company promoters a few years ago concocted a plan by which new undertakings should secure a large number of contributors. They resolved upon making issues in £1 shares, so that any thrifty person with small means would be able to secure a small share in a public company. That Napoleonic idea has undoubtedly met with substantial success, but the failure of so many enterprises has been so widely advertized by the process adopted, that the Stock Exchange has not been regarded with any confidence throughout the country. For some weeks, and, indeed, months, past, the operations of the public on the Stock Exchange have been upon the most restricted scale, and there is no reason for believing in any immediate improvement. Speculators, therefore, are getting impatient, as they cannot sustain themselves under so heavy a strain. As a result, it is stated that many stock brokers and dealers have been compelled to withdraw their authorized clerks from the Stock Exchange. This is a course which is adopted with reluctance, as much that is adverse is indicated by it.

Money was wanted early in the week, and the rates, both for discount and for loans, were regarded as firm, though they were low. The Bank of England return shows chiefly the payment of the dividends, and some of the holiday requirements, but the proportion of reserve to liabilities has risen from 44·44 per cent to 45·76 per cent. To-day the demand has been sluggish, and the announcement that further considerable supplies of gold are leaving the United States has caused the quotations to give way.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold continues to arrive in large quantities from New York, and, in the absence of demand for export, is nearly all bought by the Bank of England, which has received since the 3d inst. £368,000; £10,000 in sovereigns have been withdrawn for South America. The arrivals comprise £111,520 from New York and £11,500 from Buenos Ayres. The Brindisi takes £10,000 to Bombay.

Silver.—Since last week the arrivals have been large, and in order to effect sales the price was lowered to 50½d., at which rate £69,600 from the River Plate and £28,000 from Chili were sold. The market is now cleared, and we give 50 9/16d. as the nearest quotation to-day. The P. & O. steamer takes £212,700 to India.

Mexican Dollars—There are no fresh arrivals to report, and the nearest price to quote is 49⅜d.

Tenders were received by the Crown Agents for the Colonies for the Natal 5 per cent loan, and they numbered 1,381 for a total value of £6,059,900. The average price realized was £100 19s. 6d. Tenders above £100 16s. received allotments in full, and those at that price about 75 per cent.

The failure is announced of Messrs. A. M. Gillespie, West India merchants of London. The liabilities are estimated at £200,000. The decline in the value of produce has been the cause of the suspension.

The depression existing in the wheat trade in the United States has had its effect here, and considerable difficulty has been experienced in selling wheat, even at a further reduction in price of fully 1s. per quarter. Throughout the country a very dull feeling has prevailed, and millers are still unwilling, owing to abundant supplies and favorable crop prospects, to buy in excess of their actual requirements. The statistical position, although a little more favorable to holders than it was at the commencement of the year, has not so materially changed as to affect the trade, and business, therefore, proceeds very slowly at drooping prices. The supplies existing are so very considerable, and the season is so far advanced, that buyers are still unwilling to augment their stocks, which are still maintained at a full working point. Of flour, we have very large supplies, the quantity of foreign manufacture in London being as much as 332,802 bags and 1,797 barrels, against 339,713 sacks, and 3,523 barrels on January 1 last, and 11,222 barrels and 330,314 bags at this period last year. The stock of foreign wheat in the London granaries, which was 993,424 quarters at the commencement of the present year, is now 641,393 quarters, showing a considerable diminution; but at this date in 1883 it was only 187,306 quarters. The present stock is much above the average, and as the milling trade can calculate upon large prospective supplies, only bad weather for the growing crops can effect a change. There is no feature at present encouraging to producers, except it be that there is some degree of certainty with regard to this season's production in the world. Most European countries at present have reason to expect that their wheat crop will be quite an average one, while from India and Egypt we shall soon be receiving supplies which it will be found to be difficult to absorb. Russian ports, also, will soon be re-opened to navigation, and there are large supplies available for exportation; but it is quite possible that the export movement will be kept in check by the low prices current.

During the first seven months of the season the imports of wheat into the United Kingdom were about 30,600,000 cwt., against 36,400,000 cwt. in the corresponding period of last season. Those from Russia show an increase of 1,500,000 cwt., from British India, 3,260,000 cwt., from Australasia, 568,000 cwt., and from Egypt, about 390,000 cwt. On the other hand there is a diminution of nearly 9,000,000 cwt. in the receipts from the United States, of 789,000 in those from British North America, of 1,320,000 cwt. in those from Germany and of 241,000 cwt. in those from Chili. The imports of flour in the seven months from the United States exhibit a reduction this season compared with its predecessor of nearly 1,500,000 cwt.; but there is an increase of about 200,000 cwt. in those from Germany and the Austrian Territories.

The value of the imports of cereals into the United Kingdom for the current season shows a reduction of nearly £6,000,000, compared with 1882-3.

The following were the stocks of cereal produce in London on April 1, compared with the same date last year and with the first of January last:

| Wheat.....cwt. | 28,246,890 | 27,944,600 | 24,256,500 | 20,581,100 |

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by $3\frac{1}{8}$, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by $4\frac{1}{8}$. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

Anthracite Coal.—Mr. John H. Jones has published his statement showing the general distribution of the production of anthracite coal in the past two years, and the Engineering and Mining Journal calculates the percentages:

|---|---|---|---|---|
| | Tons. | Per cent. | Tons. | Per cent. |
| To Penn., N. Y. and N. J. | 21,830,504 | 68·7 | 19,957,789 | 68·5 |
| To New England States | 5,387,700 | 16·9 | 5,064,775 | 17·4 |
| To Western States | 2,537,174 | 8·0 | 2,213,107 | 7·6 |
| To Southern States, including Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia | 1,284,093 | 4·0 | 1,162,730 | 4·0 |
| To Pacific coast | 24,635 | 0·1 | 49,066 | 0·1 |
| To Dominion of Canada | 690,498 | 2·2 | 616,875 | 2·2 |
| To foreign ports | 38,123 | 0·1 | 49,735 | 0·2 |

The Journal says: "A glance at the percentages that we have calculated from Mr. Jones's figures will be sufficient to illustrate how comparatively insignificant have been the changes in the distribution of anthracite coal. The most astonishing fact to those who have been told over and over again what wonderful strides the consumption of anthracite has made in the West will be that, after all, there was only an increase of a little more than 300,000 tons. It is true, on the other hand, that much of the agitation on the subject was due to the discussion of the very extensive preparations made for carrying, handling and distributing largely-increased quantities of anthracite, and this has led to some extent to a discounting of the future.

"The suggestion has recently been made that the most equitable basis for the reduction of output on the part of the anthracite producers would be an allotment of percentages. This, it is understood, is the outgrowth of a feeling of dissatisfaction with the manner in which some of the companies have increased their output. We have therefore thought it interesting to trace their growth during the past four years, computing the percentages, to enable a clearer insight to be obtained more rapidly:

Spring Mountain Coal.—The property of the Spring Mountain Coal Company has been sold to the Lehigh Valley Coal Company for $700,000 cash. Possession will be given when the present lease terminates next December. Spring Mountain stockholders met and ratified the sale. The President had proxies on two-thirds of the capital stock in favor of the sale. President Robinson says the sale makes the stock worth about 50.

—We are in receipt of the thirty-seventh half-yearly report of the Hong Kong & Shanghai Banking Corporation, from which we notice that the profits for the six months ending 31st December last are, after making provision for all bad and doubtful debts, $791,851 95, out of which a dividend is paid of £2 per share on the old shares and £1 5s. per share on the new shares. A further $100,000 is placed to the reserve fund for equalization of dividends, $50,000 written off bank premises account, and $87,645 23 carried forward to the new profit and loss account. NEW YORK, FRIDAY, APRIL 25, 1884—5 P. M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—One of the features of the general commercial and industrial situation which begins to attract more attention, is the disposition to restrict production and reduce the wages of labor. Instances of this within the last ten days have been made public in the reduction of work in the coal mines by nine days each month, the shutting down of cotton mills in Georgia and Alabama, the reduction in wages and time by the Nail Makers' Association at Pittsburg, and the proposed reduction of time by one day per week and of 10 per cent in wages by some of the New England cotton mills.

It also begins to be acknowledged that the decline in prices of all the great staple commodities requires that the reduction in the rates for their transportation shall be comparatively permanent, and that, consequently, railroads and steamships must reduce their operating expenses proportionately, by greater economy and a reduction in wages and salaries, before capital will have confidence in the continuance of their dividends. The irreconcilable difference between the current prices of railway stocks that pay 6 and 7 per cent, and the continued low rates for money on collaterals on either call or time loans, both in this country and in London, must be accepted as evidence that there is a lack of confidence in the permanency of dividends on the present basis of freights as compared with operating expenses.

The increased movement of breadstuffs to the seaboard, which began with the decline in wheat and the reduction of rail freights east from Chicago, continues, and the average weekly shipments eastward from the seven principal Western cities still averages about 2,500,000 bushels of wheat per week (including flour reduced to wheat), against about 900,000 bush. per week in the three weeks to the eighth of March. The increased exports of breadstuffs from the seven principal Atlantic and Gulf ports of the United States, which was noted for the first time last week, was continued in the week to April 19, in which time the exports of wheat, corn and flour increased over the preceding week about 200,000 bushels. It is, however, noted that the movement of these cereals from the producers' hands to the primary markets in the principal Western cities has diminished somewhat lately, from which it is argued that producers are not satisfied with the low prices prevailing, and are declining to sell. This is an important fact, because it indicates the probability of a decline again in the exports of breadstuffs before long, and this, in conjunction with the diminishing shipments of cotton, gives the prospect of a firmer market for sterling exchange and the continued export of gold. The exports of gold since Friday, the 18th, have been $6,571,000, which, with about $1,400,000 engaged for Saturday, the 26th, makes a total of about $32,000,000 since February 21st.

There has been a hardening tendency in the New York money market in consequence of the continued large exports of gold, though it has not been manifested in any decided change in rates of interest yet. There have been some endeavors to bid up money on the Stock Exchange, in order to affect the stock market, and in the past week rates have once or twice touched 8 per cent, but only momentarily, and for the most of the time have ranged at 1½ and 2. There is, however, less disposition to make time loans on stock collaterals, and there is no more 3½ per cent money offered, the prevailing rate being 4 per cent on dividend stocks for six months or less. Rates for mercantile discounts remain unchanged at 4 and 4½ for endorsed paper at 2 and 4 months, and 5 and 5½ on single names.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

The Bank of England gained during the week to April 24 £191,000 in gold, though the large shipments of specie that have gone from the United States in the last week are expected to cause a heavier gain, soon. The Bank rate of discount remained unchanged, and the reserve was increased to 49 per cent from 47¾ per cent a week before. The Bank of France gained during the week 8,753,000 francs in gold and 1,920,000 francs in silver.

Exchange.—The market for sterling has been firmer during the last week, and some of the leading drawers who had kept their posted rates down to 4 88 and 4 90, while others were quoting 4 88½ and 4 90½, advanced to the higher figures on Thursday. The rates for actual business on Friday, the 25th, were as follows, viz.: Sixty days, 4 87½@4 87¾; demand 4 89½@4 89¾; cables, 4 90@4 90½. Commercial bills have continued very scarce and sold at 4 86@4 86¾.

State and Railroad Bonds.—There has been a small volume of business in the general market for railroad bonds in the last week, with the tendency of prices downward. In the only cases in which there has been any activity there have also been large declines. The Wabash general mortgages show a further depreciation of 6¼ per cent this week, in addition to 9 per cent last week. The Denver & Rio Grande, Denver & Rio Grande Western and Erie 2d's come next, with similar heavy declines for the week. In all of these cases the cause of the declines is the diminished earnings and less favorable financial condition of the properties. The West Shore 5s have also been active at lower figures, in consequence of the failure to arrive at any plan for the financial relief of the road. The principal net changes for the week are as follows, viz.: Declined—Canada Southern firsts, 1⅛; Denver & Rio Grande consols, 6¼; do. firsts, 4; Denver & Rio Grande Western firsts, 7¼; East Tennessee incomes, 3; Erie second consols, 2⅜; Kansas Pacific consols, 3; Lafayette Bloomington & Muncie firsts, 1; Mobile & Ohio third debentures, 6; New Orleans & Pacific firsts, 1½; Oregon Short Line firsts, 2¼; Texas & pacific land grant incomes, 1½ per cent; do. Rio Grande division firsts, 2½; Union Pacific sinking fund, 1⅝; Wabash general mortgage 6s, 6¼ per cent; Chicago & Atlantic seconds, 1¼; Oregon Improvement firsts, 6; New York West Shore & Buffalo 5s, 3⅜.

There was only a small business in State issues during the week, and prices were firm.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has been depressed during the week by the increasing exports of gold, the unsatisfactory condition of the coal trade and the still unsettled relations of the roads in nearly all the railroad pools throughout the country. The special features that have exercised a depressing influence have been the large decrease in earnings of the Union Pacific in the first quarter of the year, and in the latter part of the week the rumors that the loans of the Reading on collateral of the 50,000 shares of Jersey Central stock held for it had been called, and though these rumors were denied, their first effect to depress the market was not overcome. On the whole, the stock market has been in a weak and demoralized condition. The general public are not largely interested in it, and the professional speculators and room-traders, to whom the dealings are largely confined, find it easier to depress than to advance prices. Canada Pacific has been weak on rumors that some of the officials of the road had resigned, or were to resign, their positions. The St. Paul & Omaha stocks have been firm and higher on the large increase in the company's earnings. Of the Gould stocks, Western Union has gravitated towards lower figures, but Missouri Pacific has resisted further decline.

Grand Trunk of Canada.

(For the half-year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The accounts for the half-year ended the 31st December, 1883, have been published in London. The following is a statement of the revenue account, compared with that of the corresponding period in 1882:

| | 1883. | 1882. |
| Gross receipts | £1,898,066 | £1,871,033 |
| Working expenses, being at the rate of 69·33 per cent, against 67·98 per cent in 1882 | 1,315,887 | 1,271,900 |
| Net | £582,179 | £599,133 |
| Add amount received from the International Bridge Company | £38,277 | £19,616 |
| Amount received from the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway | 24,266 | 13,958 |
| Interest on Wellington Grey & Bruce bonds held by the company | 6,177 | 2,363 |
| Interest on capital temporarily employed, &c. | 13,732 | 15,399 |
| Dividend on Detroit Grand Haven & Milwaukee shares | 18,493 | 12,329 |
| | £683,124 | £662,798 |

From this amount of £683,124, the following charges for interest and rents have to be deducted: Interest on debenture stock, £193,369; rents, £82,197; interest on bonds, loans, &c., £45,935, making £321,501; leaving a net revenue balance of £361,623. This balance of £361,623, divided in accordance with the provisions of the deed of union, yields, in the proportions of 70 per cent to the Grand Trunk share capital the sum of £253,136, and of 30 per cent to the Great Western share capital the sum of £108,486. The amount of £253,136 thus appropriated to the Grand Trunk share capital, added to £2,850, the undivided surplus on the 30th June, 1883, makes a total amount available for dividend of £255,986, which will permit of the payment of the full half-year's dividend at the rate of 5 per cent per annum on the first and second preference stocks, and of a dividend at the rate of 3¼ per cent per annum on the third preference stock, leaving a balance of £1,032 to be carried forward to the next half-year's account.

The amount of £108,486 appropriated to the Great Western share capital will permit of the payment of the full half-year's dividend on the Great Western 5 per cent preference stock, and of a dividend at the rate of 3 per cent per annum on the Great Western ordinary shares, which will absorb together a total of £104,395.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railroad.

The annual report says that "in the ten years which have elapsed since the road was transferred to the stockholders by the construction company, the annual earnings have somewhat more than doubled; and for the year 1883 they are the largest in the history of your company. The amount would have been still greater but for the numerous difficulties which have affected us, in common with many other roads in the West. During January, February and half of March we were much troubled with drifting snow. In June and July we had floods destroying many hundred feet of track, and taking away some of our bridges—among them that crossing Grand River at Grand Rapids. We immediately replaced the latter with a temporary structure, and have since built a permanent bridge, raising it five feet above the former level." * * *

"The Allegan & Southeastern Railroad, with its 12·78 miles of track, passed from under your control, and is to be deducted from the mileage reported for 1882.

"We have sold during the year 21,050 acres of farming land, for $183,291. The sales have decreased considerably, but were made to actual settlers." * * * "There have been purchased with proceeds of land sales $1,242,000 of bonds, and incomes issued in place thereof. The total amount of incomes outstanding at the end of the fiscal year was $2,339,000, and of interest bearing bonds, $5,661,000.

"In April last suit was brought by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and an injunction asked to restrain your company from the payment of interest coupons until the status of those held by that company should be determined. In consequence, those falling due in April, July and October, 1883, and January, 1884, are still unpaid (Dec. 31, 1883), but the funds necessary for this purpose are ready for application at any moment that the question may be settled. The tripartite agreement, under which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company has foreborne to press its claim, expired by limitation January 1, 1883, and your directors have been, and are, anxiously considering the adjustment of the large debt due that company, now amounting, with interest, to over $3,000,000." [An adjustment subsequently made and back coupons paid in April.]

"The proportion of operating expenses, including betterments, is 72 per cent, which is a decrease. After paying operating expenses, betterments and losses upon all lines operated, and deducting all interest, we show a net profit of $120,161.

"The business for the coming year will most probably be influenced by the depression existing throughout the country, which began to affect us early in November; but our situation is at present more hopeful."

Chicago & Alton—St. Louis Jacksonville & Chicago.—Notice of the consolidation of the Chicago & Alton and the St. Louis Jacksonville & Chicago railroads was sent to the Stock Exchange Thursday. The notice, which was posted in the Exchange stated that on April 14 an agreement was made between the two lines named by which the capital stock of the Chicago & Alton shall be increased as follows: Preferred stock, not to exceed 10,541 shares additional; common stock, not to exceed 16,746 shares additional. This new stock will be exchanged for an equal number of the shares of the St. Louis Jacksonville & Chicago. This union of the two roads has been under consideration for more than a year, and the plan has already received the assent of the required majority of stockholders. The Stock Exchange is asked to list the new stock.

Chicago & Northwestern.—The following circular has been issued from the New York office under date of April 15, 1884. "The annual meeting of the stockholders and bondholders of this company will be held at the company's office in Chicago on Thursday, June 5th next at 1 P. M., and a special meeting of the stockholders will also be held at the same place on Thursday, June 26th, 1884, at 11 A. M., pursuant to notice on inclosed proxy:

"It is well known to most of the holders of the stocks and bonds of this company that a portion of its roads in the State of Iowa, including the main line between the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, is operated under perpetual lease, the annual rental paid therefor being a percentage of the gross earnings, and varying from year to year with the amount of business. These lines consist of the Chicago Iowa & Nebraska Railroad, the Cedar Rapids & Missouri River Railroad and the Maple River Railroad, whose aggregate length is 487 97/100 miles, 27 miles of the latter road having been completed last year. The total rental for the year ending Dec. 31 last amounted to $1,558,753 25, and would have been greater had all of the Maple River road been in operation.

"An arrangement has been made, based upon actual results of operating, by which, it is believed, the mutual interests of this company and the lessors of these roads will be promoted, for the transfer of the ownership of the leased roads to the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company.

"The agreement provides that this company shall assume the bonded indebtedness of the leased roads, amounting to $1,915,100, and shall purchase their capital stocks, paying therefor in the common stock of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company, amounting to 147,575 shares, the annual charge upon the bonds and stock so assumed and issued (the stock at 7 per cent) would amount to $1,389,082, or $169,671 25 less than the rental paid last year. This saving is in addition to the annual concession which has been granted for several years past on the rental of the Chicago Iowa & Nebraska line. The possibilities of the removal of this concession and the enforcement of the full amount of annual rental earned under the lease are in the power of the lessors, but such exaction would become so onerous to this company as to lead to serious difficulties between it and the lessors. This cause of apprehension will be removed by the proposed purchase, and the way will be clear for this company to receive the full benefit of having the large expenditures and improvements made on leased roads, which, under grave contingencies of default, might be subject to forfeiture or abandonment, secured to its own roads.

"A positive additional advantage will accrue to this company by arresting the future increase of rental coming from the already large and constantly increasing business fed into the leased lines from roads constructed by this company in Iowa; and a further benefit will ultimately ensue, at the maturity of the existing bonded debts of the leased roads now bearing 7 per cent interest, by funding them at a lower rate of interest.

"These leased roads and their principal owners also control tributary roads in Iowa and Nebraska, consisting of the Sioux City & Pacific, the Fremont Elkhorn & Missouri Valley, and the Missouri Valley & Blair Railway and Bridge Company at the crossing of the Missouri River, in all 418 42/100 additional miles of road, now in operation; and the agreement of purchase of the leased roads covers also the acquisition of these tributary lines by the purchase and transfer of all or nearly all of their capital stocks, payment therefor to be made by the issue of $1,968,000 of 5 per cent twenty-five year debenture bonds of this company, to be taken at par by the stockholders of the Fremont Elkhorn & Missouri Valley Railroad Company.

"The total amount of railroad, leased and tributary, thus acquired will be 906 39/100 miles, and the aggregate cost will be represented by

|---|---|
| Bonds and obligations assumed | $11,149,600 |
| Chicago & Northwestern Railway Co. 5 per cent debentures | 1,968,000 |
| Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company common stock | 14,757,500 |
| Total | $27,875,100 |

Being at the average rate of $30,753 per mile."

Cincinnati Indianapolis St. Louis & Chicago.—A dispatch from Cincinnati, April 20, said: "The directors of this company have approved the sale of an interest in the Grand Central Station to the Baltimore & Ohio and the Cleveland Columbus Cincinnati & Indianapolis, making the three roads equal owners. This relieves the company from making special provision for the payment of its floating debt, and the committee appointed to issue preferred stock for that purpose has been discharged."

Denver & Rio Grande.—The directors of this company met this week in New York and re-elected President Lovejoy and all of the other officers except D. C. Dodge, Second Vice-President. Mr. D. H. Moffat succeeds Gen. Dodge. A resolution was passed providing for the payment of the May coupons. The resignation of Mr. Henry E. Sprague as a director was accepted. Mr. Sprague resigned in order to give his entire time to the performance of his duties as President of the Colorado Coal & Iron Company. The Denver controversy with Mr. Dodge and the Denver & Rio Grande Western stands thus: The Denver & Rio Grande Western, through D. C. Dodge, secured an injunction on April 15 restraining Mr. Lovejoy and the Denver Company from interfering with him as manager of the Utah lines. This was in Utah. Tuesday, the Denver Company secured an injunction in New York restraining Mr. Dodge from acting as manager under the lease.

Eastern—Boston & Maine.—In Boston a bill in equity has been filed by Francis W. Hill and four other large stockholders of the Maine Central Railroad in the United States Circuit Court against the Eastern, Boston & Maine and Maine Central railroads, asking an injunction to restrain the execution of the lease of the Eastern to the Boston & Maine.

Elizabethtown Lexington & Big Sandy.—The comparative statement of earnings and expenses for February and for two months is as follows:

| | February | | Jan. 1 to Feb. 29. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| Earnings | $15,918 | $55,493 | $94,336 | $103,391 |
| Expenses | 37,651 | 47,214 | 81,536 | 93,123 |
| Net earnings | $8,293 | $8,283 | $11,799 | $10,268 |

Little Rock & Fort Smith.—The annual financial exhibit of the Little Rock & Fort Smith Railroad for 1883 shows the gross earnings to be $573,490, operating expenses, $335,200, net earnings, $238,290. This leaves a surplus for the year of $17,876.

Louisville City Loan.—A loan by the city of Louisville, Ky., for $1,500,000, has been placed in New York with a leading banking firm. The bonds are to run for forty years, and bear 4 per cent interest, and are now offered at 101. The loan was authorized by the city authorities for the purpose of making street improvements and building new sewers.

Louisville & Nashville.—On application of this company, there has been listed at the New York Stock Exchange its collateral trust bonds negotiated in 1882, and described as follows: Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company's Trust Bonds. Total issue, $10,000,000. Dated March 1, 1882, due March 1, 1922; numbered 1 to 10,000 inclusive, $1,000 each, to bearer, with privilege of registration; interest at 6 per cent, payable quarter-yearly, June 1, September 1, December 1 and March 1; principal and interest payable in gold in the city of New York. As a sinking fund for redemption of the bonds of this series, the company will pay to said trustees, on or before Feb. 1, 1885, and annually thereafter, an amount of money equal to 1 per cent of the principal of all such bonds at any time issued, to be applied to the redemption at 10 per cent premium of such bonds at the time outstanding as shall then be drawn by lot by said trustees for that purpose. These bonds, whenever the company may be thereunto lawfully authorized, will be convertible, on demand of the respective holders, into common stock of the company at par, entitled to dividends thereafter to be declared. These bonds are secured by mortgage or trust deed made by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, dated March 1, 1882, to Edward H. Green and John A. Stewart, as trustees, on a pledge of the bonds and stocks amounting to $28,162,700 at their par value, and mentioned in detail in the remarks upon the Louisville & Nashville Company in the INVESTORS' SUPPLEMENT.

Memphis City Bonds.—A press report from Memphis, April 17, said: "On the 20th of April, 1883, the taxing district began to fund the old debt of the City of Memphis, which at that time amounted in round figures to about $6,000,000. The new bonds of the taxing district were given in exchange at the rate of 50 cents on the $1. The date for funding expired on the 1st of last February, at which time $2,660,000 of taxing district bonds had been issued in exchange for double the amount of old city indebtedness. The act of the Legislature which authorized the settlement of the old debt also provided for a sinking fund, and after promptly paying the July and January interest on the new bonds, a surplus was found of over $50,000, which, after due notice by advertisement in the newspapers, was to-day used to redeem the new bonds, and $65,000 worth of the new taxing district bonds were purchased, the prices ranging from 72½c. to 74¾c., averaging about 74⅛c. These are the first bonds of Memphis redeemed in cash in twenty-five years, and it is a certainty that by next January there will be another surplus of $50,000, which will be applied in the same manner. The debt of the taxing district is now within the power of the citizens to handle easily and retire gradually. There is about $700,000 of old indebtedness yet unfunded."

Morgan's Louisiana & Texas.—On application of this company the New York Stock Exchange has added to those already listed the first mortgage 6 per cent bonds Nos. 1,273 to 1,494 inclusive.

New York Lake Erie & Western.—This company has placed on the list of the N. Y. Stock Exchange the following described bonds, which were negotiated with bankers more than a year ago, viz.: The collateral trust bonds of the company, the amount of the issue of which is $5,000,000; date of issue November 1, 1882; date of maturity November 1, 1922; par value of each bond, $1,000; numbers of bonds, 1 to 5,000; interest at six per cent, payable May 1 and November 1. May be called for redemption at 10 per cent premium at any time before maturity, on three months' notice, advertised not less than once a week in a newspaper published in New York. The trustees are the United States Trust Company of the City of New York. The bonds are secured by a deed of trust covering certain bonds and stocks representing interests of the company in branch lines, coal properties, terminal facilities and improvements connected with the lines of its railroads, embracing the following mentioned securities, viz.: 10,000 shares Blossburg Coal Co. stock, $185,000 mortgage bonds Buffalo Bradford & Pittsburg Railroad Co., 5,759 shares Buffalo New York & Erie Railroad Co. stock, 1,219 shares Buffalo Creek Railroad Co. stock, 10,000 shares Hillside Coal & Iron Co. stock, $714,000 first mortgage bonds Jefferson Railroad Co., 8,000 shares Long Dock Company stock, $250,000 mortgage bonds Newark & Hudson Railroad Co., $166,000 mortgage bonds Newburg & New York Railroad Co., $499,000 mortgage bonds Paterson & Newark Railroad Co., 9,941 shares Union Steamboat Co., 5,000 shares Northwestern Mining & Exchange Co., $1,900,000 mortgage bonds New York Lake Erie & Western Coal & Railroad Co., 6,040 shares New York Lake Erie & Western Docks & Improvement Co., $438,704 82 first mortgage bonds New York & Greenwood Lake Railway Co., $382,442 second mortgage bonds New York & Greenwood Lake Railway Co.

—As to the above sixteen classes of securities, it is understood that the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., trustee of the Second Consol. mort. claims that the following eight are pledged subject to the prior lien of that mortgage, viz.: Ten thousand shares of the Blossburg Coal Company stock, 10,000 shares of the Hillside Coal & Iron Company stock, 8,000 shares of the Long Dock Company stock, 5,759 shares of the Buffalo New York & Erie stock, 5,000 shares of the Northwestern Mining and Exchange Company stock, $499,000 bonds of the Paterson & Newark Company, $163,000 bonds of the Newburg & New York Company, $250,000 bonds of the Newark & Hudson Company and $185,000 bonds of the Buffalo Bradford & Pittsburg Railroad Company.

New York West Shore & Buffalo.—The Chancellor of New Jersey heard arguments at Newark recently on the application of Mr. Green, Receiver of the North River Construction Company, for permission to accept $15,000,000 second mortgage bonds in full satisfaction of the company's claim against the New York West Shore & Buffalo Railway, which the North River Construction Company built. The adjustment of the accounts of the two companies was recently left to arbitration, by which it was found that the railway company owed the construction company about $7,500,000. The application of the Receiver was made on this decision of the arbitrators, and in view of a general plan for the relief of the West Shore Company. The Receiver presented his arguments, which were opposed by some of the contractor-creditors of the Construction Company. The decision of the court was reserved.

General Winslow, President of the North River Construction Company, said to a Tribune reporter "The Receiver then would have in his hands all the assets of the company and he could distribute them as the stockholders might agree. The creditors could receive their pay, which is all they are entitled to, because these bonds, with the West Shore stock now held by the company, would be worth more than the amount of the liabilities. On the other hand, the railroad company would be benefited indirectly because the settlement would remove a serious complication. The Construction Company would still hold a control of the West Shore Railway stock. I do not think that Mr. Green has received an offer for the West Shore stock, although several persons might be willing to buy it. None of them would be likely to make an offer until he was sure that the Receiver could deliver the stock if a sale was made."

—At Kingston, N. Y., April 24, the trust mortgage on the West Shore Railroad for $25,000,000 to Ashbel Green was recorded in the County Clerk's office.

North Carolina State Bonds.—Messrs. Lummis & Day said: "Treasurer Worth is anxious to get all the bonds of North Carolina funded according to the provisions of the act of the State Legislature, passed in 1870, to obtain the consolidation and adjustment of the State loans. The act was the result of a compromise by which old bonds were to be exchanged into new consolidated 4 per cent bonds. The time for exchanging the old securities expires on January 1, 1885. Those funded before July 1 next will get the benefit of the July coupon of the new bond. After July the State will reserve the July coupon. A majority of the bonds have been funded."

Northern Central.—The comparative statement of earnings and expenses for March and for three months ended March 31, is as follows:

| | March. | | 3 mos ended Mar. 31. | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| Gross earnings | $462,564 | $506,854 | $1,271,022 | $1,492,982 |
| Operating expenses | $229,901 | $263,437 | $732,825 | $843,791 |
| Extraordinary expenses | 50,527 | 38,919 | 102,597 | 156,751 |
| Total expenses | $280,431 | $302,356 | $832,422 | $1,000,542 |
| Net earnings | $182,133 | $204,508 | $438,600 | $492,440 |

Northern Pacific.—The Philadelphia Press says of this company: "The remarkable increase in the earnings of the Northern Pacific Railroad during the past six weeks has attracted a great deal of attention. It is very largely due to the growth of the emigrant traffic and the increased travel on account of the Cœur d'Alene gold mines. The regular passenger trains out of St. Paul take from fifteen to nineteen cars daily, and it is evident that the passenger traffic for the current year will furnish fully one-half of the gross earnings." * * * "During the month of February the gross earnings were $520,084; but, owing to the storms and the heavy expenses upon the road, the cost of operating was $428,802, leaving the net earnings only $91,282, or a little less than 18 per cent. Of the total earnings, $183,453, or considerably more than one-third, were from passengers. The land sales were, of course, very small—only $86,795. The gross earnings for March exceeded $902,000," * * "but those for April promise to exceed $1,250,000, for the total earnings during the first two weeks is $656,900, or 25 per cent more than those for the four weeks of February. The following statement, which has not before been published, shows the actual earnings, both gross and net, for the first eight months of the fiscal year, as compared with the previous year:

| Gross earnings | $7,752,177 | $5,011,542 | $2,740,635 |
| Net earnings | $2,794,096 | $1,883,968 | $910,128 |

"During these eight months the Land Department have sold 326,414 acres for $1,502,221, or an average of $4·60 an acre. The amount of deferred payments due on land sales was, on the 1st of March, $3,320,141, of which $1,646,398 was applicable to the retirement of the preferred stock, $1,136,531 to the retirement of the first mortgage bonds on the Missouri and Pend d'Oreille divisions, and $537,211 to the retirement of the first mortgage bonds. The preferred stock has been reduced since the last statement more than a quarter of a million and is now $41,105,400."

Oregon & Trans-Continental.—The reply of President Endicott of the Oregon & Trans-Continental to the letter recently sent him by Brayton Ives and other New York stockholders contains no definite information, and its essential parts are as follows:

"So far as I am aware, no stockholder has ever been refused any information proper to be communicated, though it has not been always possible to be accurate, owing to the many unsettled accounts for construction, etc. The officers of the company have no possible motive for concealment.

"As to the removal of the offices of the company to New York, I have only to say that the Assistant Treasurer, with the books, had been transferred there before the receipt of your letter, and will remain there. Mr. Elijah Smith, who is in charge of the affairs at the New York office, will show to any of you a statement of the assets and aggregate liabilities of the company. I deem it improper to make public exhibit of the names of the creditors, with the collateral held by each, as I know it to be distasteful to many of them, and I have already received requests from several that the details of their loans be withheld from public inspection.

"As the inquiry has often been made in New York papers as to what has become of the large capital of the company, it may not be inopportune to remind the stockholders that the shrinkage of market price in the Northern Pacific and Oregon Railway & Navigation Co.'s stocks, held in December last by the Oregon & Trans-Continental Co., will amount during the past year to more than $20,000,000, or more than $50 per share upon Oregon & Trans-Continental stock.

"In regard to maturing a funding scheme, I can only say that it has been much discussed, but it seems hardly practicable to attempt it with success until later in the year. The $8,000,000 loan matures December 31, and the remaining indebtedness of the Company at a somewhat remote date, so that the collateral is not at present available. There is much reason to expect that the summer business upon both the Northern Pacific and Oregon Railway & Navigation companies lines will be such as very much to strengthen the collateral which the company will have to offer as security for a long loan. The annual meeting of the corporation will occur within sixty days, and, as changes in the management are possible, it seems to me more appropriate to leave that matter for the new Board of Directors to deal with.

"The company's officers have endeavored to bring the company from the very critical condition in which it was found in December last into one of undoubted solvency, to adjust and pay the floating indebtedness which proved to be much larger than had been anticipated, and generally to bring the affairs into snug condition. Much the larger part of this work has been accomplished, and it now remains to be seen how far the development of the Northwestern territory would make good the expectations which led to the organization of the company.

"Very respectfully, etc.,
"Wm. Endicott, Jr., President."

Pennsylvania Railroad.—The gross and net earnings for March and for three months are specially compiled for the Chronicle in the tables below. The result of the operation of all the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie for the month of March was a decrease of $50,876 in net earnings, and for the three months a decrease of $567,913 this year compared with the same period in 1883. On the lines west of Pittsburg there was a decrease in net profits of $334,834 for March and a decrease of $601,646 for the three months, as compared with 1883:

*Deficit.

St. Paul City Bonds.—At the sale of $600,000 water works 5 per cent bonds the total bids were large and the whole lot was taken by one party at 102·80 and accrued interest.

State Line & Sullivan.—It is announced that this road has been leased to the Lehigh Valley Co. for 50 years. The road runs from Monroeton, Pa., to Bernice, in Sullivan County, 23 miles, and the lease includes the right to use the tracks of the Barclay Railroad from Monroeton to Towanda, 4 miles. The company leases its road, but retains possession of, and will continue to work, the coal mines about Bernice. It is stated that the rental of the road is to be $36,000 a year for the first three years, with $40,000 a year for the balance of the term. The company has mined between 60,000 and 70,000 tons of anthracite coal a year, which finds its outlet over the road which is now leased and over the Lehigh Valley road from Towanda.—Railroad Gazette.

Texas & Pacific.—This company sold on April 10 33,000 acres of land to the Magnolia Cattle Company for $99,000. The company paid for the land in Texas Pacific bonds. Other heavy sales are reported to have lately been made, the company taking its bonds at par in payment.

Toledo Delphos & Burlington.—The committee representing the first mortgage bondholders of the Toledo Delphos & Burlington main line and the Toledo Cincinnati & St. Louis railroad companies, St. Louis Division, have their office in New York, at 81 Beaver Street, and applications for information, or to join in the agreement, should be made only there. The committee state that a large number of securityholders have already come in. The time for joining in the agreement expires May 10.

The proposed agreement seems to be fair to all, and was matured after long discussion by the different parties in interest. The old first mortgage bondholders, who are generally in favor of the agreement, apparently give up more than any other class, as they receive no interest till 1888, and then only four per cent till 1893. The parties, as usual, most inclined to criticise, are those who paid least for their holdings, and who would be entirely wiped out by foreclosure.

The Dayton Division, Southeastern Division, Cincinnati Division and Cincinnati Northern are already advertised for sale in foreclosure on June 28.

Union Pacific.—The Stockholder reports President Dillon as saying: "There is no reason why Union Pacific should not advance in price; there is nothing inherently wrong about the property; the only adverse circumstance that can be cited is its light earnings for the first three months of this year compared with the corresponding months of 1883, and special causes have produced that result. Last year, for example, the transportation of construction material for the Oregon Short Line was very heavy; that for the Northern Pacific was considerable, and something in the same line was done for the Denver & Rio Grande. These sources of revenue have now almost entirely ceased, hence the company's largely-decreased revenue for the first three months of this year. Another condition of affairs which reduced our tonnage early in 1884, and from which we have not yet fully recovered, is the high freight rates which followed the demoralized and low ones prevailing previous to January 1. Everybody took advantage of the low rates. The merchants laid in their supply of goods, and every one having anything to move shipped it while the merely nominal rates ruled. On the other hand, when rates were advanced by an arrangement with our competitor, merchants and others purchased and shipped only as their actual necessities compelled them, hoping for lower rates later on. Time will cure this, and, taking the year through, we will secure a much more favorable average compared with last year both in tonnage and in net earnings, than the first three months of '84 have shown. I have no doubt but Union Pacific will earn its 84 dividend and pay it too."

Western Union Telegraph.—Dr. Norvin Green, President of the Western Union, has made a statement concerning the company's increased business. He said that "the gains are all over the country. At Boston the gain was $1,400 in the first week in April and $2,000 in the second week. In New York City the earnings last year for the first two weeks in April were $27,100 and $28,000; this year they are $26,200 and $28,000. At Chicago they were last year $13,800 and $14,500; this year they are $18,900 and $17,700. At St. Louis there was an increase in the same weeks of $1,000. At San Francisco, in face of a reduction from $1 50 to $1, earnings increased largely in each week of the present year.

Recent weekly earnings of test offices representing three-fifths of Western Union business, compared with the corresponding weeks of 1883, were as follows:

| February. | 1883. | 1884. |

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, April 25, 1884.

The weather for the past week has been stormy and the temperature low in many sections of the United States; even the Gulf States report frosts; spring sowing and planting is thereby delayed, and a great impulse has been given to the speculation in food staples, favored in some cases by better foreign advices. The weather is much more seasonable at the close, giving some impetus to spring trade.

The lard speculation has been very excited, and in the forty-eight hours ending this morning an important advance in prices was made. The movement was partly in sympathy with the course of the grain markets, but has had more support in the smaller number of swine slaughtered at the West, and in a better general trade. The highest prices this morning for the active months were 8·89c. for May, 9·06c. for July and 9·12c. for Aug., for prime Western, but the close was with sellers at 8·75c. for May, 8·80c. for June, 8·89c. for July and 8·95c. for Aug. Spot lard has advanced, but the close is so unsettled that reliable figures cannot be given, but approximate at 8·60c. for prime city, 8·82½c. for prime Western and 9c. for refined for the Continent. Pork has been more active and closes firm at $17 for mess and $19 for clear back. Bacon and cut meats are more firmly held, but quite nominal. Beef and beef hams are unchanged, but favor buyers. Tallow has been active at 7¼c. for prime, but closes dull. Oleomargarine has sold freely at 8⅝@8¾c. A recent law of this State now forbids its manufacture, but will probably have little effect. Stearine nominal at 9c. for prime. Butter lower; creamery, 22@31c.; Western factory, 12@21c. Cheese, 8@12½c. for new factory and 2½@5c. for skims. Fresh eggs 14@16c. The following is a comparative summary of aggregate exports from Sept. 1, 1883, to April 19, 1884:

| Pork, lbs | 20,411,200 | 24,697,400 | 4,286,200 |
| Bacon, lbs | 186,361,416 | 239,237,933 | 52,876,517 |
| Total lbs | 304,255,711 | 387,784,062 | 83,528,351 |

Rio coffee has been quiet on the spot, but about steady at 10⅛@10¼c. for fair; options have sold moderately, and have fluctuated within narrow limits; to-day there was an advance, though, compared with those of a week ago, the closing prices are lower, May being at 8·45@8·50c.; June at 8·45@8·55c., July at 8·50@8·60c., August at 8·55@8·65c., and September at 8·60@8·65c. bid and asked; mild grades are quiet but steady. Tea has been rather quiet for options, but latterly has advanced, as the sale of Japan certificates for April delivery has increased on the Street; Japan sold to-day at 24¼c. for June, and black sold at 28¼c. for May; the close is dull and weak. Spices have been dull and nearly nominal. Rice has been in good demand and firm. Molasses has sold more freely at steadier prices. Raw sugar has been dull and easy; fair refining 5 5-16@5⅜c., and 96 deg. test centrifugal 6¼c.; fair for July sold to-day at 5·45c.; refined is weak; powdered 7¼@7½c., crushed 7⅝@7¾c. and granulated 7c.

In Kentucky tobacco trade on the spot has been very moderate, but in a speculative way the movement has been larger; lugs on the spot, 7¾@8½c.; leaf, 8½@9¾c.; June sold to-day at 8 3-16@8¼c. Seed leaf has been more active and a steady tone prevails; sales 3,420 cases, including 1,900 cases crop 1883, Wiscansin Havana seed, 22½@30c.; 100 cases crop 1882, do. do., 19@30c.; 730 cases crop 1882, Pennsylvania, 4½@16½c.; 200 cases crop 1881, do., 6@10c.; 200 cases crop 1880, do., 10@14½c.; 150 cases crop 1883, New England Havana seed, 22@27c.; 100 cases crop 1882, New England, 11@30c., and 50 cases crop 1882, Ohio, 8c.; also, 400 bales Havana, 80c. @$1 15, and 350 bales Sumatra, $1 20@$1 65.

The naval store market has improved, the speculative interest has been greater and the spot demands have increased sufficiently to advance spirits turpentine to 32½@33c., and strained to good strained rosins to $1 42½@$1 45. Refined petroleum has been depressed by weak foreign advices, and to-night 8⅝c. are the figures for 70 Abel test. Crude oil certificates were sharply advanced to-day; the rise was due to a determined effort to squeeze out a large "short" interest, and from 93⅝c. there was an advance to 95¼c.; the final figures were 94¾@95c. The only important feature in metals was the sale of 15,000 tons steel rails by the Scranton Company at $31.

Ocean freight room has been without special features of interest; berths have sagged but oil tonnage has remained steady, though by no means active. Liverpool, steam, grain to-night quoted 1½d.; flour, 5s.@7s. 6d.; bacon and lard, 10s.; cheese, 15s.@20s.; cotton, 3-32d.; grain to London by steam engaged at 3¼@3⅜d.; do. Hull by steam, 2d.; do. to Avonmouth by steam, 2s. 6d. per qr.; do. to Hamburg by steam, 50 pfennigs; refined petroleum to Rangoon, 30c.; do. to Bombay, 21c.; do. in bbls. to Naples, 2s. 9d.

Some new features have been developed the past week in the speculation for future delivery at this market. The most conspicuous of these are the apprehension of large deliveries on May contracts, severe weather in the Southwest and the increase of receipts at Bombay. On Saturday last there was a sharp decline, under sales to realize, but in the course of Sunday and Monday, there were violent storms in the Lower Mississippi region, and an early decline was changed at the close to a slight advance, but not till the decline from the closing figures of the previous Friday were 12 @ 15 points for this crop and 7 @ 8 for the next. On Tuesday there was a further advance over Monday's closing figures, owing to frost accounts from Texas, and the continuance of unseasonable cold over the entire South; but dull accounts from Manchester and the report of increased receipts at Bombay caused some decline in the later dealings. During Wednesday and the opening of Thursday, the tendency of prices was mainly upward on account of the very small movement of the crop and the reduced visible supply; but in view of the considerable accumulation of supplies at this market and the apprehension of free deliveries on May contracts, the speculation for the rise was conducted quite tamely, and last evening the later months were weaker. To-day there was a slight advance on strong accounts from Liverpool, but a slow business caused a decline with a quiet closing. The changes as compared with last Friday are 6 @ 11 points lower for this crop and 4 @ 6 for the next. Cotton on the spot has been very quiet throughout the week at unchanged prices; middling uplands quoted at 11⅞c.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 494,300 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 1,360 bales, including —— for export, 1,320 for consumption, 40 for speculation and —— in transit. Of the above, — bales were to arrive. AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since Sept. 1, the shipments for the week, and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1882-83—is set out in detail in the following statement:

* This year's figures estimated.

The above totals show that the old interior stocks have decreased during the week 6,973 bales and are to-night 86,924 bales less than at the same period last year. The receipts at the same towns have been 4,371 bales less than the same week last year, and since September 1 the receipts at all the towns are 613,263 bales less than for the same time in 1882-83.

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,734,904 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,785,230 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,544,153 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 20,903 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 12,757 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 36,021 bales and for 1882 they were 11,161 bales.

| Receipts at the ports to Apr. 25 | 4,693,266 | 5,611,909 | 4,431,742 | 5,351,348 |
| Interior stocks on April 25 in excess of September 1 | 41,638 | 173,321 | 112,411 | 186,982 |
| Tot. receipts from plantat'ns | 4,734,904 | 5,785,230 | 4,544,153 | 5,538,330 |
| Net overland to April 1 | 526,328 | 572,324 | 391,473 | 452,089 |
| Southern consumpt'n to April 1 | 236,000 | 240,000 | 190,000 | 155,000 |
| Total in sight April 25 | 5,497,232 | 6,597,554 | 5,128,626 | 6,145,419 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,100,322 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 368,606 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 648,187 bales.

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—The weather has been less favorable for crop purposes during the week. There has been at many points too much rain, and much lower temperature, which have to a certain extent delayed farm work or checked the growing crop. No permanent damage is believed to have been done by the frosts, though they were quite heavy in portions of Texas and the Gulf States.

Galveston, Texas.—It has rained on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching seventy-five hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold, retarding the growth of young vegetation, but otherwise no serious damage has been done. The weather is more favorable at the close. The thermometer has averaged 63, the highest being 79 and the lowest 48.

Indianola, Texas.—We have had showers on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching seventy-four hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold, but no serious damage has resulted. The thermometer has averaged 61, ranging from 44 to 80.

Palestine, Texas.—It has rained on three days of the week—harder than desired, interrupting planting—the rainfall reaching three inches and nine hundredths. The weather has been too cold, and we have had a frost, but not a killing frost, but no serious damage has been done. The thermometer has ranged from 30 to 75, averaging 57.

Huntsville, Texas.—We have had a shower on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching nineteen hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold, with light frost on two nights. Some tender vegetation was slightly nipped, but there has been no serious damage. Cotton planting progresses well. Average thermometer 59, highest 79, lowest 37.

Luling, Texas.—It has been showery on one day of the week, the rainfall reaching three hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold, but no harm was done. The thermometer has averaged 61, the highest being 79 and the lowest 40.

Brenham, Texas.—We have had showers on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching twenty-two hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold, but no serious damage has been done beyond the checking of growth. Prospects fair. The thermometer has averaged 62, ranging from 41 to 87.

Belton, Texas.—It has been showery on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching seventy hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold, with a light frost, but no serious damage has been done. Cotton planting makes good progress. The thermometer has ranged from 40 to 77, averaging 57.

Weatherford, Texas.—We have had good showers on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching thirty-three hundredths of an inch. The weather has been too cold, and we have had one killing frost, but no serious damage has been done, as very little was above ground to be hurt. Planting progresses well. Average thermometer 59, highest 78 and lowest 36.

Dallas, Texas.—It has rained hard on three days of the week, stopping work. The rainfall reached three inches and eleven hundredths. The weather has been too cold, with considerable frost on one night, but it seems to have done no serious damage. The thermometer has averaged 56, the highest being 78 and the lowest 37.

New Orleans, Louisiana.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and sixty-five hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 67.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—The early part of the week was cloudy, with rain, but the latter portion has been clear and fine. The rainfall reached two inches and twenty-four hundredths. The cool weather has done no serious damage in this section. Roads are in bad condition. The thermometer has ranged from 40 to 82.

Vicksburg, Mississippi.—It was showery on two days in the early part of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and fifty-three hundredths. The weather has been too cold. Planting in the hills is about completed in this vicinity. The thermometer has ranged from 44 to 88.

Meridian Mississippi.—We have had rain on three days of the week. We had a heavy frost on Thursday morning, which will make replanting necessary in some districts on the bottom lands.

Greenville, Mississippi.—It has rained severely on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and eighty hundredths. The thermometer has ranged from 50 to 78, averaging 59.

Columbus, Mississippi.—We have had rain on five days of the week, the rainfall reaching four inches and twenty-eight hundredths. The weather has been too cold, but as the week closes there is a favorable change.

Little Rock, Arkansas.—We have had only one clear day during the week. There has been rain on five days, with a rainfall of three inches and seventy-four hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 42, the highest being 65 and the lowest 40.

Pine Bluff, Arkansas.—It has rained on two days, and the remainder of the week has been cloudy. The rainfall reached three inches and fifty-two hundredths. We have had a frost but not a killing frost. The thermometer has averaged 49, ranging from 37 to 60.

Fort Smith, Arkansas.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching ninety-eight hundredths of an inch. The thermometer has ranged from 31 to 74, averaging 54.

Helena, Arkansas.—It has rained on three days of the week, and the weather has been too told, but at the close of the week there is a favorable change. The rainfall reached three inches and twenty hundredths. The river is falling slowly; it is now three feet above danger line, overflowing about one-third of the bottom lands. Average thermometer 53, highest 72 and lowest 42.

Monticello, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Newport, Arkansas.—Telegram not received.

Memphis, Tennessee.—It has rained on every day of the week except Thursday, but the weather is now clear and pleasant. The rainfall reached four inches and ten hundredths. Farm work on the uplands has been delayed by the bad weather. The river is two feet four inches below the danger line and falling slowly. The thermometer has ranged from 41·5 to 69·5, averaging 54.

Nashville, Tennessee.—We have had rain on every day of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and twenty-one hundredths. Farm work has been suspended this week on account of the continuous rains, but at the close of the week there is a favorable change in the weather. The cause for the large receipts this week is that several hundred bales have been brought from points beyond our district for our local mills. Average thermometer 55, highest 71 and lowest 43.

Mobile, Alabama.—It has rained severely on one day of the week, and has been showery on one day, the rainfall reaching two inches and fifty-one hundredths. We have had a frost, but not a killing frost. The killing frost was confined to the middle and northern sections of the State, still no serious damage has been done. The thermometer has averaged 64, the highest being 77 and the lowest 43.

Montgomery, Alabama.—It has rained on four days, and the balance of the week the weather has been too cold. The rainfall reached two inches and twelve hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 66, ranging from 43 to 79.

Selma, Alabama.—It has rained on three days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and forty-six hundredths. The weather has been too cold, but at the close of the week has taken a favorable turn. The thermometer has ranged from 42 to 78, averaging 59.

Madison, Florida.—Telegram not received.

Macon, Georgia.—We have had rain on four days of the week. The weather has been too cold for the season. The thermometer has averaged 63, the highest being 80 and the lowest 44.

Columbus, Georgia.—It has rained on two days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and ninety-two hundredths. The weather has been cool all of the week, with frost on Wednesday and Thursday nights, injuring cotton that was up. Planting is generally two weeks behind. The thermometer has averaged 58, ranging 42 to 78.

Savannah, Georgia.—It has rained on five days, and the remainder of the week has been cloudy. The rainfall reached one inch and sixty-two hundredths. We are having too much rain, and the weather has been cold. The thermometer has ranged from 54 to 82, averaging 66.

Augusta, Georgia.—It has rained on six days of the week, the rainfall reaching one inch and five hundredths. We are having too much rain, which, together with the unseasonably cold spell, has retarded planting to a considerable degree. Average thermometer 62, highest 79, lowest 49.

Atlanta, Georgia.—Telegram not received.

Charleston, South Carolina.—It has rained on five days of the week, the rainfall reaching two inches and sixty-one hundredths. The thermometer has averaged 62, ranging from 52 to 71.

Columbia, South Carolina.—Telegram not received.

The following statement we have also received by telegraph, showing the height of the rivers at the points named at 3 o'clock April 24, 1884, and April 26, 1883.

India Cotton Movement from all Ports.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to April 24.

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show an increase compared with last year in the week's receipts, of 9,000 bales, and an increase in shipments of 45,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 21,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

EXPORTS TO EUROPE FROM ALL INDIA.

| Shipments to all Europe from — | 1884. This week. | 1884. Since Jan. 1. | 1883. This week. | 1883. Since Jan. 1. | 1882. This week. | 1882. Since Jan. 1 |

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

EAST INDIA EXPORTS.—Our advices by cable from Bombay to-day state that there is every prospect that the exports for the half-year ending with June 30, 1884, will reach 950,000 bales, against 1,125,000 bales in 1883 and 1,230,000 bales in 1882.

EAST INDIA CROP.—The following is taken from Messrs. Wallace and Co.'s report, dated Bombay, March 21:

The quality of the Dhollerah now arriving continues satisfactory, both as regards appearance and staple, and the quality of the Dhollerah crops altogether will probably be above the average, although not much of the crop will consist of superior cotton, that is to say of "Fine" and thereabouts, but on the other hand there will probably be little under "Good," available for shipment before the Monsoon, the bulk running from "Good" to "Fully Good."

Arrivals of Broach, so far, class "Fine," but in some cases are a little deficient in staple. As with Dhollerah, however, it is probable that there will not be so large a proportion of the Broach crop consisting of "Fine" as was the case last year, the bulk running about "Fully Good."

Receipts of cotton into Bombay continue light, and are now 130,000 bales behind last year, but the clearances only show a falling off of 60,000 bales. Now that Broach and Dhollerah are beginning to arrive, however, there will probably be a check on the deficiency in the receipts, and, although it is not expected these will increase as compared with last year, the decrease will be more gradual for the future, and not so marked as has hitherto been the case.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &C.—The demand has shown some improvement since our last, and though the parcels are small, there is more inquiry, and considerable stock is being placed. The demand for round lots does not increase, buyers continuing their practice of taking only what they require for present wants. Dealers are steady as to price, and continue to quote: 9½c. for 1½ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10¾c. for 2 lbs. and 11½c. for standard grade. Butts have ruled rather quiet, and beyond a few small orders we hear of no transactions. A few inquiries are reported for parcels to arrive, and some business is expected. The market is unchanged, prices continuing about steady, as an improvement is looked for shortly. At the close the quotations are 2¼@2⅜c. for paper grades and 2⅝@2⅞c. for bagging qualities.

SHORT TIME IN THE COTTON MILLS.—An article on this subject will be found in our editorial columns, which will be of interest to our cotton readers.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

This statement shows that up to March 31 the receipts at the ports this year were 750,552 bales less than in 1882-83, and 304,478 bales more than at the same time in 1881-82. By adding to the above totals to Mar. 31 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

Below we give all news received to date of disasters to vessels carrying cotton from United States ports, &c.:

MARSEILLE, steamer (Fr.), Ruellan, from New Orleans, April 3, for Havre, Antwerp and Bordeaux, put into Bermuda on April 12 with the cotton in two of the compartments on fire. The fire was completely extinguished on the morning of the 14th by the naval authorities, the work having been given into their charge by the master and underwriter's agents. The cargo of the Marseille for Havre consisted of 6,890 bales cotton, etc., for Antwerp, 200 bales cotton, etc. About 50 bales of cotton were thrown overboard as they were broken out of the hold, and drifted ashore, and 400 bales of cotton were discharged into lighters and taken to the dockyard or places contiguous thereto. It will be necessary to break out about 300 bales more, so as to get at the grain in the bottom of the two compartments, as it is badly damaged by the water thrown into the hold while the ship was at sea. A survey by naval officers was held on the 16th, but their report is not yet known.

ASIANA ship (Br.), before reported, from New Orleans for Liverpool, at Bermuda in distress. The leaks in the bottom of ship Asiana had been discovered and repaired by engineers on April 16, and she would commence reloading her cargo on April 17th or 18th.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., April 25, 1884.

Flour has been in better demand and has advanced in response to a rise in wheat. The statistical position remains essentially the same as heretofore, but the tone is generally more cheerful. It is claimed that in some cases the prices current for some time past have been almost unremunerative. To-day there was a very fair business at firm prices.

Wheat has shown a very marked advance, due almost solely to a fright among the shorts here and at the West and a large demand at times to cover contracts. The export demand, moreover, has shown an improvement, owing to firmer foreign markets; but although on one day the sales were large, the business has since been greatly reduced by the firmness of holders. The visible supply has shown some decrease and the weather at the West has not been quite so favorable as heretofore, but the upward movement has been chiefly due, it is contended, to speculative manipulation. Within two days the bulls have put up prices 4 to 6½ cents per bushel, and to-day it was reported that three brokers on the short side of the market had failed to respond to further calls for margins. To-day wheat on the spot advanced 2c. but the export trade was light at the higher figures. Options, however, were active, excited and 2c. to 3¾c. higher. No. 2 red sold at $1 07¾@$1 10¾ for May, $1 09¾@$1 12⅞ for June, $1 07¾@$1 10 for July and $1 07@$1 08 for August. No. 2 red closed at $1 10 in elevator, $1 10¾ for May, $1 12⅞ for June, $1 08 for July, $1 07 for August and $1 07¼ for September. This shows an advance for the week of 6½c. on the spot, 8c. for May and 7½c. for June. The rise in the later deliveries is much less.

Indian corn has been only moderately active, as a rule, on speculation, though on two days of the week a good business took place, and prices, in response to an advance in wheat, have of late been higher. The export trade has been small, and in fact the interest, as a rule, has centered in wheat, and corn has been influenced by that cereal. To-day there was a moderate business at an advance of 1 to 1½c. No. 2 mixed closed at 63½c. in elevator, 62⅜c. for May, 62¾c. for June, 64c. for July and 65¼c. for August, showing an advance for the week of 3c. on the spot and 1c. to 2c. for options.

Rye and barley have been quiet. Oats have sold to a moderate extent, and latterly have advanced. To-day there was a fractional rise. No. 2 mixed sold at 37¼@37¾c. for May and 37¾@38¼c. for June. No. 2 mixed closed at 37⅝c. for May and 38⅛c. for June. These figures are 1c. higher than those of a week ago.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

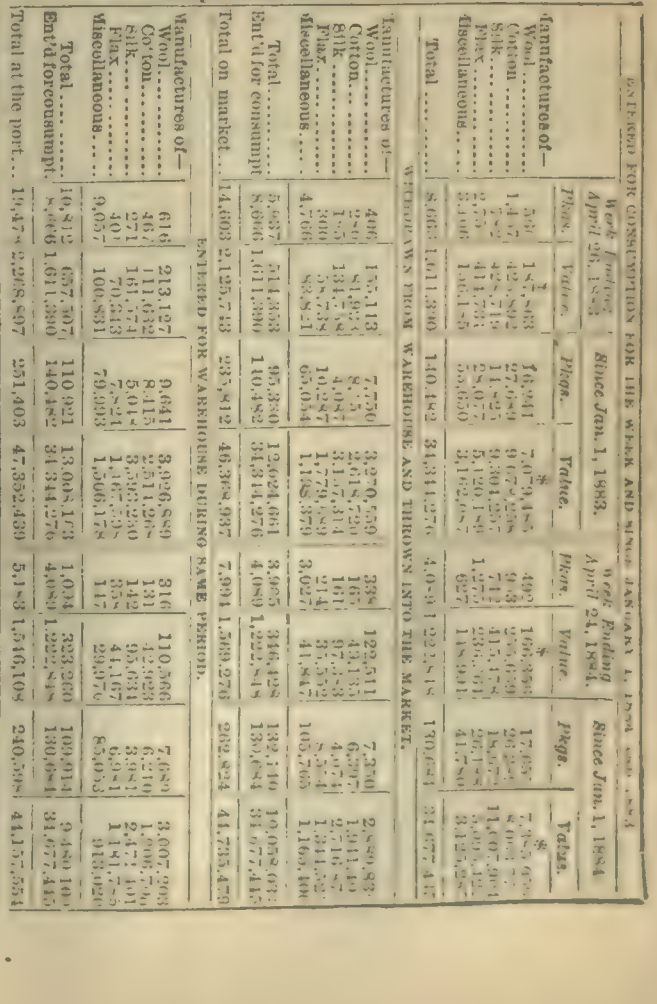
FRIDAY, P. M., April 25, 1884.



The movement in dry goods was only moderate the past week, but the tone of the market was steady. There was a re-action from the comparative activity lately noticed in staple cotton goods, because jobbers and the manufacturing trade have already stocked up pretty freely in view of the upward tendency of prices, and the demand for all kinds of seasonable goods was seemingly governed by positive requirements. There was rather more inquiry for a few descriptions of fall goods by large buyers, and some fair orders for both foreign and domestic fabrics were placed for future delivery, but such cases were exceptional. The local jobbing trade was only moderate as a rule, but a fair business was done by houses that cater especially for the wants of State and near by retailers. Southern trade continues light and in the main disappointing, but the aspect in the West and Southwest is steadily improving, and hopes are now entertained that a fair average spring trade will be accomplished in the latter sections as well as in the near-by States.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week were 2,050 packages, including 1,416 to Great Britain, 182 to Mexico, 104 to Brazil, 82 to Hayti, etc. There was a steady movement in plain and colored cottons on account of back orders, but new business was restricted in volume as far as the package houses are concerned, and the jobbing trade was strictly moderate. Brown sheetings and drills were less active, but stocks have been materially reduced of late and prices remain firm. Bleached goods were in lessened demand but firm, and wide sheetings and corset jeans continued in steady request. Further large sales of cotton flannels were made for future delivery, but at prices barely remunerative to the manufacturers. In colored cottons there was no movement of importance, and white goods ruled quiet in first hands. Print cloths were in moderate demand and a trifle easier, and there was an irregular demand for printed calicoes and lawns. Wash fabrics and ginghams were fairly active with jobbers and in moderate request at agents' hands.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—There was a freer movement in heavy clothing woolens on account of former orders, but new business failed to realize expectations. There were more buyers in the market than of late, but their purchases were mainly confined to small parcels of cassimeres, worsteds and overcoatings, and transactions were light in the aggregate. Satinets were in pretty good demand, and a more active business was done in Kentucky jeans than for some time past. White flannels were ordered with some freedom (for future delivery), and there was a steady call for ladies' cloths, stockinettes and Jersey cloths by manufacturing houses and jobbers. Worsted dress goods were in irregular demand, but some very fair orders for all-wool and cotton-warp cashmeres, beiges, etc., were placed for the fall trade. Carpets ruled quiet in first hands, and the demand for hosiery and knit underwear was light and irregular.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—There was a continuation of the light demand lately reported by importers, so far as seasonable goods are concerned, but some fair orders were booked for fall and winter fabrics to arrive. Summer silks were in moderate request, but the demand for black and colored silks was confined to small re-assortments of medium and fine grades. Dress goods were lightly dealt in, and the demand for other imported fabrics was chiefly of a hand-to-mouth character. Stocks are in fair condition, as a rule, but large quantities of hosiery, gloves and China mattings (which are seemingly in over-supply) are seeking an outlet through the medium of the auction rooms.

NEW YORK.
All Interest and Principal Payable in New York City.

From 1851 to 1866 Mr. Austin Corbin resided in the State of Iowa, and, in connection with the banking business, made a specialty of negotiating First Mortgage Loans upon Improved Farms in that and other Northwestern States. In 1866 he transferred the business to the City of New York, with immensely successful results. In 1874 the Corbin Banking Company was organized to succeed him in this business, and has continued it ever since. From moderate beginnings this special business has grown to very large proportions, and now shows a Continuous and Complete Record of Result Covering the Entire Period of 33 Years. The number of current loans upon our books at this date exceeds 33,500, and the amount of money outstanding and due to individuals, savings banks and other corporations is upward of $12,000,000. The business has grown to its present magnitude because its results, as shown by this long record, have been eminently satisfactory. During the periods of depression and general depreciation of nearly all classes of investment securities, which succeeded the panics of 1855, 1857, 1861 and 1873, these first mortgage farm loans negotiated by us, based upon a 40-per-cent cash valuation of the farms, returned high rates of interest to the lenders, with almost the promptitude of Government bonds, and from the beginning of the business to the present time have absolutely proved themselves to be the Safest and Best Paying Investment in this Country. From year to year during this period of 33 years we have been perfecting the details. Our correspondents in the various States are picked men, skilled in this branch of business, of superior judgment, unquestioned integrity and honor, and thoroughly conversant with the laws, procedure and practice of their several States. In addition to this, all the farms are examined and our correspondents' statements concerning them revised by independent agents of our company, paid by us a liberal salary, who report directly to us in New York; and in a multitude of minor details which have been perfected at great expense through the experience of this long period we have been able to reduce the management of this business to a perfect system. Indeed, it is the perfection of our work that has enabled these first mortgage loans upon improved farms to manifest their superiority and to maintain their very high standard of value over all others, while at times great depreciation has followed nearly all other classes of investments.

To investors who wish to place money for a term of years with entire safety, at rates varying from 7 to 8 per cent, we recommend these loans as being, all things considered, the Best in the World.

We hold ourselves in readiness at all times promptly, personally or by letter, to reply to all inquiries and to furnish all needed information in detail.

We have prepared an exact statement of the results of $3,501,845, comprising investments for individuals for the last ten years. Of this amount $3,310,417 were paid promptly with interest in full when due, or over 94 per cent. Of the $191,428 unpaid at maturity there has now been paid $178,180, with an added interest of $3,136, leaving yet to be collected $73,248, which is principally due from a few later delinquents, is being rapidly paid up, and is absolutely good. So it will be seen that 98 per cent of all this $3,501,845 capital has been already returned with rates of interest varying from 7 to 8 per cent, and that only 2 per cent is now unpaid. What other class of investment securities, taken at an average, will show such a record as this?

We solicit investors to investigate our methods and the character of the loans.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The features of the week have been an easier market for foreign exchange checking in a measure the outflow of gold, a slight downward turn in the speculations in grain and cotton (the latter affecting prices of goods and giving a further impulse to the short-time movement), a variable market with a tendency to still lower prices on Wall Street, and the failure of a large operator in stocks here and of a large operator in grain in Chicago and St. Louis. With the exception of the variation in foreign exchange, these occurrences have had no effect on the general situation, which has continued spiritless and depressed, more under the influence of fear than of actual loss. For in mercantile circles although profits are small and goods are in some departments accumulating, there is undoubtedly a very fair amount of business in progress while labor is in general very well employed.

It should be kept in mind that, under existing conditions, the present volume of our domestic trade can by no means be measured by our foreign trade movement. The latter is unnatural, thoroughly deranged through the influence of currency conditions which we have so often explained. We would call the attention of our readers to an analysis, in a subsequent column, of the March figures of imports and exports, issued this week by the Bureau of Statistics. That statement gives the exports at only 56¼ millions, but the imports are nearly 61¼ millions. There has been no March since the resumption of specie payments with so small a record of exports, while the imports during that month have reached a similar total only two years during the same period. That is to say, after a long season of depression in our industries, with consumption evidently restricted, prices here compared with prices at European markets rule so high, as not only to prevent our own products from leaving us to the extent of even the worst of above years, but also to attract foreign products in greater amount than in most former years. Some will claim that our exports are small because our crops were small. That is only in part true. Crops were not so large last summer as they were the previous year, but were very much larger than in 1881–2, and in fact, taken together, probably larger than any other year except 1880. Besides, as business is depressed, products other than food ought to go out in greater volume than during more active years—that is, values ought to and would, if the influences were wholly natural, conform to the conditions of trade so as to produce that result. Furthermore, and for the same reasons, our imports should be running low. But instead of such results, we are importing freely and exporting sparingly.

In this connection the Government revenue figures for April, which we have received through the kindness of Mr. Folger, Secretary of the Treasury, are interesting, giving us as they do something of a guide for estimating the foreign imports for April, while at the same time further showing the opportunity there is for relieving the industrial situation by large tax reduction. It seems that the customs duties last month reached a total of nearly 15¼ million dollars, against 13 million dollars a year ago, and the internal revenue receipts were over 10 millions, against 9¼ millions. The monthly figures for this and last fiscal year are as follows.

It should be said, in explanation of the above, that in 1883 a larger portion than usual of our imports went into warehouse to await the tariff reductions which took effect. some of them the first of June and others the first of July. Hence the customs duties paid that month did not probably bear the same relation to the total imports that they do this year. We may consequently estimate the imports this April at say 59 millions, against 57 millions in 1883. The internal revenue receipts were also smaller last year than they otherwise would have been, some payments having been held back until after May 1st, at which date the changes in the internal revenue taxes went into effect. The foregoing figures, however, go to confirm our estimates and suggestions made April 5 (page 400) with reference to our surplus for the next fiscal year and the pressing need there is for tax reduction. To further illustrate the same truths, we give for two years the following, showing first the total merchandise imports during each of the ten months, second a similar statement of the customs receipts, and third the percentage the customs receipts have borne to the total merchandise imports for the same months.

* Estimated.

For the reason we have stated, no conclusion can be drawn from the April percentages. The final or total percentages are a more correct indication. According to them the customs receipts for the ten months under the new tariff have averaged 29·40 per cent on the total imports, against 29·79 per cent for the same months last year under the old tariff. Such figures, taken in connection with the remarks made above, afford a pretty clear indication of what the country needs. In fact, we believe that any Congressman who will study the present situation carefully, with a sole desire to take such action as will quickest relieve the existing industrial depression, cannot fail to conclude that, first of all, we need to have our currency reformed throughout, until it is made strictly responsive to our varying trade requirements; and second, we need to lessen at once the tax exactions which our industries are now burdened with. If we could secure legislation in these two directions there would be little cause for further anxiety.

The first of May Treasury statements also help us to follow the gold shipments of the last two months and to note the sources of supply. During March we shipped, according to the Bureau of Statistics, $11,323,334 net, and during April, as nearly as we can figure it from the New York totals, the net outward movement reached about 18½ million dollars, or a total of nearly 30 millions in the two months. The change that has taken place in the Treasury stock in this period is indicated in the following table, showing separately the holdings of coin and bullion, the amount of certificates issued against the same, and the total of certificates actually outstanding.

Here we see that the actual loss by the Treasury during these two months was only about 4½ million dollars, so it is evident that the banks have met the greater part of the demand. It is interesting to observe, however, how the different items of the Treasury's holdings have been affected under the drain. It has been cheaper to ship bars, so the demand has been mainly for these, and the Treasury has been the source of supply. This is seen in the fact that while on the 1st of March the Treasury stock of bullion counted for $67,017,657, on the 1st of May it counted for only $45,686,932, or nearly 21½ millions less. But while this movement of bars out of the Treasury has been in progress, the movement of certificates in, has been equally large, and this of course has offset the loss on that account. The gold certificates outstanding have been diminished in two ways: first by a reduction of the amount issued from $108,443,500 to $101,116,200, and secondly by an increase of the Treasury holdings of the same from $30,600,070 to $44,415,395, the two together involving a decrease in the amount outstanding of $21,142,625, or only a little less than the whole decrease in bullion. The falling off in the stock of coin has been about $4,200,000, which is nearly the same as the net loss of all kinds of gold by the Treasury in the two months. Turning to the bank figures, we find that whereas the associated banks of New York held $76,848,200 specie on the 1st of March, on last Saturday, April 26, this had been reduced to $58,215,300, a decrease of $18,632,900. Adding this to the Treasury loss, we get a total loss of about 23 millions, against the 30 millions sent out, leaving 7 million apparently unaccounted for. But last week's bank statement, on account of the system of averages, did not reflect in full the loss of the previous seven days, while the exports of gold on Saturday, and again on Wednesday of this week, did not of course count at all in that statement. Further, as the movement of currency has all along been in favor of this centre, it is to be presumed that by an inflow from the banks of other sections our banks have been able in part to replenish the loss on account of the export movement.

But this outflow of gold has, as already stated, temporarily received a check this week, rates for sterling exchange having been reduced on Thursday so that now actual business is being done at figures which afford little or no profit for shipments. The reasons assigned for the reduction are, the little better request for money here, the glut of money in London, and some addition to the supply of bankers' drafts. On the latter point we hear of bills of over £300,000 drawn against investments by British capitalists in Southwestern lands. Another addition to the offerings came from bills drawn on South American accounts. These, together with drafts against a variety of shipments, have made for the week a fairly good supply. Those bankers who have been fortunate enough to secure these bills have had no occasion to send gold. Others whose engagements at the other side have been more urgent have continued to ship and are still shipping, although the profits in making exports have been fractionally reduced by the inability to obtain from the Assay Office bars of a degree of fineness greater than 900, or to get from the Sub-Treasury any more double eagles. This fact of itself would tend to retard shipments; but it would be no bar to exports in case there was any great urgency in the demand for remittance. If foreign bankers find that they can employ any large amounts of capital on safe loans running for periods long enough to make it an object, they may draw liberally and thus keep the rates of exchange at or a little below current figures until such time as bills made in anticipation of the movement of the next crop of cotton become available, which will be towards the end of June. But at least so long as our imports continue large, we cannot expect that the condition of our trade will justify any material reduction in the rates for sterling. The exports of gold this week amounted to $1,777,654 77 on Wednesday, and $302,366 92 on Thursday. It is expected that the steamers sailing to-day will take $700,000.

In the stock market the transactions have been large this week, but, as already stated, the tendency of prices has been toward lower figures. There has also been evidence of the throwing over of large blocks of stocks, some of which have been held for a long time by parties abundantly able to carry their holdings, but who have doubtless sold because dissatisfied with the representations of those by whom they were first induced to buy. Last week and previously Union Pacific was manipulated in the direction of higher prices. This week the same stock has been poured upon the market under circumstances which seem to give some weight to the report that the pool who bought it nearly ten per cent higher have been forced to unload. Large blocks have also come from individual holders, and the bears have been able to cover their short contracts from the abundance of long stock.

On Monday Reading, the coal shares and the grangers were raided, the latter on a rumor, subsequently denied, of the rupture of the tripartite pool. The denial of this rumor was accompanied by the statement that the conference between the Quincy and the Union Pacific had resulted in the appointment of commissioners to examine and report upon percentages for eight separate pools at as many different Western points, and it was stated that the prospects were good for an amicable adjustment of all the differences between the roads in that section. On Tuesday morning a calling in of Lake Shore started a covering movement in the other oversold stocks, and the market was generally strong until the afternoon, when it became unsettled by liberal sales of Western Union, Union Pacific, and Central Pacific. The decline was arrested by a sharp advance in Central New Jersey and Reading, but the effect of this movement was only temporary and the tone was weak at the close. In the afternoon of this day an injunction was obtained in one of the State courts against the New York West Shore & Buffalo, but the papers were imperfect and the writ was annulled the next morning, causing a sharp recovery in the bonds early on Wednesday. There was also at the same time a manipulated rise in the stocks which were weakest the day before, and after a raid upon Lake Shore and Louisville & Nashville, the market was generally strong until the late trade, when news that Mr. James R. Keene was unable to meet his engagements on privilege contracts caused an unsettled feeling for the remainder of the day. On Thursday the market was again manipulated in the direction of higher prices, the smaller bears covered their short contracts, and with the exception of occasional re-actions, the movement was upward until the last hour of business. Then disquieting rumors aided the bears in a demonstration upon Western Union, Union Pacific, Denver, and the Gould specialties, and the market was weak at the close, Western Union selling at 60½, against 56 in 1877, the lowest price previously recorded, and Union Pacific at 61, against 57½ in 1879. The fall in Western Union was in part due to the reduction of rates on messages, which went into effect Thursday. On Friday there was a fractional advance at the opening, but under renewed depression in Union Pacific and Western Union (the former dropping to 57⅞ and the latter to 59¾), the whole market became weak; later, a rise in the Northern Pacific stocks (on reports of large earnings) was one of the features of the day, but the close was quite irregular, though generally somewhat better.

Central Pacific has not yet issued a report of its operations for the year 1883, though we have just entered upon the fifth month of the year 1884. But this week there comes, by way of California, a statement of the company's income during 1883, which, in the absence of the detailed report, will repay a few moments' study. It shows (what was known before) that the company's gross income during the year fell off in amount of nearly a million dollars, but it also shows that expenses were reduced over $400,000 at the same time, so that the loss in net is only $563,000. Still, as the balance remaining in 1882 was hardly more than nominal, this further loss in 1883 makes the company show a deficit in meeting its 6 per cent dividend of $430,235, and this has caused unfavorable comment. How the present statement compares with those of the two years preceding, made up in the same way, appears below.

As compared with either 1881 or 1882—and especially the former year—the exhibit is unsatisfactory; but taken by itself, the result for 1883 is really more favorable than appears on the face. It should be remembered that the Central Pacific has large annual payments to make on account of its debt to the Government, on account of the sinking funds on its own debt, and on account of the redemption (out of land sales) of its land grant bonds. In this way, no less than $2,337,625 was paid out during 1883, and the deficit of $430,235 occurs because of that fact. Except for these payments there would be a large surplus, instead of a deficit, on the year's operations. It is only fair to say that payments of this kind can hardly be called a legitimate charge against income—certainly not when they reach any such amount as in the present instance. The less favorable result in 1883 than in 1882 and 1881 is to be ascribed largely to the continued reduction in rates as a result of increased competition, and also by the scaling down of charges on local business by the California Railroad Commissioners. Thus far in the present year the same influences have been at work, and the company also suffered an interruption of traffic by reason of the floods in Southern California, so that its gross receipts for the first three months fall $647,166 below those of the first three months in 1883.

Philadelphia & Reading's exhibit for March presents the same general characteristics as in the months immediately preceding—namely, a continued reduction in coal tonnage, under the restriction of production that has been in progress, and a further large loss in gross and net earnings, with also an additional loss on account of the lease of the Central of New Jersey. As the Reading is such a large producer of coal (together with the Central New Jersey, it now controls about one-third of the entire production of anthracite in the country), and is so dependent upon this item of traffic for its prosperity, the contraction in the output of that article of course affects its income and revenues to a very great extent. How the restriction worked in reducing tonnage during March is seen in the fact that the coal traffic of the road (allowing for the Central of New Jersey) reached only 376,773 tons the present year, against 660,903 tons in the same month of 1883, a decline of 284,130 tons, or over 40 per cent. That is the one unfavorable feature in the Reading's present position—the diminished demand, necessitating a reduced output of coal. Its merchandise and passenger traffic not only keep up well, but actually show an increase on the preceding year. Thus without counting those on the Central of New Jersey there were carried in March, 1884, 1,013,443 passengers, against only 970,332 in March, 1883, and the movement of general merchandise was 599,478 tons, against 589,828 tons in 1883. But of course the gain here could only in very small measure offset the loss on coal. Furthermore, the same fact that causes the Reading to make such a poor showing on its own lines, has also operated to reduce the results on the Central of New Jersey, so that there is this month another heavy loss in operating that road under the lease. As the figures of gross and net earnings in the company's monthly statement do not afford a correct comparison with 1883, by reason of the inclusion the present year of the operations of the Central New Jersey (not so included in 1883) we have prepared the following table in our usual form to obviate that difficulty.

| Philadelphia & Reading RR. | March. | | Four Months. | |

Here we see (1) that under the restriction in coal production the Reading and Central of New Jersey combined earned $602,875 net this year, while in March last year the Reading alone earned $702,502; (2) that taking out $199,738 for the Central New Jersey, the Reading's own net reach $403,137, against the $702,502 actually earned in March, 1883; (3) that the $199,738 net taken out for the Central of New Jersey fall $272,311 short of meeting the monthly rental which the Reading assumed on account of the lease, so that there is this additional amount to be deducted from the Reading's net earnings of $403,137, in order to bring the comparison back to the basis of a year ago, before the lease was made; allowing for this, we have net earnings remaining of $130,826 this year, against the $702,502 which remained in March, 1883. For the four months of the company's fiscal year—December 1 to April 1—after making in full the allowances necessary on account of the Central of New Jersey lease and rental, we find that the Reading had left $699,445 to apply to its own charges for interest, rentals, &c., against $2,841,244 in the corresponding four months of the previous fiscal year.

Money on call has been a little more active this week, and the majority of the loans at the Stock Exchange have been at 2@2½ per cent. The demand appears to be entirely legitimate, and it is probably caused by the shifting of loans resulting from the sharp fluctuations and the decline in stocks. The movement of currency at interior points is still in this direction, and it is therefore probable that the supply of loanable funds will continue for the present at least fully to equal the demand. An important export movement in whiskey from Louisville and other distilling centres tends to relieve apprehensions which have been felt lest the banks in those localities might be called upon to make further advances in order to enable the manufacturers of the whiskey to pay the tax and withdraw it from bond. Arrangements have been made for the export of about 2,000,000 gallons of the manufacture of 1881, tax on which would have to be paid on May 5. This product is being sent to Bermuda and Germany, where it will be held at the pleasure of the owners, and the banks now loaning on the domestic warehouse receipts will accept instead those given by the foreign warehouses. The movement has already commenced, and it will probably continue until nearly all the whiskey distilled in 1881 is exported. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have gained $750,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury and lost $3,800,000 by exports of gold. Adding these items, therefore, to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total gain to the N.Y. Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day. It should be said that last week's statement was made up on declining averages, while the payments yesterday by the Treasury for interest can count only in part in this week's averages, so the statement to-day may not be as favorable as here indicated.

The Bank of France gained 4,439,000 francs gold and 1,439,000 francs silver. The Bank of Germany reports an increase of 12,943,000 marks. ## OUR DIMINISHING FOREIGN TRADE.

The course of our foreign trade during March, which was reflected by the early statements of breadstuffs and provisions exports and by the outflow of gold, is more clearly shown in the report issued this week by the Bureau of Statistics, of our total trade movement for the month. Ever since last autumn the merchandise balance has been running in our favor; but now it has been reversed, and instead of an excess of exports, we have for March an excess of imports in the sum of over 5 million dollars. In the corresponding month of 1883, the balance was nearly 17 million dollars in our favor, so that on this one month we are about 22 million dollars behind 1883. With our foreign trade in such a condition and with a further large balance due from us for interest, ocean freight, &c., it is not surprising that the movement of gold out of the country should have assumed large proportions. In the following table we give the merchandise imports and exports from each leading port this and last year, from which it will be seen that every port specified shows smaller exports in March 1884 than in March 1883.

It will be noted that almost the entire difference between this and last year is due to the heavy contraction of 21½ millions in our merchandise exports, but it will also be observed that the total of the imports has been maintained at a very high figure, and is even half a million above the large movement of March 1883. The total is 61¼ millions, and is 6½ millions greater than in the month of February preceding. It is true that the March imports are almost invariably heavier than those of either January or February, but in view of the fact that these latter months exhibited a falling off from 1883, it was supposed that the same would prove true of March, and to discover now that there has actually been an increase, is, to say the least, occasion for surprise. For no one could anticipate in a time of business depression when our exports are falling to the smallest figures known for years, when gold as a result is flowing out in such amounts as to disturb the public mind—that, in the combination of unfavorable circumstances, there should be no check or interruption to the imports, a diminution of which would afford such a natural, ready means of improving the situation. The only explanation that can be made is that we have through our unfortunate currency arrangements prevented the laws of trade from asserting themselves, so that we keep on importing goods as if in the midst of the prosperous times of 1880 and 1881. If gold occupied the proper place in our currency, instead of the inferior position which it is really made to hold, the outflow in progress would speedily apply its own corrective, and a proper equilibrium be established. As it is, a recovery is delayed and for that reason more trying, since it can come only through such a depression in business as shall make prices reflect the tendency of the times. At present, it looks as if we were approaching such a condition, and as if our imports would henceforth make progress toward that lower level which they are bound to reach, before a permanent recovery can be looked for. An evidence that the large imports during March did not go into consumption is found in the fact that while at the beginning of the month the stock of goods in the warehouses was only $30,907,627, at the end of the month it had reached $33,330,212—an increase of nearly 2½ million dollars. At the same date in 1883 the amount was $35,469,127, but then the total was being constantly added to, by reason of a disposition to keep goods in bond to get the benefit of the new tariff law.

As to the exports, the statement that the movement is 21½ millions below the figure of a year ago in March, conveys only an inadequate idea of how small it really is. Not since the year 1877 have we had in that month a total so diminutive as the present. To make this plain, we give below the movement each year in March since 1877.

|---|---|---|---|
| 1877 | $45,791,286 | 1881 | $85,068,794 |
| 1878 | 71,529,498 | 1882 | 62,613,872 |
| 1879 | 66,154,745 | 1883 | 77,651,820 |
| 1880 | 77,350,547 | 1884 | 56,218,705 |

Thus the total is smaller even than in 1878 by 15 million dollars, and as compared with the best year that March has seen—namely, 1881—there is a falling off of nearly 29 millions. The decrease from last year is, as already said, 21½ millions, and turning to see how so great a loss occurred, we find that there has been a falling off in all the leading staples of domestic exports—breadstuffs, provisions, cotton, petroleum, the reduction being in breadstuffs $7,388,416, and in provisions $4,823,420, or together $12,206,836. Of cotton, we have not the values, but our own statistics as to quantity show that we only shipped 379,528 bales of the staple this year, against 503,290 bales in March, 1883, a diminution of 123,762 bales. Prices, however, are considerably higher, low middling uplands being quoted at 10½ and 11 1-16 cents respectively at the beginning and end of the month in 1884, while in 1883 the quotation was 9 11-16 and 9 9-16 cents. The petroleum shipments also underwent a diminution, if the figures of the movement at New York are any criterion of the total movement from the United States, though here, too, the average of prices was probably a little higher than in 1883. But the falling off in cotton, petroleum, breadstuffs and provisions does not apparently account for the whole of the 21½ millions loss in the total exports, so the conclusion is, that general and miscellaneous items of exports must also have been of smaller amount this year. The breadstuffs and provisions movement from each leading port is shown below.

But it is not only our merchandise staples of export which show a smaller movement. There is one other commodity which we produce in abundance here and for which we ought to find a foreign market in increasing amounts, but which also records a falling off. We refer to silver. Remembering that the merchandise balance was against us this year, while it was largely in our favor a year ago, and that we have plenty of silver and no gold to spare, one would naturally suppose that a greater amount of silver had gone out this March in liquidation of our indebtedness than in 1883. Such is not the case. We actually exported more silver in March, 1883, when our trade balance did not require any shipment of the precious metals in settlement, than we did this year, when such shipment was imperative. In 1883 the silver exports for the month aggregated $2,957,474; this year the amount was only $2,088,103, though we also imported about $300,000 less. Of gold, on the other hand, we shipped $12,224,135 this year, against which $900,801 imports were received, making the net shipments $11,323,334; while in 1883 only $284,180 was sent out and $3,244,859 was received, making the net ingo then nearly 3 million dollars. What better illustration could possibly be given of the effect of our over-valuation of silver and undervaluation of gold. We hold on to the poorer and get rid of the better in making settlements for merchandise debts.

Returning to the breadstuffs exports, it is of course unnecessary for us to say that wheat and flour are mainly responsible for the falling off. But corn is hardly less conspicuous in this respect, and in partial explanation it should be said that the shipments of this cereal last year were unusually large by reason of the fact that there was a heavy demand just at that time, the crop of the season of 1881 having left a large shortage which could not be met out of that of the season of 1882 until the early months of 1883. The decrease in the shipments of wheat continues to be more marked than of flour, and we have again to note that in value the two very closely approximate each other. Thus the value of flour exported was $3,618,617, while of wheat it was $4,387,514, or but about $700,000 more. Rye, as in previous months, is noteworthy for its gains. Following are the figures.

COTTON CONSUMPTION AND OVERLAND MOVEMENT TO MAY 1.

We bring down our overland statements to-day to May 1. The figures now cover the first eight months of the crop season.

OVERLAND MOVEMENT TO MAY 1, 1884.

The gross rail shipments during April record a decrease from the figures for the same month of the two previous years, the month's movement being 80,276 bales, against 89,155 bales last year and 80,683 bales in 1882; for the eight months the total now reaches 953,946 bales, against 1,078,811 bales and 997,768 bales respectively for the same period of the two preceding seasons. In the net movement the falling off is equally decided, the April figures being only 20,398 bales, while in 1883 they were 27,538 bales, and in 1882 reached 35,157 bales. The total for the season up to date is 546,726 bales, against 599,862 bales last season and 429,630 bales in 1881–82. Our usual table, giving in detail the movement for the eight months of this year and the two preceding years, is as follows.

RECEIPTS, EXPORTS AND SPINNERS' TAKINGS.

The falling off from previous seasons in the receipts at the ports, noted last month, has continued during April. The month's movement has been only 111,755 bales, against 284,519 bales in 1883 and 147,595 bales in 1882, making the total for the eight months 4,706,873 bales, against 5,630,189 bales for the same period last season and 4,438,235 bales in 1881-82. Exports during the month exhibit a marked decline from the two preceding years, reaching the small total of 186,098 bales; for the same time last year the figures were 388,058 bales and in 1882 reached 352,348 bales. For the eight months of the season the total exports reach 3,509,981 bales, against 4,106,241 bales in 1882-83 and 3,038,206 bales in 1881-82. Port stocks are now about 103,389 bales below those at the same time in 1883, and the stocks at the interior towns are fully 80,000 bales less than on April 30 last year. Using the facts disclosed by the foregoing statements, we shall find that the portion of the crop which has reached a market through the outports and overland, and the Southern consumption since September 1 this year and the two previous years, is as follows.

| Receipts at the ports to May 1.....bales. | 4,706,873 | 5,630,189 | 4,438,235 |

| Southern consumption since September 1. | 264,000 | 275,000 | 210,000 |
| Total to May 1.....bales. | 5,517,599 | 6,505,051 | 5,077,865 |

The amount of cotton marketed since September 1 in 1883–84 is thus seen to be 987,452 bales less than in 1882–83 and 439,734 bales more than in 1881–82. To determine the portion which has gone into the hands of Northern spinners during the same period, we give the following.

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Total receipts to May 1, 1884, as above.....bales. | | | 5,517,599 |
| Stock on hand commencement of year (Sept. 1, 1883)— | | | |

| Taken by Northern spinners same time in 1882-83..... | | | 1,538,968 |
| Decrease in takings by Northern spinners this year..bales. | | | 147,190 |

The above indicates that Northern spinners had up to May 1 taken 1,391,778 bales, a decrease from the corresponding period of 1882–83 of 147,190 bales and from the same months of 1881–82 of 1,109 bales.

AMOUNT OF CROP NOW IN SIGHT.

In the foregoing we have the number of bales which has already been marketed this year and the two previous seasons. An additional fact of interest is the total of the crop which was in sight on May 1, compared with previous years. We reach that point by adding to the above the stock remaining at that date at the interior towns, less stock held by them at the beginning of the season. In this manner we find the result for three years on May 1 to be as follows.

| Total marketed, as above....bales. | 5,517,599 | 6,505,051 | 5,077,865 |
| Interior stocks in excess of Sept. 1 | 35,000 | 168,000 | 112,400 |
| Total in sight.....bales. | 5,552,599 | 6,673,051 | 5,190,265 |

This indicates that the movement up to May 1 of the present year is 1,120,452 bales less than in 1882–83 and 362,334 bales more than in 1881–82.

As it will interest the reader to see what has come into sight each month of the season during this and previous years, we have prepared the following, which shows the movement for the last three seasons.

It will be noticed that the movement up to May 1 shows a decrease in the average weight as compared with the same periods of the last two years, the average this year being 482·11 lbs. per bale, against 489·95 lbs. per bale for the same time in 1882–83 and 474·58 in 1881–82.

THE COTTON GOODS TRADE IN APRIL.

There has been a fairly active demand for plain and colored cottons in the leading markets during the first two weeks of the month, owing to the upward tendency of the raw material; but buyers supplied their immediate and near prospective wants, and the market again relapsed into a quiet condition. Exceptionally low prices stimulated large dealings in cotton flannels, and there was an active demand for these goods throughout the month. Brown, bleached and colored cottons have ruled steady in price, and Atlantic sheetings were advanced ¼c. per yard on the 25th inst. Print cloths were in fair demand, and a trifle dearer at times, but closed weak and lower. The stock of print cloths in the hands of manufacturers and speculators at the close of the month reached about 775,000 pieces, against 689,000 pieces on April 1, 1884, 602,000 pieces on May 1, 1883, and 1,276,000 pieces on May 1, 1882. The proposition to restrict production by partial shutting down of the cotton mills in New England, and by reducing the hours of labor, has met with much favor among many manufacturers. Some of the mills, however, are bound by foreign contracts, while still others have on hand a full supply of the raw material, so that the short-time movement will not be uniform; but it is expected that there will be a considerable reduction in running time. It is now stated that the Lowell companies will shut down one day of each week (Saturday) beginning May 3.

FINANCIAL REVIEW OF APRIL.

The two events in April which excited more attention than any others were the continued large export of gold and the extreme depression in stocks in the latter part of the month.

The export of gold, in view of the trade situation as to foreign commerce, seemed perfectly natural; and except for the silver question and the piling up of silver dollars by the continued coinage of $28,000,000 annually, the export of $50,000,000 gold in the present half-year might not be regarded with any particular apprehension in the plethoric condition which our money market has been in for a long time past. The shipments of gold from New York in April were about 18½ million dollars, and the shipments since January 1 about 31¾ million dollars, these being the net amounts in excess of imports.

To regular readers of the Chronicle who had been well informed that the cotton crop of 1883 was 1,000,000 bales short of 1882, and the wheat crop was about 80,000,000 bushels short, it could hardly be surprising that the trade movement of the first-half of the present year did not compare well with its predecessors.

The money market was affected only to a slight degree by the decrease in gold, and the city banks did not fall below the legal limit in their reserves.

At the Stock Exchange the latter half of the month was marked by an extreme depression in prices throughout nearly the whole list, and the lowest points reached by many stocks were the lowest they had touched in several years. While the immediate cause for this decline was to be found, as usual, in the action of prominent operators, the movement was based on the decline in railroad earnings on a number of leading roads—notably the Union Pacific, Pennsylvania Railroad, Erie, and presumably the other trunk lines not reported, also the Philadelphia & Reading, and, as supposed, the Wabash and Southwestern Gould roads, the earnings of these latter in 1884 having been suppressed. The Gould stocks were among the weakest, and the Stock Exchange rumors gave to Mr. Gould the credit of being the chief operator for a decline in the present movement. At the close of the month the tone was a little better; but prices—especially of Western Union and Union Pacific—showed but little recovery as compared with the heavy decline that had previously taken place.

Foreign Exchange was necessarily firm to permit of the export of so much gold, and the depression in stocks probably had the effect of checking any large purchases here for foreign account.

The following summary shows the condition of the New York City Clearing-House banks, rate of foreign exchonge and prices of leading securities and articles of merchandise, on or about the 1st day of May, 1882, 1883 and 1884.

LONDON, Saturday, April 19, 1884.

Business during the past week has presented much of a holiday appearance; but the features which have manifested themselves may, on the whole, be regarded as favorable. If very cheap money is a sign significant of prosperity, the trade and financial business of the future should be very remunerative; but, unfortunately, the want of confidence which has been prevailing for so protracted a period has restricted general business to such an extent that the financial requirements of the community are now unusually limited. Gold continues to arrive from the United States in large quantities, and a considerable amount has now been piled up at the Bank of England. The supply of bills in the discount market is very limited, and as there is but little inquiry for money for financial purposes the rates of interest for loans, as well as the rates of discount, have declined during the week to a considerable extent, more especially when it is borne in mind how low the quotations previously were. The position of the Bank of England must continue to improve during the next few weeks, and the opinion is becoming very general that a 2 per cent Bank rate is more than probable. Business throughout the country during the remainder of the spring and during the earlier summer months is likely to remain stagnant, and it is just as difficult to foresee the future as it was months ago. Cheap money and reasonable prices for food fail at the present time to give a stimulus to activity quite as distinctly as they did last year, and calculations and opinions regarding the future possess but little value. Merchants will undoubtedly pursue the same inert policy that has so long been the characteristic of the commercial world, and it is evidently the better course at present.

The Bank of England return issued this week is favorable, and the proportion of reserve to liabilities has risen from 45¾ to 47¾ per cent, an improvement of 2 per cent. The increase in the supply of bullion, notwithstanding that £321,000 was sent into the establishment during the week, does not exceed £90,694; but this may be accounted for by the fact that the holidays have caused a large increase in the circulation of gold coin. The supply of gold held by the Bank now amounts to £25,136,242, against £21,258,805, while the total reserve is £15,373,022, against £11,302,765 last year. "Other securities" amount to £22,032,307, contrasting with £22,182,240 in 1883.

The demand for money has fallen away considerably, and the rate for short loans is now 1½ to 2 per cent. The discount market has been very quiet, and the rates have had a downward tendency. A still further increase of ease is anticipated.

The following are the quotations for money and the interest allowed by the discount houses to-day and same day of the previous five weeks:

In reference to the state of the bullion market during the past week Messrs. Pixley & Abell remark:

Gold.—The influx of gold from America has in no way abated, and the Bank of England still continues to receive the bulk of arrivals. The amounts bought during the past week amount to £581,000, against £60,000 sold.

The only demand is for shipment to South America, and for a small amount to India the former sum being about £ 00,000.

The arrivals are: £499,600 from New York, £7,000 from River Plate, £5,000 from the West Indies and £4,100 from the Cape; total, £515,700. The Royal Mail steamer Don takes £10,000 to the West Indies.

Silver has made a considerable advance since our last, and the price, which was quoted as 50 9/16d. on Wednesday last, may now be called 50¾d., owing to increased business for India and a Continental demand.

We have received £65,000 from the River Plate, £44,000 from the Pacific coast (not £80,000 as mentioned), £6,600 from New York and £4,200 from the West Indies; total, £120,800. The Don takes £8,000 to the West Indies, and the P. & O. steamer £142,500, in bars, to Bombay.

Mexican Dollars.—We have to report the arrival of £160,000 per French steamer and £8,800 by other boats from Vera Cruz. The price to-day may be called 49 9/16d., showing an advance of 3/16d. over the prices of last week.

Advices from Berlin state that a new Russian 5 per cent loan has been arranged, the price of issue being 86 per cent. It is understood that it is already a success, as the Prussian Government has lent it its moral support. The total amount of the loan is £15,000,000, and the object is, as usual, to construct railways in those districts which need them. Russian securities are still held in favor by Continental capitalists, but they are less sought after in this country. The Russian Government, however, is too astute to fail in its obligations, and there is no doubt many here will make investments even at a premium. Even supposing the quotation to advance to 90, a good and comparatively safe rate of interest is obtainable.

It is a satisfactory feature in commercial circles that the creditors of Messrs. im Thurn & Co., who failed in 1875 with gross liabilities amounting to £3,000,000, have been paid 20s. in the £.

The weather during the week has been bitterly cold, with strong easterly winds and with some slight showers of rain. Vegetation has been kept seriously in check, and some are of opinion that the fruit crop, which promised well, will be injured. The little rain which has fallen is not, however, calculated to do much harm, and the frosts being dry ones, not much harm has probably been done. It is when late frosts are accompanied by much rain that anxiety becomes reasonable. For the cereal and other crops the weather has been satisfactory, and it cannot now be said that vegetation is in a forward state. Some warm and genial rains will, in fact, soon be welcome, especially in those districts where the soil is light.

The wheat trade has remained in a very dull and inactive state. Where sales are pressed, lower prices have to be accepted; but there is no actual change. The course of the wheat trade in the United States is being closely watched, and buyers operate here with great, and no doubt judicious, caution. It will be seen by the figures given below that although the stocks of wheat in the United Kingdom are considerably less than at the commencement of the year, they are largely in excess of last year. The stocks of flour have not varied to any important extent.

The quantities of wheat, flour and Indian corn afloat to the United Kingdom, not including those from the Baltic, are as follows:

| | At present. | Last week. | Last year. | 1882. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Wheat.....qrs. | 1,9 0.000 | 1,853,000 | 2.186,000 | 2,205,000 |

| Indian corn..... | 132,5 0 | 194,500 | 268,000 | 162,000 |

| | SALES. 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |

| Oats..... | 19 9 | 21 1 | 20 11 | 24 5 |

Converting quarters of wheat into hundred-weights, the total sales in the whole kingdom are estimated as follows:

| | 1883-84. | 1882-83. | 1881-82. | 1880-81. |
| Wheat.....cwt. | 28,934,000 | 28,902,085 | 24,778,180 | 21,124,000 |

☞ This aggregate is arrived at by multiplying the sales in the 187 markets above by 3⅓, and that result is reduced to cwt. by multiplying it by 4⅓. This proportion between the 187 markets and the totals for the kingdom is adopted by the London grain trade and is accepted by it as producing a result approximately correct.

Annexed is a return showing the extent of the imports of cereal produce into the United Kingdom during the first 33 weeks of the season, &c.:

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, MAY 2, 1884—5 P.M.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—A week ago we referred to the general movement on the part of manufacturers in all parts of the country, and in almost every line of industry, to reduce the cost of producing their goods by reducing the wages of operatives, thus accepting the current low prices of commodities as comparatively permanent, and thus also requiring the railroads to prepare to accept the lower rates of transportation that the changed conditions have forced upon them, making a corresponding reduction in the cost of operating. This latter reduction is now in progress on many railroads, some of which are making contracts for the year for coal at prices which will reduce the cost of fuel 10 per cent. The Union Pacific Railroad also gives notice to its employes of a reduction in wages and salaries on May 1st, which will average probably 11 per cent of all salaries and wages paid, and of course salaries constitute one of the main items in the cost of operating a road. If, now, allowance be made for the lower cost of all materials, supplies, &c., it will be seen that we have here the means of very materially decreasing the ratio of expenses to earnings, which later on may make itself apparent in more favorable returns of net earnings.

The movement of grain from the producers' hands to the primary markets in the principal Western cities is steadily diminishing, and the eastward movement of products also diminished during the latter part of the past month. The exports for the week to April 26 had not yet begun to show the effects of the speculative rise in the prices of wheat in this country, and showed a slight increase over the preceding week. But the fact that the price of wheat has been advanced 10 cents per bushel here, and has been met by little or no advance in the foreign markets, shows that the American markets have got so far away from the foreign that exports must again be expected to decline.

The advancing tendency of rates of interest in the New York market, though not manifest in any very important change in the quotations, has still had a decided effect on the foreign exchanges. Money is now so superabundant in London and on the Continent that the slight hardening tendency here has been sufficient to cause a reduction of ½c. on the £ on sterling exchange, which brings it to figures where there is scarcely any profit in making shipments. The total exports of gold in the week from Friday the 25th to Friday, May 2, were $3,836,144, and about $700,000 more has been engaged for shipment to-morrow.

Money on call on stock collaterals in the last week has ranged from 1½ to 5 per cent, the great bulk of the transactions, however, being made at 2½ to 3. This is an advance averaging about 1 per cent over the range of the several previous weeks, but it has been made more by an increasing disposition of lenders to advance the rates, in view of the possibility of a diminished supply later on, than from any immediate decrease or any increase of demand. Money is also still moving to this city from the interior, the domestic exchanges in all the Western and Southern cities being in favor of New York, and the prospect is fair of a continued good supply. Nevertheless there is less disposition to make time loans at low rates. There is no more 3½ per cent time money, though loans on dividend stocks can yet be had at 4 per cent. Discount rates for mercantile paper remain unchanged at 4 and 4½ for endorsed paper for 2 and 4 months and 5 and 5½ for single names.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England showed a loss of £1,828 in specie and a reduction in the reserve to 48½ per cent from 49 per cent last week. The Bank of France gained 4,439,000 francs in gold and 1,439,000 francs in silver. The Bank of Germany gained 12,943,000 marks in specie.

The following table shows the changes from the previous week and a comparison with the two preceding years in the averages of the New York Clearing House banks.

Exchange.—The market for sterling has kept rather firm all the past week, and the supply of commercial bills has been very light. Nevertheless, in view of the hardening tendency in the money market here and the extremely easy money in London, the posted rates for sterling were reduced on Thursday ½ cent on the £, to 4 88 and 4 90. The rates for actual business at the same time were reduced as follows, viz.: Sixty days, 4 87¼@4 87½; demand, 4 89¼@4 89½; cables, 4 89¾. Commercial bills sold at 4 85½@4 86½.

United States Bonds.—Government bonds have been a little more active this week at fractionally lower prices.

State and Railroad Bonds.—There was more business in the market for railroad bonds in the last week than in any of the three preceding weeks, and the fluctuations of prices have been greater, with the result a general decline, which in some cases in the early part of the week was very large, though partly recovered within the last day or two. The wide range of the fluctuations for the week is shown below, viz.: Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern firsts at 103, 104, 103⅝; Burlington & Quincy debenture 5s at 97½, 98¼, 98 and ex interest 95½; Canada Southern firsts at 100¾, 99¾, 100; Chesapeake & Ohio firsts, series B, at 103½, 104, 103⅝ and ex interest 100¾@100½; do. currency 6s at 52¼, 53, 51½; Denver & Rio Grande firsts at 106, 102 and ex interest at 92½, 94½; do. consols at 70½, 60, 64, 62¾; Rio Grande Western firsts at 52, 43¾, 48; East Tennessee incomes at 25¼, 25, 28¼, 28; Evansville & Terre Haute 6s at 99½, 98; Erie second consols at 83¼, 83¾, 82, 84, 83½; Fort Worth & Denver City firsts at 65, 68¾; International & Great Northern 6s at 85½, 84, 84½; Kansas & Texas general mortgage 6s at 79¾, 75½, 77; Metropolitan firsts at 106½, 105; do. seconds at 96½, 97¾, 96⅞; Northern Pacific firsts at 102¾, 104¼, 104; Ohio Central firsts at 68, 63; do. Incomes at 9½, 6; Oregon Short Line 6s at 89, 86⅞, 87; Oregon & Trans-Continental firsts at 73, and ex interest at 70, 69¾, 73; Texas & Pacific land grant Incomes at 46, 44, 46, 45; do. Rio Grande division firsts at 69, 64, 67, 65½; Wabash general mortgage 6s at 48½, 44, 47½; Oregon Improvement firsts at 64, 65; New York West Shore & Buffalo 5s at 51, 50, 54, 52¾, 54¼, 53½.

State issues were extremely dull throughout the week and prices were slightly lower. Sales included Louisiana Consols at 77, Tennessee mixed at 42, do Compromise at 47¾, 47½, and Arkansas 6s funded at 15¼, 14.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The general course of the stock market in the last week, like that of the several previous weeks, has been toward lower prices, and many of the leading speculative stocks touched lower figures in the last few days than they have touched before for many years. The main causes for this decline are the competition, and consequent reduction in rates of freights and fares on railways, and of the charges for messages on telegraph lines. Among the railroads in the Trunk Line Pool, competition has reduced freights between Chicago and St. Louis and New York to where there is no profit in doing the work. The struggle between the Union Pacific and its tripartite allies and the Burlington & Quincy remains undecided yet. The association of Trans-Continental roads for the maintenance of rates appears also to be in danger of dissolution, and some of the features of the market in the last week have indicated the probability of a struggle between various Trans-Continental interests for the control of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Co.'s lines. The decline in prices has been increased and prolonged by the temper of some of the most prominent operators who have been on the bear side of the market, and Mr. Gould has the reputation of having been a heavy seller of stocks. An incident of the continued decline was the suspension on Wednesday of Mr. James R. Keene, who was unable to take the stocks tendered to him on his outstanding puts. Pretty nearly the whole market is lower than a week ago, but Union Pacific, Central Pacific and Western Union Telegraph have sustained the largest depreciation, amounting for the week to 6@9 points. About the only stocks that have advanced are those of the Northern Pacific system, which are higher on large earnings. Delaware Lackawanna & Western has been very firmly held, and closes ½ higher than last Friday.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Chicago St. Louis & Pittsburg Railroad Company.

(For the year ending Dec. 31, 1883.)

The first annual report of this railroad company, formerly the Col. Chic. & Ind. Central, has just been issued, and after reciting the facts relating to the foreclosure and reorganization, says:

"Your company having completed its organization March 20, 1883, took possession of your property April 2, 1883, and the portion of the road in Illinois having been operated in connection with the residue of the property the figures hereinafter submitted cover the working of the entire line.

"Under the provisions of the agreement entered into between the creditors and stockholders of the C. C. & I. C. Railway Company, the consideration to be paid by the C. St. L. & Pitts. Railroad Co. for the property in question was:

"First. The assumption of the mortgage debts of the original companies consolidated into the C. C. & I. C. Railway Co., amounting to $5,334,834, of which there have been paid to Dec. 31, 1883, $294,600; outstanding Dec. 31, 1883, $5,040,234.

"Second. The delivery to the purchasing committee of the following securities of your company, to be by them delivered to the holders of the securities of the C. C. & I. C. Railway Company, in accordance with the plan of reorganization, viz.: $22,000,000 five per cent consolidated first mortgage bonds, $20,000,000 preferred stock and $10,000,000 common stock; but with the agreement that such of the securities as should not be needed for the above purpose should be returned to your company.

"There have been issued to Dec. 31, 1883, of these securities:

|---|---|
| Common stock | $6,570,142 |
| Amount to be used in exchange for stock of the C. C. & I. C. Railway Co., when presented | 3,178,957 |
| Balance in the treasury of the company | 250,900 |
| Preferred stock, issued to Dec. 31, 1883 | $17,101,200 |
| To be issued | 431,100 |
| Balance in treasury | 2,467,400 |
| Five per cent. consol. first mortgage issued to Dec. 31, 1883 | $12,503,000 |
| To be issued in redemption of certificates | 116,000 |
| Reserved for payment of sectional bonds | 5,500,0 0 |

The amount of interest on bonded debt appearing in the statement below does not show the proper proportion for the nine months of the year, as but one interest payment matured during that period on the 5 per cent bonds of the company, and on some of the sectional bonds. Assuming that all the 5 per cent bonds of the company had been issued which it was liable to issue under the terms of the purchase of the property, the total interest for one year on the funded debt, including the outstanding sectional bonds, would have been $1,003,581. Three-fourths of this sum, being the amount appertaining to the business from April 2 to Dec. 31, 1883, would have been $752,685; deducting this amount from net income for the nine months would leave a surplus of $111,653.

"Of the sectional bonds, subject to which your company purchased the road, the outstanding preferred first mortgage bonds of the Columbus & Indianapolis Railway Company, amounting to $157,000, the common first mortgage bonds of the same company, amounting to $153,000, and the second mortgage bonds of the same company, amounting to $3,500, all bearing 7 per cent interest, matured Dec. 1, 1883. Up to Dec. 31, 1883, there had been paid of the first issue $146,000, of the second $141,000, and of the last $3,000, leaving still outstanding at that date, of the former issue $11,000, of the second $12,000, and of the last $500. There also matured, on Feb. 1, 1884, the first mortgage 7 per cent bonds of the Toledo Logansport & Burlington Railway Company, amounting to $510,500, for the payment of which provision has been made. No further issue of these sectional bonds matures until Nov. 1, 1886.

The increase of earnings from freight was the result of better rates obtained during the year on this class of business, the tonnage and ton mileage having both decreased. The decrease in the tonnage was mainly owing to reduced crops of cereals during the past year, and to the fact that a large amount of business which formerly passed over the line to and from the New York Lake Erie & Western Railway was transferred to the Chicago & Atlantic Railway upon the opening of that line to Chicago. "The ratio of expenses to earnings was 81 90-100 per cent, as against 86 27-100 per cent in 1882; but this was partly due to the policy adopted of charging to construction account the cost of improvements and additions made since your company assumed control of the property and which, under the administration of the receivers of the C. C. & I. C. Railway, had been charged to expenses."

The condition of the car equipment has also been bettered, and additions made thereto. The condition of the track, especially on the Western Division, has been considerably improved. The bridges and buildings were also generally renewed and improved, and the cost charged to expenses. There were laid additional side tracks to the extent of about 17 miles, the cost of which was charged to construction.

It was considered essential to the economical handling of the traffic of the road that extensive betterments and additions should be promptly made upon the line; and the sum of $675,906 was expended upon a connection with the Pittsburg Ft. Wayne & Chicago Railway at Chicago, and in the extension of sidings and other improvements. A further expenditure for similar purposes will have to be made during the current year, in order to bring the property and its appurtenances to a higher state of efficiency. Under a contract authorized by the board, and executed April 20, 1883, the company acquired the right to use the track of the Ind. Peru & Chic. Railway, between Indianapolis and Kokomo, at a rental of 6 per cent on one-half of its appraised value, together with a proportionate share of the cost of maintaining the same, based upon wheelage. "By the same contract, the Wabash St. Louis & Pacific Railway Company was granted the use of that portion of your road lying between Logansport and the State line of Indiana and Illinois, upon the same terms. This contract gives your company, practically, an unbroken line between Chicago Indianapolis & Louisville, and enables it to better control and manage its share of the traffic to and from those cities."

The several proprietary companies now owning what is known as the Union Railway and Depot in Indianapolis entered into a new agreement, under the date of Sept. 20, 1883, for the construction of a new Union Passenger Depot, and such additional tracks and appurtenances as might be necessary, and also for the acquisition of the Indianapolis Belt Railway. "Under this agreement, the whole property thus acquired, including the Union Railway and Depot, is to be appraised, and interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum paid thereon in equal shares by the companies that may use the same, the cost of operating and maintaining the property, including taxes, to be paid by such companies on the basis of their use thereof. The use of these improved facilities by all the railway lines converging at Indianapolis will effect a satisfactory and prompt handling of the large traffic concentrated at that point.

GENERAL INVESTMENT NEWS.

Central Pacific.—The report of this railroad company for the year 1883 will not be issued for several weeks yet. The statement below is from the report to the California Railroad Commissioners, made by the General Manager of the Central Pacific:

| Net | $10,809,829 | $9,573,735 | $9,010,511 |
| Interest paid on debt | $3,508,291 | $3,443,413 | $3,546,591 |
| Paid U. S. and sinking fund | 2,407,781 | 2,538,680 | 2,337.625 |
| | $5,916,072 | $5,982,093 | $5,884,216 |
| Balance for dividends | $4,893.757 | $3,591,642 | $3,126,295 |
| New construct'n, imp'vm'ts, etc. | $350,627 | $1,549,109 | $2,169,808 |

The figures above show a net decrease in the net profits for 1883 from the year 1881 of $1,767,462, or in the past two years a net reduction of 36 per cent. The balance available for dividends on the business of 1883 amounts to 5½ per cent on the capital stock. The rates for freights and fares charged by the company have been steadily decreased, as experience has shown they must continue to do in the future to meet the requirements of competition and to encourage the development of traffic. The average rate charged on the whole system, from the Rio Grande to the Great Salt Lake per passenger per mile was for 1881 3·06 cents, for 1882 2·92 cents, for 1883 2·73 cents. Had the average charged for the whole system in 1881 been maintained in 1883, the passenger receipts for the latter year would have been $960,661 more than they actually were. The freight statistics not being fully compiled as yet for the year, no comparison is made.

Connotton Valley.—The plan for reorganization (the main points of which have already been published in the CHRONICLE) has been finally agreed upon, with the following modifications: 1. Dividends on preferred stock are made cumulative. 2. Seven of the pref. stock directors and one of the common stock directors are to be citizens of Ohio. 3. The trustees are to fill any vacancy in their own number.

Indiana Bloomington & Western.—Mr. Austin Corbin, President, says the road has been placed in a good working condition, without the increase of a dollar to its floating or funded debt. There have been expended in improvements from net earnings $900,000, and the road is in a condition to work with considerable activity. An understanding has been come to with President Rutter, of Cleveland & Indianapolis, which will enable the Indiana Bloomington & Western to operate its 850 miles of road in harmony with the Vanderbilt lines.

Lehigh Coal & Navigation—Nesquehoning Valley.—The option of extending the stock of the Nesquehoning Valley Railroad Company, operated by the Lehigh Coal & Nav. Co. expired May 1. The lease gave the Lehigh Navigation Company the right to pay the par value of the stock on Sept. 1, and stockholders were given the option to extend their stock upon a guarantee of 5 per cent. About 18,000 shares have been so extended.

Louisiana State.—A dispatch from New Orleans, April 26, says it is regarded as certain the first amendment to the State Constitution, fixing the rate of interest on the debt, has been carried.

Lowell & Framingham—Old Colony.—At South Framingham, April 26, at a meeting of the stockholders of the Lowell & Framingham Railroad, consolidation with the Old Colony Railroad was voted by 3,634 shares to 30 shares against it. The Old Colony Railroad will issue 4½ per cent bonds in exchange for the Framingham & Lowell bonds, and will give one share of its stock for four shares of the preferred stock of the Lowell & Framingham, and one share for 20 shares of the common stock. On the basis of par for everything, the $500,000 Lowell & Framingham bonds will cost the Old Colony $500,000; the $450,000 Lowell & Framingham preferred will cost $112,500; the $300,000 Lowell & Framingham common will cost $15,000,—$627,500 for 26 miles of road, or $24,000, in round numbers, per mile, the purchase carrying with it an entrance into the second largest city in the State. The Lowell & Framingham Railroad was opened in 1871, is 26 miles long, from Lowell to Framingham, and has been leased to the Boston Clinton Fitchburg & New Bedford Railroad and latterly to the Old Colony Railroad.

—The late sale of 2,000 shares of Old Colony stock was to provide in part for the $400,000 Agricultural Branch 6s maturing in July, and inherited as a legacy from the Boston Concord Fitchburg & New Bedford road at the time of consolidation. These bonds will be redeemed.

Memphis & Little Rock.—At Little Rock, Ark., April 24, in the United States Chancery Court, a decree was rendered against the Memphis & Little Rock, compelling the railroad to issue certificates of deferred stock to all holders of second mortgage bonds issued to holders of Arkansas bonds and for its floating debt, and to holders of income bonds of the company subsisting February 15, 1879, who shall surrender the securities and file them in the Master's hands "within ninety days from this date," and the Master shall receive any such securities tendered him and cancel them. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Mexican National.—The negotiations with English capitalists for aiding the Mexican National Railway Company have not resulted in anything, and are said by insiders to be at an end.—Boston Transcript.

Missouri Pacific.—The earnings and expenses of the Missouri Pacific and the St. L. I. Mt. & So. railroads for the first quaretr of 1883 and 1884 were as follows:

| | 1884. | 1883. |
|---|---|---|
| Gross earnings | $3,977,288 | $4,031,628 |
| Operating expenses | 2,219,896 | 2,317,252 |
| Net earnings | $1,757,392 | $1,714,376 |

New York & New England.—The Boston Advertiser of April 28 says: "The plan for funding the floating indebtedness of the New York & New England Railroad Company has been agreed upon between representatives of the stock and bond interests, and will be considered at the directors' meeting tomorrow. The plan allowed by the Legislature is the sale of shares of preferred stock for $50 and two shares of common. The company will add a "sweetener" in the form of second mortgages at 60, of which it has $2,000,000 in its treasury. It is proposed to allow stockholders to subscribe pro rata for blocks carrying in the aggregate one million of second-mortgage bonds and two millions of new preferred stock. For these, $1,600,000 cash and $4,000,000 common stock will be received. The company proposes to cancel the stock received. The sale will be at the rate of 60 for the second mortgages; 50 and two shares of common for the preferred." A meeting of the board was held as appointed on April 29, but no action was taken on the proposed plan.

New York West Shore & Buffalo.—At Buffalo, N. Y., April 26, an action was commenced in the Supreme Court upon th complaint of R. N. Moore, John Zimmerman, Elnathan Sweet, James R. Young and others, against the North River Construction Company, the New York & West Shore Railroad, and the United States Trust Company of New York, for the payment of claims amounting to $816,566, and of the claims of others of the creditors of the North River Construction Company amounting to $3,750,000. It is desired to have the trial take place in Schenectady County. A dispatch from Rochester states that Judge Landau of the Supreme Court has granted an injunction restraining the New York West Shore & Buffalo Railroad Company from issuing any bonds under the recent mortgage for $25,000,000, or, if already issued, restraining the filing in any of the counties through which the road runs. A further injunction was also granted restraining the railroad company from transferring any of its property either in bonds or real estate. The suits were brought by Robert H. Moore and John Zimmermann, contractors. The mortgage in question was filed at Kingston on Friday last, but at the West Shore offices it is stated that it is the mortgage that was executed in January. $10,000,000 of the bonds are said to have been issued to the North River Construction Company, and are now in the hands of its receiver.

Oregon & Trans-Continental.—A proposition is under consideration to cancel the lease of the Oregon & California Railroad Company to the Oregon & Trans-Continental Company. The terms of the lease, it is said are not satisfactory to the leading stockholders in the last-named company.—N. Y. Times.

Philadelphia & Reading.—The result of the joint operations of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad and Coal & Iron Company in the month of March was a decrease of $299,364 in net earnings; and for the four months from December 1, 1883, a decrease of $1,182,931 net, compared with the same period in 1882-83. On the lease of the Central Railroad of New Jersey there was a loss to the Reading of $272,311 in March and a loss of $958,863 for the four months. The total receipts of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad and Coal & Iron Company (not including the Central of New Jersey, leased) for each month of the fiscal years 1882-83 and 1883-84 were as follows:

The above statement does not include the Central Railroad of New Jersey, leased and operated by the Philadelphia & Reading, and the exhibit for that company is as follows:

Pittsburg Fort Wayne & Chicago—Pennsylvania.—According to dispatches from Pittsburg, the Pennsylvania R. R. is making arrangements to acquire the Pitts. Ft. W. & C. R. R. absolutely. It has been decided to issue $22,000,000 of bonds, the payment of the principal and interest of which will be guaranteed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company; to exchange these bonds for the original stock of the P. F. W. & Ch. company, and so transfer the road to the Pennsylvania R. R. Co., which will be the only stockholder of the Fort Wayne Co. after the bonds are all issued. The matter will be definitely settled at a meeting to be held on May 21. The bonds to be issued in exchange for stock will run until the year 2868, or nearly 1,000 years. They will bear interest at the rate of 7 per cent. This is the same compensation received by the original stockholders under the lease, and it will be paid in the same manner, viz., in quarterly instalments. Mr. Haley, the Secretary of the Ft. W. Co., says that while the Pennsylvania R. R. Co. will own the Ft. W. road, the company will continue to exist as at present. This is required by the charter. About a year will be required to complete the transfer.

Port Royal.—In 1869 the Port Royal Railroad Company made a mortgage on its property to secure 2,500 bonds of the par value of $2,500,000. Three years later the Georgia Railroad & Banking Company guaranteed the payment of 500 of these bonds. Both corporations defaulted on the interest in 1873, and suit has been brought for the recovery from the Georgia Railroad & Banking Company of the face value of the coupons, with interest from May, 1873. Judge Donahue, of New York, has granted an attachment against the property of the defendant corporation on the ground that it is the creature of a foreign State. It appears from the affidavit that after the Georgia Company had guaranteed the payment of the bonds, the Legislature of Georgia passed a special act legalizing the guarantee.

Richmond & Danville.—The directors of the Richmond & Danville Extension Company, it is stated, have authorized the construction of the Columbus Gap extension on the Georgia Pacific. Steel rails will be used, and the cost of the extension is estimated at about $900,000. The new line will extend to Birmingham. The President's office is to be removed to New York.

Rochester & Pittsburg.—It is said that of the $1,000,000 of bonds covered by the equipment mortgage recorded in the Register's office on Tuesday, $1,100,000 have been taken by the stockholders of the company. The balance remains in the possession of the corporation. The bonds are dated Feb. 1, 1884, bear 6 per cent interest and will mature in 1924. More than $900,000 of the proceeds has already been invested in rolling stock.

Shenandoah Valley.—The statement of earnings and expenses for March, and for three months, in 1883 and 1884, is as follows:

| | —March.— | | —Jan. to March.—3 months— | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| | 1884. | 1883. | 1884. | 1883. |
| Gross earnings | $59,581 | $64,415 | $174,225 | $153,125 |
| Expenses | 51,136 | 50,073 | 156,365 | 157,863 |
| Net earnings | $8,444 | $14,342 | $17,859 | Loss. $4,737 |

Toledo Cincin. & St. Louis.—The Boston Transcript says: "The Tol. Cin. & St. L. is now in a fair way for piecemeal reorganization. Every one of the five hundred bonds upon the Iron division has gone into trust to purchase the property at the foreclosure sale on the 28th of June, and 50 is refused for any of these securities. This is a broad gauge (not standard) line of 28 miles, and though bonded at $22,000 per mile, is believed to be able to earn the interest thereon independently of the system. Of the $2,250,000 bonds in the Southeastern division of 185 miles ($12,000 per mile), about $1,450,000 have come into the trust agreement to purchase the property at the sale on the 28th. The time for coming into this agreement has been extended to May 10, after which 1 per cent will be charged for entering the scheme. These bonds are now about 20 per cent bid, and the road is regarded as capable of earning something for its bondholders.

"The St. Louis division of 268 miles has $3,000,000 first-mortgage bonds ($11,200 per mile) and cannot earn its operating expenses at present. Mr. Austin Corbin will meet the bondholders of this division next Tuesday in this city to formulate a plan for reorganization. These bonds are worth in the market not far from 13 per cent of their face value.

"Where the stock and the income bonds are coming in under all the various foreclosures is not yet apparent, but it is nearly impossible, under Ohio laws, to wipe out a railroad stock equity."

Trunk Line Pool.—The meeting of trunk line presidents this week resulted in the abrogation of the rule by which the Pool Commissioner was bound to order a reduction of rates on the demand of any one of the pool roads. Erie and New York Central representatives were said to have been most active in getting the rule removed. The meeting resolved that future complaints of cutting should be submitted to Commissioner Fink, who should make examination and submit his conclusions to the pool Executive Committee, which alone has power to take action in such an emergency.

Wabash St. Louis & Pacific.—A suit has been begun at Peoria, Ill., against the Toledo Peoria & Warsaw, the Toledo Peoria & Western and the Wabash St. Louis & Pacific railway companies, to compel the last company to issue certificates of stock in the Wabash St. Louis & Pacific Company to the amount of $25,000, in exchange for $100,000 in the Toledo Peoria & Warsaw road given by the city to aid in the construction of the latter road. It has been held that the bonds held by the city were valueless because the agreement stipulated that the bonds should be transferred in thirty days after a specified time, but legal publication of that fact was never made and the discovery of a vital document in the case was made by accident.—N. Y. Tribune.

Western North Carolina.—President A. B. Andrews of the Western North Carolina Railroad Company, on May 1 paid $600,000 to the State under its contract for the purchase of the State's interest in the line.

Union Pacific.—At Boston, Mass., April 29., in the United States Circuit Court, Judge Lowell rendered a decision in the suit of the United States against the Union Pacific Railroad Company to recover $1,188,619, being 5 per cent of the net earnings of the road for the five years preceding 1875, as provided by the contract. The court has now allowed the defendant to plead in its favor the judgment of the Court of Claims. The question now at issue is only one of costs.

—OMAHA, NEB., April 30.—General Manager Clark of the Union Pacific Railroad, acting under instructions from the board of directors, has issued an order which goes into effect to-morrow, reducing salaries as follows: Those over $3,600 per annum, 15 per cent; between $1,000 and $3,600, 12½ per cent; less than $1,000, 1 per cent. These reductions apply to all employes except locomotive engineers and firemen.

—The Union Pacific land sales from January 1 to April 25 1884, were 747,112 acres for $2,197,787.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

FRIDAY NIGHT, May 2, 1884.

The weather has become quite spring-like, and it now seems probable that within the coming week there will be a complete resumption of inland navigation at the North and West. Business feels the influence of more favorable circumstances, but is still dull. A number of failures in the Produce Exchange caused momentary excitement. It is expected that a vote on the pending tariff bill will be reached next week in the lower house of Congress.

The following is a statement of the stocks of leading articles of domestic and foreign merchandise at dates given:

The lard speculation has been active at widely varying prices. Yesterday there was a buoyant market on reports of reduced stocks, but to-day there was equally decided decline, contracts going at from 8·75c. down to 8·57c. for June and 8·84c. down to 8·68c. for July,—the most active months, with May closing at 8·50c. and August at 8·72c. Spot lard closed nominal at 8·40c. for prime City, 8·60c. for prime Western and 8·75c. for refined for the Continent. Pork has ruled firmer, but closes quiet at $17 for mess and $19@$19 25 for clear back. Bacon and cutmeats, as well as beef and beef hams, are quoted as last week, with little doing. Tallow is easier at 7c. for prime. Stearine dull at 9¼c. Butter lower at 20@28c. for fresh creamery and 11@18c. for Western factory. Cheese steady; new factory 8@13½c.; skims 2½@5c. Eggs lower at 13½@14½c.

Rio coffee has been more active on the spot, and at one time fair sold at 10⅜c.; the close is nominal at 10¼c. for fair Rio and 10c. for ditto Santos. Options have sold more freely at variable prices, but on the whole higher, closing steady at 8·55@8·65c. for May, 8·60@8·65c. for June, 8·65@8·70c. for July and August, 8·70@8·75c. for September and 8·75@8·80c. for October, bid and asked; mild grades have been fairly active and steady. Spices have been dull. Foreign fruits quiet and unchanged. Rice firm and fairly active. Foreign molasses dull; New Orleans fairly active and steady. Tea dull, weak and unsettled; Japan sold to-day at 23½c. for June, a decline of ¾c. for the week. Raw sugar has sold rather more freely on the spot at weaker prices; fair refining, 5 5-16c. on the spot, and sold to-day at 5·35c. for July; refined weak.

Kentucky tobacco has been firm though quiet during the past week. The transactions for April aggregate 3,889 hhds., of which 3,137 were for export, 178 for home consumption and 174 to jobbers. Lugs close to-night at 7⅞@8¾c. and leaf at 8⅝@12c. Seed leaf has been a trifle more active and all prices remain about steady; sales embrace 2,289 cases, including 700 cases crop 1883, New England second fillers, on private terms; 250 cases crop 1883, do. Havana seed, 22½@27½c.; 150 cases crop 1881, Pennsylvania, 6@10c.; 386 cases crop 1882, do., 4½@16c.; 53 cases crop 1883, do. Havana seed, on private terms; 300 cases crop 1883, Wisconsin Havana seed, 25@30c.; 325 cases crop 1882, do., 30 to 45c.; 100 cases crop 1882, New England, 14 to 30c., and 25 cases crop 1881, do., 25c.; also 450 bales Havana, 80c.@$1 15; 100 bales Yara II., private terms and 400 bales Sumatra at $1 20 to $1 65.

In naval stores little of interest has transpired, and prices to-night close about steady at 31¾c. for spirits turpentine and $1 42½@$1 45 for strained to good strained rosins on the spot. Refined petroleum has been fairly active at 8⅝c. for 70 Abel test for all this month's delivery. Crude oil certificates have had a sharp advance, owing to the determination of the producers to curtail the hap-hazard drilling in the Pennsylvania districts. The market was also largely oversold, and was an easy prey to the "bulls." Sales to-day 34,929,000 bbls. at 97c.@$1, closing at 99½@99¾c. In metals, hops, oils and wools, business has been very slow and prices are without essential changes.

The business in ocean freight room on the berth has been very moderate, and rates rule easy and unsettled. Oil charter tonnage has been more active at reduced rates. To-day grain was taken to Glasgow by steam at 3d.; do. to London by steam, 2¾d.; grain from Baltimore to Cork for orders, 3s. 4½d.; refined petroleum from Philadelphia to Trieste, 3s. ¾d.; do. to Lisbon, 2s. 9d.; do. to London or Antwerp, 1s. 10½d.

The past week has been one of much interest to the speculators in cotton for future delivery at this market. There had been some dulness from the apprehension of free deliveries on May contracts; but on Saturday it was seen that May notices were generally stopped in the interest of a leading shipper, and this crop advanced. The weather at the South, however, showed a great improvement, and the next crop closed lower. During Monday and Tuesday there was a sharp decline, under sales to realize, in which many weak holders were "shaken out." There were no new features operating to put down prices, but simply a withdrawal of buyers, and the market, being left without support, developed the weakness that naturally followed an important advance. On Wednesday the market was variable and unsettled, showing no decided change. But on Thursday there was renewed activity and buoyancy, on favorable news from Liverpool, though part of the early advance was lost in the later dealings. To-day the market was variable, closing slightly dearer, but as compared with last Friday 15@17 points lower for this crop, 12 points lower for September and 6@8 points lower for the next crop. Cotton on the spot has been dull and quotations were reduced $\frac{1}{8}$c. on Monday. There has been no change since, and the close on Friday was quiet at 11 3/16c. for middling uplands.

The total sales for forward delivery for the week are 617,500 bales. For immediate delivery the total sales foot up this week 1,917 bales, including 25 for export, 1,572 for consumption, 320 for speculation and — in transit. Of the above, 400 bales were to arrive. The following are the official quotations for each day of the past week.

☞ The imports into Continental ports this week have been 72,000 bales.

The above figures indicate a decrease in the cotton in sight to-night of 227,884 bales as compared with the same date of 1883, a decrease of 3,955 bales as compared with the corresponding date of 1882 and a decrease of 176,636 bales as compared with 1881.

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is the receipts for the week and since Sept. 1, the shipments for the week, and the stocks to-night, and the same items for the corresponding period of 1882-83—is set out in detail in the following statement:

RECEIPTS FROM THE PLANTATIONS.—The following table is prepared for the purpose of indicating the actual movement each week from the plantations. Receipts at the outports are sometimes misleading, as they are made up more largely one year than another at the expense of the interior stocks. We reach, therefore, a safer conclusion through a comparative statement like the following. In reply to frequent inquiries we will add that these figures, of course, do not include overland receipts or Southern consumption; they are simply a statement of the weekly movement from the plantations of that part of the crop which finally reaches the market through the outports.

The above statement shows—1. That the total receipts from the plantations since September 1, 1883, were 4,746,972 bales; in 1882-83 were 5,808,568 bales; in 1881-82 were 4,564,067 bales.

2.—That, although the receipts at the outports the past week were 20,053 bales, the actual movement from plantations was only 12,068 bales, the balance being taken from the stocks at the interior towns. Last year the receipts from the plantations for the same week were 23,338 bales and for 1882 they were 19,914 bales.

AMOUNT OF COTTON IN SIGHT MAY 2.—In the table below we give the receipts from plantations in another form, and add to them the net overland movement to May 1, and also the takings by Southern spinners to the same date, so as to give substantially the amount of cotton now in sight.

| Receipts at the ports to May 2.. | 4,713,319 | 5,660,670 | 4,466,165 | 5,396,883 |

| Total in sight May 2 ..... | 5,557,698 | 6,683,430 | 5,203,697 | 6,220,539 |

It will be seen by the above that the decrease in amount in sight to-night, as compared with last year, is 1,125,732 bales, the increase as compared with 1881-82 is 354,001 bales, and the decrease from 1880-81 is 677,841 bales.

INDIA COTTON MOVEMENT FROM ALL PORTS.—We have re-arranged our India service so as to make our reports more detailed and at the same time more accurate. We had found it impossible to keep out of our figures, as cabled to us for the ports other than Bombay, cargoes which proved only to be shipments from one India port to another. The plan now followed relieves us from the danger of this inaccuracy and keeps the totals correct. We first give the Bombay statement for the week and year, bringing the figures down to May 1.

BOMBAY RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS FOR FOUR YEARS.

According to the foregoing, Bombay appears to show an increase compared with last year in the week's receipts of 14,000 bales, and an increase in shipments of 12,000 bales, and the shipments since January 1 show a decrease of 9,000 bales. The movement at Calcutta, Madras and other India ports for the last reported week and since the 1st of January, for two years, has been as follows. "Other ports" cover Ceylon, Tuticorin, Kurrachee and Coconada.

| 1883 | 2,000 | ..... | 2,000 | 66,200 | 12,000 | 78,200 |

The above totals for the week show that the movement from the ports other than Bombay is 11,000 bales more than same week last year. For the whole of India, therefore, the total shipments since January 1, 1884, and for the corresponding periods of the two previous years, are as follows:

This last statement affords a very interesting comparison of the total movement for the three years at all India ports.

ALEXANDRIA RECEIPTS AND SHIPMENTS.—Through arrangements we have made with Messrs. Davies, Benachi & Co., of Liverpool and Alexandria, we now receive a weekly cable of the movements of cotton at Alexandria, Egypt. The following are the receipts and shipments for the past week and for the corresponding week of the previous two years.

A cantar is 98 lbs.

This statement shows that the receipts for the week ending April 30 were 2,000 cantars and the shipments to all Europe 4,000 bales.

OVERLAND COTTON MOVEMENT FOR APRIL.—In our editorial columns we give the statement of the overland movement for April.

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE.—The price of seats has been further advanced. There was a sale this week at $3,500, another at $3,600 and still another at $3,700, and more is now demanded. The rules respecting contracts of print cloth are nearly completed, and it will now rest with the Board of Managers to sanction the addition of sales and purchases of this important article to the regular business of the Exchange, which has hitherto been solely confined to cotton. There can be no doubt as to the Committee's recommendation being adopted.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—There has been a moderate demand for bagging since our last, and prices are steady. The orders are for small parcels, but in the aggregate considerable stock is being worked off. For large lots the demand continues absent, buyers not caring to lay in future supplies. The market closes with sellers quoting 9½c. for 1¼ lbs., 10c. for 1¾ lbs., 10¾c. for 2 lbs. and 11½c. for standard grades. Butts have been taken to some extent, and prices are steady. For paper grades the figures are 2¼@2½c., and 2⅝@2¾c. for bagging qualities. The transactions for the past month aggregate 25,000 bales spot and to arrive at 2¼@2¾c., and the supply here and afloat is 228,211 bales.

COMPARATIVE PORT RECEIPTS AND DAILY CROP MOVEMENT.—A comparison of the port movement by weeks is not accurate, as the weeks in different years do not end on the same day of the month. We have consequently added to our other standing tables a daily and monthly statement, that the reader may constantly have before him the data for seeing the exact relative movement for the years named. The movement each month since September 1, 1883, has been as follows.

This statement shows that up to April 30 the receipts at the ports this year were 923,316 bales less than in 1882-83, and 268,638 bales more than at the same time in 1881-82. By adding to the above totals to Apr. 30 the daily receipts since that time, we shall be able to reach an exact comparison of the movement for the different years.

BREADSTUFFS.

FRIDAY, P. M., May 2, 1884.

Flour at one time showed more activity and considerable firmness, in sympathy with a strong market for wheat, but latterly the trade has decreased materially and prices have become more or less depressed. The better grades of shipping brands have not been at all plentiful, and the same is true of No. 2 and superfine, but of most descriptions of flour the supply has continued ample. To-day the market was dull and weak.

Wheat has been dull for export, and though at one time there was a pretty liberal business on speculation, the transactions of this nature have latterly shown a falling off. Though there have been occasional rallies, the general course of the market has been downward. Yesterday, owing to the number of notices issued for delivery on May contracts, that option declined 2¼c. There has been less anxiety among the shorts both here and at the West, and though the quotations here have latterly shown rather more depression than those at Chicago, there have been no new failures; but the financial irregularities in the case of one bankrupt are alleged to have reached very grave proportions. The weather in the wheat region is fine, and the foreign markets have within a few days become depressed. To-day there was only a moderate business either for export or on speculation, and prices declined a fraction. No. 2 red closed at $1 09⅛ in elevator, $1 07⅞ for May, $1 09⅜ for June, $1 06¼ for July and $1 04½ for August, showing a decline for the week of ½c. on the spot and 2½ to 3½c. for options.

Indian corn has been dull and declining, in sympathy with the depression in wheat. There is less than the usual speculative interest in this market at this time of the year. The great drawback is the dulness of the foreign trade. To-day the market on the spot was steady but quiet; options were dull and slightly lower. No. 2 mixed closed at 61¾c. in elevator, 61½c. for May and June, 62¾c. for July and 63¾c. for August, showing a decline for the week of 1 to 1½c.

Rye and barley have been very quiet. Oats have been only moderately active, and prices have followed other cereals downward. To-day there was a decline of ½c., attended with small transactions. No. 2 mixed closed at 36½c. for May and 37c. for June.

The following are closing quotations:

FRIDAY, P. M., May 2, 1884.

Business was dull and featureless in the wholesale branches of the trade the past week, but large quantities of seasonable goods were doubtless placed in the channels of consumption by retailers throughout the country. The market for staple cotton goods has subsided into a quiet condition, and little if any improvement was developed in the demand for foreign fabrics, or domestic woolens, at first hands. The jobbing trade was spasmodic and irregular, moderately active days having alternated with others of conspicuous dulness, and the movement as a whole was light and disappointing. There was no great pressure upon the part of agents for domestic manufacturers to force goods upon unwilling buyers, and the tone of the market was generally steady. Some large lines of foreign hosiery and gloves were however pressed to sale through the auction rooms, with fairly satisfactory results.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of domestics from this port for the week were 3,331 packages, including 1,055 to Great Britain, 419 to Argentine Republic, 377 to Hayti, 370 to British East Indies, 236 to United States of Colombia, 228 to China, 181 to Venezuela, 98 to Brazil, &c. There was a large business in certain makes of cotton flannels for future delivery, but other descriptions of cotton goods were comparatively quiet in agents' hands and sluggish with jobbers. Prices ruled steady on all the most desirable plain and colored cottons, but the tendency toward a general advance has seemingly been checked for the present, owing partly to the less buoyant condition of the staple, but mainly because of the apathy displayed by buyers and their determination to await further developments before beginning operations for the coming season. Fall River manufacturers have voted to curtail production, in the event of other New England mills doing so, as suggested by the Arkwright Club of Boston, but this decision has not improved print cloths, which ruled quiet and easier, closing at 3⅛c. for 64x64s and 3 1-16c. for 56x60s. Prints, lawns, ginghams, &c., were in light and irregular demand, but fairly steady in price.

DOMESTIC WOOLEN GOODS.—There was a limited call for heavy cassimeres, worsteds and overcoatings by the clothing trade, and considerable deliveries of these goods were made by agents on account of early orders. Light-weight cassimeres and worsteds were taken in moderate lots by cloth and dry-goods jobbers, but the demand was by no means active, and prices favored the buyers in some instances. Cloakings were in irregular demand, as were ladies' cloths, jersey cloths and stockinettes, but fair sales of popular makes were reported. Satinets continued in steady request, and a fairly active trade was done in Kentucky jeans and doeskins. Worsteds and all-wool dress goods adapted to the present season ruled quiet in first hands, but some good orders for cashmeres, beiges, &c., in fall shades, were placed for future delivery. White flannels were in fair request, but other descriptions ruled quiet, and but little inquiry was made for blankets. Hosiery and knit underwear were lightly dealt in, and carpets were quiet with agents.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The situation in the market for imported dry goods was unchanged. The demand at first hands was chiefly confined to a few specialties, and the jobbing trade was not up to expectations. Prices are without quotable change, but concessions on fancy fabrics were occasionally offered in order to stimulate their sale.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

The past week has been a memorable one, not because of any great change in the situation, but because of the importance of the events which have transpired. Looking, however, at the surroundings to-day, we cannot see that there is any new cause for alarm. The failures in this city have very naturally disturbed confidence for the moment, but that is merely a temporary influence. The more permanent conditions, so far as there is any alteration, are certainly more favorable. Exchange has fallen decidedly, stopping for the time being at least the export of gold. Rates of interest in Europe remain very low, giving a certain air of permanency to this change, as low rates tend to send European capital this way. Railroad earnings are under the circumstances extremely satisfactory, and we would refer the reader to our monthly article on that subject in another column, showing as it does a decided increase in receipts, instead of the loss which has been so persistently prophesied. This evidence of earning capacity even in the midst of business depression is a circumstance of great interest, tending to reassure the investing public.

An incident of decided importance has been the tariff defeat in the House of Representatives. This is looked upon by a large class as certain to result in a revival of our industries. We hope it may, but cannot agree with the opinion that it will, for the reason, if there were no other, that that defeat cannot stop agitation. The question is an abiding one. The character of the recent revenue organization in Boston, the action yesterday of certain manufacturers in this city, the conversation of business men everywhere since the vote was announced, are some of the later indications that there is a deep and wide feeling on the subject. It would be much better if manufacturers could see that it would be to their advantage to lead, instead of to oppose the movement. No one aims or desires to harm vested interests. It is not proposed by the conservative classes that industries which have been nurtured by years of fostering legislation, should be left to stand alone at once. But there is an earnest feeling in favor of freer trade; a widely prevailing sentiment that raw materials should, as a general thing, come in free; and a popular opinion that with these points gained, the rest will follow in its natural order. Why cannot the Ways and Means Committee apply the Roosevelt invention to the subject, and give us a good half dozen of bills, each covering but one article, like for instance salt. It was only in that manner quinine secured its exemption.

But passing that matter, which has to do with the future rather than the present, we have to note the failures of the week, absorbing, as they have, the most attention, and being a source of considerable disturbance in business circles. We have remarked upon some of the features of the Marine Bank disaster in another column. That and the Grant & Ward suspension seem, according to the latest disclosures, to be one as regards actual interests, looseness of business methods, and general crookedness in their operations. Had the brokers' firm name plainly included the Marine Bank, the connection would have been more open but not much more real. Of course, depositors are inconvenienced and the securities made way with by Grant & Ward will work a loss to the owners, and some corporations will in this way suffer. But with those exceptions we see nothing in the case of general application or to suggest a fear of weakness elsewhere. The incident is only a hint to the public to avoid banks whose officers are engaged in business foreign to banking, and to avoid firms which loan money at three per cent and borrow it at twelve per cent.

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States this week in the Missouri Pacific case has been received with satisfaction. Interest in it is not so much with re ference to that railroad, as it is with reference to the principle established. The court holds that the allegation in the complaint (that the default in the payment of the interest on the Missouri Pacific bonds, which was the pretext for the foreclosure and sale of the road, was fraudulent, caused and procured by means of collusion) was sufficient to warrant the court to grant the relief asked for and to set aside the sale. This and the other decisions which have been lately made affecting railroads, show that our judges do not mean to allow any fraud to remain uncovered or any advantage obtained by collusion to be permanent, if they have the opportunity of preventing it.

The effect of Judge Van Brunt's decision in the Elevated Railroad case is seen this week in the action of the Manhattan road, agreeing to give back to the New York Company its lease of the latter's property, and to accept certificates of the New York guaranteeing to Manhattan 6 per cent dividends on its stock, after the payment of 6 per cent on New York stock, any balance remaining to be divided equally. Judge Van Brunt held that the amended agreement of October, 1881, was of no binding effect. It will be remembered that by the original arrangement of May 20, 1879, the Manhattan Company took a lease of the property of the New York and the Metropolitan, and guaranteed to each 10 per cent dividends on their stock. In the summer of 1881 default was made in the payment of the rental, and in October of that year a way was found for the modification of the lease, by which among other things dividends were reduced from 10 per cent to 6 per cent. Judge Van Brunt's decision was substantially that the modified lease was void, and he directed judgment to be entered relieving all parties from the October agreement upon making proper restitution, the idea being to restore, as nearly as possible, the situation of affairs as it existed at the time the lease was amended. Of course, that will involve a great many difficulties, but Judge Van Brunt thought it could be done. It should be said that soon after the joint agreement of October—in November—a further agreement was entered into by the directors of the three companies by which a new Manhattan company was formed, which issued its own stock in exchange for that of the other companies—1st preferred stock for the New York, 2d preferred for the Metropolitan, and common for the old Manhattan. The stock of the New York and the Manhattan was exchanged under this arrangement, thus virtually confirming the modified lease as far as these two companies were concerned, but the stock of the Metropolitan was not so exchanged, and it was claimed, therefore, that in giving effect to Judge Van Brunt's decision the Metropolitan stockholders could, in satisfaction of any claim against the Manhattan, have recourse to the property of the New York Company, which latter by the exchange of its stock had surrendered its existence. It is to avoid this possibility, no doubt, that the Manhattan now agrees to give back the property of the New York. The arrangement, if lawful, deprives the Manhattan of all property, but still assures to it a share of the earnings. If the Metropolitan Company determines to enforce its claim against the Manhattan, some very interesting legal points might arise as to the power of the company to thus put its property out of reach. The attitude of our courts in dealing with indirect methods for avoiding legal obligations, does not make it appear that the situation of the Manhattan has been greatly improved.

As already indicated, the market for sterling exchange has been heavy all the week at rates below the gold exporting point. The supply consists chiefly of bankers' bills. Some of these are drawn against balances in London, the intention being to use the proceeds in our loan market; other bills are made against anticipated exports of a portion of the present available supply of cotton; still others are more or less speculative, being drawn with the intention of renewal but in the expectation of being covered at a profit when the new crop of cotton begins to move; another supply comes from outgoing securities, chiefly Erie stock and consolidated 2d mortgage bonds which have been sent abroad in comparatively large amounts. The inquiry for bills is quite insignificant, being almost wholly confined to the usual remittances by bankers. The importers of goods are buying very few bills at present, the demand from this source being not at all urgent. Bankers do not look for anything more than a very gradual fall in the rates of exchange at present. The movement of securities is not expected to be large. The character of the property now going forward shows that the inquiry is more or less of a speculative nature. The drawing of bills in anticipation of the movement of cotton will probably continue, but the supply from this source may be only sufficient to meet current demands. If, however, rates can be kept below the gold exporting point for the next sixty days the market will then resume its normal condition and not be dependent upon bills of a speculative character.

Of course, the developments we have referred to above, connected with the failure of the Marine Bank and the firm of Grant & Ward, have had a decided influence on the stock market. Some other events have also had a weakening tendency. On Monday the news of a reduction of 10 cents per 100 lbs. in the rates on east-bound live stock unsettled the values of the trunk line shares, for it was accepted as evidence of a further demoralization in the business of the roads. The selling movement in Union Pacific and Western Union, which was one of the features last week, was continued. On the other hand, and early in the afternoon of that day, reports that the Northern Pacific would show a very large traffic for April, greatly beyond early estimates of its officers, made that stock active and strong, and the rise in it influenced an upward movement in other properties, and particularly in those which were most largely oversold. Subsequently, the statement that the West Shore plan of relief had been accepted by a majority of the bondholders stimulated a rise in that property and the market closed strong. The next morning the text of the decision in the Missouri Pacific case, above referred to, was published, giving a clear understanding of the sweeping character of the decree. This led to free sales of Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Western Union, and made the market heavy. There was the customary rally about half-past ten, and the movement was decidedly upward when the news came that the Marine National Bank had closed its doors. Pending the receipt of particulars the market became panicky, and it so continued until early in the afternoon, when all parties united to arrest the decline. Soon afterwards the announcement of the suspension of Grant & Ward again unsettled the market, but it was a little steadier at the close.

The fact that Mr. James D. Fish, President of the Marine Bank, is a director in the New York Lake Erie & Western, and reports that the bank was largely indebted to the railroad, aided in breaking down Erie on Tuesday. The next day the statement appeared that the indebtedness of the bank to the Erie was comparatively small, but the stock did not recover for the reason that free sales of it and of the consolidated second mortgages were made under an apprehension that Grant & Ward had been acting as fiscal agents for the negotiation of Chicago & Atlantic seconds.

The market was more or less unsettled for the remainder of the day. On Thursday reports that Commissioner Fink had resigned from the Trunk line pool, indicating a rupture of that combination, had a disturbing effect upon the shares of the roads in the pool; rumors of inside selling of Chicago & Northwestern broke down that stock, and St. Paul, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, and Western Union, were liberally pressed for sale; Reading and Central New Jersey were sharply raided, and the market was unsettled until about noon. Then it was gradually turned upward, and early in the afternoon the rise became rapid on the announcement that the Baltimore & Ohio had agreed to a restoration of the rates to the basis of 15 cents per 100 pounds on grain from Chicago, and that Commissioner Fink had withdrawn his resignation, so the tone was strong for the remainder of the day, although a little irregular just before two o'clock. Yesterday, the opening was steady, but the market soon became weak under a succession of unfavorable features. There were rumors of receivers for Wabash and Denver & Rio Grande, while it was also reported that the Union Pacific would pass its July dividend, though this was declared unfounded after business hours. Erie second consolidated bonds made a further pronounced fall, declining from 75 at the opening to 68 at the close, and the stock also fell off several points, on the story that Grant & Ward were so largely indebted to the company that it would not be able to meet the June interest on the second consols.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe has issued this week a very favorable exhibit of gross and net earnings for the month of March. March, it will be remembered, was not a very good month for railroad traffic the present year, and especially was this the case on the Southern trans-continental lines. The Atchison forms a through line to the Pacific over two different routes, but each of these depends on the Southern Pacific for the California connection, and the Southern Pacific had its operations seriously interrupted by floods in California during the month—so much so that the Central Pacific, the lessee of the same, reported a loss of over $400,000 in its gross earnings in that period. It was supposed, therefore, that the Atchison would record a large falling off in its receipts by reason of this fact. But the figures now to hand show but slight changes from the results for the corresponding month of 1883—a loss of $11,458 gross, and a gain of $6,409 net. What makes the gain in the net the more gratifying is, that the increase in the same last year was very heavy, namely, $240,000. This will appear from the following table, covering three years, the Southern Kansas system being included each year.

Of course, the favorable results here presented would not have been possible except for successive large crops of cereals in Kansas, where the greater part of the company's lines are situated, but in no small measure the reduction effected in the cost of operating the road has been the cause of the improved showing. Thus the March net are about $250,000 greater in the present year than they were in 1882, and the gain is accounted for to the extent of $115,000 by increased gross receipts, and to the extent of $135,000. by decreased expenses. For the first quarter of the year, the exhibit is of the same character, and while since 1882 gross have increased only $181,000, net have increased $727,000, owing to a reduction of $546,000 in the expense account.

Chicago Burlington & Quincy has also issued its March statement, and, as was expected, it shows a falling off from the totals of a year ago. Notwithstanding the falling off, however, the exhibit is really very favorable, inasmuch as the earnings last year were very large—indeed, they were nothing less than extraordinary. This will be evident when we say that the gain then was no less than $830,000 in gross and $730,000 in net—this in a single month. It was hardly to be supposed that the whole of this large gain would be retained in the present year, with the conditions so much less favorable than in 1883, and the decrease of only $280,000 which is now shown is therefore of very small moment. Of course, the contest with the Union Pacific did not operate in favor of any increase, but we are inclined to think that the decrease recorded is attributable chiefly to the smaller amount of grain freight carried. The road is the largest corn carrier in the West, and the movement of that cereal last March was exceptionally heavy. In the present year it was of smaller proportion, and that of course would tend to diminish the Burlington & Quincy's tonnage in a corresponding ratio. Almost the whole of the large gain in earnings in 1883 was in the freight business, and we observe that the loss this year is in the same item, passenger receipts exhibiting improvement. The relative loss in the corn traffic may be seen in the fact that while in 1883, in the four weeks ended March 29, the receipts of the cereal at Chicago (by all roads) were 5,766,653 bushels, in the same period of the present year they were only 4,312,596 bushels, or 25 per cent less. For the three months ended with March net are less than $220,000 smaller than in 1883, while they are five-eighths of a million greater than in 1882, and over a million greater than in 1881. There is every reason to feel satisfied with such results. Following is an exhibit for four years.

Money on call has been fairly active this week and there is a better demand for time loans on stock collateral, the latest transactions being at 5 per cent for four months. The activity on call has been mainly due to the suspension of the Marine National Bank and the failure of Grant & Ward both, but more particularly the latter, causing a shifting of loans, the calling in of some in order to provide for the unexpected demand and the paying off of others made with houses about the standing of which there was at the moment some doubt entertained. The flurry also induced borrowers at the Stock Exchange to exercise more than usual caution and the offerings were not quite so free as they were last week when money was spasmodically advanced each day. This condition of the market may be regarded as abnormal and it is probable that when the excitement subsides there will be a fall in money to about the average rates ruling at this season of the year. The exchanges on New York at interior points continue to favor this centre, and there is no reason why the customary supplies should not continue to be obtained from this source. The following statement, made up from returns collected by us, exhibits the week's receipts and shipments of gold and currency by the New York banks.

| Currency | $4,300,000 | $503,000 | Gain. $3,797,000 |
| Gold | ..... | ..... | ..... |
| Total gold and legal tenders | $4,300,000 | $503,000 | Gain. $3,797,000 |

The above shows the actual changes in the bank holdings of gold and currency caused by this movement to and from the interior. In addition to that movement, the banks have gained $2,000,000 through the operations of the Sub-Treasury and lost $650,000 by exports of gold. Adding these items, therefore, to the above, we have the following, which should indicate the total gain to the N.Y. Clearing House banks of gold and currency for the week covered by the bank statement to be issued to-day. It should be said that the Marine Bank will not appear in this week's statement, and that of course will materially affect the comparison with last week.

The Bank of England reports a gain of £59 bullion for the week. This represents £266,000 received from abroad and £265,941 sent to the interior, probably to Scotland. The Bank of France shows an increase of 14,787,000 francs gold and of 1,870,000 francs silver, and the specie in the Bank of Germany was increased 507,000 marks. The following indicates the amount of bullion in the principal European banks this week and at the corresponding date last year.

SOME QUESTIONS RAISED BY THE MARINE BANK FAILURE.

At the moment of writing, the real secret of the failure of the Marine Bank is not fully apparent. An overdraft of $750,000 would clearly be an insufficient cause for shutting its doors so suddenly. The other irregularities and the exact condition of the Bank, will probably be known before this reaches the reader. In the meantime there are certain facts, already admitted, which may be turned to profitable use in banking circles.

So far as the general question of over-certification of checks is concerned, it will be difficult to gain much light from this experience. The point of difference in the discussions that have been had on that subject, is not whether such a practice is desirable of itself—all agree that it is not,—but simply whether there should be a statute prohibiting it, or whether it should be left to bank management to regulate it. There can be no two opinions with regard to this individual case, for as here practiced the bank had no safeguards. The chief officer was directly interested in the firm whose checks were certified. Such a circumstance deprives the institution of all protection, for it prevents caution. No man, even if incapable of actual dishonesty, should ever sit in judgment on his own case. Besides, certification is a species of business more risky than any other a bank can engage in, calling for the exercise of the utmost vigilance and most careful discrimination. To expect an officer personally interested in securing such a credit, properly to protect the institution granting it, is, to say the least, putting poor human nature to a very severe test.

Closely allied to this is the impolicy of a bank officer ever being connected with a firm of Wall Street brokers. That practice hardly needs to be stated to be condemned. The acceptance of an important trust of the kind a bank President holds, has generally been considered a foreclosure from all speculative pursuits. There are so many and obvious reasons for the opinion, that the continued existence of certain prominent exceptions, should not weaken general public sentiment on the subject. We believe in leaving bank management as free from statutory interference as possible. A certain framework of law is necessary, but that being granted, the control should be in the directors and officers, influenced by its customers and by an intelligent public sentiment. The chief difficulty lies in keeping the people alert, for in prosperous times the bank runs itself and public sentiment sleeps. Still it is well to recall the fact now, that almost always when a bank fails, it turns out that its officers were openly or secretly speculating. Partnership connections by Presidents with Wall Street firms will of course be justified, where they exist, on the ground that they are personal arrangements in no way affecting the Bank. It is possible that this may prove true in some cases, and that harm may not result from such a connection. But, at the same time, experience teaches that to hope for exemption under circumstances of so great exposure is mere rashness, about as foolhardy as putting one's hand into the fire and expecting it not to be burned.

Another incident of quite a different nature connected with this failure is the very simple, innocent way in which the First National Bank has been forced to carry $215,000 of the Marine Bank's overdrafts. It seems that Monday night Mr. Ward drew his check for $215,000 on the First National Bank (although having only about two thousand dollars to his credit there) and deposited it in the Marine Bank to make good in part his overdrafts. Through the system of making clearings, this check was received as cash at the Clearing House by the First National, and before it could be returned, the Marine Bank had closed its doors. For the benefit of our readers not familiar with the Clearing House and its routine, it may be well to say that the Clearing House is nothing more than a place for making exchanges. Each bank sends each morning two clerks there, one we may call the paying clerk, carrying with him the checks deposited in his bank the previous day assorted into sixty packages, each package containing the checks so received on one of the sixty banks. At the Clearing House all of the other or receiving clerks station themselves at the counters fixed for their banks, and then the paying clerks in quick succession pass by them, leaving with each of the receiving clerks the package for his bank, and taking a receipt for it. Thus the Marine Bank delivered its package Tuesday morning to the receiving clerk of the First National, the package containing among others the bogus check in question, and the First National receipted for the whole package as so much cash. Of course as soon as the check had actually been carried to the bank it was returned, but in the meantime, as stated, the Marine Bank had closed its doors.

This incident has been a source of anxiety, as it discloses a weakness in the Clearing-House arrangements, which, if continued, might in a possible contingency prove very harmful. If a $215,000 check can be passed in that manner, a check two or three times as large could be passed with equal facility. Of course so long as no bank failure intervenes there is no risk; but this failure has disclosed the risk. Certain legal complications arise out of the incident. One question is whether a claim for the amount could be enforced against the Clearing House. We should think it could not be, as the First National Bank was a party to, and acquiesced in, the proceedings which produced the result. But would it not be proper and certainly equitable for the courts to hold that money obtained in the manner described by the Marine Bank was no part of its assets. That view seems in every way just and reasonable, and if adopted would relieve the community and the Clearing House of all anxiety with regard to future similar events.

THE PENSION CRAZE.

According to the last report of the Commissioner of Pensions, the actual number of different persons who enlisted and served in the army or navy of the United States during the war of the Rebellion was 2,063,391. From extended inquiry and careful estimate the Commissioner concluded that on June 30, 1883, there were 1,458,942 of the soldiers and sailors still living, while 604,369 had died. Of the living, 496,721 had, and 962,201 had not, applied for pensions. Of the dead, 220,000 left no pensionable relatives; while relatives of 312,029 dead soldiers and sailors had, and those of 72,340 had not, applied for pensions. We have then a total of 808,750 soldiers and sailors out of a little more than two million—almost forty per cent of the whole force—who had applied, or in behalf of whom application had been made, for pensions. Moreover the applications were by no means at an end. During the last fiscal year, the first day of which was more than seventeen years after the last gun of the war was fired, no less than 47,945 new claims were filed; the total number of such applications in the last few years was 254,898.

Not to anticipate the certain additions yet to be made to the list of pension applicants, let us turn to the disposition of the claims already filed. The claims allowed up to June 30, 1883, numbered 451,926; the claims pending were 271,463, and the number of names on the rejected list (which included some twenty thousand claimants on account of service in wars before 1861) was 108,495. So it appears that more than four-fifths of the claims passed upon are allowed. If only one-half of those now pending are passed upon favorably, the aggregate number of pensioners will approach very near six hundred thousand. The gross number of pensioners on the rolls on the 30th June last was 303,658. The average annual value of their pensions was $106 18; the total annual value was $32,245,192. But the total payments by the Pension Bureau during the year were $89,064,009. Finally, the gross sum paid in pensions since 1861 up to the middle of 1883 was $621,073,298.

These are startling figures. Although they were published here and there several months ago, we believe that few people are aware of the magnitude of the operations of this bureau. The main facts are that more than three hundred thousand persons are in the receipt of a monthly allowance from the Treasury, for which they now render no equivalent; that the number is still steadily increasing by the addition of twice as many new pensioners as are dropped on account of death or for other reasons; that the pensions of twenty thousand or more persons are increased in amount by re-rating as the disability increases; and that the annual sum now paid out, subject to these augmentations, is 32½ million dollars. It is too late, even if it were worth while at any time, to complain of a pension policy which has saddled the Government with this enormous annual expenditure for a generation to come. But it is time to protest against a reckless and uncalled-for extension of this policy. Two weeks ago the House of Representatives passed a bill of which the Chairman of the Committee who reported and urged it admitted, "its purpose is rather to relax the rules of evidence than anything else," but which does very much more than that. By this bill it is enacted that the fact that a man was mustered into the service and served three months, shall be prima facie evidence that he was a sound man when he enlisted; and for the proof that any present disability was contracted in the service is substituted a clause that the former soldier or sailor who is suffering from "any wound, injury or disease which there is probable cause to believe originated in said service in line of duty," shall receive a pension. That is relaxing the rules of evidence at both ends, and it is difficult to see how, under such a law, a pension can be refused to any ex-soldier who is now an invalid. But the law goes further, and grants pensions to the parents of soldiers whose death is traceable to their service in army or navy, provided they (the parents) simply show that they "are without other present means of support than their own manual labor or the contributions of others not legally bound for their support."

It is an ungracious duty to oppose any bill which recognizes and rewards the services of the country's defenders; but it is evident that there must be an end even to the pension business. The statement that the nation owes its life to these brave men, and that the country cannot do too much for them, is true enough. But carried out to its farthest logical limit, it means that the Government should undertake wholly to support all the survivors and all the near relatives of the dead. There is no general law short of that which will not leave in distress some persons whom the war directly or indirectly deprived of the means of support. But such a measure is obviously out of the question. No one in his right mind would advocate it. No doubt the drowning man owes his life to the one who plunges in and saves him. But if he tries to reward the rescuer according to his deserts, he will impoverish himself, or be open to the sneering accusation of setting a low value on his own life. His true course is to show true gratitude not to try to pay for what was worth more than any reward. The country is truly grateful to its soldiers; but since it can never wholly re-pay them for their services it should admit that its obligation to them can never be discharged, and not attempt to discharge it. So far as possible, by general and special laws, it ought to prevent their coming to want in consequence of their service in the army. But when it comes to saying, as the bill passed by the House of Representatives does, that any father or mother whose son was killed in the war or died of disease contracted in the army or navy, shall have a pension, provided he or she cannot earn a living except by manual labor, a principle is adopted which may ultimately call for the pensioning of the second cousins of all who served in the army. We cannot do full justice to these gallant soldiers. When this last pension bill has been passed, there will be new demands, quite as well founded in justice as this one. Let it be recognized that any further extension of the policy is a matter of expediency, for at last it must be that and nothing else.

It is needless to say that this view of the matter was not presented in the House when Mr. Warner's bill came up for action under a suspension of the rules, and under the operation of the previous question. As soon as the Speaker declared the bill open for discussion, a member asked, "how much is it estimated this bill will take out of the treasury?" Mr. Warner replied that he would try to explain that before he got through; but he did not. Then another member asked the next speaker how many cases would be affected. The member addressed replied that the chairman of the committee would answer the question; but he did not. The question was put a third time and no answer was given. The house passed the bill without the smallest fragment of information on the subject. The discussion throughout proceeded on the theory that the Government is under obligation to support all persons who in any way suffered by reason of their own or their relatives' service in the army, even though they cannot prove such injury. That view of the matter cannot be sustained. Even gratitude to our former soldiers does not require that we shall try to discharge the debt we owe them. And as we must stop some time, this is as good a time as any. The general pension laws are broad and liberal enough. If they do not cover every meritorius case, those can be provided for by special acts.

RAILROAD EARNINGS IN APRIL, AND FROM JANUARY 1 TO APRIL 30.

Our table of railroad earnings for April is a surprise in being very much more favorable than generally expected. As against a decrease of about a million dollars in March, we have for April an increase of over a million and a quarter. It was known that the latter month in the previous year had not been noted for the same growth in receipts as the month preceding, but nevertheless there had been a gain of over 1½ million dollars—equal to about 8 per cent—so it was supposed that with less favorable conditions prevailing, some heavy decrease might be looked for the present year. But it is now found, as stated, that in the aggregate there is quite a considerable increase, while the decrease on individual roads is small, even in the sections that in 1883 recorded the heaviest gains.

The less favorable conditions referred to, were, that in the West and Northwest the grain movement was quite light—in some instances even below that of 1882 (following the short crop of 1881); in the South, the cotton movement was the smallest for years. Passenger traffic in all sections of the country appears to have been light, while the existing depression in every department of business would naturally reduce the volume of general and miscellaneous freight. There is reason to believe that were the leading east-and-west trunk lines included in our list, the showing would be less favorable than it is, in support of which view we have the large decrease of $221,000 on the Grand Trunk of Canada; but as these lines also failed to make returns a year ago, the comparison with 1883 is perfectly fair and correct—being on the basis of the same roads in the two years. The following statement, embracing all the roads reporting this year, will show how the increase and decrease is distributed over the list.

† For four weeks ended April 26.

With one or two exceptions, the change either way here is very small, showing that traffic has not varied much in the two years. The exceptions are the Grand Trunk of Canada on the side of decrease, already noted, and the Northern Pacific on the side of increase. The gain on the latter is very large—indeed, is surprising. In April, 1883, the earnings of the Northern Pacific were only $665,509 (though this was an increase of over $200,000 on 1882), but this year they reach the large total of $1,438,600, an increase of $773,091, or 115 per cent, during which period mileage has been increased 795 miles, from 1,701 to 2,496 miles, or only about 46 per cent. The earnings of this road should naturally increase with the opening of spring and the advent of more seasonable weather, but the exceptionally heavy gains now recorded are no doubt in great measure to be attributed to the gold excitement in the territory contiguous to its line. It is to be noted that the company's officials state that the gain is very largely on the passenger movement, which has assumed unusual proportions, and this corroborates our remark as to the effect of the gold fever at the Cœur d'Alene mines.

Northwestern roads, it will be seen by the above table, make on the whole a very satisfactory exhibit. There is no such falling off as in March, when both the St. Paul and the Chicago & Northwest lost over a quarter of a million each, but, on the contrary, there is a moderate increase on the latter and only a small decrease on the former. If it be asked why the St. Paul reports a decrease ($23,271) while the Northwest reports an increase ($50,421), an explanation may be found in the fact that in 1883 the St. Paul had gained $454,000 and the Northwest only $85,000. But if these roads have done well this year, the St. Paul & Omaha has done even better. It reports an increase for the month of $114,000, which is in addition to the increase of $57,000 in the corresponding month of 1883. The St. Paul Minneapolis & Manitoba gained as much as $241,000 last year, and loses only $7,000 this year. The Burlington Cedar Rapids & Northern, another road in the Northwestern section, gained $40,000 in the month last year, and retains all but a trifle of it the present year. The Central Iowa on an increased mileage has continuous gains in the two years. The grain movement in this section was smaller than in 1883, and roads that could not make good the loss here by an increase in other sources of traffic or by increased mileage, have apparently fallen behind. The extent of the grain movement in the two years on Northwestern roads will appear from the receipts of the principal cereals at Chicago, given in the following table of the receipts of flour and grain at the leading Lake and River ports of the West.

In corn, Chicago thus suffered a diminution of over 1,100,000 bushels, or about 33 per cent, which must have been an important item with the principal corn carriers. The movement to the Northwestern markets last year was pretty good, in contradistinction to that to Western and Southwestern markets, where it was quite small; but there is little or no improvement, even at these latter points, in the present year. It was noted above that in some sections the grain movement in April, 1884, had been smaller even than in 1882, when only a mere remnant of the short crop of 1881 remained to come forward, and it will be seen by the table given that the same is also true of the movement at all the ports in the aggregate—especially in the case of corn and wheat. Of corn, for instance, the receipts this year were only 4,767,584 bushels, against 5,573,299 in 1883 and 6,462,553 bushels in 1882. The falling off in the present year, however, it should be borne in mind, is almost wholly due to the diminished receipts at Chicago, some of the ports—notably St. Louis—showing a small increase, though still others exhibit, with Chicago, a decrease.

Influenced in part by the varying movement of grain, the roads in the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio, report varying results—some an increase, others a decrease, there being the same irregularity in their returns there was a year ago in the same month. As a rule, those that in 1883 recorded gains, this year have losses, and vice versa. Among such may be mentioned the Peoria Decatur & Evansville, the Cleveland Akron & Columbus, the Evansville & Terre Haute, the Indiana Bloomington & Western, and the St. Louis Alton & Terre Haute. Up in Wisconsin the Green Bay Winona & St. Paul also loses what it gained in 1883, but the Milwaukee Lake Shore & Western has a further improvement this year, and the Milwaukee & Northern is likewise doing well. Among Michigan roads, the Flint & Pere Marquette is rather conspicuous for a large loss, but that is probably to be ascribed to the same circumstance as in March, namely, interruption of traffic by floods.
